Congratulations, too, to Beatrice Devitt of Wainwright for being called "Mrs. Rustler" for naming the hockey team a year ago. They awarded her with a plaque and a team sweater this winter, which all sounds very nice.

There are a few new babies around but I cannot catch up to them and their names, but maybe next week.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Agnes Barnacher in Dayslead Hospital.

Goose Creek Club meeting

On the afternoon of Wednesday, April 4, the Goose Creek Ladies Club met at the home of Mrs. Rosemary Kampen with nine members and four visitors present.

For roll call, each lady brought an Easter card which was signed by all present and which will be sent to a friend or relative of each lady's choice.

Following the short business meeting, Beulah Simpson provided a contest for entertainment, which was won by Ethel Ball and Margaret Simpson. The consolation went to Elsie Cookson and Pearl Simpson. The hostess served a delicious lunch.

NFU supports resolutions

The National Farmers Union (NFU) District 7, Region 7 officials and delegates met April 6 in Forestburg for their 10th annual convention. In attendance were regional officers Ed Motowylo, Bob Sarafinchan, Perry Cowan and Ken Makowecki, as well as National Vice-President William Dascavich, who was guest speaker.

The convention passed several resolutions, three of which dealt specifically with farm finances. The first requested that a portion of the Heritage Trust Fund be set aside for loans for farmers. The second urged the provincial government to make the Alberta Development Corporation a first-place lending institution with authority to make loans available to farmers with assets under $800,000 at six per cent interest. The third requested the development corporation be empowered to make loans to all farmers at cost.

In his address, NFU Vice-President Wm. Dascavich quoted statistics regarding foreign ownership of the Canadian economy and stated that the majority of such investments are actually made from the savings of average Canadians.

He reviewed the history of the Crowsnest Rate Agreement and then outlined the reasons for the proposed class action against Canadian National and Canadian Pacific.

"The railways have been engaged in a very clever strategy," he said. They are in a "slowdown strike" so that grain is backing up into the farmers' bins even though we all know there are markets.

This makes farmers angry, even though it is very clearly stated in Section 282 of the Railway Act that railways are obliged to maintain rail lines, rolling stock and equipment so that they can move all goods diligently with due care and attention, without discrimination. The class section would serve as a reminder to the railways that they cannot overlook this responsibility and expect the farmers of Western Canada to pick up the tab without protest.

Elected to the position of district director was Allen Froedrich of Killam, and Blake Cowan of New Norway to the position of junior district director. The position of women's district director remains vacant until an appointment is made by the district board.

The meeting concluded with a film, "Controlling Interest," followed by a lively discussion on the effects the power and control of the corporate sector has on the lives of the average working person.

Plans are being made for a canvass in the Forestburg local on Wednesday, April 11 and Wm. Dascavich was invited to speak to a meeting of the Strome local on April 18.

Resident passes away at 60

Mr. Carl Alexander Farquharson was born August 27, 1919 in Sedgewick, Alberta. He spent his early life working on various farms in the community. He then joined the Canadian Army in February, 1942.

It was during this time he returned home on furlough to marry Ruby Lindquist on April 29, 1942. He was sent overseas in October of the same year and was there for 3½ years.

Upon his return home January 29, 1946, he bought his own farm and continued farming on his own until the fall of 1974. Alex then sold his farm and moved into town.

He continued to do the work he loved by working for Ron Tanton until he fell ill in October and passed away on March 22, 1979 at the Killam Hospital.

Alex leaves to mourn his loss his loving wife Ruby, three sons, Jim and family of Fort St. John, B.C., Larry and family of Dawson Creek, B.C., and Gary at home, two daughters, Teresa and family of Fort St. John, B.C., and Leanne at home, and eight grandchildren.

Also left to mourn are two sisters, Carol of Sedgewick, Erma of Drayton Valley, and two brothers, Donald of Calgary and Jim of Edmonton.

Alex was predeceased by his father, William, his mother, Caroline, a brother, John, and a sister, Dorothy.

Funeral services were held March 27, 1979 in St. John's Anglican Church, Sedgewick. Rev. Richard Conrad conducted the service.

Alex was laid to rest in the Sedgewick Cemetery. Fee & Sons were in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Robert McBride, Bill Martin, George Gascoyne, Ron Tanton, Bruno Bibault and Glen Roggeneack.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all of our friends and relatives who gave flowers, sympathy cards and donations, who brought baking and meals to the house. Also, to the pallbearers, Fee & Sons and to Mrs. Reif Jacobsen, the organist, the ACW ladies who served lunch and everyone who helped us in any way in the time of our great loss and sorrow.

Also, thanks to Dr. Amin, staff of the Killam Hospital for their care and kindess given to us.

A special thanks to Rev. Conrad and Brenda Martin and the Royal Canadian Legion for their services and to all of my family and friends and relatives who stood by me in time of need. Thank you very much. This was all deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Ruby Farquharson and family

Mothers, take note:
Is your child's crib safe?

Is your child sleeping in a crib that was manufactured before 1974? If so – read on. Your child may be in danger.

Recently, in Ontario, a seven-month-old infant suffocated and died as a result of becoming wedged between the crib's mattress and the sliding gate. The crib was pre-1974.

The Federal Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs established safety requirements for the design of infant cribs, effective in 1974. This, of course, was to make sure that incidents like the one above do not occur. However, the people who administer the regulations, have very little control over those older cribs that families are purchasing second hand.

If you are in the market for a second-hand crib, older than five years, or if you are presently using one – be sure it's safe. Look for the following:

1. Space between the upright bars must be no more than 3 1/8". A child should not be able to get his leg, arm, or head stuck.

2. The lock on the drop side must require two separate actions performed at the same time. This type of lock cannot be operated by a child.

3. The mattress should not be more than 1½ inches shorter than the length of the crib inside, or 1½ inches narrower than the width or more than six inches thick.

An older crib or cradle can be made safer with a few simple adjustments. For information, write to the Federal Department of Consumer & Corporate Affairs, Consumer Services, 10225 - 100 Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 0A1.

New owners in hotel

Sedgewick welcomes Frenchie and Georgette Duperron, newcomers to the town and, as of April 1, new owners of The Pioneer Hotel.

The hotel business comes as a result of 19½ years in the oil fields for Frenchie, whose work took him overseas, the Arctic and throughout Alberta and British Columbia. The Pioneer is the Duperrons first experience at owning a hotel, but they "plan to be around for awhile," says Frenchie, who admits the business certainly is more demanding than he initially thought.

Other than the 65 new chairs in the tavern, no immediate changes are planned for either the upstairs or downstairs of The Pioneer. Frenchie will oversee management of the operation himself with a staff of four in the tavern: two full-timers Joan Morey and Debbie Maughlin, and two part-timers Laurie Nordstrom and Leanne Hogg. Alice Sather is in charge of cleaning.

The Duperrons have one girl, presently enrolled in Sedgewick's Grade 4 class. Come summer, the family looks forward to boating and skiing in the area.

Petro Can attends talks

Hardisty Mayor Les Golka chaired a meeting in that community last week which was attended by public officials from Provost to Daysland, and which was addressed by Don Walcott, vice-president of Petro Canada Ltd., along with Bill McLaughlin, formerly of Pacific Petroleum, and Rae Campbell, former manager of Pacific Petroleum.

Purpose of the meeting was to update proceedings with regard to extraction of heavy oil from such sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan ranging from Primrose down through Cold Lake, Lloydminster and to Hardisty.

With the use of over-head film and recorded statistics, those attending were initiated into the required procedures for the extraction of heavy oil.

The meeting was attended by the Hon. Jack Horner, minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce for the federal government.

Chairman Golka gave a brief outline or summary of the work done so far concerning heavy oil development through working with Pacific Pete, Jack Horner and Petro Can. Mr. Horner stated the meeting was held to present information relative to heavy oil and the key people involved. In his remarks, Mr. Horner said that heavy oil potential now is surpassing that of the conventional oil possibilities, but the method of recovering such oil presents many problems.

Mr. Walcott reviewed the "overview" of heavy oil potential started in 1976 in Alberta and Saskatchewan, which has now reached the potential of 1½ billion barrels of reserves from Athabasca Sands, through Cold Lake and down to Hardisty. Study has indicated that there is a possible 40 billion barrel potential of recoverable heavy oil and methods for recovery are being studied thoroughly. This compares with far lower possibilities from the Far East. Yet, there is a great need to find the technical methods for extraction, which includes an "upgrader" to reduce the high gravity to surface and pipeline the product, and this is going to require the separation of all oil companies.

Plants will include, like these in Japan, Kuwait and Mexico, capabilities for strict environment control, minimum use of the available water and a green belt. The foreign plants were constructed by Western technology, which has not yet developed the satisfactory methods of economical recovery. Such plants run at about $900 million, would employ 4,000 workers initially and would take about five years to complete. Some 400 workers would be long-time employees with a payroll of close to $9 million.

Upgrading the oil by steam fire, or both to render it recoverable must be done by some method that will reduce the per barrel consumable rate to make it feasible. Such technology is now being shared with other countries, including Russia.

Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Campbell stressed the needed technology to thin the oil from wells at a depth of 1,500 to 2,100 feet. On this aspect, they are working 24 hours a day. The great need is to improve production technology and in this respect stress is being put on the "upgrading" method through local plants.

The company has several sites they are looking at all the way from a border-straddling plant at Lloydminster and on [illegible].

While some push was on for this local area, it was stressed that any final decision is from five to 10 years away since even a 50 per cent recovery of heavy oil will require trillions of feet of natural gas.

Canada now runs from 4.40 for light oil to 1.3 for heavy below the price of OPEC. Prices must increase, yet production is limited because refineries can't handle present potential supply.

Several members of County Flagstaff Council were present and Reeve Statz presented briefs and resolutions for informational purposes. These outlined the potential and real amenities right here in the county to accommodate such plants as Petro Can many have in mind, which included an abundance of water and an over-abundance of natural gas producing wells.

New life for conservation

The conservationist cause shows signs of surviving the near elimination of Alberta's environment watchdog agency two years ago.

The Environment Council of Alberta, in its first report, has presented an array of recommendations on forest management which is as wide-ranging as most of its predecessor's work.

The Conservative administration set up the council after stripping the former Environment Conservation Authority of its name, permanent executive and ability to act independently.

The authority had opposed government plans to build the Red Deer River dam near Innisfail. Its executive had also split the factions over internal management and administrative issues.

On the council, the executive of the old authority is replaced by an administrator working with rotating panels appointed by the cabinet to handle assignments which the ministers make.

The council's forestry panel demonstrated that the agency can still think independently by making 140 recommendations that challenge [illegible] re-source management and a major economic interest.

The panel calls for creation of a single resources department combining the energy and natural resources, parks and wildlife, land conservation and water resources management responsibilities.

The present departments tend "to represent a single client or single use of land . . . and the use of public land in Alberta is too important and too critical to be left exclusively to departmental managers or even ministers."

The panel further reported that the oil and gas industry during the 20-year-period 1958-78 used up nearly as much land to cut seismic lines as the entire Alberta forest business.

A full-scale public inquiry was recommended into effects of the petroleum industry on the forests, along with increased compensation payments for environmental damage.

The panel estimated that oil and gas exploration has disrupted 580,000 acres of woods compared to 632,000 acres cut in timber operations between 1956 and 1976.

The forestry panel calls the activities of the oil and gas explorers hasty and says that "prevents good planning and risks prolonged impairment of the land base for other high value land uses."

Environment Minister Jack Cookson promised that the report will be read and considered. But Social Credit leader Bob Clark was skeptical of the Tory administration's professed good intentions.

Clark pointed out that the report was ready for publication before the recent provincial election was called. Panel Chairman Bruce Dancik confirmed that and Clark suggested the delay was political.

The Socred leader warned that a once strong "environmental ombudsman" has been cut down to an administrative agency which has to plead "on bended knee" even to hold hearings.

Umpires plan season

The Flagstaff Fastball Umpires Association held its annual meeting in the Edgerton Curling Rink March 29 with representatives from Strome, Killam, Sedgewick, Wainwright, Edgerton, Chauvin and Provost in attendance.

George Gascoyne, who has been Umpire-In-Chief and secretary-treasurer since the association was formed, asked for a one year leave of absence. Those in attendance gave him a hearty vote of thanks for all the work he has done for fastball in this area. Verne Coates agreed to take over as Umpire-In-Chief.

In the election of officers for 1979, Vernon Simpson was elected president, Bud Spornitz as vice-president, and Vern Coates as secretary-treasurer. Jim Tindall and Vernon Simpson were elected as umpire representatives to the Flagstaff Fastball League.

Doug Monro and Vern Coates were to attend an umpires' instructor clinic in Penhold early in April. They will be holding an umpire clinic in Chauvin on April 21 and 22 and in Sedgewick High School on April 28 and 29. All umpires must attend a clinic in 1979 before getting a ticket. It is also hoped that team officials will also attend these clinics because of the many rule changes for the 1979 season.

Early reports indicate a very active year shaping up in fastball, with more towns turning toward two-day tournaments and thereby giving the fastball fans the chance to view a better calibre of fastball, with more teams coming from distant points to take part.

Keep those letters coming in!

Letters. We get letters. This week, The Community Press received two, but we haven't printed them because, although we don't want to censor people, we felt the letters in question would only serve to hurt feelings, or bring about some other negative result. And letters, even the critical ones, should offer some alternative, a solution to a situation worth complaining about.

A lot of times, it isn't the message in a letter that comes across to a reader, it's how the message is conveyed. We've formulated a few ideas to keep in mind the next time you set pen to paper. They work.

No one is asking that a letter be the work of a skilled writer. Sometimes what's needed is skill in diplomacy. Sarcasm is a very negative approach to take in a letter. Think how defensive you would become if all you received was criticism. Hurt feelings only result in hurt feelings, and a brick wall against any further communication.

Get to the point and make your point. Long-winded writing is the worst form of communication. It's particularly damaging when you have a message to convey because no one may still be reading by the time you get it across in your letter.

Don't be vague. The person reading your letter may not have read or heard the item that caused you to respond. Identify the weakness in the article you're reacting to and discredit it with a stronger rational, not emotions.

Yes, your opinion on public issues is valid because you are one of the public. So many of us underestimate ourselves and our knowledge on a subject, afraid that if we write about it someone will point out our ignorance of the subject. Well, that feeling is the result of those types of letters we're talking about – the ones that only hurt feelings and try and make people feel small so someone else can feel big.

As well, you never know when your thoughts on an issue might influence the powers that be. Sometimes even they don't think of everything. You never know who may be reading. Did you know the provincial government has a library with a copy of every issue of every newspaper in Alberta? We like to think they're reading us avidly. They like to think they're keeping tabs on what's going on.

And please, sign your name. You may request your name be withheld in a particular situation. We have honoured that request on numerous occasions because you never know what tempers will make people do. Just ask. A letter submitted without a name has little chance of seeing print at all.

Courtesy and commonsense. That's all it takes to write a readable letter to the editor. You are your own best gauge on how well you've succeeded. Write you letter, then read it as if it were directed at you.

What Others Say

Greenpeace Foundation

Some of Greenpeace Foundation's efforts over the years are admirable and extremely justified, but its campaign against the harp seal hunters in Newfoundland is not one of them.

When Greenpeace formed, its intent was to halt both oceanic and atmospheric testing of nuclear devices. No one can argue the detrimental effects this type of testing can have on the world's environment and Greenpeace earned the support and applause of many people and organizations the world over for its efforts in this area.

The same is true for the foundation's efforts in drawing sympathy and support for its cause again the Russian and Japanese whaling fleets which slaughtered whales so indiscriminately that some species are now in danger of extinction.

The same cannot be said of Greenpeace's continued campaign against the harp seal hunt. Firstly, the harp seal is not an endangered species. True, the total population of the herd is only a fraction of what it once was, but leading experts agree that a managed harvest will result in a stable herd. Although only a few Newfoundlanders rely on the seal hunt as an important part of their income, most Newfoundlanders compete with the seals for a very important part of the economy there - the cod fish.

Through its experience in protesting nuclear testing and the whaling industry, Greenpeace has learned how to manipulate the mass media. A picture of a harp seal hunter clubbing a seal pup to death presents a gruesome image, one that grips the attention of television audiences and newspaper readers. The fact is this method of killing the pups is as humane as the slaughtering of domestic animals.

Greenpeace President Dr. Patrick Moore had a captive audience when he spoke to the high school students in Lacombe recently, but the poor turnout for his public appearance (about 15 persons) must show him and his organization that residents of a farming community, who know the realities of the life cycles of animals, have little sympathy for the "save the harp seal" cause.

The Third Column

by Truncate
(I Write As I Please)

EVEN THOUGH THE possible prospect existed for some time here in Alberta, the rather frightening situation is now with us. For now, behold, we have a provincial government which is almost devoid of any meaningful opposition. Frankly, the situation has this writer worried.

PREMIER LOUGHEED HAS BEEN suspect for some time as a leader who holds a tight rein on his members, and allows nothing to pass or repeas without his permission and sanction. There has to be more than "family relations" or lack of same, for the resignations of so many of his former cabinet people. You simply cannot put men and women in responsible positions and then deny them responsibility, and this is what appears to be the situation with our premier.

WHILE IT COULD BE the utmost in ignorance and stupidity to compare the Alberta situation with the dictatorships of some other countries, such as say the one developing in Iran, it is not beyond the realm of rationality to suggest that such a situation is possible almost anywhere in the world. For where power is taken or given to any individual or to a few, the atmosphere is created for a further grab or desire for more power. To quote Lord Acton once more, "power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely" indicates and supports what has happened in the past, where the possession of power has led to pride and arrogance. Of course, we should not anticipate that this is what will happen here in Alberta, for we live in a Democracy. The democratic philosophy does not allow for this to happen easily.

THE PEOPLE OF ALBERTA nevertheless have a reputation for stamping to the polls rather than going to vote rationally. Talk-in shows of post-election vintage show that most people are bemoaning the fact that there is not enough opposition to keep the government "honest," so to speak. Well, this writer has only one answer for that: you don't get what you want; you get what you deserve. We stamped to the polls in 1921, 1935 for the Farmer Government and Social Credit and then did it again for the PCs. We never go half way. We go whole hog or nothing.

BEING A CANADIAN first and foremost (and proud of it) and an Albertan second (and proud of that, too), we are disturbed by the present trend to "build a wall" around this pro vince and stand firm, if even isolated, and have it stand in arrogant defiance of the national interest. This trend frightens me to distraction.

PREMIER LOUGHEED has been described by an astute professor of political science (on election night) as a man who is hungry for power, and so in closing off this article we would like to quote a portion of writings from the pen of Elmer Arndt. "The evils of the exercise of power without accountability to the people are too evident. The responsible exercise of power involves both that it be used according to established rules and not arbitrarily, and that those who exercise it must be accountable to the people for whom and over whom power is exercised. Democracy in short does not insure good government; but by preventing the monopolization of power in the hands of one or a few, it prevents the evils of slavery or serfdom for the many. An extension of democracy (control by the people) into the economic and social sphere is necessary in modern civilization to prevent the economic exploitation of the many for the advantage of the few."

THE TASK OF MAN is not flight from power, but the use of power for the material and spiritual welfare of ALL men rather than the exercise of power over men. If power is so exercised, it is justified.

THE PROFESSOR may be right; we don't really know. But if he is, let us hope that power now established in the person of our premier will be used properly and fruitfully for the welfare of ALL Canadians, ALL Albertans, and not as a tool for the fragmentation of this great land of ours.

THAT INCOMPARABLE Canadian sports writer, Jim Coleman, ripped the hides off the NHL owners over the situation in language of which we are incapable, but we're with you all the way, Jim.

THE INITIATIVE OF LOVE

"We love, because He first loved us." (I John 4:19)

Love makes us the people we are - and it is generally agreed that a child's experience of love, particularly during the first three years of life, is of crucial importance for his development. If we do not learn the meaning of human love, our spiritual growth may also be restricted for, as the writer of I John says, "he who does not love his brother whom he has seen cannot love God, whom he has not seen."

Thus our capacity to love God and to understand his love for us depends very much on what we have already experienced in human relationships. Parents who want their children to grow up to love God must enable that child to feel secure in their love.

But what of those who, in their formative years, were deprived of love? Are they, through no fault of their own, prevented from ever enjoying loving relationships with either God or other people? The answer of the writer of I John is reassuring: "We love because he first loved us." Love begets love. But how can we be sure that God already loves us? We know because, like a good earthly parent, our heavenly Father has expressed his love in an unmistakable manner. "In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only son into the world so that we might live through Him." There is no more convincing a demonstration of the divine initiative of love than the self giving of Christ on the cross.

Experience has shown that this supreme example of God's love can evoke a response in those that are most emotionally hurt. The early years of the young Puerto Rican, Nicky Cruz, were empty of love and filled with hate. In his book, Run Baby Run, he describes his feelings when his mother, a medium, announced at a spiritual meeting that he was not her son but a son of Satan. "I ran to my room and threw myself on the bed. 'Not her child . . . child of Satan . . . not love me . . . no one cares. No one cares.' The old hate welled up inside me. I hated my mother. God, how I hated her!"

As soon as he could, Nicky left home and went to New York, where he became the leader of a vicious gang of teenage thugs. He was constantly in trouble with the police and when he was eighteen, he appeared in court following his twenty-first arrest. The judge said: "Obviously, you don't have anyone to love you and you don't love anyone either. You don't have the capacity to love. You're sick, Nicky, you're an animal."

Some weeks later, Nicky encountered David Wilkerson, the street corner preacher. "You don't like me, Nicky," he said, "but I feel different about you. I love you. And not only that, but I have come to tell you about Jesus, who loves you, too."

Nicky turned away in disgust, but in the days that followed, he could not forget the preacher's parting words. "Remember Jesus loves you." Those words released all the dammed up love in Nicky's heart and a few days later he committed himself to Christ. The change in his life was dramatic. "All my hatred was gone," he recalls. "I was in love with God . . . with Jesus Christ . . . and with those around me."

As Nicky discovered the realization that God has taken the initiative of love to reach mankind prompts us to take it with others. This is endorsed by the writer of I John, who says, "Beloved, if God so loved us, we also ought to love one another."

Since his conversion, Nicky Cruz has devoted his life to help helping young people, particularly members of the city gangs. Through his work, all the members of his former gang have become Christians and hundreds of teenagers have found release from drug addiction and alcoholism.

To understand the implications of taking the initiative of love, we have the example of Christ himself. So the writer of I John says, "By this we know love, that he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren."

In every age, there are some who are called literally to make the supreme sacrifice. But for all of us, the principle is the same, our love must recognize no limits and refuse no sacrifice.

There is within each of us the capacity to love, and even if it was not fully developed in our childhood, it is never too late for it to be awakened. In both our human relationships and our relationship with God, love is called forth by the love that takes the initiative, "the love that first loved us."

The congregation of the Missionary Church held a pot luck dinner after the morning service on Sunday, April 8 in honour of Mr. Hugh Bownes' 96th birthday.

Some members of Mr. Bownes' family were present. They were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bownes and Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Muyres of Forestburg, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Bownes, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bownes and Rickey and Natalie.

A number of pictures were taken of Mr. Bownes and his birthday cake. It was in the shape of a shamrock and was beautifully decorated by Mrs. Larry Jackson.

A family picture was taken of Mr. Bownes, Carrie, Robert and Doreen. Also, one was taken of four generations: Mr. Bownes, Robert, Doug and Ricky.

Gene Whitehead presented Mr. Bownes with a plaque and thanked him for his many years of service in the church work in Galahad, and wished him many more happy, useful years.

It was also Gene Whitehead's birthday, Scott Crenshaw's and Lynn Jesse's. Gene and Lynn share April 6 with Mr. Bownes. Scott celebrates April 8.

Good Friday services were held in the Presbyterian Church. The Missionary Church was joined by the Forestburg Pentecostal Church folk and the Catholic Church.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Eva Doan, who had the misfortune of breaking her ankle on Tuesday, April 10. She spent a few days in the Royal Alexandra Hospital, returning to Galahad General Hospital Friday.

WMS ladies gather

Maggie Felzien acted as secretary in the absence of Pat Wetmore when 12 members of the Galahad Women's Missionary Society met in the church for their April meeting.

A small quilt was tied during work period. Mrs. Ethel Black conducted the devotional period, continuing the study of discipleship. Portions of the scripture were read by several members.

A list of guidelines for WMS workers was read. Some of these are: enthusiasm and belief in what you do, prayer and study of the Word, share the work, include everyone.

A hymn was sung with Mrs. DeWitt as pianist. Pictures of the crucifixion and resurrection were displayed.

Mrs. Black used the illustrations of the house built upon a rock, which stood firm against the storms, but the house built on sand fell because it had no foundation. Christ in the foundation upon which our lives must be built so that we can stand firm against Satan.

The missionary feature, read by Babe McGowan, was an article describing life in the small country of Burundi in Central Africa. Prayer was offered by Anna Whitehead.

Business items were presented by President Anna and discussed. She welcomed all, including Mrs. Ero Jackson and Mrs. Babe McGowan, recently returned from Arizona.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Scott and Carol Jackson. A pot of lovely Chrysanthemums and little baskets of Easter egg candies decorated the table, also the serviettes daintily bedecked with flowers and butterflies.

"Torch, the rapeseed you can grow with confidence

International trade reports indicate Torch Rapeseed is continuing in heavy demand by world-wide oil seed buyers.

The Pool reminds you that this high yielding Polish-type rapeseed is particularly suited to the shorter growing season in Alberta. It is the highest yielding of the Polish-types of rapeseed and is in demand internationally because of its low level of eurcic acid.

Certified seed supplies of Torch are now available at the Pool."

1980 Phoenix LJ 2-Door Coupe

1980 Phoenix SJ 5-Door Hatchback Sedan

PONTIACS AND BUICKS LIKE NEVER BEFORE.

The remarkable front-wheel-drive 1980 Pontiacs and Buicks are here!

Pontiac's 1980 Phoenix and Buick's 1980 Skylark are new. Totally new! Neat and handsome to look at. Smooth and quiet to ride in. With lots of room for five people.

Part of this spaciousness is accounted for by mounting the engine transversely, requiring less space...and by front-wheel drive, minimizing the need for a large floor hump or tunnel in the passenger area.

Front-wheel drive pays off in other ways. With the heaviest part of the car, the engine, right over the driving wheels, and with the driving wheels also doing the steering, a car is well-equipped to handle the hazards of wet roads, muddy shoulders and snowy driveways.

Front-wheel drive is a grabber

MacPherson strut front suspension helps give the car the feel of a big-car ride, while rack-and-pinion steering offers the driver quick, decisive control when nipping through traffic or slipping into a parking spot.

WHAT ABOUT FUEL ECONOMY?

It is excellent! A new 4-cylinder Phoenix or Skylark with optional automatic transmission has fuel consumption/economy estimates of 9.1 litres per 100 km (comparative rating)*. This means much better fuel economy than a comparably-equipped 6-cylinder 1979 model... and better power-to-weight ratio. For example, a new 4-cylinder Phoenix/Skylark, with automatic transmission, will accelerate from 0 to 100 KPH as quickly as its comparably equipped '79 6-cylinder predecessor.

They all share a standard 2.5 litre 4-cylinder engine with floor-mounted 4-speed manual transmission. Optional are a 2.8 litre V6 and automatic transmission.

PONTIAC PHOENIX offers four models: a Phoenix 2-door Coupe and a 5-door Hatchback Sedan, both with luxury LJ versions. A sporty SJ package is available on the Phoenix Coupe and Hatchback Sedan.

1980's Grand Opening

The 5-door Hatchback Sedan's optional "security panel" covers the trunk area and lifts out easily so the rear seat can be folded down (standard on the LJ Hatchback).

BUICK SKYLARK offers distinctive 2-door Coupes and 4-door Sedans in three series: Skylark, Skylark Sport and Skylark Limited.

Whether buying or leasing, see your Pontiac-Buick dealer for a test drive. The 1980's are here!

*Based on Transport Canada approved test methods. These fuel consumption/economy figures are estimates which may be subject to revision. The actual results you get will vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition and optional equipment.

Some of the equipment shown or mentioned is optional at extra cost.

YOU'RE PROTECTED

Two fish & game men win provincial trophies

The Iron Creek Fish & Game Association held its monthly meeting in Lougheed April 10 with a good attendance.

The club has just been informed that two of our members were successful in winning trophies in the provincial trophy competition for 1978. Don Parsons won the mule deer trophy and James McClements won the trophy for the largest Lake Trout. They will receive their trophies at the provincial trophy ball in Edmonton April 27. A number of those present expressed interest in once again attending the function.

There has been considerable interest shown by local merchants in sponsoring our club trophies. This will result in more trophies being awarded for more species of fish.

Zane Parsons gave a short report on the provincial convention he attended in February.

Ed and Faye Davidson attended the Provincial Fish & Game executive meeting in Red Deer on April 7 and 8 and gave an interesting report on the proceedings. Final plans were made for hosting the Zone 3 spring meeting in Lougheed on June 2 and 3. From all reports, a large attendance is anticipated.

The fish biologist from Red Deer was in the area in March, testing some lakes and ponds our club has hopes of getting stocked with fish. Once again, most of the biologist's finding were negative, but Owen's Pond will be stocked with 1,500 trout this spring. This will be the only trout stocking in our local area in 1979.

Due to the shortage of started pheasant chicks, the club has been notified that our order of 300 six-week-old birds may be cut back. With this in mind, plans were made toward building a brooder house to accommodate day-old pheasant chicks, which are more readily available. A work party will be organized as soon as weather permits.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

MY BALLOTE TO PASTRY

Remember when the excuse for being fat was, "You didn't get anymore sand . . . it just settled in the wrong places!" The truth of the matter is, it didn't settle in the wrong places . . . you just got more sand!

Let's be honest now, how many waists out there are presently being held hostage by fat threatening calories? Yours may be one of them. The determining test is to stand outside and face the sun. If your shadow swallows the house and garage, then consider your waist as a losing candidate in the Battle of Bulge.

Many people are under the illusion that for every fat person there is a skinny person just screaming to get out. This is entirely false. Some of us contain not one, but eight to a dozen of these little entities . . . so who's counting?

Believe it or not, popular vote goes at the slogan, "Gargantua is Gorgeous!" This type of person appears in every race and walk of life. These are the sales people who ask you if your trousers are lined with an inflatable raft, the gardeners who only talk to you in the shade for fear that in direct sunlight you'll begin to drip on the petunias, and the Shell Oil researchers who feel that if drilling started immediately, your body could beat the rest of Canada until the year 3010.

Never-the-less, we continue to thrive. To successfully fight the flab, one must succumb to the fact that you are a fat slob. Self-realization usually takes place with the occurance of one, or for you slower people, two waist-rendering experiences. Such incidents are: 1. While swimming in the ocean, you are mistaken for a Blue Whale, 2. Dawning to the fact that you couldn't possibly be pregnant, since the last time you saw your toes was on September 4, 1947, and 3. While at a friend's house, the hostess tosses a spare afghan over you to make more couch space when unexpected guests arrive. This process is the beginning, if you pardon the pun, to an enlightening experience.

The next step to the newer, slimmer you is choosing the right, safe type of diet. Most diets have one major point in common . . . they don't work. Such is the infamous water diet. This involves consuming massive amounts of water in place of solid foods. Aside from your skin taking on the transparent look of the water, after several weeks of use seaweed will begin to sprout on the inside of your intestines. You will never be able to walk without hearing this perpetual swish like the Pacific Ocean at high tide.

The next is the eggs and cottage cheese diet. This one literally speaks for itself. Noted for the few calories they contain, when mixed together and consumed, these two produce the foral stink of boiled rat on your breath. If you don't mind being locked in a room by yourself with a note on the door that reads, "Warning: Surgeon General has determined your breath hazardous to all life forms!", this is the diet for you.

Beware of the raw fish diet. Although some people have been known to lose an ounce or two, the side effects are not worth it. They range from nausea and dizziness to explosive diarrhea and an ever-growing fear of cats and seagulls. If you are in the artistic mood, combine this diet with the water diet. You might not lose much weight, but you'll sure make an interesting aquarium.

The granddaddy of all diets has to be the bread, cheese and wine diet. This one was derived from the eastern European people. It never fails to amaze me how so many could exist on the same food for so long, but the secret is the wine. You see, after pigging out on bread and cheese, you wash it all down with a bottle of your favourite white, red or fruit wine. Believe me, after a day or so, you won't care about being fat, skinny, or much of anything else . . . that is if you are still conscious! So, if you are willing your weight problem to dieting, just remember, diets can buy you thinness, but not ecstacy.

Many say fat is shameful, but I say doughnuts and frenchfries to that! Afterall, what obesity spends on food it doesn't spend on miscellaneous items. For example, a fat person can have a bath in a gallon of water where a skinny person might have to spend half an hour jumping around in the shower to get wet. How is that, you ask? Well, pour your water into the tub, then get chubby to climb in and voila! A tubful of water.

What's that you say? Clothes for the horribly huge is a problem? Not necessarily!! Tents are considered vogue today. They come in a rainbow of colours and all are made of tough, durable, water-proof canvas, which, by the way, resists perspersation stains. Ah-hah! More savings! You can use less deodorant and still look decent.

Tents come in a myriad of styles and shapes, from the pup to the bedroom bungalow. Just consult your local sporting goods dealer. He'll be more than happy to help obtain a size just for you. A butterball you may be but out of style you aren't!

Personal peek, to some, is a real drag. Those unfortunates that try their daradest to achieve a figure do not need to be constantly reminded they are plump. And if you should cheat on your diet and the Famine Freaks move in to taunt and tease you until insanity is inevitable, just remember:

"Past the lips and over the gums,
Watch out figure 'cause here it comes!
Calories galore, my thighs are obscene,
What the heck, pass me a Danish, Maxine!"

-Darcy G. & Duanne L. Jahns

Killam wins travelling award

Purple and white were indeed prevalent in Killam on April 2 when the Killam Order of the Royal Purple was hostess to the other lodges of District #11. Ladies from Daysland, Heisler, Edberg, Camrose, Bashaw, Kinsella, and Hardisty, totalling 88 in all, enjoyed an afternoon of lodge ceremony and friendship.

An honoured guest at the session was a representative of Supreme Lodge, Evelyn Northey, of Red Deer. During the afternoon, she presented a District Deputy bar to Blanche McGowan of Killam Lodge, in recognition of her term as head of District #11 for the past term.

ARTHRITIS CAMPAIGN IN SEDGEWICK UNDERWAY

Mrs. Jean Johnson will head this year's group of volunteers to conduct The Arthritis Society's 1979 fund-raising campaign in Sedgewick.

The funds raised will be used to support research projects being carried out at Alberta's two Rheumatic Disease Units. These projects are investigating a number of areas in rheumatology, and some of their findings have already ensured better care of arthritis patients.

Mrs. Johnson encourages local residents to volunteer their time as volunteers in the fund-raising drive "Because The Arthritis Society needs our help to extend its research program."

BEAM BUILT-IN VACUUM SALE

Limited Time Offer

Hall opened in Merna

The new Sedgewick Seventh-Day Adventist church hall was officially opened the evening of April 14 when Councillor Blanche Hagen, in an indoor ceremony, cut the ribbon which had been placed across a volleyball. The ball was later autographed by those attending the opening and is to be kept as a memento of the occasion.

The 32-foot by 80-foot building contains a 60-foot multi-purpose area for social, cultural and recreational events, plus a kitchen and a classroom in addition to the washrooms and entry area.

In his remarks delineating the history of the building project, John Anderson noted that activity is the law of life and that the hall, which coincidentally was built during the International Year of the Child, will be used extensively to provide good activity for the youth. He invited members of the community who are interested in a "no smoke -- no drink atmosphere" to participate in activities that will be conducted in the hall.

Construction of the hall was begun January 22. Material from an Alberta Pool elevator annex which had been purchased was enough to close the building. Only volunteer labour was used in construction.

The evening's program included a short band concert, vocal trio, brass quartet, marimba, vibraharp, and harmonica performances, and a demonstration of gymnastics by local members of the Canadian Union College Olympix team. After the program, lunch was served by the Pathfinder Club.

The evening's activities concluded a busy day for the congregation which earlier had welcomed members of churches in Camrose and Ryley to the morning services. Dr. Kissler, head of the Canadian Union College Theology Department, preached the Easter sermon on the importance, centrality and necessity of Christ's resurrection.

Following dinner in the new hall, members and visitors reassembled in the church for a baptismal service conducted by Pastor Curtis Johnson. Seven of those baptized joined the Sedgewick congregation and two became members of the church in Camrose.

Crowfoot poll conducted

The Camrose Canadian newspaper instigated an opinion poll concerning the upcoming federal election, particularly concerning the Crowfoot Constituency.

A similar poll was conducted by The Provost News in 1977 to gauge voter reaction to an Arnold Malone-Jack Horner confrontation using 10 weekly newspapers.

In each community, except Coronation, Hanna and Oyen, 50 people were polled for a preview of voter reaction. Liberal Jack Horner represents the Crowfoot Constituency at present, the only Liberal seat held in Alberta by the federal government. Originally, Mr. Horner won the seat as a Conservative before crossing the floor to join the Liberal ranks. Arnold Malone is his Conservative opposition and the NDP candidate is Roger Millbrandt.

Results of the survey are:

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Donald Sinclair (Stanley & Hatch) don't look a gift kelp-bore Lynne Morris. The reason—everyone seems to want to see them spat, but they are not saying that we're going to get married, but I know we're going to, just because we've got too much going against us. Hollywood offers a very superficial kind of existence.

INSIDE THE TUBE: Poor Cindy Williams just couldn't shoving Canadian hunters hiking baby seals. So she went to the comforting rescue. Cindy has dozens of other supporters, including Senator Denise Sheldon. I mean fist—in the ring, as Tony Banta on TV's "Taxi." But Tony's girlfriend, model Paula Chambers, agrees, even though she really does know how to use his fists. You see, Tony is a pacifist. Paula can't stand violence. Not to mention TV INSIDER: Beverly Hills, we are a generous, loving people. We pick up strays, we feed the hungry, we have a habit. The other night, at a popular Beverly Hills crisp $100 bill (or the top one I used to be a waitress myself, and Suzanne, and I know how hard they run its course on television, he'd like to return to Broadway—as a director. Former Happy Hooker Joey Heatherton would certainly be more important than her career. But he's handing no luck. The million-dollar actress and popularity of Barry Manilow have been having fight after fight. . . " friend confided. "But I'm really glad I'm not involved in it. I'm not going to be a doormat for anyone." Sounds like a job for Lauren Bacall, doesn't it? New York

IN MEMORIUM

BRICKER — Mrs. Susan, who passed away April 17, 1979.
God saw you getting tired,
And did what He thought best.
He put His arms around you
And whispered come and rest.
The Golden Gates stood open
One year ago today.
You gently slipped away.
Lovingly remembered by son Jim McNaughton, wife and grandchildren. 33-1c

BAKKEN — In loving memory of a dear husband and a father, Andrew Bakken who passed away April 21, 1978.
We think of you, dad,
But then that's nothing new
We thought of you yesterday
And the day before that too.
To some you may be forgotten,
To other's, part of the past.
To those who loved you and lost you
Your memory will always last.
So many things have happened dad
Since you were called away
So many things to share with you
Had you been left to stay
We bless the years we had with you
And leave the rest to God
And those of you who have a dad
Cherish him with care
For you will never know the heartaches
When he is no longer there.
Forever remembered and loved by your wife Betty and daughter Anna. 32-1c

KALEIDOSCOPE

FASHION FORECAST

Doreen Al-Adra, Clothing & Textile Specialist with Alberta Agriculture, offers this information on fashions.

Fashions for this season are borrowed from the past. The look is retro-fashion-slang for retroactive. Garments are more tailored with fewer ruffles and tiers. The trend is close-to-the-body dressing, revealing the silhouette. Broad, boxed shoulders, pared down skirts and pants, and cinched waistlines reflect a mood of the sophisticated cafes.

Nostalgic details prevail with padded shoulders, puff sleeves, peplums, deep V and keyhole necklines.

Dresses emphasize the waistline with the use of belts or gathers. Bib, band, shawl collars, shoulder tucks and gathers, and wrapped opening are other details.

Suits are more important than ever. Jackets vary in length but skirts are uniformly narrow-wrapped and slit.

Pants have a narrow, tailored look with high waistbands for daytime. Watch for trouser pleats and shallow cuffs.

Skirts range from slim wrapped shapes to easy dirndls, circles and full-pleated styles. Again, high-rise waistbands and contrasted gathers promotes a slimmer look.

For a young look, wear several brilliant colours together - lime green top and turquoise pants with a sun yellow wrap jacket.

Summer '79 will reveal a spectrum of fresh clean colours! To sum it up - the look for Spring '79 is one of nostalgia - the look of the '40s with a feminine touch in textures and colours.

Provincial Needlework Workshop

The Provincial Needlework Workshop will be at the Camrose Lutheran College on the evening of June 1 and all day June 2 and 3. This is the second annual workshop sponsored by the Calgary Guild of Needle and Fibre Arts and the Edmonton Needlecraft Guild.

The workshop will cover instruction and demonstration of 3-Dimensional Needlework-ing, Boutique and Patchwork Quilting, Beginners Canvas Stitching, Hardanger and Design and Colour for making decorative frames.

For more information on fees, overnight accommodation and registration forms, contact this office or call Mrs. Anne Miller at 484-1923. Registration deadline is April 30, 1979.

Save Money With Colour

Have you ever considered that the use of colour in your home can be an energy saver?

- Dark roofs absorb heat and can contribute to energy conservation in winter. Keep in mind that they also will absorb heat in summer so good insulation or protection from decidu-ous trees is still very important.
- Warm colours, such as oranges, yellows, golds or red, make people feel warmer in a room so the temperature could be kept a bit cooler.
- Pale colours reflect light, therefore, if used in conjunction with maximum natural illumination, not as many light fixtures are required.
- A cost of paint is the least expensive way to redecorate or change the atmosphere of a room.

Daysland News

On Tuesday evening, April 10, the Gooddeeders Club of the Gladstone district held a surprise party for Cliff and Irene Tennant at their home in Daysland. Cards were played and a parting gift was presented, followed by a delicious lunch.

The Welcome Wagon has welcomed the following people to Daysland: Cliff and Irene Tennant, Pat Harrowby and family, and Norman and Ruth [illegible].

We are pleased to hear Fred Schmidt is able to be home from the hospital now.

Mrs. Eleanor Davidson has gone on a holiday to Grand Prairie to visit her sister Doris and brother-in-law Swain.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pryor and daughters of Prince George spent a week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pryor and Mrs. Frances Dietrich.

Mrs. Gordon Swanson of Melita, Manitoba spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pryor.

Mrs. Velma Byers of Fort Saskatchewan visited her sister for a few days.

Mrs. Anna Boggs spent last weekend in Edmonton.

Anxious for a taste of spring, 16 ladies from Daysland were able to join the Hospital Auxiliary tour of the Mutiart Conservatory the end of last month.

At 10 a.m., we met at Pedersons' for a quick cup of coffee then the drivers of the three cars, Kay Reist, Theresa Campbell and Orlean Micka, drove us to Edmonton, where we were joined by Nancy Rooney.

After dinner at the Ponderosa, we spent several hours enjoying the four different sections of Muttarts, especially the beauty and fragrance of the early spring bulbs. The banks of Easter Lilies, Tulips, Nyacinths, Daffodils and Narcissus were at their gorgeous best for Easter season.

To finish off the day, we were invited to Nancy's, where we enjoyed tea and a short, but happy visit with time to wish Nancy many happy returns on her birthday.

The Hospital Auxiliary meeting was held April 12. The meeting opened with the Auxiliary Prayer. There were nine members present.

A report was given on the Flea Market. The president also gave a report of the items we bought for the children's ward of the hospital.

A motion was made to reduce the price of the Auxiliary cookbooks to $1.50. The Strawberry Tea was set for May 11 and the conveners were selected. The meeting adjourned and Norma Hanrahan passed out the cancer books as April is cancer canvassing month. A delicious lunch was then enjoyed of Easter treats

Rebekahs greet sisters from Silver Link Lodge

On Wednesday evening, April 11, members of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge, along with the D.D.P. Sis Lawson and Sis. Vincett of Silver Link Lodge, met at the Anglican Church in Lougheed, where they attended the service.

At the close of the service, the members returned to the lodge room. Lodge opened in form with 14 members and two visitors in attendance. N.G. Sis Cookson was in the chair.

D.D.P. Sis. Lawson read her correspondence and was welcomed. She was presented with a long-stemmed rose.

It was noted that Sis. L. Shoberg was still in hospital and also that Sis. M. Dreger had been in the hospital. Visits had been made to Killam and Daysland Hospitals.

An invitation was received from Silver Link Lodge to attend their anniversary celebration in June. After reading a letter asking for help from the play school mothers, it was decided to bring old books, spools, cartons, plastic bottles, etc. to the next meeting.

Sisters Paterson and Barton are to serve on the nominating committee.

Under Good of the Order, Sis. Lawson brought greetings and spoke encouraging words. N.G. Sis. Cookson demonstrated a unique mode of transportation used in kindergarten and suggested that members having old curling brooms and old socks might bring these to lodge.

Hardisty Easter Service filled

St. Paul's United Church was filled to capacity for the Easter service conducted by Rev. Jackson.

Special music for the first selection was an organ and piano duet. The organ was played by Mr. Pounder and the piano by his sister, Mrs. Moor.

The lesson, John 20:1-18, was read by John Mitchell. A special vocal selection was sung by Pat Ritthaler, "Let the Sunshine In," and accompanied by her sister, Beverly, on the piano.

The second musical special was a piano duet by Mrs. Moor and Mr. Pounder.

During the offering, Maryon Drager played "The Holy City." The next vocal selection was "Bless This House," beautifully rendered by Beverly Ritthaler, accompanied by her grandmother, Maryon Drager.

The hour passed quickly and soon Mr. Jackson was on his way to another Easter service in Hughenden.

Ladies, please try to attend the annual meeting of the Battle River Regional ACW, to be held in Viking on April 25.

Hardisty and District News

Mrs. Ann Buckley of Edmonton came via bus to visit her mother, Mrs. Marie Kobitsch recently.

Well, we thought that spring was on its way with our "snowbirds" returning from the States, but spring is again delayed with all this wet snow. However, it makes some of the farmers happy to see that extra moisture.

Pete Guenard found himself in the hospital in California with a bad nose bleed and the crude treatment received until sent to a specialist was almost unbelievable, and the bill worse yet as he was billed for a few things never received, but the price was high.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Shott on the arrival of a daughter recently. Her name is Anna Marie and is another granddaughter for Louis and Theodore deKock.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Johannesson on March 30, a young son weighing 8 lbs. 3½ oz. His name is Clinton James. Congratulations to Glen and Debbie.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Reid of Morinville visited with their nephew, Doug, and Joyce Harrison last weekend.

Congratulations to Debbie and Rob Skopland on the arrival of a young daughter born in early April weighing 7 lbs. 9 oz. Her name is Lisa Louise.

Well, there is never a dull moment and Thursday night was no exception. Linda Quest from Calgary was coming home for Easter holidays and after her mother was waiting for her to come on the early bus, word came that she had gone on to Edmonton although her luggage came on the early bus. So while waiting, Mrs. Bob Quast and Isabel Nelson called on the Cliff Whiteheads for a little while.

Then later, on meeting the nine o'clock bus, Linda arrived looking tired after her extra long day and a relieved mother was most happy to see her.

Visitors with their mother and sister recently were Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Johnston and girls of Stettler. Also visiting wer Oscar and Doris Bliss of Lloydminster who, accompanied by Nettie Johnston, went to Camrose to tie up the last minute ends on their trip to England, leaving May 7.

It was nice to see Myrna Paulson, who is staying with sister Laverne Whitehead for awhile. We remember Myrna nursing in the Hardisty hospital and she now has been at the University in Edmonton for sometime. She worked with Sister Clare just recently.

The Rosyth Women of Unifarm held their yearly Easter bake sale in the Drop-In Centre last Thursday.

The raffled cake was won by Mariann Thompson and was made by Phyllis Manning and beautifully decorated by Phyllis and her daughter Marie. It was decorated in shades of mauve, which was quite different.

Two other outstanding cakes were decorated by Laura Blue, one cake in the shape of a cross was decorated with Easter Lilies, while the other had basket weaving on the sides and a variety of flowers on top. Both very beautiful to look at. A good crowd attended and enjoyed the delicious lunch served at the tea.

Easter company at the Joe Savage's home were his sister Ann with husband, Mr. Gordon and family, also sister Mary with husband, Mr. Pellon, all of Edmonton.

We were sorry to hear that Art Widlake has been seriously ill with pneumonia but is now out of hospital and recuperating at home.

Birthday greetings go a bit belated to Eddie Matthews of Hughenden, who celebrated his 30th birthday recently. After having a hip operation, he has to go back to Edmonton for surgery for surgery of another sort. We wish him well and hope that he will celebrate many more birthdays.

The Hospital Auxiliary's meetings have been held the second Wednesday in every month but have changed to the second Tuesday in every month from now on. However, they usually break for summer so the second Tuesday in September they hope to be in full swing again. There will be a May and June meeting before that time.

Marian Elm's two daughters, Claudia and Catherine, came home to help their mother with spring house cleaning. A very welcome help indeed.

Visitors at the Cliff Whitehead home were Laverne's uncle, Merle Carson, and a friend from Cranbrook, B.C. Also visiting was Lavern's Aunt Martha Carson from Cranbrook, too.

Four tables of whist were played at the Drop-In Centre Saturday night with high ladies won by Ruth Moar, and ladies' low by Ruth Longman. Vera Hendricks was high for gents and our only guest, Paul Maure, received low.

Sympathy is extended to Ruth Longman, Eleanor Moody and Art Woyen on the passing away of their niece's husband in Calgary. They attended the funeral there.

It is no wonder the air is so cold when an ex-CPR resident mentions that in the Medicine area the track has been plowed out often for the last month with banks close to 16 feet high. Sounds like a repeat of 1948.

The Camrose Old-Time Hockey team went to the last tournament of the season at Swift Current on Good Friday. They won their game against Ponteix but lost to Indian Head. Therefore, it was game over and they passed by Hardisty about 4:30 in time to see the wreck of Rose Brown's car, which the police were surveying at the time.

Hardisty and District News Items

We are glad that Rosie wasn't hurt worse, but she became a hospital patient over it.

A good number turned out for the UCW tea and bake sale. The little Easter bunnies decorating the tea tables were an added attraction. Something different.

Saturday was a busy day. First the very pretty wedding of Janice Olson to Glen Oldfield. The wedding party all looked so nice. Sammy, the ring bearer, was very careful with the cushion carrying the rings. Tracy had her hair all done up and wore a yellow dress as yellow was the colour worn by Janice's younger sister, who was her bridesmaid.

The reception was well taken care of with a nice variety of food and plenty of it. Later, a dance followed and the happy couple left for a honeymoon in warmer climes than here.

We wish the happy couple the best of everything in the future and as the friend who gave Janice away said, they were indeed saddened when she told them she was leaving Duncan, B.C. for Hardisty, but Duncan's loss was Hardisty's gain so we are fortunate to have such a lovely couple in our midst.

Just to congratulate the editor on all the pictures of the wreck. I was glad to see so many of them as while talking to the cook for the crew, he said it was one of the worst wrecks he had seen.

It was also nice to see the report by the RCMP. They have a big job to do.

Easter visitors at the Barney Matthews home were granddaughters Pat of Calgary, with her husband Allan Morrison, granddaughter Sharon Beiss, also of Calgary, and daughter-in-law Mrs. Emily Duncan and son Michael.

John Golka, Bill Matthews and Alvin Swanson spent the Easter weekend in Vancouver, attending a trap shoot there.

Legions enjoy social

Friday, April 6 was the date of a Hardisty Legion social evening held in the Hut, when members of the Legion and Auxiliary, and guests from Lougheed, Sedgewick and Bawlf gathered to honour some of their members.

Cards were played at the start of the evening, the President, Comrade Jim Thomson introduced Zone Commander Arnold Gilroy of Bawlf and his wife, Auxiliary Zone Commander Alison Barton and her husband Tommy, and other guests.

Comrade Gilroy then presented life memberships to Comrades Barney Matthews, Clement Prost and George Krouzer, all of whom have served the branch long and faithfully.

Madam Barton was called on to present service awards to seven Auxiliary members. Those present receiving these were Mesdames Dorothy Krouzer, Joyce Johnsrud, Dorothy Hearn and Barbara Matthews. Madam F. Cantlon was a patient in the hospital, so her award was presented to her there. Madam McClements Sr. and Madam Nettie Johnston were also absent. Their service medals were presented on Sun day with Zone Commander Barton and Branch President N. Thomson going to the Flagstaff Lodge for this purpose.

Following the presentations, a singsong was enjoyed and lunch served to round out a very pleasant occasion.

The Community Press

A Weekly Newspaper Serving the Communities of Hardisty, Lougheed, Sedgewick, Killam and Strome.

Single Copies — 25¢ / WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, 1979 Volume 78 — No. 34

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White of Lougheed cut their 50th wedding anniversary cake at a special celebration held to commemorate the couple.

50th anniversary noted

At the Lougheed Community Hall on April 14, 1979, a very pleasant evening was spent honouring Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, which their family had so capably organized.

Friends and relatives came from far and near until the hall was filled to capacity with more than 300 signing the guest book.

A short, interesting program provided by local talent warmed the hearts of Helen and Hunter. As mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Mary Albrecht, a longtime friend of the couple, ably conducted this program, adding interesting comments and memories and getting the evening of fun and frolic off to a good beginning.

Mrs. Roberta Riddock, deputy mayor of Lougheed, brought greetings and best wishes on behalf of the village and presented the couple with an orange tree, which the Hunter Whites thank council for very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson of Merna sang an inspiring duet which was much appreciated.

Appropriate songs were beautifully rendered by a trio composed of Jerry Lynn Burden and Margaret and Ronald Roggenaack, accompanied by Ronald on the guitar.

Susan Arnold, who is a fourth generation on her mother's side and whom the Whites have known and enjoyed, came especially from Edmonton to delight the audience with her solo dancing.

Piano solos by Mrs. Kae Routledge and Miss Gwen Swainson were much enjoyed. Mrs. Helen O'Reilly, with her comical reading of the "Cake Recipe," caused much laughter.

Mr. Art Eastly of Sedgewick and Mr. Cyril Drever of Hardisty brought greetings and reminisced on bygone days. Mrs. Catherine Horricks related some of her impressions of this fine couple.

Following the program, a delicious buffet was served with friends and relatives assisting. Pretty floral arrangements and gold candles adourned the tables. The head table was centred with the wedding cake, daintily decorated by Mrs. Mary Rombough. Rev. Bob Chappell said grace, giving thanks for the honoured couple.

Mr. George Anderson ably proposed a toast-to-the-bride of 50 years. Telegrams and greetings were read. Among them, good wishes were sent from Premier Lougheed, Prime Minister Trudeau, Governor General Edward Schreyer, Lieutenant Governor of Alberta Ralph Steinhauer, MP Arnold Malone, Joe Clark and MLA Tom Lynn.

A telegram from grandchildren Barbara and Wayne Schaupmeyer, who are in Singapore, was happily received.

On behalf of the Community Service System, a lovely family bible was presented as a remembrance of this occasion. As guests chatted with one another, Helen and Hunter passed their wedding cake to all.

In due time, the tables were cleared away. The Storbakken Orchestra set up their musical instruments. Soon the strains of music burst forth. The bride in her dainty, long floral green gown and golden slippers, wearing a corsage of yellow roses and daisies, was led on to the floor for the first dance by the groom, wearing a handsome new suit with a yellow rose and white carnation boutonniere. Relatives and friends joined in the dance to make merry on his this happy occasion.

Refreshments and lunch were available throughout the evening. Much enjoyed was the singing of a favourite song of the Whites by Larry Storbakken, a member of the orchestra.

Both Mr. and Mrs. White spoke to the guests, thanking everyone for coming and making this celebration such a happy and memorable occasion. After the singing of For They Are Jolly Good Fellows, the gathering dispersed to wend its homeward way.

Chamber of Commerce meets in Sedgewick

The regular dinner meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce took place at the Lutheran Hall April 17 with Vice-President A. Strobel in the chair and 23 members present. New members Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bergum were welcomed. An excellent meal was served by the Lutheran Church Women.

The business meeting included discussion about the trophy that is presented annually to the most-improved skater. It was decided to retain the present one and have a larger base put on so as to keep the record of the ones who had already won it.

A visit from a representative of the Alberta Liquor Control Board was also reported. Names for the Farm Family Award were submitted and a committee of three was appointed to work with the district agriculturist on this.

It was further decided that Clean-Up Day for the town should be May 7 and that the chamber should publicize it. The membership committee reported the number of members to be 36. The work by the canning committee is continuing and further progress will be reported at the next meeting.

Mayor Koehli, reporting for the town, stated that the opening day for the town office, library and senior citizens' centre is set for May 7. Mr. Arnold Malone has been invited to be the guest speaker.

For the committee on changing the street names to numbers, Mr. Terry Robinson said all the councillors were in favour of the change and an enlarged committee was authorized to continue.

It was decided that in the future, we guarantee a payment for 20 plates to the ladies who serve the dinner.

The next chamber meeting will be held May 16.

Advice for rural voters

Revisions of the preliminary voters' list for the May 22 federal election takes place Wednesday, May 2 only. If you are a qualified voter but were not enumerated, you can still have your name placed on the list by contacting the enumerator in your electoral district this day.

If you were absent during enumeration and will be again during the revising period, you can have your spouse or a blood relative make a sworn application to have your name placed on the revised list. Again, the enumerator must be contacted with any changes or additions on May 2.

Voters in rural areas may still vote on election day if their name is missed on both the preliminary and revised list of voters. At the polling station, qualified voters take an oath that they are entitled to vote and must be vouched for by another elector whose name is on the official list of voters, where your name normally should have appeared.

Killam's Jack Gair was honoured last Friday night at that community's hockey banquet. Mr. Gair was remembered for his years of service to the sport. Making the presentation is Reg Fee (right), president of the Killam Minor Hockey Association. In the background, Sharol Klebanosky, master of cermonies for the evening, looks on Polls - what value?

We watched with interest the other night a program on CBC TV concerning the upcoming federal election. It was analyzing the results of a poll conducted by that broadcasting company in an effort to gauge what political party had made the most impression on the Canadian public, and what kind of impression.

The poll, or any poll, according to one marketing expert on the panel, should not be translated into which way the public will cast their votes. Rather, he said, it's an effective way to measure reactions at this point of the campaign trail.

The poll, as far as we could tell, didn't reveal any too startling facts. It has Conservative Joe Clark with 40 per cent of the vote, Liberals' Trudeau with 38 per cent, and the rest divided between NDP, Social Credit and undecided – most undecided.

Polls seem to benefit the candidates more than the electorate as far as we can gather. The political parties can see up-to-date results of the effects of their strategy – what has been positive issues, behaviours, or comments – and make any changes to that strategy for the last month before the election.

And other than being the makings of an interesting television show, what results will that poll have on voters? Experts say polls don't influence, but how can they not? There's a great deal of undecided voters across this country. How many, after hearing how so many others feel about those parties and men in the running, will follow suit and vote the way 'most' everybody else is.

A good example, and one closer to home, is the recent poll instigated by The Camrose Canadian on how people in the Crowfoot Constituency will vote. Six weekly newspapers in this area were asked to poll residents on who they were going to vote for? Arnold Malone led with a resounding 58 per cent, Jack Horner of the Liberals captured 13 per cent, the NDP had 2 per cent and the rest, 27 per cent, went to the undecided voters.

How many people who read the results of that poll in last week's paper are going to be influenced. This is a very controversial riding, one that will be watched very closely come election night results.

That night is almost a month away yet. We hope that because of that and similar polls, any candidate hasn't already lost.

What Others Say

How about a new award?

There have been awards for best actor, best popular singer, male and female, best country music singer, male and female, best TV series and so on and on for several hours. There have been Citizens of the Year, Junior Citizen Awards, Best Player Awards and so on, all very deserved. At this time of year, wouldn't it be appropriate to have a C.A.S.H.E.W. award? Which being spelled out means Canadian Award for Staying Home Each Winter, given to those who have lived through another Canadian winter with courage, determination and valor without once flying off to Hawaii, Florida or Mexico.

Now, here is a competition open to the "little guy", the working man and woman. Government bigwigs would be eliminated very quickly with all their junketings here and there to "relax" from their heavy schedules.

Some of the categories we would suggest for this are as follows:

1. The jogger who never missed a day no matter how cold it got, how deep the drifts he had to sprint over, how bitter the wind, or how much water he had to slosh through after a Chinook.

2. The hockey player, big or little, who never missed a practice or a game.

3. The ice fisherman who stuck with it day after day from sunup to sundown, hunkered down under his little tent while snowmachines whizzed by to right, to left and over him.

4. The Master Farm Family who fed cattle, dug feed out of the snow of early storms, sat up with early calving cows, lambing ewes and kidding does, and who saved the most through such faithful surveillance.

5. The snow plow operator who covered the most miles, working extra hours and finishing one round only to start the next.

6. The best snow shoveller on the block.

7. The mother or babysitter who put on, and took off snowsuits, snow boots, caps and mittens the greatest number of times without losing her sanity.

8. And, the special award of merit should go to the kindergarten teacher who coped with the winter apparel of dozens of little ones, getting them dressed and on to the right bus without losing a child, a boot or a mitten.

For this, we would suggest a solid gold pendant in the shape of a tiny sun, and set in diamonds, or perhaps a mink coat?

Yes, a C.A.S.H.E.W. night would be most fitting right about now while there are still some very tender noses, ears, toes and fingers, and memories of chilblains are fresh in mind.

The Third Column

by Truncate
[I Write As I Please]

HAVING JUST RETURNED from an Institute (School) for Hospital Trustees in the Stampede City of Calgary, where I learned much concerning the operation of hospitals in Alberta and the burden of cost it is imposing on the taxpayers of the country, I began to wonder if the entire system should be overhauled and brought up to date.

IT IS BEING PREDICTED that costs are going to continue to climb annually. At present, the rate of annual climb is six to eight per cent, with the prediction that in the foreseeable future that figure will climb to 25 per cent. This prediction is based for the most part on the facts that 1,500 people a month are coming into Alberta and, secondly, that the system is being over-used and over-abused. Used because many people believe it is their right and that the country owes them good health care; abused because people are not caring for themselves. We are the best fed and most undernourished people in the Western World. We rely on others to care for our health needs. We worry about our health until we make ourselves unwell. We continue to eat, drink, smoke and drug ourselves into distress.

While I was in Calgary, the police broke up a drug ring by seizing several pounds of drugs, worth many thousands and thousands of dollars on the street. Drugs which reaching the market would put many people in the care of doctors and hospitals. Why do we do it?

A 17-year-old girl whose brother has been ravaged and bedeviled by the addiction to drugs, and whose habit has caused her untold heartaches, has written her sentiments for public absorption in the form of poetry. It is a sad story and brings to us a lesson. Here it is.

"So now little man you've grown tired of grass, LSD, goofballs, cocaine and hash; and someone pretending to be a true friends said, 'I'll introduce you to Miss Heroin.'

"Well honey, before you start fooling with me, just let me inform you how it will be. For I will seduce you and make you my slave, for I have sent much stronger than you to the grave.

"You think you could never becme a disgrace and end up addicted to poppy-seed waste. So you'll start inhaling me one afternoon and you'll take me in your arms very soon. And once I have entered deep down your veins, craving will drive you nearly insane. You'll need lots of money, as you have been told, for darling, I'm much more expensive than gold.

"You'll swindle your mother just for a buck; you'll turn into something vile and corrupt. You'll mug and you'll steal for my narcotic charm and feel contentment when I'm on your arm. The day you realize the monster you've grown, you'll solemnly promise to leave me alone. Well honey, if you think you've got that mystical knack, just try getting me off your back.

"The vomit, the cramps, your guts tied in a knot, the jangling nerves screaming for just one more shot. The hot chills, the cold sweat, the withdrawal pains – can ably be saved by little white grains. There's no other way and there's no need to look, for deep down inside you know you are hooked. You'll desperately run to the pusher and then, you'll welcome me back into your arms once again. And when you return just as I have foretold, I know you'll give me your body and soul. I know you'll give me your morals, your conscience and your heart. And if I know that, you will be mine until death do us part."

NOT MUCH MORE needs to be said. It's too bad people cannot take such commonplace to heart. Don't get "hooked" on drugs and become a liability on our over-taxed medical and hospital facilities. Don't abuse the system. It's costing us enough as it is.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Eder

Would you please renew our subscription to your paper; we find it interesting and informative.

I would also like to express my opinion on Highway 13. I'm sure this is one of the worst stretches of surveyed road in Alberta. That is if it was surveyed. It seems more like a paved cow path. The number of accidents in this area is terrible. And the top killer is definitely the drunk driver, but if one person could lose their life because of the construction of the highway, at all cost, this should be improved.

In one of many sections I would like to see improved is the turn off at Gibsons, where a tragic accident took place last week. And because we learn from the errors of life, we need to ask what was learned from this accident. So without casting any stones, we can learn that it could happen again, because this corner needs a turning lane with the amount of trucks turning there daily. There is definitely a need for immediate improvement, and the people of this area should demand that it be done.

I hope that you, as editor of the local newspaper, will write an article impressing people to see that this highway is improved. There is nothing sadder than a death that could have been prevented one way or another.

Thank you,
Sue Israelson, Amisk

Consumer tips on fabric cleaning

This spring, perhaps you'll be one of many homemakers to rely on professional cleaners to spruce up your upholstery, carpets and drapes. Many do like hiring the services of professionals as their valued furnishings are cleaned thoroughly and without any damage to fabrics. Unfortunately, the results aren't always satisfactory. Following are a few precautions both you and the cleaner can take to avoid disappointments.

The most common complaints regarding cleaning services involve shrinkage, discoloration, deterioration of fibres and residues left from shampoos. These problems may be the result of improper cleaning, or they may reflect unrealistic expectations on the part of the consumer.

Cleaning will not necessarily revitalize the fibres and make them as good as new. Actually, the cleaning process itself causes some wear and tear. If soil is deeply embedded and if the area has not been cleaned for some time, it may not be possible to remove all of the soil.

You can help the cleaner do his job more effectively by pointing out spots and telling him what caused the stain. If you tried a home spot removal remedy, tell him what you did.

You may be considering buying new furnishings, carpets or drapes, in which case you shouldn't need the services of a professional cleaner yet! But you can avoid future cleaning problems at the point of purchase by checking on the quality of the fabric, how it's meant to be cared for and cleaned. There actually are some upholstery fabrics that cannot be cleaned by any method. Ones they're sold – that's it. So, get the details in writing from either the manufacturer or the retailer. That should eliminate a lot of problem before you even buy.

Assuming you are interested in hiring a professional cleaner, the best place to start looking for one is often with friends and neighbours. Perhaps they have hired a company or individual in the past and can either recommend or discourage your calling them. As well, the Better Business Bureau can help you determine which ones are reputable.

As in so many consumer-related services, the best advice is to get the cost in writing. The final price you pay must be reasonably close to the estimate given, according to law. Likewise, if a guarantee is offered, it too should be in writing.

It isn't unreasonable to ask a cleaning firm to outline the condition of the carpeting, drapes or upholstery prior to cleaning. In fact, many companies do it automatically, and even have a special form used specifically for this purpose. But ask. It may come in handy just in case there's any dispute.

Although it's nice to assume there won't be any such problems, they do happen and it's always best to be prepared. If you are having trouble resolving a dispute with a cleaner, suggest you jointly contact the Textile Analysis Service for help. It's a testing laboratory operating at the University of Alberta and is involved in checking out textile performance problems. For $5, this service assists consumer and cleaner by making an unbiased assessment of the cleanability of a fabric. (Source: Consumer & Corporate Affairs Edmonton)

Cop Talk

During the past week, the RCMP has been very busy with CPR investigations concerning numerous thefts over the past few months from CPR train cars. This resulted in a large amount of stolen property being recovered and several criminal charges being laid against four males from the Hardisty area. Numerous charges of Break, Enter and Theft are also being laid in conjunction with a rash of break-ins which have occurred recently in Hardisty.

Over the past few months, Hardisty has been the target of vandals with slingshots. Damage was in the thousands of dollars. The RCMP now has two males charged concerning the damages. One is a 16-year-old from Hardisty and the other is a 17-year-old from Hughenden.

Between April 11 and 15, the Iron Creek Museum in Lougheed was the target of several broken windows by vandals. Any info would be appreciated.

The RCMP is presently investigating recent break-ins at the arena and high school in Daysland.

After a length investigation by the RCMP in Killam concerning 15 break-ins since February 1, 1979, a local juvenile was found responsible and all offences have been cleared up.

Remember, if you are involved in a motor vehicle accident, the law requires you report the accident to the police forthwith. You are leaving yourself open to possible charges if you wait a day or two.

If you have any information concerning the aforementioned items, or other incidents the RCMP should be aware of, please call the detachment at 385-3502, or The Community Press at 384-3641. All replies will be kept in strictest confidence.

Your PSS Program

Many individuals and families are finding they need to talk to someone about problems around them. They ask for advice from neighbours and friends, ministers and counsellors. Sometimes, these friends have information that is helpful; sometimes we still have to look around for more information.

Flagstaff PSS would like to help people get good information on individual and family concerns by training lay counsellors and family life educators in your neighbourhood. These people would listen to you and show you how to get the information you need. They would be the first line of attack, people you know and trust. If they can't help you they would refer you to professionals: doctors, the health unit, the PSS office, counsellors and the like.

You can get involved with helping a neighbour with a concern. The PSS office is planning a series of training sessions for lay counsellors and family life educators. Contact the PSS office at 385-3975.

This is your PSS Program!

WRITTEN ON THE HEART

For many years, the cartoon characters Charlie Brown and Lucy have had a continuing episode with his football. Lucy tells Charlie Brown she will hold the football on end so he can kick it off. Every time, just before Charlie Brown kicks, she pulls the ball away and he falls flat on his back. Worse, she even pokes fun at his trust in her.

Across the centuries, man has repeatedly demonstrated the failure to keep his word, both in relation to his fellow humans and in relation to God. How many times each of us have been in the role of Lucy, using frail excuses for failing to be faithful to our commitments. How many times have we been in the role of Charlie Brown, looking in the wrong places for security and affirmation?

We just as readily violate our agreements with God – as did the people in the prophet Jeremiah's day. Never before in the history of Judah was there such an open-faced ignoring of God's laws. The people broke God's covenant and felt little responsibility to fulfil God's expectations of them.

They forgot the very God who led them out of Egypt. They sought security through military alliances; they were unwilling to put their complete trust and confidence in the God of the Covenant.

It was in this setting that God spoke through Jeremiah, shortly before or just after the fall of Jerusalem in 587-586 BC. Surely the passage Jeremiah 31:31-34 is one of the most moving and most profound of all biblical texts. In an era when people had ceased listening to God, Jeremiah said to the people, "Listen, I have a revelation from God."

God was telling the people through Jeremiah that they would not be forsaken even in exile. He was promising them a new covenant. The new covenant was necessitated, not because of any failure on God's part, but because of repeated failure of the people to keep the old covenant.

The new covenant would still be with the nation Israel, yet now there would be a particular emphasis on the responsiveness of the individual. God would now write his law of living on everyone's heart. This new relationship would not be dependent on externals, but on a first-hand, personal knowledge of God.

There are two transforming keys that enable God to write on the heart. First, there is a dynamic fellowship with God. Not a formal, cermonial, religious exercise, but a personal, intimate fellowship of an obedient, regenerate, pure heart in which God has control; that's what it means to know God.

Second, there is life-transforming fellowship through forgiveness. Those who share in the new covenant are able to obey because their natures are changed. The covenantal relationship is not fully established until forgiveness is experienced – forgiveness from God that enables us to forgive others. Forgiveness, the vital remedy for poisoned relationships, is part of the new covenant.

The power of God's grace and forgiveness means that our sin is no longer held against us. In place of guilt and over-powering sin God gives the boldness and courage to face persecution with a warm witness to the new covenant written on the heart.

In the 1960s, a science fiction film entitled "Fahrenheit 451" was produced. The film told how a certain government assumed control over the thoughts and behaviour of all citizens. No books were allowed. All books were burned and any person with black market books was guilty of treason.

The redemptive element in the story was a community of people who were committed to the preservation of the great literature of their heritage. The old people read entire books to their children and grandchildren until the words were memorized. Then, it made no difference if the books were destroyed for the words written on the heart would be there for a lifetime.

This continues to be a powerful truth of the new covenant God announced through Jeremiah. The genuine relationship with him that is written on the heart will not wear off or wash off, despite its storms of life or passing of time.

External trappings or ceremonial religious practices will pass away, but not faith in God that is written on the heart.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

TREE HOUSE TIME

It is spring. Luscious mud puddles and tiny, crystal streams have appeared like magic from beneath the graying, tired snow. Here and there brave little spears of green are already poking upwards to the strengthening warmth of the sun. And high in the branches of sturdy trees there's the raucous sounds of stirring life. Spring is tree house building time.

My son began planning his tree house several springs ago. He spent days searching for the perfect tree and finally chose an old poplar growing in the tangled grasses along our driveway. Then came excited hours of surveying its branches, drawing and discarding plans until at last his dream took paper shape and he was ready to begin.

His materials were modest enough. Branches of the tree itself, a collection of old boards discarded by his father, a few rusty, bent-up nails and a borrowed hammer. But he had energy and enthusiasm and the help of his cousin and visiting friends.

The boys would swarm up the tree, climbing as boys have always climbed, to sit precariously while they hauled each board into its allotted place and hammered it solidly there. Soon, there was a rough platform where they could perch with glee. Even the beginnings of a wall or two.

And then – disaster. Their wood was gone. All used up. And the tree house wasn't finished yet.

"Will you buy me some lumber, mom? Please, pretty please?"

"There must be some more old boards around here. Ask your father."

"Dad, do you need that wood stacked in the barn? . . . Well, isn't there some, somewhere that we could have?"

Scrounging, looking, pleading again and a few more precious boards were rounded up. Enough to finish one wall. And then spring was over.

Summer is sometimes tree house time, but at a slower pace. The urgency is gone.

For my son, hectic building gave way to lazy dreaming among the leaves on hot, silent afternoons. Then harvest and winter and the tree house was forgotten – deserted in favour of other things. Only when the breezes of spring began to soften winter's winds did the tree house come alive again, and then it was to an great a flurry of activity as in its beginnings. For there is a miracle to tree houses. They grow as boys grow and each spring they need to built anew.

Almost 100,000 Alberta families had their Holiday Passports stamped last year.

Make this your year to Stamp Around Alberta

The Bells of Edmonton spent three weeks stamping around Alberta. They found Alberta hospitality amazing: "You always had somebody to give you a little bit of a hand." Ann, Ben and son Harold also found collectors' items and renewed friendships with relatives they hadn't seen in years. And they now have their proud set of medallions. But they're not the only ones eager to tell everyone about the fun.

How will you get in on this year's excitement? Do an auto tour? Join some of the 75th Birthday celebrations of many of our towns? See the more remote parts of your province? Whatever your way, this year is the time to get stamping — and get the six tourism zone stamps in your passport for your bronze* medallion or the ten for your silver*, or all fourteen for your complete set.

Join the nearly 100,000 Alberta families with fresh stories to tell. Plan now to Stamp Around Alberta for your vacation or on weekends. Watch for the monthly Calendar-of-Events advertisements in your daily newspaper and save them. And there'll be much more to hear and see and read about.

WORKING WITH WALLPAPER

Using wallpaper is one of the easiest methods of changing the looks of a room. It's easy to put up, easy to clean, and easy to take off. The only difficult part of wallpapering is the purchasing — with so many types available, which one should you buy? Following are a few tips about wallpapering that might help you with your project.

There's often some confusion about wallpaper terms. Wallpaper labelled "washable" means that it resists damage by water because of a plastic coat. It isn't completely washable, especially with oil stains, so isn't a practical choice for kitchens or bathrooms. "Scrubbable" wallpaper has a vinyl sheet so it is completely washable and resists stains. It's suitable for any room. "Semi-dry strippable" allows the vinyl face to be stripped off leaving the paper liner. As long as this paper liner is tight to the wall, another wall covering can be applied. Wallpaper labelled as "dry strippable" can be removed by pulling a corner at the base and pulling up and away from the wall. (Source: Gladys Balog, DHE, Coronation

Choosing a Design

The dominant line of a wallpaper contributes to the mood of the room: vertical lines give height, horizontal bring restful zone, diagonal lines are busy and restless, and curvy lines are graceful and soft.

To get an idea of how a wallpaper will look in your home, take a sample book home and place it vertically against the wall you intend to paper. Look at it from a distance. Pattern highlights may change with different lighting. See what the sample looks like with drapes open and closed, during daylight and evening. (Source: Co-op Consumer Counsellor).

4-H ACTIVITIES

Each year, the 4-H branch provides opportunities for a large number of 4-H members from this area to participate in some excellent programs on a provincial level. Sometimes this region has not taken full advantage of these opportunities, so get your applications in, meet new friends, and learn from the opportunities available. Application deadline is May 15, unless otherwise stated. Applications are available from you clubleader, district Council representative, or from Doug Norman, 4-H specialist, Box 600 Stettler.

Club Weeks

Club Weeks will be held July 1 to 7 for the Drumheller, Hanna, Stettler districts, and August 5 to 11 for the Flagstaff, Provost and Coronation districts at the Camrose Lutheran College.

Flagstaff Guiders urge for support

The Girl Guides Association of Flagstaff held a music training session at Holden on Saturday, April 21.

Sixty Brownies, four Busy Bees and 12 leaders attended the morning session, where only about 25 girls represented Guides along with three leaders attended in the afternoon.

The Edmonton trainers, Mrs. Marguerite Holpe, Mrs. Marilyn McClung and Mrs. Janet Laszchko, gave their precious time to come to a district function, where they are actually provincial trainers! Isn't it wonderful that we are blessed to have such terrific people in Guiding!

That is what it's all about! People giving of themselves unselfishly for the good of others! I wish we could get even part of that unselfishness from the parent end. If everyone does just a little bit toward helping the unappreciated leaders, we could really have a more smoothly-run year.

How about everyone taking account of themselves and asking: Have I really tried to be of help to my girl's leader when she has asked me? The leaders' hands are tied without your help. Let's all pitch in, like those trainers, and give of ourselves to make it possible for the girls to get the training they need! Thank you.

NFU Local 725 meets in Strome

After a full day of canvassing in the area, the NFU Local 725 held a very interesting meeting at the Strome United Church basement.

Bob Sarafichan from the national board was down and spoke on the class action against the railroads, plus many other topics.

Mrs. Perry Cowan, also a national board member, answered many questions on union policies. It was nice to see so many interested farmers in this area again.

Another meeting will be held in Strome Monday, April 30. A film, "Controlling Interests," will be shown. All interested farmers are welcome.

All reported the Easter pot luck supper was greatly enjoyed by a large crowd, and also the slides shown by Amy Babineau and M. Gibb of beautiful flowers and scenery from one of their trips. This was followed by cards, shuffle board and pool games.

Land holders upset

April 2 marked another regular meeting of the East-Central Land Holders' Protective Association. The main feature of the meeting was arranged by MLA Tom Lysons, who was in attendance. In that representatives of Voyager Petroleum Ltd. and Western Land Services Ltd. were present to speak of their local business interests and to answer questions.

Alec Lemmens, production manager, reported that Voyager has spent some $15 to $20 million to drill approximately 200 wells in the immediate area, of which 211 are either dry or uneconomical to develop.

He also said that while Voyager had been independent in dealing with land holders in the past, a recent change of personnel in responsible positions in the company and the establishing of regional field offices have been enacted to remedy the situation. The nearest field office in this area is located in Camrose under the direction of Jim Schnepf, who also was present at the meeting.

Many questions, complaints and suggestions were brought forward during the meeting, which dealt with such subjects as specific performance clauses in leases, variation in compensation offers, the reasoning for well-site locations, the width of rights-of-way, and Voyager's procedure in dealing with fuel spills.

In the area of compensation, Voyager has been particularly known for having a large percentage referred to the Surface Rights Board. The land holder is approached by a Western Land Services representative with a lease form to sign in consideration of a sum of money which is sometimes lower than the Surface Rights Board has allowed in similar circumstances.

In cases where this amount is refused, a Western Land Services representative will return, offering an increase to the original amount. When this is also refused, the case is referred to the Surface Rights Board.

The East-Central Land Holders Association complains that although the Board consistently upgrades the petroleum companies' offers, and even though these companies incur considerable expense in commissioning surveys, studies and in sending Western Land Services representatives to each hearing, they make no attempt to offer compensations in the range of those recommended by the Surface Rights Board.

The land holders association takes the view that the land holder also assumes considerable expense in educating himself in the workings of the SRB, researching the fairness of each compensation demand, preparing a case for the board hearing and then presenting it on the appointed day.

At the meeting, the association asked why the drilling companies can't offer more reasonable compensation initially, or at least adding to their offers an amount equal to the cost of preparing a board hearing and thus eliminating the likelihood of its occurrence?

While the meeting did serve as some sort of liaison between petroleum development interests and that of farmers', the association says, questions such as the aforementioned received no satisfactory answer.

MLA Gordon Stromberg proposed a performance bond in place of initial contract performance negotiations and the Energy Resources Conservation Board administering signoff for each drilling licence.

The next meeting of the land holders' association will be June 4. Several items of business will be finalized, says Frank Rott, secretary. Land holders and other interested parties are encouraged to attend, he adds, and hopes they will continue to show interest and support of the work in which the association is involved. —Frank Rott, secretary

Notes from Anglican Church

Mr. Peter Gray of Hardisty is in serious condition in the University Hospital in Edmonton, recovering from surgery for a brain tumor. Our best wishes for his recovery.

Also a patient in Edmonton's University Hospital is Mr. David Butcher, who was the recent victim of an accident on his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John Feigate and family of Killam spent the weekend in Edmonton.

Mr. David Tanton of Sedgewick was a recent visitor with relatives and friends in Calgary.

Thirteen ladies assembled at the Parish Hall last Tuesday evening to discuss and reply to a questionnaire on the role of women in the church. Many interesting views were expressed. It was felt that women in this area tend to participate in church work more than men. Perhaps in the near future, we will see some of our menfolk serving church suppers and taking on church cleaning duties.

Mrs. Marie Martin of Lougheed and her sister, Rosetta, who is visiting from the west coast, were recent Edmonton visitors.

Miss Margaret Martin spent a few days with her grandparents, Don and Verona Cookson, of Lougbed while parents Greg and Donna Martin were visiting and shopping in Edmonton.

While in Edmonton, Donna became the owner of a microwave oven and Greg was given the news that he will have to undergo dental surgery to remove his wisdome teeth during immense tension.

Mr. Frank Weber of Qualicum Beach, B.C. is visiting with his mother, Mrs. Gwen Weber of Sedgewick, and is renewing acquaintances in the area.

All parish council representatives please note that a meeting of the parish council will take place Sunday, April 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Sedgewick Parish Hall. All points are urged to attend as there is a number of important matters which must be discussed before the farmers become involved in spring work.

Sedgewick News Items

The Pelican Point tribe assembled on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson to give them a rousing housewarming. Guests attended from such points as Edmonton, Calgary and Bashaw.

Mrs. Jean Johnson attended a Further Education Conference at the Mayfield Inn in Edmonton this week.

Miss Adelle Johnson and Miss Wendy Johnson and her fiance, Mr. Brian Volkart, were guests with Bill and Jean Johnson over the weekend.

Red and Margaret Culbert motored to Saskatchewan to attend the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. Culbert's brother.

Sedgewick mixed bowling season comes to end

The Sedgewick Mixed Bowling League wound up its season with a potluck supper and presentation of trophies at the Rec Centre Tuesday evening, April 17. The supper was delicious and there was a good turnout to enjoy the home-cooked smorgasbord, which delighted the tastebuds of all those present.

After the presentation of trophies, which were presented by Bob Scott, president, and Beulah Simpson, past president, we moved on to the election of the 1979-80 executive.

The new slate of officers is: Vern Simpson, president; Cathy Cameron, vice-president; Lyle Metz, secretary-treasurer; and Lorraine Robinson, statistician. Our thanks to the outgoing executive.

Something different this year was the conducting of a fun ballot, providing entertainment for all. Recognized for special attributes in their bowling were Valerie Adamson, Patricia Kroetsch, and Shirley and Roger Castin.

Crazy bowling wound up the evening, at which time everyone had a good many laughs. Several went home with a bowling mug, ashtray or crying towel, or one of the tokens given out for the numerous hidden-score prizes during the frames played. Garnet Eckstrand was in charge of the evening bowling and our thanks to him for a job well done. An enjoyable time was had by all during the course of the evening.

Congratulations to all the winners and thanks to all the bowlers for their participation in the league. Best wishes to the new executive and see you all when bowling resumes in the fall.

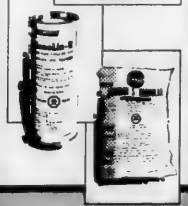
"For Rapeseed Crops that make a clean getaway



Control Weeds with TREFLAN: Liquid Treflan applied now before you seed rape will clean up wild oats, wild millet and several kinds of broadleaf weeds before they can get out of the ground.

Control Diseases with BENOLIN-R: Use Benolin-R when you seed, putting it into the drill box with your rapeseed. It's a triple purpose seed treatment that controls the common problems of flea beetles, damping off, seed decay and black leg.

Control Insects with FURADAN 5G: A rapeseed crop doesn't have much chance against flea beetles when it reaches the seedling stage. The time for effective control is when you seed: Furadan 5G is a convenient rapeseed-sized granule that mixes with rapeseed and is applied right from the drill box.

Assure your rapeseed crop a clean getaway: order TREFLAN (in 5 gallon or 25 gallon cans), Benolin-R or Furadan 5G from me now.

ALBERTA POOL

In Profile: Fire fighter!

"I was just interested in seeing properties protected and the first thing I knew they came and asked me to be fire chief." Now, after 27 years as Forestburg's fire chief and the last three years as chief for the County of Flagstaff, Bill Sandmaier guesses that being a fireman "is just in you."

"It takes a special type of person," he continues, to volunteer for the fire-fighting business, "not just someone with courage." And although most towns in Flagstaff need more men in their fire departments – the ideal number is 30 – not all volunteers are accepted because of health or other reasons.

"But if you can get a young volunteer off on the right foot, he'll stay with it a long time. It gets in the blood." There's a lot of comradeship between the men in a fire department, Mr. Sandmaier adds, stemming from the trust and confidence built in pressure situations. "A good fire chief never sends a man into a fire if he wouldn't go in himself."

All firemen in the county are encouraged to obtain training in the field. A college in Vermilion does offer such a course, which fire chiefs or someone next-in-line must attend. As well, Mr. Sandmaier has access to films and resources material to offer local fire departments and new recruits.

People rely heavily on their fire department, says the chief. It's the only help in a disaster – flood, fire, "even a cat up a tree. The fire department always get called . . . even a town without one starts with the bucket brigade."

Almost every town in Flagstaff does have a fire department, however, but the organizational structure isn't the same for all, according to Mr. Sandmaier.

The Towns of Killam, Hardisty, Forestburg, Alliance and Daysland have contracts with the county. They receive an annual operating grant, as well as a flat rate for each fire.

Sedgewick, Lougheed and Heisler, on the other hand, do not have a contract. These three departments are not supported with a grant but are paid on a higher per-fire rate than that received by the towns under contract.

Each town is responsible for purchasing the equipment in their department, and Chief Sandmaier, on behalf of the county, inspects and ensures it meets all standards.

He's also involved in organizing new departments or in just cases. He's often in contact with the provincial fire commissioner, who doesn't hesitate to help rural fire departments, he adds. rural fire departments, he adds.

The coming dry weather is a fireman's busiest season, says Mr. Sandmaier, particularly with field and stubble fires. Two years ago, he recalls, extremely dry conditions meant an abundance of country fires. In Forestburg, four rural fires were put out in one day and by the end of the season, country-side fires in the county had added to 60.

"1977 was hell on earth."

The number of in-town fires has declined, according to the fire chief. With most homes now having electrical appliances, the chances of fire has been reduced. Chimney fires, once common, are now pretty much in the past.

The chances of rural fires declining aren't as good, however, unless an active farm fire prevention campaign was to be instigated. A pet project of Mr. Sandmaier's, farm fire prevention is relatively unknown throughout the rest of the province.

Hopefully, he said, it would eliminate the many hazards on a farm responsible for starting fires, such as a gas tank in a field of bayales. But a farm fire prevention program would be fulltime work for more than one person, Mr. Sandmaier adds, and that means extra tax dollars.

Although his position with the county isn't a fulltime one – Mr. Sandmaier is reimbursed for his time on an hourly basis – other activities "get all my spare moments filled in."

In addition to operating his school bus, Mr. Sandmaier is heavily involved as a member of the Flagstaff-Hughenden Hospital Board. Lately, his knowledge of fire prevention has brought invitations to speak to youth groups, primarily 4-H clubs, on what babysitters should know in case of fire. He's been working closely with the school division on fire prevention as well.

Workshop on aged to be conducted

How to visit and communicate with the aged is the subject of a four-hour workshop to be held Monday, April 30 in the Killam Catholic Church Hall.

The workshop, featuring retired nurse Mary Davis, will deal particularly with relating to patients in auxiliary hospitals. Mrs. Davis, who is recognised nationally as one of the most knowledgeable in the field of aging, also is a member of the provincial steering committee on the Institute of Gerintology of Alberta. This committee was organized recently by Premier Lougheed.

A senior citizen herself, Mrs. Davis' credits include: a retired social worker with the Department of Veterans' Affairs, a past member of the Alberta Senior Citizens' Advisory Council, past president of the Society for the Retired & Semi-Retired, and one of few social workers with a great deal of involvement with the elderly and senior citizens.

The workshop is sponsored by the Killam Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary and will get underway at 10 a.m. the morning of April 30. After a break for lunch, which is included in the registration fee of $3, the workshop will continue from 1 to 3 p.m.

The Sedgewick senior bowlers held their wind-up last week at the Rec Centre and presented awards for the year.

In the individual awards, Chris Moen won the year's honours for men's high average and single scores. For the ladies, it was Mary Cameron (bottom picture, left), who receives the pin from Mina Markwart, who acted as league statistician.

At the conclusion of the wind-up, a presentation of thanks was made to Mina on behalf of the bowlers.

Community remembers passing of Mr. Wolbeck

Sympathy is extended to the families of the late Arnold Wolbeck.

Arnold Wolbeck was born at Daysland on February 4, 1906. He took his schooling in the Spring Lake district and later took up farming in the Heisler district, where he was still living at the time of his passing on April 13 at the age of 73 years.

On October 1, 1929, he married Olivia Losech, and to this union one son and one daughter were born. He was an active member in his community and will be sadly missed by all his relatives and friends. He was predeceased by his parents, one brother and two sisters.

He is survived by his loving wife, Olivia; one son, Alvin of Heisler; one daughter, Kathleen; a son-in-law, Craig Badry of Daysland; and one granddaughter, Leah. He is also survived by three brothers, Otto and Andy of Heisler and Johnny of Edmonton; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Longhe and Mrs. Theresa Zimmer, both of Daysland.

Funeral services were held at St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church in Heisler on Monday, April 16 at 10:30 a.m. with Father Becs officiating. Prayer service was held on Easter Sunday at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Interment took place at the Heisler Cemetery. Pallbearers were six nephews: Bill Losech, Bobby Zimmer, Larry Wolbeck, Calvin Wolbeck, Billy Wolbeck, and Lloyd Wolbeck.

East polled about west's resources

Ontario Premier Bill Davis did his best to clear up time-honoured myths and suspicions in a recent address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Petroleum Association in Calgary.

The election campaign styles of both Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and Premier Peter Lougheed often tar relations among Alberta, Central Canada and Ottawa as permanent, deadlocked conflict.

Trudeau made energy an issue in the May 22 national election with warnings that oil and gas prices and supplies are too vital to leave up to corporations and the Alberta government.

Lougheed, in his March 14 provincial campaign, demanded a mandate to fend off marauding easterners whom he accused of making Alberta a "target" and trying to "change the rules" in their favour.

Davis, in a conciliatory speech that drew a standing ovation from the oilmen, said he accepts gradual, negotiated energy price hikes and understands Alberta ambitions for fair returns and economic expansion.

Davis said, "I am growing a little impatient with the persistent efforts of the prime minister to sow discord and tension between us."

In addition, "the underlying theme of confrontation between 'our' provinces and 'his' central government is not only vastly overstated, it is unfair and offends me personally."

The Ontario premier's attitude could not have surprised Alberta leaders, despite their role in fostering the image of enduring national conflict.

A little-known opinion poll the Lougheed government commissioned showed widespread acceptance of expensive energy in eastern Canada even in early 1975, when disputes were much harsher than they are now.

The poll, by the firm of Decision-Making Information Co., interviewed representative samples of 1,200 adult residents of Ontario and Quebec.

When the pollsters asked easterners to volunteer opinions of Alberta, most thought of climate, geography or sports. Only one per cent listed oil policy as decisive.

The firm reported "There is no open resentment within Ontario or Quebec toward Alberta because of the province's position regarding the disposition of its natural resources."

More than a third of the sample was very concerned about energy. But the pollsters found the "crisis atmosphere" of 1973 and 1974, when international and Canadian prices soared, had not had lasting effects.

The high level of apparent concern, when double-checked, turned out to be a "Socially acceptable way of responding." Energy worries ranked far behind concern over issues such as alcoholism, drunk driving, conservation, the environment and mental health.

There were only two points of clear concensus. More than 80 per cent of the 1,200 thought oil company profits were too high and blamed the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries for high prices.

"People are very hesitant to accept the need for further increases," the pollsters found. "But at the same time, they are not willing to sacrifice future needs just to keep the current price down."

The poll's conclusion is as good today as it was four years ago, if Davis is at all representative of Ontario sentiment: "most people seem to have resigned themselves to the fact that the price of oil and gas is rising."

Hockey awards made

Wayne Grant, Indians' M.V.P.

More than 300 Killam residents turned out the evening of Friday, April 20 to honour their local hockey players and end the season with the presentation of awards.

Guest speaker at the affair was Gary Lefebvre, most recently from the Edmonton Eskimos Football Club. Mr. Lefebvre was voted outstanding Canadian Player in the West in 1973. He is an active member of The Athletes In Action Group.

The presentation of crests to minor hockey players started the evening, with the eight-and-unders, 10-and-unders, 12-and-unders, and bantams brought forward.

The Most Underrated trophy was given to Calvin Lewis by Bob James. The Most Versatile trophy went to Marv Lafontaine and was presented by Ken Grant. The Most Improved trophy was earned by Calvin Lewis and also presented by Ken Grant.

Blair Grant received the Most Defensive Player trophy from Doug Schnettler. Coach Sam Smolski called each of his players forward to receive a colour print of the team in uniform, and Bill Smolski led the team's presentation to Blake Kinzer, Gordie Engbol and Sam Smolski.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of trophies to the Killam Indians Hockey Club. The Harold Grant Memorial Trophy for Top Defenceman was won by Norman Matthews and presented by Bob Borth.

The Len Quinton Memorial Trophy for Top Scorer went to David Kolndorfer, presented by Russell Grant.

After the supper and awards, a dance and social evening followed.

UCW hears about PSS

The Killam UCW met on Wednesday, April 18 with Florence Schweitzer in the chair. She opened the meeting with a poem, "Between the Clouds."

Doris Forster conducted the worship service. Love was her theme and we sang "Love Divine All Love Excelling."

Love cannot be bought or sold. It can only be given.

Business out of the minutes dealt with booking the hall. All events must be booked through Laura Cotton that are to be held in the church hall.

Thirteen members and one visitor answered the roll call. One member had been ill and had received a get well card and visitors. She thanked the UCW.

Plans were made to serve lunch at the Forster sale, cater to a dinner on June 5 and a shower on June 1.

The date for the good used clothing drive was set for May 1 to 23. Clothes are not to be brought at any other time due to fire regulations.

The CGIT would appreciate help in the form of baking for their tea, bazaar and bake sale on May 5 in the church hall.

Any reports for the June 20 newsletter should be given to Blanche Cramton by that date.

The Community Church School picnic will be held at Big Knife Park on May 27. The three church congregations are expected to take part in the picnic.

Mr. Paul Bujold from Flagstaff Preventive Social Services addressed the group on the work being done. He answered questions at the close of his talk.

Instead of lunch at the church, many went to a tea at the Manitou Manor, where a delicious lunch and social hour were enjoyed. -Doris Saunders

GREEN ACRES

ORGANIC GARDENING

Did you know that a row of green beans or horseradish between your potatoes could control the Colorado Potato Beetle? Yes, a number of plants have repellent characteristics for certain insects and rodent pests common in gardens.

For example, garlic, mint and marigolds are known as repellent plants which have repulsive properties. These offensive characteristics can be used to good advantage in a home garden providing the seed for these are available in local stores. Also, planting and maintaining the garden can be a little more difficult as everything appears a little less organized.

THE PIONEER

New auxiliary president

The annual meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary was held April 11 and began with a lovely dinner at Soto's Dining Lounge. Special guests were Dr. G.T. Cahill and Director of Nursing Maureen Oberholtzer.

Funds for this annual dinner are made up by the members paying half the amount, with the other half paid out of their monthly coffee money, which has been collected throughout the year. No monies raised by the Auxiliary are used for any purpose other than the purchasing of items for the hospital.

After dinner, the group moved to the Drop-In Centre for their business meeting and election of officers. New officers for the coming term are Erma Mathews, president; Jeanette Crone, vice-president; Hilary Grey, secretary; Charlotte Golka, treasurer; Phyllis Manning, volunteer service; Marion Elm, recorder; and Rose Marie Thompson, press.

June Crone, who chaired the election, gave a vote of thanks to the retiring executive.

In regular business, final plans were drawn up for the April 16 bingo, which shows signs of being a success again this year.

Nettie Johnson, our convener for the heart fund drive, received the thanks of the Auxiliary members for the fine job she did in organizing the canvas. A letter from the Alberta Heart Foundation showed $304 having been turned in from Hardisty, a considerable increase from last year.

An invitation from the Consort Hospital Auxiliary to attend the Annual East-Central Regional meeting was tabled until next month as the date for the meeting is May 26. It is hoped that our auxiliary will be able to send a sizeable delegation and plans for this will be finalized next month.

The auxiliary has decided to honour its faithful members by presenting five-year pins. These pins will be presented to those members who have had at least 70 per cent attendance over a continuous five-year period. Because the new auxiliary was formed in October, 1971, these awards will be retroactive.

Memorial donations were received in the memory of Orin Spring of Irma and Marty Whitehead of Hardisty. These donations are always gratefully accepted as they contribute in a major way to our work.

One of the highlights of the meeting occurred when June Crone presented the auxiliary with a cheque for $100 on behalf of the Battle River Light Horse Association. This presentation resulted in an enthusiastic ovation from the members in recognition of the generosity of this fine group.

A letter is to be sent to the new hospitals minister to inform him of our concern for a new hospital.

Maureen Oberholtzer gave an informative report on hospital matters. She informed us that the hospital board is presently arranging for the services of a travelling pharmacist to take charge of the dispensaries at the Hardisty, Daysland and Galahad hospitals. This also is to be a teaching position. In the future, it is hoped that the same arrangement can be made to employ a physiotherapist full time. At present, Hardisty has a physiotherapist in attendance for one half-day every two weeks and it is hoped that the auxiliary will be able to help out in this department with physiotherapy equipment.

Maureen stated that a fetal heart monitor at a cost of $1,315 has been ordered for a 30-day trial period. If this piece of equipment proves satisfactory, the auxiliary will pay for it.

In final business, the auxiliary decided to change its regular meeting day from Wednesdays to Tuesdays. Meetings will henceforth be held the second Tuesday of each month to accommodate some of our faithful members who are also bingo players. Next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 8.

Hardisty News Items

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kobitzsch on April 10, a daughter, Nicolle Teresa. She weighed 8 lbs. 2 oz. Congratulations, Larry and Gail.

Congratulations also to Mr. and Mrs. Brad Miller on the arrival of a baby boy.

Congratulations of a different kind to Orma Thorp, who we are pleased to report won $1,000 on the Winnebay lottery April 11. She also won the door prize of $25 at the hospital auxiliary bingo.

We proxy players couldn't do a thing for our friends except Ruth Tillmar. As three bingoed, she lost but won a silver dollar for Jim Aldridge. The rest of us couldn't even do that much. However, in spite of the wet, cold weather, a good crowd attended the Hospital Auxiliary bingo.

Maridell Bell and Elaine Roggeveen, Karen and Darrell spent Easter at the Irving Bell's home.

Visitors at the Perry Powells' were their daughter, Carol Hurley, with her husband, Rufus, and young sons, Grant and Rickey. They came from Ogen.

The John Sherlocks visited their daughter, Muriel, and family in Calgary, also Lillian's mother, Mrs. Ed Beazer in Red Deer, as well as the Bill Munlins.

An answer that we would like from the post office authorities in the east is why letters to a brother spending the winter in Arizona and sent from Hardisty took three weeks to arrive while letters from their son in Toronto or Ottawa would arrive in record time? Where is the mail held over? We know the local post office is not responsible.

Jim and Hazel Voros have arrived home again, stopping in Calgary and Edmonton on their way back home from Arizona. They have been told the bluebirds are back but they wonder if they've gone south as they are pretty scarce yet. Kind of a shocker to leave 90-degree weather for our kind.

Hazel's brother, Fred Mikash of Ft. McMurray, was down to visit the Voros on their arrival home.

Visiting at the Voros home as well as the Yuskiw home was Marjorie St. Clair (nee Wagar) of Williams Lake, B.C. She also is with her daughter, Avis Estes, in Wainwright.

Recent visitors at the R. Vanderwark home were Roland's sisters, Winnie, and husband Bill McGreevy of St. Albert, and Myra and husband Bud Paterson of Edmonton. Brother visiting were Clyde and wife Jean from Leduc, and Ken and wife Fern of Seattle.

Then, Cathy's brother and his wife, Don and Georgia Henderson of Calgary, also visited there.

Some of the oldtimers will remember when Sid Clark looked after one of the elevators in town. He has passed away in Vancouver at the age of 73 and is survived by his wife, the former Dot Paterson.

Myra and Bud Paterson spent the winter in Arizona, where they studied Spanish in preparation for their trip to Spain to visit daughter Yvonne and family. They have just returned from Spain.

Get well wishes to Roland Vandewark, who is in the Hardisty Hospital for a few days.

Cliff and Laverne Whitehead were really overwhelmed by the kind messages of sympathy received by them on the tragic passing of Marty. It is at times like that when you find out how many friends care.

Hardisty Elks hold initiation

The Hardisty Elks Lodge has been busy in the past few months initiating new members into the lodge.

The lodge has purchased a plaque in memory of the late Bro. Olaf Cheram, to be awarded to the lodge which initiates the most members in a year.

The plaque was taken to the district meeting in Kinsella April 11. Although all lodges weren't aware of this plaque being awarded, it was voted on and passed that Hardisty Lodge win the plaque this year.

Hardisty initiated 10 new members into the lodge: Dave Bitz, Frank Bennefeld, Raymond Bennefeld, Bill Chave, Allan Cookson, Cecil Davidson, Bryan Fossum, Dean Fossum, Tim Johannesson and Sinclair Filler.

The Kinsella Lodge initiation team, along with the Wainwright Lodge patrol team, did the initiation in March at which six of these members were initiated. -Doug Drever, Hardisty

Auxiliary raises $313

Shirley McKenzie and Betty Hopfe split the $50 blackout prize at the April 16 Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary Bingo held at the Elks Hall.

Single winners of the regular $10 games were Darren Baumgartner, Joan Rombough, Michael Golka, Helene Busk, Darlene Sim, Lena Hopfe, Koreen Golka, Sharon Shedlosky, Darren Golka, Ruth Longman and Mrs. Rogers of Calgary.

Winning two games and picking up $20 was Frieda McGhie.

Tammy Hopfe won one regular game and split one with Edna Wells, and $5 each for the first game split prize went to Madeline Brown and Lillian Granger. Orma Thorpe was the winner of a $10 bingo and the $10 door prize.

The Davidsons had a lucky evening with Mrs. Davidson picking up the $25 half-time game and a $10 game, while Mr. Davidson received a silver dollar tie-breaker. Others going home with silver dollars were Debbie Quast of Lougheed, Alice Davis of Hughenden, winning two, Jim Alderich of Lougheed, winning by proxy, Herb Rombough, Ruth Tillman, Eileen Rogers and Godi Goodrich.

The auxiliary was gratified by the nice turnout despite the rainy evening, and President Erma Mathews thanked all for coming. Ed Watkins did his usual commendable job of calling the bingo, helping to make the evening a success.

Two card parties were held at the Senior Citizens' Drop-In Centre last week, and at both it was necessary to cut the cards to decide a winner.

At the Wednesday afternoon game, there were six tables of whist players. Mrs. Verna Schulz (over Mrs. Jessie Clark) and Mrs. Bill Russell were awarded consolation prizes.

Sedgewick Junior High

Students at Sedgewick's Junior High have been quite busy. Last Thursday, nine students from the school participated in the gymnastics display at Killam. They were: Mike Badry, Norman Brandingen, Teresa Parsons, Tracy Brandingen, Chris Jeseowin, Sherri Sparrow, Marlene Hallum, Tracy Arntzen and Tracy Pollern. Congratulations!

All participants received a small trophy.

On Saturday, April 21, a junior high dance was held. Heather Wallace and Mike Badry were crowned queen and king by last year's queen, Cathy Djos. They were both given small silver cups as momentos.

The Grade 7 and 8 classes have been busy working on a play the last few weeks. This play will be taken to the Camrose Drama Festival on Friday, April 27 along with many plays from other towns. That's about all for this week.

They had tables with a card for each month of the year. We had to sit at the table with the month our birthday was in. Then there were readings and a lovely singing of hymns and songs, with Marie Martin playing the piano. Mrs. Jerry Johnson was the MC. A very delicious lunch was served after. Thanks so much for the lovely evening. These evenings or afternoons should be held more often.

Glad to hear that Mrs. E. Odegard and Mrs. P. Grove are home again after being hospitalized for some time.

Sedgewick heart fund up 17 per cent

Sedgewick can be justifiably proud of its contribution to the Alberta Heart Foundation. Mr. Ernie Koshli reports that a total of $593.50 was collected in the February Canvass, an increase of 17 per cent over last year.

The success of the campaign was due mainly to the volunteer canvassers and the chairman, Mr. Koshli.

Sedgewick News Items

Gail Munro of Ponoka spent a day with her parents enroute home from a holiday spent with her sister, Deloranda Walton and family of Aylmer, Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lane of Sedgewick and Mrs. Dennis Fisher of Hardisty drove to Tofield on Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mr. Silas Pearson. On their way back, they called at the Viking Nursing Home to see Mr. Hollie Kendrick and were glad to see Hollie looking well.

Between 1 and 1:30 a.m. on Saturday morning, the fire brigade was called out to a fire at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mateer and their two children.

The Mateers had been out and on their return found their home in flames. It was too late to prevent the complete destruction of the house and its contents, so the Mateers lost everything.

They had bought the place from the Ole Lundies, who had lived there for many years. It's about 15 miles north and east of Sedgewick.

The Mateers are residing at Lougheed for the present. A Benefit Shower will be held for them at the Legion Hut here in Sedgewick on the afternoon and evening of May 2. I'm sure we will all try to help this young family as it is hard enough to get a home together in the first place and trying to replace it must be doubly difficult. See you all at the shower on May 2.

The Battle River Art Club was the host at a very successful art show held at the Community Hall on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, April 18.

The work on display was from artists from several different clubs and was indeed a delightful show of various forms of art work. Trees, flowers, portraits, buildings, animals and a host of other subjects were there in varying forms and mediums. There was something for all tastes in the well laid-out displays.

Some local photographers had work on display, again sharing variety in subject matter. The Sedgewick Pottery Club had some of their work exhibited as well.

A crowd of well over 200 people took in the show and enjoyed lunch and visiting. We are indeed fortunate in Sedgewick in that we are able to enjoy an art show of this kind in our little town. We hope it will continue to be an annual treat.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Graham Anderson on the birth of an 8 lb., 4 oz. son. Kristen Gray arrived at the Killam Hospital on Tuesday, April 17.

Miss Frances Anderson was at her parents' home, the George Andersons, for the Easter holidays so took over the job of babysitting Kristen's big sister, Carmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Torpe and daughter spent the Easter weekend at Hanley, Saskatchewan with Myrtle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Ormen.

Five generations were present as Mrs. Ormen's mother was also there. And Dick will proudly show you the picture he has of baby Torpe with her mother, grandmother, great grandmother and great, great grandmother.

Former Sedgewick residents, Mr. and Mrs. George Acheson of Sylvan Lake, were here for the art show on Wednesday. They stayed overnight with Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ferrier, returning home on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Leeb of Edmonton were weekend visitors with the Pat Leeb family.

The Strawberry Tea at the Flagstaff Lodge last Friday was a great success. Many visitors enjoyed tea and a visit with the guests at the Lodge.

Get well wishes go to Mr. Harry Pottage in the Camrose Hospital. Mr. Ray Pottage took him to Camrose on Friday from the Killam Hospital, where he had spent several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwyne Gibbs of Youngstown spent Easter weekend with his mother, Mrs. Gwyn Gibbs.

At their parents' home for the Easter weekend were Janice Baker of Edmonton and Betty Baker of Camrose and Ron Baike, also of Camrose. Then, Mr. and Mrs. Don Baker of High Prairie spent a few days in the Easter week with the Jim Bakers.

Get well wishes go to Mr. Doug Tweedy, who entered the University Hospital on Monday to undergo surgery.

Mrs. Thordis Taylor left on Thursday for Lethbridge to visit her daughter, Marilyn, and her family, the Gene McKinleys.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh were Sunday visitors at the home of the Grant Blassers at Hardisty.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Bradley of Rocky Mountain House were weekend guests at the Ed Simons' home and visited Mr. Fred Sparrow at Flagstaff Lodge.

Mrs. Mary Simons stayed overnight in Provost on Thursday visiting with Mrs. Betty Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Carlson of Calgary spent the Easter weekend at the home of Mrs. Mary Cameron. Mrs. Carlson and Mary came to this country on the same ship some years ago and they have kept in touch over the years.

Rev. Robert Chappell and Mr. David Black were in Oyen on Tuesday and Wednesday, attending the meeting of the Coronation Presbytery of the United Church.

On Thursday, Mrs. Nora Bergseth drove to Lethbridge, where she is visiting her sister, Mrs. O. Larsen.

Mrs. E.M. Butt returned home to Edmonton after visiting with Edith and Gordon Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Keith attended a "Mr. Wainwright" Roast Friday evening in Wainwright when that community roasted Mr. Leon D'Albertanson, former editor of the Wainwright Star Chronicle.

Master of ceremonies Bernard McMahon (right) made the presentations.

Hardisty hosts election forum

The Town of Hardisty Chamber of Commerce is hosting a federal election forum Tuesday, May 8 in the town's Elks Hall.

The three candidates in the Crowfoot Constituency, Liberal Jack Horner, Conservative Arnold Malone and NDP Roger Millbrandt have all been notified of the forum and asked to participate.

At the time of this writing, all three men had agreed to attend. Each candidate will be allowed 20 minutes to speak, plus five minutes for rebutal. Moderator for the evening, which gets underway at 8 p.m., has not yet been named.

Chamber of Commerce President Jim Thomson urges local residents to attend the discussion to hear Horner, Malone and Millbrandt express and defend their own and their parties positions.

The three men were recently interviewed together on the nationally-televised program Canada AM, and have participated on other forums throughout the constituency already.

Jack Horner was elected to represent the Crowfoot residents in the last federal election. This is his first election as a Liberal, however. Arnold Malone was the Conservative-elect to the former Battle River Constituency. The Crowfoot boundaries include the Battle River and most of the former Acadia Constituency.

Premier defends giving jobs

Premier Peter Lougheed has handed two of his ex-cabinet ministers highly-paid senior government jobs and called it giving plums to Albertans, not just his political friends.

Lougheed denied he was doling out patronage and took responsibility for the new appointments of Roy Farran and Bert Hohol. The premier said, "It's the people of Alberta being rewarded."

Farran and Hohol were only two of eight Conservative cabinet members who did not run in the March 14 Alberta election. Lougheed said positions may be awarded to more of his ex-ministers.

Hohol was named a member of the Workers' Compensation Board. Farran became chairman of the Alberta Racing Commission. Both appointments are effective May 1.

Farran and Hohol could get nearly as much from the taxpayers in their new roles as the salaries of $46,211 apiece they had in their last year as solicitor-general and advanced education minister.

Personnel Minister Greg Stevens confirmed both will be paid $35,700 to $45,300, the range set for the racing commission chairman and members of the Workers Compensation Board last year.

Social Credit Leader Bob Clark called the appointments plainly "political" and said he was "disappointed," though not surprised.

NDP Leader Grant Notley said, "It's passing strange that people who just a few months ago were so concerned to get out of elected public life are getting into appointed public life."

Lougheed said, "It's the people of Alberta being rewarded by getting the continued effectiveness of these people (Hohol and Farran) in the public service."

The premier said that in awarding top government jobs he tries to "pick the people who will do the best job . . . sometimes they're going to be active politically."

He called Farran "the ideal man" to be in charge of policing the race tracks. Farran has horses for family use on a farm near Calgary. As solicitor-general 1975-79, he was responsible for the racing commission. He is reputed to be "a knowledgeable horseman."

Hohol was responsible for the Workers Compensation Board as labour minister during the Tories' first term, 1971-75. He also chaired a legislature committee on workers' compensation. As advanced education minister 1975-79, he retained responsibility for manpower.

Lougheed said Hohol's new boss, Board Chairman Roy Jamha, had been president of the Alberta Federation of Labour and an NDP election candidate before being appointed by the Conservative cabinet.

Still waiting in the wings are former attorney-general Jim Foster and retired ministers Allan Warrack of Utilities, Helen Hunley of Social Services and Bob Dowling of Business Development.

Lougheed and Energy Minister Don Getty confirmed the former energy minister is already doing consultant's work for the government. They would not say how much he is paid.

Insults don't win votes

'The winner isn't named until the votes are cast.' Someone should remind Arnold Malone of the saying. From what we've seen, he acts like he's already won the federal seat for the Crowfoot Constituency.

Malone, Jack Horner and NDP candidate Roger Millbrandt were guests Monday morning of the nationally-televised show Canada AM. By his own actions, Malone came out looking the worst. At least Horner spoke rationally, answered the questions he was asked without trying to score extra points, and could recall pertinent facts when required.

Malone's tactics weren't as polite. His forum was name-calling and interrupting the other candidates when he'd already had the chance to answer a question.

He tried grandstanding. We expected better.

Malone is not a newcomer to the political scene – from his experience he's had the opportunity to acquire some professionalism. He didn't show it on national TV. He did show a smug and cocky attitude. Perhaps he has no doubts the voters in this constituency will elect him to the House of Commons?

Perhaps he feels he only has to remind us he's Conservative and that will do the job? Although Alberta voters have in the past been branded as always voting "for the party," we like to think people do give more thought to "voting for the man" than they're given credit for.

Another kind of winning

What Others Say

Faulty parole system

Something is definitely wrong with the parole system in Canada when the rights of criminals convicted of violent crimes are put before the rights of the country's citizens to live free from fear of physical harm.

Last week two men on temporary leave from prison were charged with the murder of an 18-year-old youth and the attempted murder of his mother. This brings the total to six men who have been charged with five murders in the last eight months in the Edmonton area while free from prison at the time.

A parole board official rushed to Edmonton for a press conference following the latest incident and said 75 per cent of paroled criminals never get into any more trouble. A spokesman for the federal solicitor general said recently the success rate for the temporary leave program last year was 99.5 per cent.

All the above figures show is that there is room for improvement. Changes are needed to the parole system to make it harder or impossible for those convicted of violent crime to return to the outside before their sentence has expired. At present, after one third, or seven years of a sentence, whichever is lesser, a prisoner is eligible for parole.

A first offender, depending upon the crime, might benefit from temporary leaves or an early parole, but a better look should be given to those who have a history of violent crime or a growing criminal record. One wonders how they are able to convince the parole board that they will give up their life of crime if they are released. Maybe a look is needed at the people who sit on the parole board to see if they are qualified.

One group who has come forward and voiced its opinion in the last week is members of the Edmonton police force whose frustrations are probably indicative of those felt by police officers from one end of the country to the other. They are the ones who have to risk their lives to catch criminals who should never have been let out of jail on parole.

Poor regulation of the parole system can do nothing but harm the overall attempts to rehabilitate the criminals in Canadian institutions. Unless something is done to correct the flaws in the system, moves in recent years will be severely set back.

The Third Column

by Truscats
(I Write As I Please)

ONCE AGAIN WE ARE dogged with 72-point headlines which remind us we are living in a rotten society; that crime is one the increase; that delinquency is rampant and that people's regard for the human rights of others are being trampled in the morbid, unwholesome and sickly behaviour of those who seek gain without honest effort.

THESE HEADLINES TELL US the police are frustrated and angry with the scene. Bleeding heart judges and magistrates are showing more concern for the evil doers than the rights and protection of the law abiding. To be honest, we must agree with them in most instances. Whether this attitude stems from an honest and compelling feeling of compassion or whether it is an escape from the overall reality of what is good for the system as a whole, we are not quite certain. But of one thing we are certain, and that is the entire judicial system needs a complete overhaul. Protection of the ideal social structure must be motivated from the top down, with a justice system that not only protects but administers that justice with only enough compassion to satisfy those who suffer from wrongdoing.

WHY THESE TRENDS seem to bust out at certain times remains a mystery. It may have something to do with the seasons, such as spring for instance, when renewal is the order of the day. Everything busts out in the spring, seeking new life and activity. After a winter of restrictive climate, those inclined to such ways burst forth in a renewal of minor and major crime which upsets the balance of society and brings forth renewed anguish, distress and fear.

DELINQUENCY IS A COMMON expression in our day, and our tendency is to associate the word with juveniles, forgetting entirely that there are probably as many delinquent adults, especially parents, as juveniles, if not more. Parents who run such a loose ship that the crew under their command knows nothing of freedom with duty, liberty with supremacy of the law, rights with respect for others. Their voyage through troubled waters lacks steering and their lives end up on the rocks of destruction. For such lives there should be compassion in the administration of justice, but for those who have led them or permitted them to travel such a route should be administered enough punishment that they may see the error of their way.

THEN THERE ARE THOSE who run such a tight ship, so rigidly controlled and restricted that this crew has no opportunity to express the natural "outflings" inherent in all people. Their activities are so disciplined that the natural instincts are subdued to the point of explosion and they burst forth in such misdemeanours that bring them into the clutches of the law. If not checked at the outset, they continue on to the serious acts that end up in disaster.

REALIZING OF COURSE, having gone through the realm of childhood, adolescence and middle age, that there are those who are so full of "vinegar" that their pent-up urges give expression in acts, most of which are mischievous rather than criminal, we are unconvinced that there are very many "bad" boys or girls. The word "bad" has an ugly connotation for its most applied meaning, as we use it, means "wicked," "vile," "unwholesome. But it also means, according to my dictionary, "naughty" "hurtful," and that is the meaning I choose to use.

BUT IN SUMMING UP my observations, the conclusion is that there are far more delinquent parents than there are juveniles. Too tight a rein; too loose a rein. Take your choice. They both end up with similar results in the finished product, one by compulsion and the other by training. Yet, in spite of all this, there are far more "good" people, both old and young, than there are those whom we classify as "bad."

Something happened on Easter Day which made Christ more alive on the streets of Jerusalem forty days after his crucifixion that on the day of His Triumphal Entry. A false report might last forty days but the church which was founded on a Risen Christ has lasted for nineteen centuries, producing generations of the race's finest characters and now including some six hundred million members.

Kindergarten greets spring

With spring here, the Killam Kindergarten children have spent many happy hours colouring, cutting and pasting decorations relevant to the new season. Flowers and kites deck the walls. Styrafoam cups have been used as planters and already are sprouting beans and radishes. And, a spring book has been started. The youngsters are drawing pictures of all the different places they have visited since early spring.

The first places to be visited this month were the different Killam churches. The tour began by stopping at the Presbyterian Church, the Catholic Church, the Anglican Church, the United Church and the Pentecostal Church. The Baptist Church was omitted at this time because of construction. At the Pentecostal Church, the children were treated to lunch and a story. Thank you to all the ministers for helping make the tour so very interesting.

Then the kindergarten visited The Community Press. The children were greeted at the door by the smell of printers' ink. Even that was interesting to them! Each child examined his or her own name plate and paper pad and began printing their names. Thank you so much for the very interesting tour.

From The Community Press, the children visited the Lodge in Sedgewick. A short program of songs and fingerplays was presented. Everyone enjoyed a good visit. Thank you to the Lodge.

Last of all, the Killam General Hospital was toured. Heartbeats were listened to, the X-ray room and X-rays were examined and the therapy room was visited. Thank you for such an educational tour!

If a highlight of the month was to be mentioned, it probably would be taking "graduation pictures" of each child wearing a cap and gown. Also, a class picture was taken and the photographer was Carolyn Turnbeau.

May 2 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. will be the orientation day for the 1979-80 class.

The election results for the next term are: President - Yvonne Sparnitz. Vice-President - Angie George. Secretary - Pat Gair, and Treasurer - Joanne Lewis.

COME ALIVE . . .

by Don Carson

LEADING BY FOLLOWING

In the next few weeks, we will be assessing the qualities of leadership of those who seek to be elected on May 22.

Leadership is something that some seek, and what others have thrust upon them. Some welcome it; others resist it. The one thing we cannot do about leadership is avoid it. Every parent is a leader – a moral example, good or bad for a child. Every Christian is cast in the role of a leader, for that is what it means to be a disciple of Jesus Christ.

In the Ephesians letter, we are reminded that by faith we are given life as a gift of God, and it is a preparation for our tasks as Christians. And in his second letter to the church at Corinth, Paul spells it out: "If anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has passed away, behold, the new has come . . . So we are ambassadors for Christ, God making his appeal through us."

That is the challenge of leadership – not only for the clergy, not only for those installed as officers and board members of the church; it applies to all. It is the vocation of being Christian. And we are to exercise that vocation where we are, in our corner of the world.

In Hugh Walpole's book, Rogue Herries, Francis Herries rides into a desolate village in the north of England. It is the early 18th Century. Casting his eye about, he declares, "This village is cut off from the world." But the local clergyman responds to him: "It is the world, sir. Here within these hills in this space of ground is all the world . . . In every village through which I have passed, I have found the complete world - all anger and vanity and covetousness and lust; yes, and all charity and goodness and sweet of soul . . . In this valley, I have found the whole world . . . God and the devil both walk on these fields."

Where you and I tread, the whole world is to be found. We are God's ambassadors where we walk. With that in mind, let us examine three admonitions for leadership.

They are simple. They are important: 1. Use your head. 2. Use your heart. 3. Use your feet.

First, use your head. Make up your mind what you want to support, what purposes you want to serve. Joshua said it to the people of Israel: "Choose this day whom you will serve . . . but as for me and my household, we will serve the Lord." That is making a choice.

We must make up our minds every day whom we will serve. What is important? Who is important? To be a leader, to be a Christian leader, means to use our heads to discern those things that count.

The first admonition for leadership is to use your head. The second is to use your heart. Love those things that neither time, nor tide, nor circumstances will erase. So much of life is like sand castles. We carefully construct them at the water's edge and step back to admire our handiwork. But the tide comes in and not a trace of what we have done remains. We can give our hearts to the trivial and the frivolous, or we can love the one from whom all life flows.

The third admonition for effective Christian leadership is use your feet. Run away from those things that can only spell trouble. Get up and leave when that is the choice of courage. Your head and your heart will both tell you, if you listen, when it is time to 'leave the scene' for your own welfare and possibly for the welfare of others.

But feet are not only made to run; they also are used to dig in and stand firm. Genuine leadership, Christian discipleship, come from those who know when it is time to stand fast. It will require the use of both the head and heart to know that.

By grace you have been saved. It is a gift of God. In love you are to reach out, as a leader, as an ambassador of the faith. Your Christian vocation is to serve. Can there be a higher calling? -Don Carson

GOODBYE AND HELLO

It's time for me to say "goodbye" to the Sedgewick office and the people in the County of Flagstaff. It's been great working with you this past six months. Now I shall be moving to the Camrose office, taking over Barbara Green's duties while she is away on maternity leave.

Hello and welcome back to Diane Bourne. I'm sure she had a wonderful working holiday in New Zealand. Diane will be back at work May 1, ready to answer your calls, start fall program planning or help you with your housing problems. Why not give her a call!

WHAT'S HAPPENING?

This summer will be an exciting one for rural youth! Why not complete an application form and attend one of the following summer camps?

R.E.D.A.

During July and August, the Rural Education and Development Association is offering Alberta's youth the chance to:
- develop new skills in leadership, communication and group dynamics;
- meet new people;
- learn basic ideas on co-operation and co-operatives;
- develop awareness of young people's role in their community;
- spend time enjoying boating, hiking, fishing and camping in the mountains.

Various weeklong camps will be held throughout the summer at Goldeye Center, 65 miles west of Rocky Mountain House. It's for young people between the ages of 14 to 21. Further information is available at my office.

4-H "Express"-ion

This is a provincial 4-H event consisting of seminars, fun and games, and competitions. Held on July 19 and 20 at Olds College in Olds. Contact Doug Norman or myself for further information. Registration deadline is May 20, 1979.

YOU AND STRESS

Chatelaine magazine in a recent article said, "It's generally agreed by doctors and psychiatrists that never before in the world's history has life been subject to so much stress.

"We face stress everywhere . . . in our work, in our personal relationships, caring for our children, in money worries, in travel and shopping, and in ever-increasing noise, in the ever-increasing pace of life and the crowds that go with it; even, it seems, when we watch TV shows."

Now is the time to do something about the stress in your life! A learning package called "You and Stress" is now available on loan from District Home Economists' offices. The "You and Stress" package is a new concept in self-directed learning and is designed to be used by individuals and small groups.

This package contains reference books, reading lists, exercises, cassette tapes and a guide on how to use the materials. Regardless of age or occupation, whether you prefer learning on your own, or with a group of friends and neighbours, if you are concerned about stress, this learning package has something to offer. It can help you identify what causes stress for you and the skills that you can utilize to cope better with the pace we're all caught up in.

The package is available on loan for 10 days. Give me a call at 384-3787 if you'd like to borrow it.

4-H CLUB Activities

Forestburg Light Horse Club

The April meeting of the Forestburg 4-H Horse Club was brought to order by President Darcey Bixon and began with the pledge and roll call. The minutes of the last meeting were adopted as read and a treasurer's report was given.

Old business included a discussion about tack boxes and tickets for the rodeo. It was decided to get more information on the cost of the lumber for tack boxes and to purchase tickets for the rodeo.

New business included a new place for riding practice that is needed, so some of the members and their parents were asked to look for a new location and also a site for a trail ride. It was decided to have a trail ride and a date for this would be set in two weeks' time.

There was to be a clinic on showmanship, to be held at Mavis' and the club decided to set up a booth and sell refreshments.

The Hardisty Stampede Association is looking for candidates for rodeo queen. The club decided to sponsor a candidate. Nominations were held and Darcey Bixon was chosen as our candidate. The meeting was adjourned.

Knights of Columbus

9th annual charter night held

The Providence Council #4008 Knights of Columbus held its 9th annual Charter and Recognition Night Friday, April 27. A social hour, followed by a banquet catered by the CWL, was held in the Strome Elks Hall.

Head table guests for the evening were: MC Joe Eshpeter and his wife Sylvia; Archbishop MacNeil; Rev. Fr. Elkin; Rev. Fr. Perron; Rev. Fr. Tom Kroetch; Provincial Historian Bro. Charles Merta and his wife Katie; District Deputy Bro. Joe Schaadl and his wife Jeanette; Grand Knight Bro. Don Pfeffer and his wife Mary Ann; Supreme Master of the 4th Degree Bro. Emil Motenko and his wife Sophie; and Guest speaker for the evening, Bro. Phil Villeneuve and his wife Jeannette. Mr. Villeneuve's topic was based on The Year of the Child.

Bro. Charles Merta, provincial historian, spoke on the provincial history book, which he hopes to be published in 1980.

Certificates were then presented to three 20-year members: Bros. George Spiller, Norbert Fleck, and Vincent Zwack by Eddie Kueber. Bro. Elmer Eshpeter presented 25-year certificates to 21 members: Bros. Norman Burkard, J.M. Froehler, Adam Gartner, Edwin Hauck, Harold Hauser, Don Hayes, Leonard Niehaus, Len Malone, Peter Gartner, Martin Moser, Wm. Mickis, Rev. M. McCarthy, Don Pfeffer, Ed Rostaing, James Slavik, Frances Spohn, Clarence Vos, Wm. Ziesel, Mike Zwack, Dennis Wisner, and Vernon Malone.

Certificates of Merit were presented to Bro. Bill Murphy, Mrs. Irene Murphy, Bro. Leo Nosiotte, Bro. Peter Reinhart, and Bro. Roy Broemeling by Bro. Joe Eshpeter.

Bro. Orville Zwack presented four 1979 Honourary Life Memberships to Bros. Edwin Hauck, James Slavik, Wm. Mickis and Mike Zwack.

Grand Knight Don Pfeffer presented Bishop Grueco Medals to the 23 new members, as well as another award to one of your younger members, Bro. Tom Zwack, who in the past two years has helped out in several offices in the council.

A $100 cheque for the Strome Catholic Church Library was presented by Grand Knight to Bro. Gen Chromik in place of his wife Susan, who was unable to attend.

A special item was the 'big presentation' to Bro. Rod May by Bro. Orville as it seems he is known for always losing his membership card. Don't think you should have too much trouble now, Rod!!

The evening was coming to an end, but one very important item, which was nearly forgotten. It is really something for our council to have a three-generation membership. Bro. John Zwack, son Bro. Orville Zwack and five grandsons, all insurance members.

Bro. Mike Zwack, on receiving his 25-year Honourary Life Certificate, commented that he had missed only five meetings in 25 years.

Everyone moved upstairs for a few hours of dancing and socializing to finish the evening.

RECIPE FOR THISTLES

A good chocolate cake requires both ingredients and a recipe to combine these ingredients. So too with Canada Thistle control. There are certain components of a successful method, but they must be combined in the right order. The system is the solution to control.

Several methods of thistle control have been attempted over the years. Chemical control alone has been expensive and partially effective. The same is true for cultivation alone. Work done in northern Alberta has shown that a combination works best.

Severely infested areas of a field may have to be fallowed to begin an effective control program. Lighter infestation may be controlled by following a combination method - chemical control in crop with fall and spring cultivation.

Here is the recipe as designed by the research people in the Peace River region.

Year 1 - Fallow

1. Apply MCPA or 2,4D at 8 oz. active ingredient per acre in 10 gallons of water when thistles are 12-18 inches high or are in the bud stage. The fallow allows for lush and rapid growth enhancing the herbicide's effect.
2. Cultivate two to three weeks later and repeat only when weed growth demands re-cultivation.
3. Near freeze-up cultivate four to five inches deep to expose any viable roots to frost action.

Year 2 - Crop

1. Sow a sprayable crop, such as wheat, or preferably barley. Later or delayed seeding is preferred so both crop and thistles are in a rapid growth environment when herbicide application occurs.
2. Delay chemical application of MCPA or 2,4D to the five-leaf stage of the crop in order to get a larger leaf exposure of the thistle plants. Apply the herbicide at 8 oz./acre in 10 gallons of water. The use of MCPA is preferred to minimize crop injury while providing effective thistle control.
3. After harvest, cultivate at least once, but preferrably twice, late in the fall with a wide shovel cultivator to a depth of four to five inches. At this stage, control should be about 90 to 95 per cent.

Year 3 - Crop

Seed a sprayable crop and repeat the procedure as outlined for Year 2.

Year 4 - Crop

Seed a sprayable crop and repeat procedure outlined for Year 2.

One final point - remember it's the system that's important. About 90 per cent or more of the thistles will be gone after the second or third year. However, persistant year-to-year spraying and cultivation is a must to eradicate.

Transportation cost updated

by G.R. Sargent of A.W. Pool

Carl Snavely, head of the commission on the Costs of Transporting Grain by Rail, [illegible] the 1974 costs of moving grain at statutory rates exceeded railway revenues. Railway operations have changed since that time, notably with the introduction of 5,000 Canadian Wheat Board hopper cars into grain service. The federal government retained Mr. Snavely to update the railway's cost and revenue situation for statutory grain to 1977.

Compared to 1974, Snavely found several improvements in railway performance. Grain transportation during 1977 involved 12 per cent more carloads and 25 per cent more tonnage in 1977. This reflects a larger export movement, but also increased grain car capacities. Hopper cars purchased by the federal government solely for grain transportation account for the major portion of the improvement.

In 1974, hopper cars were just being introduced into the system and only represented nine per cent of the grain car shipments. By 1977, the government-owned hoppers carried 36 per cent of the export grain and represented 50 per cent of the grain car movement.

In addition to hopper cars, about 140 fewer stations were involved in grain shipments in 1977, resulting in the average station loading more cars with grain than in 1974. On a per train basis, the railways were able to increase the tons of grain hauled due to the higher tonnage in each car. The turnaround time for grain cars from country loading to re-spotting at country elevators improved by about four days to an average trip of 19 days. Another railway efficiency factor noted by Snavely was the increased use of higher horsepower diesel locomotives.

All the improvements in railway operating efficiency helped to counteract the inflationary cost increases incurred by the railways during the three-year period. Yet, despite improved railway efficiencies and government purchased grain cars, the railways lost more money hauling grain in 1977 than in 1974. The variable costs of moving grain exceeded the revenues received from statutory freight rates by $220 million for CN, CP Rail and NAR. Branch line subsidy payments to the railways by the federal government totalled $64 million and reduced the railways' revenue shortfall to $178 million.

Study of the railways' 1977 costs and revenues shows that grain producers paid $115 million for export grain transport. This equates to 13.7 cents per bushel or 32 per cent of the variable cost. Through branch line subsidies, the federal government paid $64 million of 7.6 cents per bushel to the railways, representing 15 per cent of variable costs. The balance of the railways' variable cost was absorbed by the railways themselves, producing a loss of $175 million or 21.0 cents per bushel.

If railway revenue was expected to equal the variable costs of moving grain, producers would need to pay 2.5 times more for grain transportation or 35 cents per bushel in total if the branch line subsidies were maintained. A discontinuation of the branch line subsidies program would mean grain producers would need to pay 8.1 times as much for export grain movement, or 42 cents per bushel in total. If the federal government were to pay the railways' revenue shortfall, $220 million would be necessary for 1977. This amount, coupled with the purchase of hopper cars and branch line rehabilitation programs would mean the government would be paying more than 70 per cent of the total costs of the statutory grain movement.

Adequate revenue to cover the costs of grain transportation is essential to the railways. Grain producers need assurances of adequate rail service at reasonable cost. Farm organizations are intensifying their search for an acceptable transportation policy.

DIAL BEFORE YOU DIG. THERE'S A LOT AT STAKE.

If you operate heavy machinery, it's more important than ever that you call your gas company before you break ground.

Because if you don't, you run the very real risk of damaging a gas main and being responsible for an accident which could cost thousands of dollars in damage and downtime. Or cut off the gas supply to an entire community.

Or cause dangerous explosions and loss of life — possibly your own.

So make sure that you call your gas company's Pipe Locator Team at least 48 hours before you dig. They'll stake out the alignment of all gas lines in the locality so you can dig in safety.

The service is free. Please use it. There's a lot at stake.

Malone speaks to Lions

The Galahad and District Lions Club held its fourth Charter Night on Saturday, April 21. Guests from Forestburg and Alliance clubs were present. The ladies were presented with a corsage each. Arnold Malone was guest speaker.

After the delicious meal was served and enjoyed by all, Mr. Frank Herle, MC for the evening, introduced the head table, after which Mr. Malone gave an interesting talk on the trip he took with other members of parliament on an inspection of the Peace Corp.

The contrast between the new world and the Middle East is something that cannot be imaged, he said. Before I came to Forestburg, my first home was close to the banks of an irrigation ditch. I have distinct memories of the ditch crew burning out paper and Russian Thistle, removing the odd can or bottle that found its way there.

To think of an irrigation ditch where the dead animals are thrown, human too if unclaimed, where you do your washing, bathing and even use it as an outhouse — then turn around and drink it. Mr. Malone continued, "We have sent samples of the water home to Canada and they have found at least eight varieties of bacteria completely unknown to our world. A Peace Corp personnel fell in and in less than 24 hours he was dead."

The distance between places and contrasts was shown by the Mediterranean Sea and the sands of the desert. With the combination of the two, you would think of a land of plenty yet we are told that you can fly for hours over the desert and maybe see one native trudging along, coming from nowhere and going nowhere.

We need men to keep peace. They need their people to be educated so they can come home, marry, raise children to kill the Israelites.

Mr. Malone gave us a description of the land that is holy to three religions, one of which is Christianity. To see these sacred spots, we are guarded. My mind keeps turning to that centre cross. Was it in vain?

Of course, Mr. Malone spoke of funny instances, but I can't think of one. They were enjoyed. After his address, he presented the club with a Canadian flag which was graciously accepted by Mr. Herb Dietz.

The entire group went upstairs for dancing and refreshments. While things were being organized, Mrs. Wise, president of the senior citizens, took the opportunity to show Mr. Malone the Drop-In Centre.

Being a senior citizen, I was proud of our hall and I think Mr. Malone was impressed by what he saw.

I have talked to no one who listened to the talk but I know it has left me with a picture I shall not forget in a hurry. Mr. Malone received a standing ovation and I know I would have liked to have known more.

The hour was late. The tickets all in and the secretary and his wife left what seemed to be a successful dance.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

SPRING

I merrily sing of the spring ta-la!
As the sun mounts higher daily;
For it warms the marrow of my old bones
And I greet each dawn more gaily.

The snowbanks faint at the south wind's breath,
And waters in brooks are brawling,
While an ebon crow with a loud "caw-caw"
From the elm tree's branch is calling.

The grey goose leads his phalanx north,
And high in the spring migration,
As the strong wind beat and the strident cry
Go on without cessation.

The partridge drums his mating call
From his log in the wood's seclusion,
Warning potential rivals off
From the danger of rash intrusion.

When the crocus shows its small bright head,
And robins trill their ditties,
I'm moved with compassion for those who toil
In the smoke and grime of cities.

For who would breathe the noisesome smog,
And list to the din and clamour,
And choose the sound of the traffic's roar
O'er the rural peace and glamour?

When catkins tremble on willow twigs
And poplars flaunt their tassels;
When thrushes sing from the topmost limbs
As they build their airy castles;

When ducklings splash in the reedy rill,
While a hawk glides lazily over;
And the honey bees buzz as they busily seek
Their treasure amid the clover.

When the moo cows browse in the lush green grass,
And the little ones leap and frolic
(Does it make you nostaligic for country life?
Can you picture the scene bucolic?)

When beavers ply their builders' trade,
Their (naughty word) structures rearing,
Glad in the passing of winter's night
And the wonder of spring appearing!

Then heigh! for the surge of its burning life,
And hoi for a burgeoning nature;
There's a musical lilt in the sound of "spring",
A happy nomenclature!

Further Ed Highlights

Are you aware of adult education in the County of Flagstaff? Do you know your local contact who is working diligently to fill the needs of your community in adult education?

In the Hardisty area, Lis Szoke has given freely of her time for the past winter setting up courses which have been well received. She is now waiting for your suggestions for what the fall can bring. Give Lis a ring at 888-2416. She is also in need of resource persons, so don't hide your talents, come forward and offer to serve as an instructor.

In Lougheed, Ardis Davis can be reached at 386-3984 or 386-3942. Give her a ring. I'm sure you can count on her to promote courses for the Lougheed area in the fall.

Donna Martin of Sedgewick has been busy promoting quilting, furniture refinishing and upholstery. Sorry, the latter course had to be cancelled due to lack of registrations in time to order the materials. Hopefully, Donna will plan this one for a fall priority on her list. Give Donna lots of feedback by calling 384-3544. She's a good listener.

Although Margaret Manning of Killam is a very busy person and very hard to catch, I find her most willing to contribute time and she'll surely try to get the things going that the people of Killam want to see happen. Give her a ring at 385-3807.

The people of Stromo are working well with Dorothy Wieschorster as their contact. She not only serves well as a contact, she is also very busy teaching macrame, which I'm getting positive feedback about. In fact, she seems too busy to send in for the collection of her instructor fees, so she can't be in it for the money. Phone Dorothy at 376-2408 and tell her the things that you would like to see happen in Stromo come this fall.

Mary Carlson of Dayaland has had many disappointments during the past few months. She would like to find a replacement contact after her many years of faithful and hard work for further education, but no luck. Then it seems, she has had many courses cancelled due to lack of interest and enrolment.

Bonnie Larson at 374-3974 very kindly took registrations to assist Mary, however, I would encourage someone to volunteer to line up fall needs for that area. Give Mary Carlson a ring at 374-2215. She will discuss the contact duties with you and I'm sure will give some help when needed.

On the south line, I urge you folks of Alliance to contact Bertha Rands at 879-2153. She, too, has been busy instructing courses in the sewing area of Adult Education. Carol McFaull of Galahad is a very busy person, but will take time to talk adult education, and her assistant, Cleda Fuller, is bubbling with ideas. So take time out and phone Cleda at 583-2264, or Carol at 583-2211.

Not forgetting our old faithful, Fran Miller, who has been involved with adult education for longer that she probably would like to admit, continues to work diligently for the Forestburg area. Give Fran a ring at 582-3874. To serve effectively as your contact, she must hear from people in her community. Fran has been fortunate with resource people in that area. The teaching staff at the school are most congenial to work with, says Fran, with a grateful smile. Of course, she too, is always looking for new resource people so she can continue to give Forestburg people a variety of courses.

Rose Weller of Heisler can be reached at 374-2321. According to Rose, she has been getting requests for Chinese cooking and yoga, however, we haven't been successful in getting instructors. Hopefully, these courses will get off the ground in the fall. What other thoughts do you folks in the Heisler area have in mind?

I encourage all organizations to watch for my invitation to join our council. I can see lots of bigger things happening in our county if we get our heads together.

Election preparations complex

Some 275,000 election workers and up to 60 million documents and forms will help make it possible for you to cast your vote in Canada's 31st federal election on May 22.

These large numbers of people and official forms underline the complex, administrative effort that goes into running a general election.

An estimated $50 million will be spent on election administration and another $10 million for partial reimbursement of expenses of parties and candidates.

The centre of election planning and direction is on Coventry Road in East Ottawa, in the offices of Canada's chief electoral officer, Jean-Marc Hamel, and his permanent staff of 45.

In an adjoining warehouse area, there is a 1,000-ton buildup of supplies prior to and during the election period — instruction booklets for election officials and candidates, ballot paper, proxy voting forms, expense reporting forms for candidates and their agents, and many more.

The election office staff and other election officers normally have about 60 days in which to prepare for polling or voting day.

An electoral map of Canada, dividing the country into electoral districts, is drawn up each 10 years by the federal Electoral Boundaries Commission, and this map by itself reflects the mammoth job of bringing the democratic ballot to Canadians.

An electoral district in a city may be only one square mile in size while others, such as Nunasiaq in the Northwest Territories, may be many thousands of square miles.

"The problems of travel and communications are challenging because of large geographic areas and many isolated communities," says Mr. Hamel. "And these problems are compounded by the necessity of doing our various tasks according to very tight schedules. However, much work and planning is done in between elections so that we are ready to go when an election is called."

As for the large amounts of forms and documents that are moved and used in the election period, they do have essential purposes.

"We have tried to cut red tap and have, in fact, reduced the number of forms in use; but many of them remain necessary under law and to ensure smooth and efficient service to the electors, adds the chief electoral officer. "In addition, some new forms have been necessary under the provisions of the election expenses sections of the Canada Elections Act."

Rules that limit spending by parties and candidates and a system of partial reimbursement of expenses are new since the last general election in 1974.

The 1979 election cost, estimated at $60 million for administration, compares with $29.1 million for the general election in 1974.

Three main factors have pushed costs higher. The number of eligible voters has increased from 13.3 million in 1974 to an estimated 14.9 million now. The number of electoral districts has increased from 264 to 282. And inflation has driven up the costs of materials and labour.

Administrative cost per elector is expected to be $3.10 in this election, up from $2.18 in 1974.

The three principle costs areas are the enumeration of electors, the printing of lists, notices and ballot papers, and polling day activities, expected to cost $15 million, $7 million and $14 million respectively.

In addition to the 282 returning officers who are responsible for the elections in the electoral districts, there will be approximately 65,500 individual voting polls set up, each requiring a deputy returning officer and a poll clerk.

While the chief electoral officer and the election office staff co-ordinate and supervise the electoral process in general, there will be in fact 282 separate elections held on May 22, one in each of the electoral districts. The returning officer of each district, appointed by the Governor in Council (the federal cabinet), must supervise and conduct the election and report back to the chief electoral officer.

Lougheed Auxiliary meets with 12 ladies

The Lougheed Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting on Tuesday, April 24.

President Olive Grieve was in the chair. The colours were marched on and O Canada was sung. All joined the chaplain in repeating the Auxiliary Prayer.

At roll call, 12 members answered with five visits to the hospitals. Minutes were read and approved.

Correspondence included two thank you cards, a letter from the Royal Canadian Legion inquiring as to how many life members and ordinary members we have, a letter from the recreation board informing us there will be money for the playground, a letter from head office with a thank you for the donation to the bursary fund, and a letter from Caria Lehr, secretary-treasurer of the playschool. One application was received and tabled until the May meeting.

Vesta moved her financial report be adopted. This was carried.

The Auxiliary is very pleased with the success of its tea and bake sale and wishes to convey heartfelt thanks to those who attended, who donated and to all who in any way helped to make it so successful. Mrs. Ella Clouston was the lucky raffle winner.

A discussion took place on the rally to be held in St. Paul on Saturday, April 28. Hazel Swainson and Hannah Oakes were the delegates, with Olive Grieve the alternate delegate.

A motion was heard that two bills be paid. The card convenor reported she had sent three cards.

Discussion took place on play ground needs. Sunny Barton offered to get information concerning the playground and report it at the May meeting. Cleaning around the hut will be done when the weather co-operates.

Past-secretary Eunice Lozens was escorted to the front by Sergeant-at-arms Hannah Oakes. With a few well-chosen words, President Olive Grieve presented Eunice with a past secretary's pin. A round of applause followed. Eunice thanked the Auxiliary. Eunice certainly had earned this award as she was a conscientious worker.

Edna won the raffle, and the meeting was ajourned.

Hostesses for the meeting were Edna and Vesta, who served the lovely lunch enjoyed by the Auxiliary and Legion members.

SEDGEWICK 4-H MULTI

The annual 4-H Tour Day of the Sedgewick 4-H Multi Club was held Sunday, April 29. The tour began at Peter Myrehaug's at noon and ended at Austin Arntsen's. Judging followed. We all enjoyed a large supper provided by the members.

Our monthly meeting was held following the supper. Our main discussion concerned Highway Clean-up Day, to be held Saturday, May 5.

We will be cleaning the same route as last year. We plan to start at 9:30 a.m. and will be finished around noon. Dinner will be served at Austin Arntsen's.

The next 4-H Multi meeting will be held Tuesday, May 29 at the Rec Centre. Stall decorations will be discussed for our District Achievement Day.

People in Profile:

The man behind the museum

Gilbert Swanson has been "gathering" most of his 68 years, since 1918 in the Sedgewick area. Almost all the collection has a spot in his museum – a small white building with pink trim and a screendoor – standing one block west of Sedgewick's Main Street.

Originally the town's blacksmith shop, Mr. Swanson's museum is still home for much of the old forging equipment, as well as other momentos of the past. In one corner of the small 15- by 25-foot area stand woodworkings he made from memory. A covered wagon, sleds and carriages were recalled from his childhood days in Wisconsin while a two-storey fort is reminiscent of the original in Great Falls, Montana, long-since torn down.

Before retiring in 1965, Mr. Swanson was a well-driller. He's built a scale model of his original machinery as well, the only one not in the museum but which instead has a place in his house. Mr. Swanson's grandchildren like to play with it when they visit, he says. At one time it was operational.

But most of Mr. Swanson's collection is antique – replicas of the past. "I don't remember not being interested in older things."

He points out a Scottish-made dresser given to him from a woman in Edmonton after it had "seen three marriages." The cupboards of a wooden kitchen unit from Ontario still hold cups, saucers, plates and kitchen accessories.

A copper lamp hangs from the ceiling. Fancier than most, Mr. Swanson explains it probably graced a dining room in England before brought to Canada.

Almost five feet tall, a coffee grinder stands beside a scale and coffee mill which was fashionable between 1910 and 1932. It was used in the Mills and Beairsto Store, now called [illegible].

And scrubboards, glass, metal and the traditional wood, still bear the manufacturer's name, "Jasper Mountain - Vancouver."

A small room off the main museum reveals replicas from a pioneer family's outdoor life: tools, wagon wheels, bridles, harnesses, even a side saddle "the sun and rain got the best of before I got ahold of it."

Outside, the yard between Swanson's Museum and Mr. Swanson's house is the holding ground for bigger equipment. Some names no longer manufactured are represented in his collection – a Fordson tractor from the 1940s, a Cletrac tractor from the 1920s but with a Dodge engine. Its crank is still in place and Mr. Swanson "turns it over once in awhile to bear it run."

Some visitors he invites into his home to see more keepsakes. A hand-made cabinet, taking up most of one wall, is full of spoons, plates, books, clocks, teapots and items unfamiliar to the younger eye. And stones, which to the casual observer are only stones, all have history. Mr. Swanson remembers where they're from, when he found them, and what they were used for – like the smooth-sided one with a flat bottom. He discovered it in four feet of water in Smoky Lake. It was used by the Indians to skin buffalo hides.

"Everything I got ahold of I like," he says, claiming to not have any one favourite. But he does prefer a particular painting – several line the walls of the museum with their heavy wooden frames still intact – the one he likes has a child and her Collie dog kneeling at the bed. Both are praying.

The museum doesn't have regular hours but is open to anyone who wants to look through it. Most visitors are during the summer months, he adds, but if a person "dresses up warm" he'll give them a tour in winter, too.

Mr. Swanson is still adding to his collection, expects he always will. And his sons, daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren keep an eye out for anything he'll be interested in, too.

Gretna receives letters

On April 11, the Gretna Good Will Club met at the home of Etta Huse. In attendance were all seven members.

The previous minutes were read. There was one very amusing comment in them, arising from the meeting at Chrissie's.

The correspondence was then read and lots of it. Thank you cards were received from Donna McBride for the shower we had given her, a receipt and thank you from the Killam Hospital for the physiotherapy machine donation, a lovely letter from Mrs. Zimmerman for the cards we had sent her, a thank you card from the Ball family for the memorial donation, a thank you card from Helen Sutherland and a verbal thanks from Chrissie Armstrong both for gifts and cards she received when hospitalized. A beautifully versed thank you card also was received from Margery Storbakken, thanking us for the towel set we had sent her. We had a letter from the Lougheed Play School that we tabled to a further meeting.

The treasurer gave her report and we're still in good standing in spite of our spending. The sick convenor reported having sent eight cards to those hospitalized, shut-ins and for memorials.

A discussion was held regarding serving at the reception for Karen Simpson's wedding in July. All were in favour that we do this.

The next meeting is at Helen O'Reilly's on May 9. Helen Sutherland is co-hostess. The roll call will be "Slip and Bloomer," an exchange of plants or seeds.

Chrissie had a contest guessing the prices of seven grocery articles. Helen O. was the winner by being closest to the correct amount and Etta the loser by being the farthest away. Marlene also had a contest by dropping three dimes from between your knees into a bottle. Chrissie was that winner. Oh! Oh!

Our roll call for today was the exchange of Easter novelties. We had a lovely assortment – every one so different and some so calorie loaded. We were all so happy with Easter bunny surprises.

Helen O., as co-hostess, assisted our hostess with the loveliest of Easter teas. We sat at the round table that was laid with lovely china, Easter table napkins, and a bouquet of yellow mums grown and brought by Helen Sutherland. They were four inches across and just beautiful! The food as per usual was scrumptuous.

Meike won the lucky tea cup prize that was so cute and different. Chrissie won the hostess prize that also was so delightful and spring-like.

We left later than usual from this Easter party to return to our homes on very, very muddy roads. See you May 9, gals.

-Chrissie Armstrong

Hazelwood Good Deed has 11 present

The April 18 meeting of the Hazelwood Good Deed Club was held at the home of Mrs. Orma Thorp with 11 members present and two visitors, Margaret Denham and Molly Fernseybough.

The minutes and treasurer's reports were given and adopted.

Correspondence was thank yous from the various donations we had made.

Old business discussed was the bags Orma had got. They were very satisfactory and Vi Metz handed out some to be hemmed.

Kay Cox handed in two sets of dishtowels and one pair of pillowcases, all artexed.

Margaret Denham brought one dishtowel set. Essie Dragar handed in money for a doll kit.

The new business discussed was the date and lunch for a bridal shower for Joy McClements.

Only one bill was presented for flowers.

Our meeting for May 16 will be held at Mrs. Violet Metz' if weather is bad as many could be rather busy in the fields if it is nice weather.

Our birthday gal was Mrs. Orma Thorp and her son-in-law had baked her a neat delicious birthday cake, which we all enjoyed.

The hostess prize was won by Adley McClements, a pretty vase and pot holder.

The meeting was adjourned and we enjoyed a lovely lunch and had an enjoyable chit chat as our meeting was a short one.

Rebekahs hear assembly warden

The members of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met for their regular meeting on Wednesday, April 25. Lodge opened in regular form with 19 members and two guests present.

It was reported that although Sis. L. Skoberg was still in the hospital, she hoped to be home soon. Visits had been made to local hospitals and get well cards had been sent.

Sis. Grace Tellepaugh, assembly warden, was welcomed.

Sis. Hazel Skoberg reminded the members of the occasion when she had brought raw hamburger for lunch rather than cold ham. This time, she had remembered the ingredients for a cake but she had neglected to assemble and bake said ingredients, so with the assistance of chefs and narrator in attendance, she completed the task. However, after having put the cake in the oven, she directed N.G. Sis Cookson to first remove from the second oven what she might find there. It was another cake beautifully decorated with emblems and inscription which was presented to Warden Sis. Tellepaugh.

Sis. Tellepaugh graciously thanked the members for the cake, brought greetings from assembly, and spoke words of encouragement. She spoke of an impending recognition to lodges having completed useful work within the community. She congratulated the members for having so successfully seated the officers at assembly.

It was decided to give a donation to the family in our midst which had recently be burned out.

Sis. Johnson reported that the fund for the therapy room in Kilsan had grown very, very well.

It was reported that Sis. S. McClements was absent – not for fishy reasons but for reasons of a fish.

Sis. Tellepaugh's sister and travelling companion was made welcome and also brought greetings.

After Penny Drill, lodge closed in harmony. Just as a group of sisters had opened lodge with extra floor work, so they closed it.

For lunch, you guessed it, Sis. Skoberg's "baked on the spot" cake, along with many, many other mouth-watering calories.

Kindergarten receives funds from Cambridge

The ladies of the Cambridge Community Association met at the home of Verona Cookson on Tuesday, April 24. Although few in number, we had a very enjoyable meeting. There were six members present, and three little visitors.

The usual business was dealt with and the correspondence read. Our donation this month will go to the Lougheed Kindergarten. We will be giving plants or flowers to the shut-ins of our district again this year. This has previously been done at Easter so will be a little later this year. However, 'I'm sure they will enjoy these tokens of remembrance at any time of the year.

There were no fruit baskets or get well cards sent out so apparently it has been a "healthy" month for our members and friends.

The location of the next meeting was not definitely decided as there were so few present, but will be decided on later.

Rita was the lucky winner of the raffle this month. The contest was very interesting. We divided into pairs, then were asked questions about her. It certainly tested one's "powers of observation." It is surprising how very little we know about each other. Valda and Louise were the winners of the contest, with Elsie Cookson and Dorothy Lane low.

Following the Lord's Prayer, we enjoyed lunch served by Verona and Louise.

Notes from Hardisty

A surprise 40th wedding anniversary was held on Saturday, April 21 for Mr. and Mrs. Art Dietrich of Hastings Coulee.

A number of relatives attended, his sister Myrtle from B.C. and also a daughter and grandchildren from B.C.

Don, Marilyn and Cathy Brooks of Edmonton, Art Woyen and the Perry Powells also attended. Following the family banquet, a dance was held in the hall which soon filled up with relatives and friends to honour this couple. Music was supplied by Shirley's Orchestra of Heisler and was much enjoyed by the older generation.

The Powells, as well as Woyens, met cousins not seen for some time and some second cousins never met, so it was a great occasion.

It was surely nice to meet Marcella (Edmunds) of Smithers, B.C. and Virginia Johnson's sister. It was a long time since we had seen each other.

Mrs. Ferchoff entertained residents of the Manor recently to celebrate her birthday with turkey and all the trimmings.

Mrs. Scott too has had a birthday party in the Manor. In fact, two parties as a few friends dropped in Wednesday afternoon to have coffee and birthday cake and wish her many more happy birthdays.

Among those seen at the bingo Wednesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Landals of Edmonton, also Mrs. Alice Lowe of Cromer, Manitoba.

Leonard Kerths spent Easter weekend in Calgary and Muriel had a nice visit with Annabel (Galloway), an old friend, and they had not seen each other for 19 years, so it was a very happy reunion of old friends.

Laverne Whitehead visited her mother, Core Paulson, in Strome on Wednesday and took Isabel Nelson along. It was so nice to have a visit with a neighbour of long ago. Cora came to Laverne's home as well.

A work crew got together the other day and put new shingles on St. Paul's United Church.

An old landmark in town has just been demolished today. It housed many businesses through the years. Mr. Williams had a jewellery store there. Reg Johnson had a shoe store and lived upstairs and it has been a rooming house for some until the Manor opened. Now it's location is a commercial lot.

The Wilders and Bill Iaks have returned again after being across the border all winter.

Well, I heard by way of the grapevine that the day the manse roof was done, Herb Bricker of Wetaskiwin, along with Rev. A. Edworthy, who was St. Paul's minister here for some time, were in town. However, I would have surely appreciated being told a bit more about this visit as that is news.

The Elks white elephant sale appeared to be very successful as there was a great variety of goods to see and a large crowd to look and buy.

Portage La Prairie, Manitoba has just had eight inches of snow. I phoned Manitoba Monday morning. They will be lucky to get crops in this year.

A congregational meeting was held in St. Mark's Parish on April 24 with Rev. Conrad in the chair. Also present was Mr. Clarence Fujczak of Killam, building co-ordinator for St. Elizabeth.

Reports were given on the financial standing of St. Mark's and much discussion followed on the subject. More important is the need of getting members back into the church.

A motion was made appointing a committee to work with Mr. Fujczak on the washrooms for the hall. Much planning has already gone into this and it is hoped to have the work done this spring. Many thanks are due to the friends who have supported our various projects to help finance the works.

Members were asked to attend a council meeting in Sedgewick when it is hoped that St. Mark's apportionment will be lowered.

The Hardisty Garden Club held a special meeting in the Drop-In Centre on April 23 for the purpose of arranging for the flower show. The date was set for August 14. A committee consisting of Bessie Mazure, Vera Hendricks, May Goodrich, Ethel King, with President Herbe Matthews and Secretary Erma Matthews was set up to arange the prize list. This list will be posted in a prominent place as soon as possible, so gardeners are asked to watch for it. Mary Goodrich was appointed to approach business places for donations toward prizes. Last year's response to this was most generous.

Other arrangements were left to future meetings. The secretary reported having contacted the Alberta Horticultural Society, which supplies judges for its affiliate members. Anyone interested may contact a member of the club for information on the show. Anyone may enter flowers. The entry fee is minimal, so plan early.

A number of ladies from our various churches made the trip to Viking on Wednesday to attend the Battle River Regional Annual meeting and found it quite enjoyable and informative. Next year, the meeting will be held at St. John's Church, Sedgewick.

Have you had a look at the lovely job some of our ladies have done on the piano in the Parish Hall? It really has a new face. Thanks to Thelma, Joyce and Elaine for their labours.

A seminar entitled "The Minor Prophets" will be conducted by Rev. Conrad at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 9 at Bethania Lutheran Church. It should last until about 4 p.m. Come, spend the day learning, and bring your lunch. Coffee will be provided. The public is welcome.

New building opens

A crowd of well-wishers and senior citizens gathered Monday afternoon to witness the official opening of Sedgewick's town office, municipal library and drop-in centre located under one roof on the town's Main Street.

Cutting the ribbons to the three facilities were Frank Calvin, representing the Department of Municipal Affairs; Steve Pottage, on behalf of the local senior citizens; and Mrs. Mollie Bruce, librarian.

Guest speaker Arnold Malone placed particular emphasis on the senior citizens' role in construction of the new building. He congratulated them for demonstrating what accomplishments can be made by seniors, stressing they had "earned" the new drop-in centre "for what you have given to the country."

"This is a debt repaid for your years of labouring and building a country . . . for your attitude toward work."

Success of the project could not be attributed only to the federal and provincial government grants or the municipal support received he said, but must include the volunteer labour contributed by local citizens.

At the close of his address, he presented a Canadian flag to Steve Pottage, at 91 the oldest member of the Sedgewick Senior Citizens Society.

Congratulations also were offered on behalf of the provincial government by Joe Forsyth from the Department of Culture, and Hugh Waddell, Department of Recreation and Parks. That department's Major Facility Program provided the grant for construction of the new facility.

The program, Mr. Waddell, explained, is the largest of its kind in North America. Its success in Alberta is demonstrated by the number of similar facilities opening throughout the province. In the past five months, 10 new libraries have opened their doors — Sedgewick's is one of three the past month.

Ron Williams, on behalf of New Horizons, presented a Certificate of Achievement to Dave Black, master of ceremonies for the opening and president of Sedgewick's Senior Citizens' Society.

Local dignitaries taking part included County of Flagstaff Reeve Alec Blatz, Sedgewick Mayor Ernie Koehli, Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce President Al Strobel, Recreation Board President George Anderson and the board's secretary-treasurer Carol Arntzen, and PSS Director Paul Bujold.

A portion of the afternoon was dedicated to the Red Cross Society Branch in Sedgewick. President Gordon Taylor presented certificates and badges for "devoted service . . . contribution of time and talent to the Red Cross movement in the district."

Teena Blakeney was commended for her more than 30 years involvement, while certificates were presented to: Shirley Simpson, 11 years; Grace Robertson, 11 years; George Christenson, 11 years; Ruth Erickson, 14 years; Ben Weber, 13 years; Jean Muirhead, 12 years; Lorraine Beairsto, 15 years; Bill Anderson, 24 years; and Thordis Taylor, 27 years.

Quebec students arrive

Quebec en Alberta to Quebec is the theme of Central High's exchange program with 25 students from St. Laurent, Quebec, who arrived Sunday afternoon to be twinned with their English-speaking counterparts.

Organized by Greg Martin and Lorna Offord, this is the second consecutive year Central High has been involved in the program offered by Open House Canada. Last year, 40 students from the high school entertained visitors and returned to their homes in Ontario.

The Quebec students, who are spending one week in the area, are billeted in the homes of students from Sedgewick, Killam, Alliance, Lougheed and Hardisty. They return to St. Laurent Monday, May 14 and are joined by the Central High students the following Monday, May 21. Chaperones will be Mrs. Offord and Volker Meier.

While in Alberta, the 23 girls and two boys from Quebec, along with their chaperones, will be taken on tours of a Hutterite Colony, the oil refinery and gas plant at Hardisty, a farm, museum and auction mart, the power plant in Forestburg, and the Alberta Game Farm. The students will be entertained also with picnics, swimming, bowling and a dance.

Finances revealed

The first-published financial statements of the provincial political parties showed that donors — especially businesses — had picked their winner well before Albertans voted March 14.

The parties collected money at almost exactly the same lopsided rates last year as they counted support in the ballot boxes later.

Conservatives raised more cash in 1978 than Social Creditors, New Democrats and Liberals combined. The Tory surplus alone exceeded the total which the second-place Socreds generated.

The provincial parties reported their finances, including the names of contributors giving $250 or more apiece, for the first time under a new law which the legislature passed in 1977.

Premier Peter Lougheed's backers ran his party $303,595 in the black last year by raising $728,499, according to accounts published by Chief Electoral Officer K.A. Wark in Edmonton.

Socred Leader Bob Clark attracted enough support to see his organization record a $19,706 surplus on receipts of $274,341.

Only Grant Notley's New Democrats, who rejected corporate donors on principle but spent more than the Socreds, ran in the red, with a deficit of $24,542 for the year's activities after receipts of $239,724.

Liberal Nick Taylor, the only Alberta party leader without a seat in the house, ran a low-budget show. His group scored a $2,800 surplus on receipts of $41,861.

The statements cover only 1978. Accounts of the election campaign are due later. Last year's figures also underestimate revenue because local constituency accounts still have to be completed.

Monday, May 7 marked the official opening of the Sedgewick town office. Holding and cutting the commemorative ribbon at the ceremony were (left to right) Wendelin Badry; Frank Calvin, representing the Department of Municipal Affairs; Mayor Ernest Koehli; and Robbie Robertson

Phototorial

THE SCENE - The access road into Sedgewick, midway between the railroad trakes and Highway 13, on an early Tuesday afternoon. Picture if you will these two trucks, one parked properly well off the road and marked with flares. The other is stopped on the wrong side and doing a good job of blocking vision while the drivers have a "gab fest."

After sitting there for more than five minutes with several cars cutting in and out to pass, and after having taken the above photo, the driver of the van finally turned on his flashing warning light.

THE PROBLEM - I, for one, found it difficult to see around the large van, and with cars turning off the highway travelling north it allowed only a few seconds to get around these vehicles. There were several cars whizzing by in both directions -- one felt a serious accident was just waiting to take place.

THE SOLUTION - Using commonsense. The illegally-stopped vehicle on the left should have parked in front or behind the other one. With a driveway about 50 feet away, the driver of the offending vehicle could have easily found a safer place to stop.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I attended the political forum in Oyen April 24 and found it very well run and very interesting. One thing came out at that meeting that I think every farmer and rancher in the constituency would want to know.

Mr. Malone strongly advocates that our dollar should be almost on par with the U.S. dollar. He did not seem concerned that it would reduce the price of cattle by 10 to 13 cents per pound and wheat by at least 50 cents per bushel. Crowfoot is an agricultural constituency and prices for grain and cattle are important to producers and businesses alike.

Let us elect Jack Horner, a man who is engaged in agriculture and is an experienced and able parliamentarian, rather than a professional politician who is so ignorant of economics and the farm situation, that he advocates to farm audiences a strong Canadian dollar in relation to the U.S. dollar.

[I Write As I Please]

NEXT SUNDAY WILL BE MOTHER'S DAY. The day that has been set aside to honour the mothers of the land; a day when the mothers are lauded as the backbone of the home and the nation. This tribute has been paid down through the centuries, even when a special day was not set aside for it. Why? Well, because after all, mothers today are not much different than they were centuries ago; not much different than, say, Jewish mothers in the first decade of the first century. Neither are babies much different than they were in olden days, nor adolescent boys and girls for that matter. Down through the ages, a child has depended on his mother for his birth and survival, both physical and spiritual, and the relationships of a child with his parents, especially his mother, has always dictated the development of his personality long before there is contact with the external environment. To the young preschool child, it may well be said that the parents are the Foundation and that this Foundation is expressed by the infant and young children in the teachings of the home.

WHEN THE PARENTS (MOTHERS) are RIGHT in their beliefs, they teach partly by their words, but chiefly through what may be called the LANGUAGE OF RELATIONSHIPS. A child knows that the WORLD is dependable because his parents are dependable, and the parents are dependable because they depend on the RIGHT. A child needs acceptance, love, discipline, freedom to grow and a sense of outreach toward mystery. When he is accepted for what he is, it means the child is part of the fellowship of the family, with recognition of his differences and peculiarities. The love that is offered him by his parents, especially mothers, is a complete self-giving, a willingness to love when the child is most unlovely, for it is when the child is most demonic that he needs love most desperately. The child must be accepted for what he is, because both acceptance and love operate within the framework of discipline, and only through law and order can consistency and simplicity be provided.

A PLAYPEN is not primarily to keep the child in, but to keep the world out, for after all, a fence is a law surrounding freedom. As a child, he continues to need acceptance, love and discipline, and these should continue to expand in order to stimulate growth. Always beyond him, and his parents, is a continual outreach toward mystery so that the possibilities of development are unlimited.

THESE RELATIONSHIPS can exist in every home for every member, no matter how young or old he may be. Who am I? Who are you? How did we get here? Where are we going? These are the basic questions we are all asking, and the child learns the answers to these questions by the language of relationships in the home. The child is what he is treated as in the home. Is he wanted, loved, treated with the dignity due a child? Is he part of the fellowship of the home?

MOTHERS TODAY have no more difficult task than parents in the first century. It is the task that it has always been, but perhaps mothers today see it more clearly. There is a deep responsibility in motherhood, and that responsibility is the child's protection against all the pressures of the secular world. It gives him the rhythm of rejection and acceptance, of judgement and mercy, of sin and forgiving love, that will follow him all the days of his life. Because he knows the security of the love of parents, he will grow in the assurance that all is well.

ALL OF THIS MAY BE tiring and frustrating at times, but listen to these words from the pen of Amy Elizabeth Taylor: "Hear my whispered prayer to Thee, Oh Father may I patient be, Keep my voice soft, gentle, low; Help me serene and calm to grow. The little hands that clutch and cling, The wilted flowers they often bring, The restless feet that track in dirt, The many little cuts and hurt, That fill my day. So often I am tired and hurried, When I have need to be unflurried. Help me to know which things are real; Their true importance help me feel. And may I kiss the clinging hands, With eagerness receive their flowers; Help me to guide aright their feet, Each hurt to bind, and then repeat, Soft, soothing words.

What Others Say

How Canada got its name

Many explanations have been advanced as to how our nation came to be named Canada. One theory gives credit to an early exploring Spaniard who came here in search of gold. Being unsuccessful he is said to have remarked, —Aca nada,' which is supposed to mean 'nothing here'.

Then the Portugese were wont to traverse the Atlantic and engage in fishing in the vicinity of Newfoundland and the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and 'Canada' is said to be one of their words for 'the narrows' or 'channel'.

Professor Stephen Leacock was inclined to give the Indians credit for the name. He said that 'Canada' was the Huron-Iroquois term for 'a collection of lodges'. Furthermore, he quoted from the narrative of Cartier's second voyage here, which has at the end of a vocabulary of language of the natives said in exact terms, 'Ils appellent use ville — Canada'.

So high an authority as the late writer and publisher Dr. S. E. Dawson concurred. He said a lot of labor and guess work could be saved by permitting the Huron-Iroquois to know their own language.

Thus it seems we must thank the aborigines for the noble name.

Farmers hear NFU views

An official of the National Farmers Union (NFU) told a group of farmers meeting at Strome last week that he finds it difficult to shed tears when railway companies complain they are not getting enough money for hauling grain.

National Farmers Union Vice-President Bill Dascavich said the CNR is a crown corporation whose function should be to overcome regional disparities arising out of Canada's geography. It is heavily subsidized, but it should be borne in mind that other transportation modes, such as airports, highways and the St. Lawrence Seaway, are also subsidized or paid out of the public purse.

Dascavich reminded the group that CP Investments, who operates CP Rail, entered into the Crowsnest Pass Agreement in the full knowledge that the agreed rate for hauling grain may not always be compensatory, but that the extra ordinary benefits that they received in the form of cash and land grants, in return for tying eastern and western Canada together with a rail link, would more than offset any shortfall in income from hauling grain.

"These extra-ordinary benefits provided the base for a multi-national empire that is involved in mining; petroleum) communications; forestry; pipelines; air, sea and truck transport; electric power; pulp and paper; steel; real estate; finance; tourism; and more. CP Investments are doing quite well and growing, and there is no valid reason to absolve them from their statutory obligations for hauling grain," according to Dascavich.

THE TEST

Paul Simon starts off one of his songs with the words: "When I remember all the crud I learned in high school, it's a wonder I can think at all." And immediately is raised the question of just what is an education supposed to do for us. Why have we invested anywhere from 12 to 16 years of our lives getting an education – learning the three Rs and expanding upon them? What do we expect this education to do for us, or what did we expect to do with it when we got it?

The first expectation of many of us was that we would be able to get a job. The higher the level of education, the better the job we hoped to get.

Then some of us found that education does not necessarily lead to the best jobs – and certainly not always to a higher income. And education is undoubtedly something more than either jobs or income.

The purpose of education is to enable us to organize material, to sort out and analyze, to compare and contrast, to discriminate between the worthy and the worthless, to appreciate and enjoy, to plan and devise, to assess our alternatives and to affirm an honest value system.

The vital contribution of education is in the broadening of our vision and in developing our ability to make intelligent choices and decisions. And this is not simply job training, but training for life – because all of life is one unending stream of choices. Every day is full of decisions, and the quality of life we live depends on the choices we make.

Life is one decision after another, from the moment we decide whether or not to get out of bed in the morning, and education is sought for the purpose of helping us make those decisions wisely.

Now what has scripture to say about this aspect of our living? The author of the First Letter of John is very concerned to help us sort out the powers that are active in each decision so that we will follow only those spirits, those urgings, that come from God. And the author knows that it is not easy to discern the spirits; they must be put to the test. John says: "By this you know the spirit of God: every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is of God, and every spirit that does not confess Jesus is not of God."

John goes on to explain: "God sent his only Son into the world." God sent part of himself – to walk this earth as a human being, just like you and me.

Let's examine that statement. When the author of First John wrote, he and the church were confronted with a form of thinking called Gnosticism (Nous-ti-sis-um). That is an understanding of life that says the material world is far inferior to the spiritual world. Matter, the earth, the soil, the water, the animals, blood – all are evil. The body is evil. And because the physical world is evil, God would never have taken upon himself flesh.

Salvation comes from escaping the material and abiding only in the spiritual. But believing that Jesus Christ came in the flesh changes all that. It means that whatever spirit, power, or person declares that this world in which we live is dirty, filthy, evil, to be avoided, that we as humans are trapped souls seeking escape, then that spirit is not of God. Christ became flesh and blood and took upon himself the physical material world, reaffirming that this earth and this humanity are good and are to be loved as he loved them, to be caressed, to be hugged, to be held, to be enjoyed, to be explored. Any spirit that declares to the contrary is not of God.

If we believe that Jesus Christ came in the flesh, then what we do in the flesh also matters a great deal. Wheather it is the playboy philosophy that says what you do to another person is all right as long as you get you kicks, the political philosophy that says that what you do is all right as long as you win, the economic philosophy that says what you do is all right as long as you make a profit - all these spirits are revealed as spirits that are contrary to the spirit of God by the test of First John.

God became a part of this world where we pass our days and nights. He loves it, and his love and involvement with it means He is not going to lightly disregard what we do here. That scroes in on our choices. We must learn to decide between the spirit of truth and the spirit of error.

The importance of education is that it helps us to discriminate. It enables us to find sufficient information and to weight that information skillfully so that we can make wise productive choices throughout life. It enables us to see the different sides of an issue, to see the spirits and powers behind that issue, and then to decide what is right. John claims the criterion for our choices, the guide for our actions is that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh.

Every person must have certain beliefs and every Christian must believe this, and make his or her choices by it: "In this the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent his only Son into the world, so that we might live through Him."

Kids enjoy trainride

The Sedgewick Kindergarten has been a little busy. At Easter time, they had a visitor, Constable Dale Djos from Houston, B.C.

Constable Djos talked to the children about the RCMP duties. They also found out they can be very helpful. With all the information Constable Djos told us, there were a lot of questions for him to answer.

One of our mothers, Mary Ann Lewis, came in and the kids made Easter eggs.

Then, on April 17, the kindergarten, along with the Hardisty Kindergarten, motored to Camrose. Here we took a train ride to New Sarepta. On our way back to Camrose, we had a little bit of excitement. "We had a blowout." While changing the tire, we had a chance to meet a lady RCMP officer, Al Young. I think our tire took a little longer to change than usual. All-in-all, the kids were pretty hungry by the time we got to Smitty's Pancake House. Here the kids got all the pancakes they could eat.

Our last stop before leaving for home was the Camrose Hatchery. When this tour was over, we were off for home. I bet there were a few kids and mothers who hit the sack early that night.

On May 24, our kindergarten is back to going swimming. This will take them to the end of the year.

The kindergarten mothers and teacher would like to thank Duncan Cameron for his carpentry work. Mr. Cameron built us a carpenter's bench and a shelf cabinet.

Pushide News

It seems as though our depressing spring has been quite advantageous to the Killam pool. People from our community, our county, and even beyond have made a lot of effort to get themselves and their families into our swimming program. The results have been incredible.

Our registration shows we are teaching 285 people some aspect of swimming instruction twice a week. This means our bathing load for lessons alone is approximately 570 people per week.

The enrollment for the majority of classes has been so great that our water safety leaders are acquiring good teaching experience while assisting the instructors, Janet Borth and myself, June Gair. Our water safety leaders are Darren Grast, Allison Gaume, Wendy Romanuk, Glenn Black, Brenda Graham and Lee Black. It would not have been possible to put this number of people in our swimming program without them or without the help of John and Pat Brady, Dianne Bouchard and Susan Sparrow. Their enthusiasm and knowledge of swimming is really something.

Morning Swim (Mon., Wed. and Fri. 7 to 8 a.m.) has not been as well attended as we had hoped it would be. I question why several people from Lougheed can get up three times a week and drive 17 miles to Killam to swim and we are unable to entice our own population when they only have to walk or drive a few blocks. Our volunteer guards, Jim Black, Robert and Janet Borth, get rather lonesome there some mornings. Come on Killamites, it's time to roll out of bed a little earlier and get fit. Pre-registration is essential.

Swimnastics has spoken for itself. Besides thanking Janet Borth for organizing the exercise class, we would like to thank the 60 ladies who participate. If we did allow spectators to watch, I am sure we could organize a men's class as well. The classes are held Monday afternoons from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. and Wednesday evenings from 8 to 9 p.m. If the response continues, we will hold our swimnastics classes on throughout the summer. (Reminder: we are still in need of bleach bottles, vinegar jugs, etc.)

Another set of swimming lessons will be held immediately following this session. The starting date is actually Tuesday, May 22 as Monday, May 21 is Victoria Day. Red Cross lessons, including Pre-beginner, Beginner, Survival, Junior, Intermediate and Senior, will not be offered, however, until the first two weeks in July and the first two weeks in August. Registration for these sessions will commence in mid-June.

The classes that will be offered now are: Parents and Tots; Pre-School program four or five years of age; Ladies (Learn to swim - all levels) afternoon; Ladies (Learn to swim - all levels) evening; Adult (Learn to swim - all levels) evening; Swimnastics afternoon; Swimnastics evening; Bronze Medallion (pending registration) Register now by phoning 385-3617.

We would like to get aquatic games rolling for both adults and kids. In order to have the games, we must have some teams organized. If you can get a team up of at least seven people, please contact someone at the pool and we will see if we can get someone to challenge your team.

Janet Berth and myself are attending an aquatic workshop in Calgary from Monday, May 7 to Sunday, May 13. While we are away, the pool schedule will remain the same. The staff, including all people previously mentioned, will ensure the pool is run safely and smoothly.

Denny Day, physical education teacher at the Killam Public School, is another one of our vital people at the pool. Not too many people realize it, but after Denny works all week with children of all ages at school she bounces down to the pool on Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons and guards voluntarily for public swimming. Besides all this, Denny is the chairlady of the pool committee.

Ken La Fantasie, senior guard, also spends a lot of time at the pool. Ken assists in guarding with the school programs, as well as guarding for public swimming and competitive swimming. -June Gair

Every little helps!

Conserving electricity now can make a big difference to our electrical future.

Conservation doesn't mean lowering your lifestyle. It means good energy management. Use what you need – but need what you use!

Why? For one thing, we have to use Alberta's non-renewable resources to generate your electricity. For another, the costs of building and operating additional facilities are escalating.

The more you do to manage energy at home, the more you can save on your electricity bill now. And the more you'll help keep future cost increases to a manageable level.

Our Energy Management Action Kit is full of ideas. Send for it and make the switch to energy management now.

Every little helps! Many ways to conserve electricity are little ways. You'll find just a few of them listed here.

Four ways you can help.

1. Turning off lights when not needed does save electricity.
2. Small appliances generally use less electricity than larger ones. For small amounts of cooking, use your frypan as a "mini-oven".
3. Wash only full loads in your dishwasher.
4. Plan your energy day to avoid using major appliances during the 5-7 p.m. "peak load" period.

Conserve. It's worth the energy!

NEW LAWNS

The increase building of new homes within the county, as well as the towns and villages, has resulted in many people preparing for lawns. A good lawn is relatively easy to establish and maintain provided certain rules are followed.

The first place to start is by preparing a good seed bed. This begins before the house is completed and ends with the seeding of the lawn seed. Several tips to keep in mind of the preparation of the seed bed are:

1. When back-filling and site levelling, don't bury wood trimmings, concrete, or siding trim ends.
2. Provide proper drainage by proper grading. The sub-grade should establish the lines for the final grade. A gentle slope away from the building is preferred. Terraces may be necessary but should be used sparingly.
3. Spread 4" to 6" of good topsoil over the entire area. Excessive amounts of clay or manure are not advisable.
4. Fertilizer may be applied at a rate of two to three pounds of nitrogen and phosphorus per 1,000 square feet. (ie: 50 lbs. of 23-23-0 will do 15,000 sq. ft). Rot vate well.
5. Roll and rake alternatively until an even, firm and granular seed bed is obtained. Once the seed bed is prepared, the lawn may be seeded. Here, as well, several tips may be given:

- Seeding should be done in spring, the month of May is the best time.
- Choice of seed is important. Most commonly-used varieties are Kentucky Blue Grass, Creeping Red Fescue, and Crested Wheat Grass.
- Seeding rate is somewhat determined by the area seeded. Usually two to three lbs./1,000 sq. ft. of 75 per cent Creeping Red Fescue and 25 per cent Kentucky Blue Grass are used on urban lots while Crested Wheat Grass replaces Kentucky Blue Grass in drier, rural plantings.
- The seed should be sown uniformly over the entire area. For even coverage, sow half of the seed on the entire area in one direction, the rest of the seed at right angles to the first seeding. Then rake and roll lightly. Unless slopes are quite steep mulching will not be necessary.
- Water frequently, but lightly until the seedlings become established. Avoid excessive watering, which could wash the seeds into puddles.
- When grass is two inches high, cut back to 1½, mow carefully to avoid gouging.

Once the lawn is established yearly maintenance should be given, including fertilization, weed control, aerating when necessary and watering. When watering an established lawn, occasional thorough heavy soaking is much better than frequent light sprinklings.

Further information, including free booklets are available from our Sedgewick and Forestburg offices.

Viking team challenged

The Daysland Young People invited the Viking Young People for a volleyball tournament at the Daysland School April 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Daysland waxed Viking in the first game, but they returned the favour in the second game. We had a tie-breaker game with Viking winning over Daysland.

Afterwards, we went to the new Dayaland Alliance Church, where we played several games and then ate. Jerry Newton gave devotion and thanked the Viking group for coming. A good time was enjoyed by all. If you are 14 years or over, come and join us for some good Christian fellowship and fun.

WHAT IS A MOTHER
(In memory of my mother, who was taken from us in 1963.)
by
Blanche McGowan

A mother is someone who knows our needs.
And hopes all our dreams come true.
Someone who guides, inspires and leads
With a genuine interest in all we do.

The heart of a mother is full of compassion,
Is generous, kind and forgiving.
Tender and loving in this great nation.
Her smile adds gladness to living.

A mother is someone with infinite patience,
Who soothes all our troubles away.
Simply sharing and caring
She's there when needed, day after day.

A mother can make a "home" out of a house,
By being thoughtful and sweet.
Her warm understanding gives strength to her spouse.
Making life more rich and complete.

A mother's love we will cherish forever.
Her gentleness, insight and grace.
Her love is life's greatest treasure
Yes - No on can take Mother's place.

A mother is full of wisdom and truth,
With limitless stamina and faith.
Show her you love her, appreciate her too.
Today, for tomorrow may be too late.

SPRING! At least that is what I thought I was coming back to, but I haven't seen too many warm days since arriving home from New Zealand and Australia. I greatly enjoyed my six months down under. POTS AND PANS

New materials make today's cookware perform better, last longer, and clean more easily than ever before. Because of the variety of utensils available, cookware should be chosen with end-use in mind.

Selection of Cookware

Pots and pans are made from a variety of different materials and in a number of different weights. There is no one ideal weight or material that suits all needs and does all jobs equally well. The most important feature of a cooking utensil is its ability to distribute heat evenly. Uneven heat causes hot spots.

Materials noted from the most to the least efficient are: copper, aluminum, cast iron, stainless steel, and glass. Pots and pans are available in a variety of weights. A thicker pot will be more durable and conduct heat more evenly than a thin pot. Often, though, heavier pots are more costly.

The construction of a pot will affect how it performs. Check for these characteristics:
- flat, level bottoms with a dull finish to conduct heat effectively;
- well-balanced to avoid tipping and spills;
- durable to withstand everyday use, therefore, medium to heavy guage utensils are recommended;
- easy to clean, with no crevices, seams or rough edges to collect food or bacteria;
- close fitting lids with no sharp edges;
- and handles firmly attached, and of a heat resistant material. The screw used to attach the handle to the pot should be recessed to eliminate burns from a hot screw.

There are also several finishes available such as non-stick coatings (Reflon, Teflon II, Silversione, SR-3, Faberion, Biclad, and T-fal) porcinin enamel, and acrylic enamel.

For more information on care, finishes and safety of cookware, write Box 270, Sedgewick, or phone 384-3737 and ask for the factsheet "Pots & Pans."

LINES AND WRINKLES

By MARY KAI LUA

Cosmetic science has extracted a skin beauty substance from the bean of a tropical plant that works wonders by making rough, lined face and dry chapped hands look years younger fast. Use it tonight and you should see vast improvement in the morning. Many small lines around the eyes and mouth may already have disappeared and wrinkles you have given up as hopeless should start to vanish in a few days. But that isn't all. That discouraging weather-darkened old-age skin tone fades away. But don't take my word for it . . . use this exciting substance yourself for 7 days . . . satisfaction is guaranteed or return for refund. It's the tropical nut extract that works wonders for wrinkles and lines. It's called Cocoana Dry Skin Creme.

Myrna and Wayne Roberts, Davey and Kelley have returned to their house at Watson Lake, Yukon. The Schweitzer household misses the hustle and bustle of those little feet.

The Birthday Club celebrated Blanche Cramton's birthday at Ray McMahon's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cramton were in Edmonton Sunday to visit Dave's father, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital.

The staff of Town and Country Drug Mart were in Edmonton to see the North-West Drug Show at the Chateau.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Woivoda of Irregon, Oregon were recent visitors at the Bill Davison home. They also took in the Mattison-Marko wedding in Viking.

Congratulations to Mr. Norman Milke and Miss Pat Boerse, who were married on April 21 in St. Albert. Norman Milke was a former resident of both Killam and Sedgewick. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Folgate, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Arntzen, Mrs. Flo McCabe and Mrs. Amy Robinson (grandmother of the groom) were in attendance at the wedding.

Silver Link gathers

The regular meeting of the Silver Link Rebekah Lodge was held in the Killam Legion Hall with a good attendance and the sisters looking forward to their visit with the distinguished visitor, Assembly Warden Sis. Grace Tellepaugh.

A bake sale was held in February to raise money for the telegrams for the handicapped.

Plans were discussed for Silver Links' 65th anniversary, to be held June 5 in the Killam Legion Hall.

The celebration will start with a banquet, to which the Killam Oddfellows and their wives are invited.

A program is to follow, planned by Sisters Folgate and Lawson.

Under good of the order, Sis. Tellepaugh brought greetings from the assembly and spoke on Oddfellowship. Noble Grant Sis. Backen welcomed Sis. Tellepaugh's travelling companion.

After Penny March, lodge closed in harmony and a delicious lunch was served by Sisters Manning and Folgate, and a visit enjoyed with our guests.

Newlyweds honoured

Spring may be late in coming this year, but the atmosphere was certainly spring-like on Sunday, May 6 at the Killam Legion. Approximately 230 friends and relatives of Dorothy and Bill Freadrich gathered to honour the newlyweds at an open house. An enjoyable musical program was presented by Wilbur Brandt from Wetaskiwin, Dr. Regehr, the Harry Anderson family and the Killam Mixed Quartette.

The guest book was signed by friends and family from Regina and Mydale, Saskatchewan, Wetaskiwin, Edmonton, Three Hills, Winfield, Nova Scotia, Camrose, Gwynne, Calgary, Barrhead and most parts in the Flagstaff County. The families of Dorothy and Bill would like to thank all who came to make the day so special for the new couple.

A very warm thanks goes to the ladies of the Lutheran Church of Sedgewick for their very capable serving, and to the Killam Baptist ladies for their food contributions. Dorothy and Bill will be making their home in Sedgewick.

DIAL BEFORE YOU DIG. THERE'S A LOT AT STAKE.

If you operate heavy machinery, it's more important than ever that you call your gas company before you break ground.

Because if you don't, you run the very real risk of damaging a gas main and being responsible for an accident which could cost thousands of dollars in damage and downtime. Or cut off the gas supply to an entire community.

Or cause dangerous explosions and loss of life — possibly your own.

So make sure that you call your gas company's Pipe Locator Team at least 48 hours before you dig. They'll stake out the alignment of all gas lines in the locality so you can dig in safety.

The service is free. Please use it. There's a lot at stake.

Hobby Club presents show

On Wednesday, April 18, the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff and the Battle River Art Club were co-hosts of an art show and sale at the Community Hall in Sedgewick.

The exhibition featured work of the Battle River Art Club and other local artists. Paintings, pottery and photography were on view.

The exhibits were enhanced by attractively arranged potted plants and dried floral art. The show was well attended and well received, and all those involved in presenting the art show appreciated the response shown.

On Wednesday, May 16 at 8 p.m. in the Sedgewick Central High School gymnasium, the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff will sponsor a photography spectacular, which will be presented by the Camrose Camera Club. This show is comprised of the best work of the Camrose club, and presented in entertaining form.

Workshop successful

"Most enlightening," "a great day," and "wish I'd known sooner," were among the comments expressed after the workshop on communicating with the aged, reports Sophie Abel, president of the Killam Hospital Ladies Auxiliary.

Forty-six people registered for the one-day seminar, held Monday, April 30 in the Killam Catholic Church Hall, in which resource person Mary Davis led the group in discussions about the myths of aging, physical changes in senior citizens and how they affect behaviours, volunteers and communication, and some do's and don'ts when visiting older people.

Mrs. Davis, a "stimulating speaker," says Mrs. Abel, presented the group with facts on the subject, as well as general ideas for thought. A retired nurse, Mrs. Davis is recognized nationally for her knowledge on the field of aging, is a retired social worker with the Department of Veterans' Affairs, past-president of the Society for the Retired & Semi-Retired, past member of the Alberta Senior Citizens' Advisory Council, and member of the provincial steering committee on the Institute of Geriatology of Alberta.

To add variety to the day, David Handley, physiotherapist at the Killam Hospital, led the group in a 10-minute fitness break. Later, Jeanne White, accompanied by Ruth Potter, entertained with vocal selections, including The Lord's Prayer.

The Ladies Auxiliary, sponsors of the workshop, ended the day with thanks to the church for the hall, to the Catholic Ladies' Women's League for serving lunch, and to its own committee responsible for organizing the affair.

15 Years Co-operative Service

Shown is Bill Gair, meat manager of the Killam-Strome Co-operative receiving a 15 year gold service ring for completion of 15 years continuous service with the Co-op. Eric Christenson, president is seen presenting the ring. Others in the picture are: Directors, Martin Kroetsch, Bill Hawkins, Wilf Hochhausen, Dick Kinzer, Bob Little and Doug Forster.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

KILLAM 4-H BEEF CLUB

The Killam 4-H Beef Club had its annual tour day and judging competition. The club went to all the members' places and saw a lot of good calves. The tour ended at the Prichard farm, where the club had their judging competition and a short meeting, which was followed by a good lunch. The winners of the judging competition for the juniors were Freddy Wilson and Danny Prichard. The winners for the seniors were Lee Wilson and Fran Wilson.

MERNA 4-H BEEF CLUB

Another meeting of the Merna 4-H Beef Club was held Thursday, May 3 at the home of Clarence Buchholz, beginning at 8 p.m.

The meeting began with the 4-H pledge. The first subject on the floor was that we are going to send $100 to the Killam Hospital for therapy equipment.

Then there was a discussion on the highway clean-up, which was held Saturday, May 5. We decided to meet at Eric Christensen's at 9 a.m.

Then we talked about Achievment Day, which will be held June 4.

Eric then asked questions about different things.

-Judy Gamroth

BATTLE RIVER BEEF CLUB

Vice-president of the Battle River Beef Club Bruce Barnes brought the May meeting to order at the Battle Bend School May 1 at 8 p.m. All the members attended but few parents due to spring work.

They discussed highway clean-up and decided they would meet at Lougheed at 9 a.m. with the horse club. Halfway in between, they will stop and have a weiner roast.

They also decided that they would have their judging competition on June 1 at 6:30 p.m. at Harold Spady's. They will have a guest speaker talk on judging and afterwards will discuss stall decoration.

They decided also that they would wear the same costumes for Achievement Day on June 4 at the Killam Arena as they did last year.

Bruce Barnes was nominated to go to club week in the summer, August 5 to 11 at Camrose Lutheran College.

For communications, they had charades of TV stars. All members participated and had a lot of fun.

After a great lunch, everyone went home looking forward to Achievement Day. The club would like to see you at their show and sale on June 4 at the Killam Arena.-Lorraine Barnes

Late Snowstorm

by Helen Anderson

Winter, how could you do this to us?
. . . All programmed as we were for spring . . .
Green grass and everything.

We witnessed your supposed retreat.
Why March again in sneak repeat?

But have your fun, your final fling of snow.
Then go!

Merna 4-H Club meet

On Sunday, April 29, the Merna 4-H members met at the Merna Church for a trail ride. There were 20 horses and riders and one chariot team. After about a six-mile ride, everyone ended up at the Whitbeck home for a weiner roast.

On Monday night, the members met at Terry Leslie's for a short demonstration. We were shown how to get our horses all clipped for the summer. Even though it was a little windy outside, it was still quite interesting. After, everyone enjoyed coffee and cake.

On Saturday, May 5, the Merna 4-H club was to meet at Castor to clean 13 miles of ditch. 4-H clubs all over Alberta were out cleaning up the ditches along the highway. The government pays $15 a mile and this money goes to the club to use as it pleases. -Deb Elder

Goose Creek ladies Club

On Wednesday, May 2, the Goose Creek Ladies Club met at the home of Mrs. H. Simpson with nine members and two visitors present.
A thank you and receipt were received from the Killam Hospital Complex for our club's donation to the physiotherapy department. Thank yous were also received from Mr. and Mrs. J. Adamson for flowers and the card, from Mrs. Bessie Pottage, from Mr. and Mrs. B. Weber and from Mrs. M. Bell for Easter cards.
For roll call, contributions were made for the newly-started Lougheed playschool. In place of the usual entertainment, an exchange of plants, bulbs and seeds was made. The hostess served a delicious lunch.

Can I take you
On the campaign trail,
East to West,
And back again.

It seems to me,
Like a see-saw game,
With no one reaping,
One little gain.

Joe's puffy cheeks,
Like the gophers we know,
Could spare a little,
For Pierre Trudeau.

Broadbent, oh such a funny name,
Likes Medicare,
To make his gain.

He's trailing third,
In his life-less aim,
He knows full well,
The Bruce Spider game.

Then Jackie Horner,
Would like that corner,
Where Crowfoot reigned supreme.

No, No, Mr. Jack,
You cannot have that,
Arnold wants that
To hang up his hat.

The luggage gave Joe,
Oh, such a bad name,
Could it have been
A Trudeau game?

Leave us our guns,
Give us the rope,
So Canucks in the future,
Can live without hope.

And wisen we come,
To election day,
Be sure and vote,
And vote the right way.

Hardisty and District News

April 29 callers at the home of Isabel Nelson were Laverne Whitehead and Jeff, Cora Paulson and daughter Myrna, also Ruth Moor. Moors and Paulsons were close neighbours at one time, yet Ruth and Myrna hadn't seen each other for some years so a good visit was had by all.

Max Low of Cromer, Manitoba has been seen around town lately, too, as well as his wife Alice.

Another old landmark is being renovated. The Clyde Robbins building is being lowered to a one-storey building by Kiwi Construction.

Congratulations to Carol Granger, who won the Elks blackout bingo, and to Shirley MacKenzie, who won the bonanza.

Sympathy to Lawrence and Betty MacIntyre, and to Donald and family on the passing of their mother in the Stony Plain Hospital.

Mrs. MacIntyre had been a resident of the Lodge in Stony Plain for some years and on April 26 had her 94th birthday. The family members called to wish her a happy birthday and she received so many flowers that she enjoyed her birthday very much.

On May 2, she was taken to the hospital where she passed away May 4. She will be buried in Provost May 8.

The Strong ladies visited Flagstaff Lodge last Friday night. Although we are not strong in numbers, Erma Matthews played the piano with the singers having a sing-song and then lunch was served, which seemed to be enjoyed immensely by the Lodge residents.

We were very happy to have Mrs. Berg look after the tea and coffee. Also glad to have Muriel Leonard and Patricia Korth attending, also Mrs. Hearn and Marion Elm. Bobby Goodrich went along too and visited his grandfather, Mr. Hayes.

A number of friends called on Lawrence and Betty MacIntyre at the manor to offer their sympathy and to wish Lawrence a happier birthday next year.

We are very glad to hear that Peter Gray is improving so very well and he expects to come home next weekend.

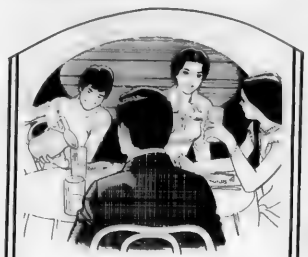
We all wish Rev. Jackson a happy birthday on May 10 with a potluck supper and all the trimmings.

It was nice to see Rita Hill and some of her daughters from Viking at the shower for Janice.

Freda Blackwell and your reporter are leaving for Halifax this week so if anyone else cares to send in the news, they are most welcome to do so as there will be no news from me for about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carson of Rocky Mountain House visited with Bill's niece Laverne Whitehead and family recently.

Other expected visitors over the weekend with the Whitehead families were Jessie Whitehead and Marjorie Cottier.



Cheers To Our Dear Mothers

Local girl's shower held

A nice shower was held in Rosyth Hall on Sunday, May 6 to honour Janice Busk and Gary Gorst on their coming marriage.

The program started with Harriet Flaade as MC. The first item was a song "Funny Face" by Darlene Schmidt. Donna Taylor gave a recitation. Patricia and Julie sang "You Are My Sunshine." Trey Schmidt, just a little fellow, was rather shy in giving his recitation. Mrs. Jackson gave an interesting reading on "Shoes."

Nancy Bullock played a piano solo while Laura Blue gave a recipe for a happy marriage. Then the program ended with a humourous reading by Bea Hahn.

Those then seated at the table to help Janice open the gifts were Anita Miller, Gary's sister, Janice, Marilyn Horn and Wendy Hayes. Anita fashioned a hat with all the bows and made quite a fancy headpiece.

The gifts were lovely and plentiful and not many duplicates. Janice thanked one and all for the gifts and for coming.

Gail Kobitzsch played the piano while the crowd sang Happy Birthday to Peggy Burpee.

A lovely lunch was served, the hall cleaned up, dishes done and home time again.

Chamber continues plans

The regular meeting of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce was held April 25 at the Parkland Manor.

The Welcome Committee stated their newcomers booklet should be completed and ready to go to press after the next meeting.

The Membership Committee has sold three more membership, bringing the total to 32. Other committees had no new reports to make at this meeting.

Louis de Kock, representing the Farmers' Market, informed us the Farmers' Market will resume on Saturday, May 26 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the arena. He also stated that there will be a Fly-In Breakfast and Air Show at the Hardisty Airport on Sunday, May 27. Louis also spoke on the desirability of building a terminal building at the airport, and the chamber will write letters to the M.D. of Provost and the County of Flagstaff in regards to this matter.

President Jim Thomson gave a report on the federal political forum to be held in Hardisty Tuesday, May 8 with all candidates in attendance. Happily, Mr. Jackson has accepted the position of moderator, and we all recall what a super job he did at our forum before the last municipal election.

The chamber will serve coffee and doughnuts after the forum and Lucy Syder of the Hardisty Inn kindly offered to supply the coffee.

Jim also reported he is refinishing the old bulletin board with a new cork-board face and it hopefully will be in place soon. A welcome to Hardisty sign was also discussed. Jim then expressed the appreciation of the chamber for the grant received from the town to be used for advertising and promoting Hardisty.

In regular business, a motion was passed that the chamber, not being a charitable organization, cannot make a donation to the Toddlers Inn as requested.

In regards to the Gestetner, it was decided the clubs using it on a regular basis be asked to make a deposit to Jeanette Rempel, from which charges could be deducted rather than paying each time. Jeanette also will be asked if the Gestetner could be moved to the garage.

To show our appreciation to the residents of Parkland Manor for the use of their lovely lounge for our meetings, the residents will receive a load of black dirt for their flower pots and beds as they have requested.

Correspondence was received from the Lions Club in regards to their playground and a reply will be sent. In regards to Round-Up Days, letters are to be sent to the clubs in the area requesting their participation in the downtown area during the Sidewalk Sale on Friday, July 6.

The Agricultural Society has already received a letter from an out-of-town group stating their desire to have a booth at the Sidewalk Sale and also to place a float in the parade. A motion was passed that Round-Up posters be paid for jointly by the chamber and the Battle River Light Horse Club. Phyllis Alderdice and Jim Bronsen for the Light Horse Club and Rose Marie Thompson and Darcy Broughton for the chamber are to be in charge of compiling the information for these posters.

Shari Irving volunteered to organize a meeting with Alberta Labour Standards people for general information of employers and employees. More of this at a later date.

The next meeting is May 23, same time, same place.

Open house for tots

On Thursday, April 19, the Moms and Tots of Hardisty's Toddlers Inn sponsored an open house in conjunction with the regular play school afternoon.

Cindy Huddlestone, the volunteer co-ordinator, had her usual full afternoon of activity planned for the children and the guests enjoyed watching the children at play. Wendy Archbold from the Flagstaff PSS office attended.

Toddlers' Inn Playschool at Hardisty has been founded under the auspices of PSS and Wendy has been the resource person for the group. This was Wendy's opportunity to see the playschool in operation. We thank the people who attended our open house and showed their interest.

Toddler's Inn gratefully acknowledges the generous donations from the Hardisty Lions Club, the Legion Ladies Auxiliary, and the Rosyth Women of Unifarm, which were received over the last month. The many articles left at the playschool have also come in handy. It is the intention of the group to use money above our operating expenses to purchase permanent equipment for the playschool before our fall re-opening.

Red Cross ends canvas

The Sedgewick Branch of the Canadian Red Cross has completed its annual campaign for funds and once again is very grateful for the good work of our canvassers and for the generosity of the people of Sedgewick and district. The sum of $1,350 has been forwarded to the head office in Calgary.

Because 90 per cent of Red Cross work is done by volunteers who are never paid for their time, the Red Cross is able to help more people both nationally and internationally then would otherwise be possible. -Gordon Taylor, president
Tena Blakeney, Sec-treas.

Chief honoured

It was a night for firemen and their chief as Daysland honoured them at an appreciation social on Saturday, May 12.

A total of 26 were honoured for their volunteer involvement on the brigade for services ranging from one year and less to 45 years for Les Cockburn.

A special program was held part-way through the social evening for presentations to Chief Bob Hanrahan, who has 38 years as fireman with 19 of those as chief. Bob retires as chief July 1.

The short program was MC'd by Mayor Stan Lissack, who presented a plaque from the Town of Daysland. Alex Blatz made a presentation on behealf of the County of Flagstaff. In his remarks, he paid special tribute for his efforts in organizing the county's ambulance service.

Further tributes were extended when Bob was presented with an honourary life membership in the Provincial Fire Chiefs' Association. Making the presentation was association president, Wayne Stanyer of Sherwood Park. Following this was the gift of a gas barbecue by fellow members on the brigade.

To conclude the program, Bob came forward amid a standing ovation and thanked everyone. He gave special thanks to his wife, Norma, for her help in answering the fire phone and in finding his clothes in the excitement.

Everyone sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Energy sharing debated

Finance Minister Jean Chretien has reserved rights for the federal government to increase its share of energy resource revenue and distribute more of it among the poorer provinces.

During an election campaign visit to Alberta, Chretien said he had no objection to the Lougheed government's mushrooming energy revenue surplus in the Heritage Fund, as it stands now.

But the fund is acceptable only "for the time being" - and "how big it should be is another matter," said the finance minister.

The fund is only three years old but already $4.7 billion and growing by more than $1 billion a year through deposits of 30 per cent of province oil and gas income.

Contract ratified

In a series of meetings held May 9, the member teachers of the Elk Island School Authorities Association have ratified a memorandum of agreement.

By a vote of 82 per cent, the teachers have accepted a two-year contract. The contract represents a wages and benefits increase of 8.5 to 8.75 per cent in the first year and eight per cent in the second year.

The Elk Island School Authorities Association includes teachers from Counties of Flagstaff, Beaver, Lamont and Millburn; and the school divisions of Provost, Wainwright; and the school district of Devon.

The Liberal finance minister said resources should "primarily" benefit the provinces where they are found but that they are also part of "the common wealth of the nation."

At a news conference, he did not rule out accepting a proposal by the Pepin-Roberts national unity task force to use energy revenues to "produce as enduring balance among regions."

The task force recommended counting energy revenues in determining federal equalization payments to the provinces. The payments would rise about $800 million a year. Ontario and B.C. would get some for the first time.

The recommendation did no say where Ottawa should get the extra money. Chretien said the government has not had time to review the plan or consider new ways to redistribute lopsided resource income.

But the national finances are reviewed every year when federal budgets are prepared and Ottawa has the right to tax resource revenue wherever it is earned, he said.

Chretien agreed that federal taxes should be levied uniformly across Canada to be fair. But he maintained that does not rule out wealthier regions paying more.

Chretien's statements revived a major issue of the 1974 federal election campaign in Alberta: redistribution of oil and gas income.

By then, the Lougheed and Trudeau governments had reached their present understanding - which Chretien repeated - that domestic energy prices should rise by stages toward international rates.

But Ottawa moved in to raise its take through abolition of the petroleum industry's ability to deduct royalties from corporate taxable income when the provinces increased them.

The industry, the national Conservatives and the province protested. But the Liberals stayed in office. Alberta's revenue system was revised late in 1974 to make room for Ottawa's additional claims.

In the 1974 campaign, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau told Calgarians "a fair share arrangement" and "redistribution of income in Canada" were "fundamental to Liberalism."

Chretien's statements indicate that the Liberals' attitude has not changed, even though he showed no signs of taking [illegible].

On the other hand, Tory Leader Joe Clark sounds much the same on energy pricing and revenue issues as his predecessor in 1974, Robert Stanfield.

In the last campaign, Stanfield promised only consultation and said "we must all be prepared to accept some compromises." Clark too promises to treat the provinces as partners, but so far his campaign has been short on the specifics of which ones would be handled how on what issues.

Line Up For Chow - a set of identical triplet heifer calves were born May 3 at the Art Black farm south of Lougheed. It was the first birth for this two-year-old Shorthorn heifer, but Art says he has had twin calves before. Average weight of the triplets was 38 pounds each.

This photo, taken 10 days after their birth, shows mother and daughters all doing well. According to Dr. J. Hebert, it is very, very rare that triplets are born and seldom do all three live.

A vote for Crowfoot: which one?

This time next week, Canadians will know who's to lead this country for the next four years. And in Crowfoot, constituents will have elected a man to represent the needs of this region, hopefully who will be in a position to provide input to whatever government is elected.

We have three candidates: Liberal Jack Horner, Conservative Arnold Malone and NDP Roger Millbrandt. The question of which man will best serve the people of western Canada is often answered depending on a person's party affiliation. But in this constituency, more than any other, perhaps we should ask which man will be in the position to best represent Crowfoot and western Canada.

It doesn't always run true that the man or the party with the best ideas will be in the position to do the best job for a constituency. We suggest that voters keep in mind which man would be more restricted and less effective for the constituency if he were elected.

For example, if the Liberal party should be re-elected, and if Conservative Arnold Malone should win the Crowfoot seat, the amount of representation we can expect will be limited. We are not saying Mr. Malone couldn't do a good job, we are saying he'd be in the frustrating position of representing a conservative province in a liberal-governed country – he wouldn't have a lot of say.

If the Conservative party forms the next government, and if Liberal Jack Horner was re-elected in Crowfoot, the situation would be the same. He'd be frustrated as the lone liberal voice for Alberta in a Conservative government. And it is highly unlikely that he would want to return to the PCs, or that Joe Clark would care to renew the acquaintance.

Which candidate could best serve under these conditions?

If elected to form the next government, the Conservatives, according to Mr. Malone, would have five Albertans holding cabinet posts. We have to admit that would be nice, but it isn't too realistic if you pay attention to representation by population: democracy. There aren't enough cabinet posts available for Alberta to sit on five of them and expect the remainder to be fairly distributed among the other regions in the country. Mr. Clark isn't out to alienate any of them. (Metro Toronto alone has 21 seats to Alberta's 23, and the whole province of Ontario has 93!)

If the Conservatives do form the next government, the odds doubt very seriously that Mr. Malone would be appointed to a cabinet post. There are just too many other Conservatives more experienced, more knowledgeable and more known.

As to Mr. Horner, regardless of feelings toward his political career, facts dictate that he certainly is experienced and he certainly is knowledgeable in both parties and in the workings of cabinet. And he knows a great deal of people on both sides of the fence. He also has the reputation of making himself heard – perhaps not an ideal trait in daily conversation but an asset in the political arena.

Even if Mr. Horner were not elected to represent Crowfoot, regardless of which party formed the government, he's still in the position of communicating with whoever the powers may be. The Liberals certainly wouldn't ignore him, and he still has friends in the Conservative ranks.

Not meaning to ignore Mr. Millbrandt, it would seem that his only way of avoiding the frustrations of representing a party not federally elected was if there were no clear majority elected May 22. The NDP, as it were, could then be in a position of holding the balance of power, where both Liberal and Conservative parties needed the NDP vote in the House of Commons.

We are not, as some newspapers blatantly advertise, throwing our support behind any particular candidate. We merely pose the question of which man will be able to serve us in the confines to which he is elected. You decide.

The Third Column

by Truncate
[I Write As I Please]

THIS WILL BE THE LAST COLUMN to appear in print before the federal election May 22. We try to avoid making this a political column as far as practical, but sometimes it seems necessary to state a position or let it be known where one stands in the affairs of the nation. Since I write as I please, therefore, I am going to talk politics this week.

NOT LONG AGO, I listened to a person say, "Politicians are crooks and liars, not to be trusted. I hate every one of them." While I hesitate to go to such an extreme, I regretfully am inclined to go along to some degree. It seems that many politicians say and keep on repeating what they think the voter wants to hear, regardless of their intention to carry out what they say. Politicians are elected for only one reason and that is to represent the people who elected them, not to become simply party hacks. Not many dare to be a Daniel and buck the trend. Rather, they faithfully follow the party line. We really have too many politicians and not enough statesmen.

THE BURDENS OF OFFICE who continually remind us of how bad the economy is and how cruel inflation is inflicting damage on the average citizen, fail to inflect us with the truth. They merely seek votes, and the way to do that is to please people. In spite of the millions we squander at the race tracks, the many more millions we fritter away on lotteries and any number of things we WANT, we keep grumbling that we cannot afford the things we NEED. Few politicians are going to tell us that. After all, we don't like to hear the TRUTH. Maybe the politicians are playing the same game we are. We never had it so good, but good is never good enough. We've got to rip everybody off for more. That's the name of the game these days.

OUR ECONOMY is on a par with the world. Our INFLATION is no worse than many and better than most. Our STANDARD OF LIVING leaves little to be wanted really. We are not suffering from want, but we are suffering badly from improper attitudes. It's time to wake up and be thankful for our way of life. Talk to newly-arrived refugees if you want to learn what economic suffering is all about. Let us stop feeling sorry for ourselves. Well, enough of that.

WE ARE SUFFERING BADLY from a lack of national unity and from the presence of regionalism. If you don't think unity is a problem today, you better re-arrange your thinking, because it is. Take a serious look at it. Don't let ethnic hatred blind you to the realistic situation. There are those who would rip our nation apart. They must be stopped, not by hatred but by assessing the situation fairly and squarely and coming up with the reasonable answers to satisfy all regions. This Canada of ours must not be fragmented, it must be united, for in unity there is strength and in separation there lurks disaster.

DURING MY THREE-SCORE PLUS years in this land of my birth, I, like many of you, have seen dramatic changes. Since my 21st birthday, I have voted every party except communism. I have done this because mostly I vote MAN rather than PARTY, and have become reasonably astute at reading a person's character and worth, not necessarily as a personality but his worth to me as a constituent. What kind of a job will he do for me? What kind of representative will he be for my constituency? His personality or his ethnic background mean nothing to me if I am convinced he will get the job done better than the other fellow.

IS THIS THE WAY you are going to vote on May 22? Are you thinking realistically or following the old party line in spite of hell and high water. I'm not going to ask you how you are going to vote on May 22. It's none of my business. How am I going to vote on May 22. If you don't already know, I'm not going to tell you. It's none of your business.

THE ECONOMY will stabilize. Inflation will equalize and unity will strengthen. On these things I am betting my future, and I'm going to do what I can to bring it about. Are you?

Basically, I'm a two-party man. Never again will I vote Socialism. I've seen enough and heard enough of it. There are only two places where Socialism can survive, according to Mark Twain: "In heaven where they don't need it and in hell where they've already got it."

COME ALIVE . .

DIRECTION

The low ceiling did not leave but a moment to look back on the quiet, serene airport of Fort McMurray. Snow had fallen the last two days and the cloud formation gave no indication of moving on. Yet, our mission in the north country had come to a close and new appointments were beckoning us home in spite of the obscurity.

Possibility of icing caused us to climb to 9,000 feet and hold. Outside, the snowflakes dashed by the clearance lights and were gone into oblivion.

Slowly a thought came to rest in my mind. What are we going to do here in this storm when we can't see anthing by which to guide us? How are we to find our course home and not wonder off into destruction? In that circumstance, I was to learn a valuable and comforting lesson.

Our pilot, not showing any symptoms of distress, drew my attention to a small rectangular box and began to tune in what he called a homing beacon. He had set this radio on a radio station near our destination which in turn fed the necessary information into the computer of the automatic pilot. Also, we were in constant contact with airports on our flight route. Needless to say, our flight was uneventful for this lesson.

I realized that our lives seem so many times like that plane, not being able to see anything concrete out the front or either side. The possibility of total destruction always draping itself over us causing moments, sometimes hours of anxiety to nullify the joys God intended.

Meanwhile, God has given us the same means of direction in that we can tune our spirits to the heavenly peace which God has promised to those who follow him, and know that God our Father will be faithful and direct us to our heavenly home. Along with this peace, we have instant communication with our God through prayer as we by faith read his instructions written in the greatest book ever read by human eyes, the Bible. In this way, our journey is not in blindness, but in the light of His Son.

Peace, joy and contentment mark the Christian who has Jesus Christ as his pilot and the Bible as his manual.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

Yesterday's Generation

I'd like to talk to you, Grandma Wilson and Grandpa Gallagher, and you there, Great-Grandma Ferguson and you, too, Great-Uncle Gregory. And all you people over seventy whom our society labels the "old folks," the "aged," the "elderly," the "golden agers."

You have lived a long life – have had an education, maybe a career, have fallen in love and been married, brought new life into the world, have been through good times and hardships, too. You have attended everything from christenings and parent-teacher interviews to mother-daughter banquets and graduation exercises. And, alas, your offspring's wedding.

You have been through two major wars and several minor battles, have seen the nightmares of Vietnam and the horrors of the Middle East, have lived through political assassinations, mass murders, and horrendous earthquakes. You have outlived Rosalind Russell, Jack Benny, Ernest Hemmingway, and Mao Tse Tung. You have watched Shirley Temple grow up and John Wayne grow old. You have seen the silent picture screen come alive with sound.

You have witnessed the formation of rock 'n' roll, withstood the Beatles era, endured the hippies period, gritted your teeth at long-haired freaks, and sighed with relief at the passing of the mini-skirt. You have gasped at Watergate, increasing abortions, the living-together situation, and Margaret Trudeau.

You have laughed with George & Gracie, Fibber McGee & Molly, Ed Sullivan, and the Smothers Brothers. You have danced with Glen Miller, Guy Lombardo, and Lawrence Welk. You have sung with Bing Crosby, cried with Lassie, screamed at Bela Lugosi, and sighed with Clark Cable. You have read everything from "Gone With the Wind" and "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" to Hailey's "Roots." You have listened to "Amos 'n' Andy," "Henry Aldrich," and of course – who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of men – only "The Shadow" knows.

Yes, you've been through a lot. You've travelled by horse-and-buggy, the Model-T, your grandson's convertible, and your great-grandson's Camaro. You've praised Jonas Salk, Robert Fleming, and Banting & Best. You were there when Canadian women first voted, when women started their liberation movement, and when the first woman priest was ordained. You've admired Charles Lindbergh, Harry Houdini, and Robert Ripley. You've been shocked at Adolf Hitler and comforted by Perry Como. You have seen Anita Bryant rise and Richard Nixon fall. You have lived through four popes and eight prime ministers. You have seen Alberta and Saskatchewan become provinces and inherited Canada's western soul. You have been around and you've had a lot.

Except time. All of a sudden, you realize those wrinkles are permanent, that the Grecian formula does no good anymore, that the pages in your diary are yellow, and your great-grandaughter doesn't even know who Mr. Ed was, for heaven's sake!

Suddenly, you're not young anymore. And, frankly, life is ending. But don't wait. Let death take you by surprise as it does a young person. As long as that heart pumps and those lungs move in and out, there is life left in everyone.

A waste of time for a child is not doing his/her homework because of a good TV show and not writing his/her pespal because he/she was too busy loafing. A waste of time for a child is a day. For older people, a waste of time may be not taking that college course and letting old friendships dissolve and forgetting to tell the children everything they had planned on telling them. A waste of time for the elderly may be a life-time.

But Brian, Wilbur McKenzie and Grandfather Sellows, though you may not be able to dance with Ginger Rogers or challenge Ali to a fight as you may once have dreamed of doing, you can still enjoy life. Don't dwell on the past. Though that seems all you have left and death all you have to look forward to, it just isn't the truth. You are alive and with a lot of determination, courage, and strength, you can still try to do what you've always wanted to.

Time seems to have slipped away. Seventy or eighty years seem suddenly like minutes. So many memories . . . But you can still have more. Go ahead, take those lessons in Russian, buy a Playboy/Playgirl, write a letter to the editor, throw away the Geritol, go to a singles' bar, burn your bra . . . But don't give up.

Great-Grammas and Great-Grampas of the world: you are yesterday's generation. You have done a lot for this world in so many differen ways. You may not see tomorrow but be happy that you have seen today.

What Have The Others Said? Here Are ROGER MILBRANDT'S Comments

- On Leadership
"Canadians do not trust the Liberals because Mr. Trudeau's commitments are contradicted by his performance. They do not trust the Conservatives because Mr. Clark's commitments are contradicted by his commitments. But Canadians from coast to coast have confidence in the integrity and ability of Ed Broadbent."
Bowlf April 25, 1979

- On Inflation
"In February my party proposed a Fair Prices Commission to protect the ordinary consumer from those price increases which could be proven to be unjust. The Liberals and Conservatives combined to defeat that bill. The New Democrats are the only party that genuinely cares about the ordinary middle and low income earning Canadian."
Dondale, April 10, 1979

- On the Family Farm
"The New Democratic Party because it holds people to be more important than corporate profits, can give the family farm the priority it deserves."
Hester April 20, 1979

- On Medicare
"Not only is the New Democratic Party committed to preserving Medicare, it is committed to extending its coverage to dental and optical needs as well."
Castor April 30, 1979

- On the Economy
"An Ed Broadbent New Democratic Government will co-ordinate an industrial strategy, bringing together the key sectors of the Canadian economy, planning the development of our resources for the long term interests of all Canadians."
Oyen, April 24, 1979

Auxiliary sponsors tea

The Hospital Auxiliary meeting was held May 10 at 8 p.m. Thirteen members were present. It was decided that a carload of ladies will go to the regional meeting May 26. The Strawberry Tea was discussed as to who would take deliveries and to where. It was decided that we will order two more items for the children's ward. The meeting adjourned and a lovely lunch was served, prepared by the hospital staff.

The Hospital Auxiliary Strawberry Tea and Bake Sale was well attended May 11. there were 105 that signed the guest book for the draw of a large basket of fruit donated by the Daysland Clinic and won by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gaudet's youngest girl.

There were two car loads of ladies from Camrose that came for the tea. The bake table was loaded with baking but was soon sold out. The deliveries went well to the hospital and school as Miss Purvis had ordered enough strawberry shortcake for the choir that sang at the gym Friday evening. The other deliveries were served by another group.

The ladies at the tea tables were kept busy as the people kept coming and going. So we can say the Hospital Auxiliary has had another very successful Strawberry Tea. Thanks to all the ladies for their good work.

DIAL BEFORE YOU DIG. THERE'S A LOT AT STAKE.

If you operate heavy machinery, it's more important than ever that you call your gas company before you break ground.

Because if you don't, you run the very real risk of damaging a gas main and being responsible for an accident which could cost thousands of dollars in damage and downtime. Or cut off the gas supply to an entire community.

Or cause dangerous explosions and loss of life — possibly your own.

So make sure that you call your gas company's Pipe Locator Team at least 48 hours before you dig. They'll stake out the alignment of all gas lines in the locality so you can dig in safety.

The service is free. Please use it. There's a lot at stake.

We don't need any more back seat drivers in Ottawa.

In our system, the political party that elects the most members becomes the government, with full power and responsibility to make decisions that affect the direction of our country. Our political tradition puts the government party clearly in the driver's seat — and puts the opposition into the role of back-seat drivers.

Without wanting to sound overconfident, chances are good that after May 22, the Liberals will be in the driver's seat for another term. Alberta could have all its clout in the back seat again. If there was ever a time when Alberta needed people up front in the driver's seat — that time is now.

Canada will go through important constitutional changes in the next few years, take new directions that will change our country forever. Alberta's interests need strong voices at the decision-making level if we're going to get the best possible deal out of a new Confederation.

The Liberal Party may not be your favorite choice, but you owe it to yourself — and to your province — to take a good hard look at the person seeking election as a Liberal in your constituency. Underneath the Liberal label you will be surprised to find a person who shares your gut feelings, emotions and concerns about Alberta and Canada.

It's time to give the Liberal Government a strong western accent!

Crowfoot 1979

Jack Horner, Liberal

Arnold Malone, Conservative

Roger Millbrandt, NDP

Who is going to win?

It was battle of the wits last Tuesday evening as Crowfoot constituency candidates Jack Horner, Arnold Malone and Roger Millbrandt gathered their facts, figures and ammunition for the three-hour political forum in Hardisty.

Sponsored by that community's chamber of commerce, the forum allowed each candidate 15 minutes to speak before the floor was open for questions. All three men were given five minutes to answer, and each closed with a five-minute rebuttal.

Horner's name drew first-speaker honours before the crowd of nearly 200. With emphasis on his "reputation and credibility as a fighter for western Canada," Horner said as a liberal he was better able to represent the best interests of this region in Canada.

His importance to Crowfoot and the rest of western Canada, the minister went on to say, was that it saw a representative "around the cabinet table . . . where the decisions are made."

Horner: stands on record

His record as minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce has meant positive results for the cattle and grain industries in western Canada, Mr. Horner stated. Beef exported out of the province is now 85 per cent of production. What used to be a 50/50 split in steer and heifer slaughter is now three-quarter steers, one-quarter heifer. The result, Alberta's herds are being built up again, he said.

Also on record is the recent contract with Pacific Rim countries for more than one million bushels of wheat per year. The largest contract signed with these importers, it results in 86 per cent of the wheat produced in the four western provinces having been sold.

"Yes, that final grain payment is on its way," he assured farmers in the crowd.

Not only has government sold western Canada's crops, he added, but is upgrading grain-handling facilities to accommodate their shipping. Improvements are to be completed on the last stretch of track to Port Churchill and already, he added, Canadians are witnessing the "best Churchill has ever moved (grain)."

The government has looked to the west as well, according to Mr. Horner. A new grain-storing site is located at Prince Rupert, B.C. and a new rail line will be constructed to it - all in an effort to "up tonnage."

Hardisty plant – yes or no?

Mr. Horner's mention of the oil industry, in which Hardisty residents hope to be included with a heavy-oil refinery, brought the crowd to peak attention.

"We're not doing enough," said the minister about heavy oil production, but whether the plant is located at Hardisty or Lloydminster depends on the negotiations between the Alberta and Saskatchewan provincial governments with the oil companies involved.

Provincial governments have say on resources in their territory and the profits they derive, not the federal government which, for Alberta, has resulted in the prosperous Heritage Trust Fund. The future of a heavy-oil industry in Hardisty depends on royalty negotiations. Whichever province – Alberta or Saskatchewan – better deals over the amount of money it earns is more than likely to win location of the refinery.

NDP for "decade of decision"

Second to address the crowd was NDP candidate Roger Millbrandt, who calls the threat to small business by corporations a major campaign issue.

The independent businessman, he said, finds his enemy not in the government but in the corporate leaders of Canada, "the unelected government."

Citing figures on foreign ownership in Canada, Millbrandt said that to revitalize this country's economy, Canada "must cease its branchline economy . . . to the U.S."

He called for "vigorous action" to break up the corporate control of the business and economical communities by providing more loans to small business.

Health and housing also received Millbrandt's attention during the three-hour debate. The NDP, to whom much of the health scheme in Canada is credited, is concerned peoples' rights to the best in health care won't "be safe under a Liberal or Conservative government."

A ceiling on mortgage rates and controls on developers were the NDP candidate's solutions for the housing industry, while leadership – the most hard-hit issue of all parties this election – is especially needed for the next federal government, stated Millbrandt.

Calling the Liberal policies "unworkable" and the PC's "haircooked schemes," Millbrandt criticized both for not providing Canadians the government "it so badly needs, richly deserves."

He qualified his statements with statistics on the records of Canada's recent Liberal government and from that of the last Conservative government - John Diefenbaker's cabinet which failed in 1963. "I cannot see how Joe Clark can succeed in '79 where John Diefenbaker failed in '63."

"Not a turning point in western Canada's history," Millbrandt referred to Jack Horner's crossing the floor to a party who the NDP candidate "never had confidence in doing much good for western Canada."

Malone: ease against Trudeau

Crowd favourite at the beginning of the evening, Conservative Arnold Malone was last to speak.

"I'm not here to talk about who's more western . . . about the value of being in the cabinet," prefixed malone to a speech dealing more with the negative results of a Trudeau government than with the positive ones under a Clark administration.

"How can ministers know their jobs? he asked, when 183 changes in cabinet posts were recorded in the past 10 years.

Government spending under Trudeau aroused much of Malone's wrath, who cited an increase in federal spending by 230 per cent.

The civil service which, according to Malone, Trudeau promised would be reduced, has increased to a record-number presently employed. "Government has encroached on the private life of Canada we know."

And the post office, Lete Canada and Mirabel Airport in Montreal were among the examples of mis-management cited by the conservative candidate.

Statistics key aspect in debate

Like his Liberal opponent – well-known for his homework on facts and figures – Malone was well-researched in statistics to support his arguments against the Trudeau government. He described the increase in business bankruptcies in Canada at 41 per cent, and unemployment as costing $3.5 billion.

Particularly critical of Trudeau's handling of Canadian unity, Malone described the prime minister as "pitting region against region . . . language against language."

"You've had 11 years of misery. It's your God-given right to vote for four more years of it if you want to."

Resources, and whose right to them, was verbally battled by Malone, Horner and Millbrandt during the question period. Malone: "The Heritage Trust Fund is the right of Alberta." Horner: "Loan just the interest" from the Fund to young Alberta farmers not to Newfoundland, Nova Scotia or whomever else, he said, adding his department of industry and trade loaned three times more money to Albertans last year than its own Alberta Opportunity Company. Millbrandt: Resources and resource-profits should be "windfalls" for all Canadians not just one lucky province.

A topic not hoisted as a major campaign issue but which has received considerable attention recently due to the number of parole violations was the growth of crime. Asked what he would advocate "to make it safe for law-abiding citizens," Horner received a "hear, hear" and a round of applause for supporting "capital punishment." The maximum deterrent, he said, must be considered in addition to a stricter judicial system.

Millbrandt instead stresses rehabilitation, describing the NDP's example in Saskatchewan of allowing certain offenders to "work off crimes."

The lessening power of the police entered Malone's argument that fewer men are trained each year in the RCMP than the number in the force who retire. And although they don't advocate capital punishment, the PCs, he said, would allow a "free vote" if the issue should come before a conservative government, something the Liberals are accused of not doing.

Metric endorsement revived

The ghost of metrification was recalled to haunt Horner, who as a Conservative opposed the new system but as a Liberal found the whole issue under his department of industry, trade and commerce.

Although not caring a great deal personally for metric, Horner said, it was necessary for Canada to adopt it to "keep abreast" since world trading is conducted in the metric system.

Malone called for industries to cease any move toward metrification – at least until the United States government commits itself to the system as well. But, according to Horner, Americans had started the changeover in certain industries a decade ago.

The sparring match between Malone and Horner continued to the conclusion of the forum, leaving local residents to decide who knew their facts better – Malone or Horner.

It was, as NDP candidate Roger Millbrandt expressed, "if not the best show on earth, certainly the most fascinating in the '79 election."

UNREFRIGERATED MILK

What next! Milk that doesn't require refridgeration!! Ideal for holidays, and longer periods of storage. Palm Dairies is processing this new product in Alberta, which is referred to as U.H.T. milk (Ultra-High Temperature). The name comes from the processing. It is pasteurized at higher temperatures than normal and for a shorter time. Then quickly cooled and sealed in a five-layer air tight package. This aseptic packaging is the most essential step in the processing as it eliminates the possibility of contamination and enables the milk to be stored at room temperature.

Shelf life of the product is recommended to be 60 days but experience in eastern Canada indicates it will keep longer.

When you want to use the milk, put it in the refridgerator and open the package overnight to let it "breathe." Once the package has been opened it must be kept refridgerated. The milk may taste a bit more creamy and look whiter than what we're used to, but it's quite acceptable and can certainly be used in cooking.

Nutritionally, the milk is very similar to regular milk. Calcium and protein are unharmed by the higher temperatures.

U.H.T. milk is slightly more expensive than 2% and is available in Stettler.

FROZEN BREAD DOUGH IN THE MICROWAVE OVEN

Although bread can be cooked in a microwave, the result is not the crusty, golden loaf we are accustomed to. One method you might try is to bake the loaf in the microwave until done, then put it in the conventional oven to brown.

That may be a bit tedious, but one thing the microwave oven does do well is proof the dough.

After kneading the dough, place it in a greased bowl and cover with a damp cloth. Heat two cups of water in the microwave on high until it boils. Place the bread in the oven with the hot water at low power for about 15 minutes. Bread should double in volume.

Fold dough over several times, shape into a loaf and repeat the proofing process as above. Those instructions are from the Toshiba Cookbook and may vary slightly with different makes of ovens.

ENERGY CONSERVING TIPS

Check the refridgerator door seal by closing the door on a piece of paper. If you can pull it out easily, the rubber gasket should be replaced.

Clean the refridgerator condenser and coils at least twice a year.

Dishwashers use less water as compared to hand-washing.

Flagstaff Further Education

Adult Ed grants rise

The Department of Advanced Education and Manpower hosted a co-ordinators' workshop at the Edmonton Mayfield Inn on April 23 and 24.

Jim Horseman, Advanced Education minister, attended a social evening and delivered the goodies which councils all over the province were hoping for.

Grants of $7,000 a year - an increase of $2,000 over the current $5,000 grant - will be paid to designated school boards or post-secondary education institutions to cover administrative costs of further adult education courses.

Mr. Horsman said each of the 80 further education councils operating in Alberta will receive up to $1,000 instead of the current $600 annually to cover local advertising costs. Also, travel costs for resource persons has been boosted to $2,000 which should be a real boon to the rural councils.

The new policy guidelines will encourage agencies to train volunteers to work in furthering education programming activities.

Mr. Horsman said support grants paid to education outlets for instructional costs will remain at $6 for each instructional hour of a regular adult further education program.

During 1978-79, close to 200,000 adults were enrolled in more than 12,500 courses. The government is committed to providing high quality further education services, and the best way to do that is through local involvement and public participation.

The workshop was well received by approximately 80 co-ordinators and other council members in the northern portion of the province.

I will be attending the Alberta Continuing Education Association conference in Jasper from May 15 to May 18. Leave a message on my phone if need be and I will get back the first of the next week.

GREEN ACRES

by Glen Warner, DA

Spruce trees are receiving more attention of late, especially since it is at precisely this time that tree pests are emerging and becoming active.

Two of these pests are the Spruce Spider Mite and the Yellow-Headed Spruce Sawfly, both prominent in the Flagstaff County.

The best insurance against them is to check your trees regularly and take appropriate action in time.

What To Watch For

The first sign of Spider Mite damage occurs in mid-May when leaves appear dingy and brownish, later drying up and falling off. The discolouration is noticeable in the lower branches near the trunk and spreads outward and upward as summer progresses.

The presence of mites is characterized by an abundance of fine silken webbing between the needles of the branches, and as a final test, rapping a suspected branch against a white sheet of paper should dislodge several small insects scurrying about the page. Untreated infestations severely reduce the tree's vigour and ultimately cause death.

Ornamentals and shelterbelts less than 10 years old are particularly susceptible to the Yellow-Headed Spruce Sawfly. The first damage appears in early June and is caused by the small larvae eating portions of the needles, and as they increase in size during the next few weeks, they eat entire needles.

By mid-July, heavy infestations become rugged looking and take on a yellowish colour, visible from a distance.

Control Is Sure

Positive identification is a must. Don't confuse winter or drought damage with an infestation symptom.

Regardless, a good practice is to hose down the spruce tree early in spring and on the first sign of infestation with a high pressure garden hose to wash both the spider mites and yellow-headed sawfly from the branches. This practice is usually sufficient and is repeated as necessary.

Should the spray wash be ineffective, chemical control may be utilized, after positive identification of the pest.

Malathion is recognized as an effective control chemical. The recommended rate is ½ to 1 tbsp. (¼ to ½ oz.) 50 per cent E.C. Malathion in one gallon water. Trees should be sprayed after damage becomes noticeable and a second spraying may be necessary in two to three weeks to maintain control.

Regular inspection and the proper action, in time, can keep your evergreens healthy and in the green for many years

Hockey oldtimers compete

The Battle River Buffalos Oldtimers Hockey team and fans arrived safely back home Sunday, April 29 to somewhat cooler weather than they left when they got on the plane in Tampa, Florida at noon. The temperature there was somewhere in the 80s.

Seventy-one people left April 20 for a nine-day stay for the Florida Classic Oldtimers Hockey Tournament in St. Petersburg. They arrived that evening at about 11 p.m. and stepped out of the airplane to 85 degrees and the sight of palm trees and green grass - quite a contrast to the snow storm they had driven through in the morning on the way to the airport. Needless to say, the kids in the group all made a fast change into their bathing suits and into the pool after they arrived at their motel.

The next week consisted of hockey, which took three games to complete, losing out in two very close games, one 1-0 to Quebec, 3-4 to Dundas, Ontario, and finally to a team from P.E.I.

In the finals, Dundas beat out P.E.I. by one goal to win the gold medal, so the Buffalos weren't too far behind considering. The Buffalos brought back probably the best medal of all, the one for fair play as they had the least penalties, which is really what Oldtimers Hockey is all about.

The other pastime was, of course, sunbathing, which incidentally, resulted in some fast sunburns as the tropical sun down there burns twice as fast as it does up here.

The places to see were Disney World, Circus World, Busch Gardens, Snakes Gardens, Sea World, Cypress Gardens, Kennedy Space Center, plus many more, and a few took in cruises.

Everyone was free to go their own way and many rented cars to get around. They all lived on the east side of St. Pete so had to travel across the city to get to the beaches, which are on the Gulf of Mexico. The water is warm and the sand is so white that the glare bothers your eyes.

The people there are very aware of Canadians as many from Ontario and Quebec go there for the winter. When they find out you're a Canadian, they think you're naturally from eastern Canada.

The group from the Hardisty area that went were Lorne and Marge Morrison, John, Koreen, Jeff, Mike and Darren Golka, Lee, Lorna and Jamie Hendricks, Walt, Linda and Betty Koral, Ken and Debbie Currier, and Carole Korth.

From Alliance, there were Alvin, Sheila, Teresa, Connie and Norman Miller, and Ray Matthews. From Stroome, Verne, Viki, Cory and LeAnne Miller, and from Calgary, Harold and Maxine Morrison.

In the tournament there were two U.S. teams, one from Sweden, one from Finland, and 40 from Canada. It was put on by the Canadian Oldtimers Hockey Association.

After travelling for three years to numerous tournaments, many of the wives and fans have collected a good many pins and buttons. This team has been to Zurich, Switzerland; Copenhagen, Denmark; Saskatoon; Regina; Victoria, B.C.; twice to Lethbridge; Camrose; and, of course, to St. Petersburg, Florida.

Daysland kindergarten readies for graduation

The regular meeting of the Daysland kindergarten parents was held Wednesday, May 9 in the kindergarten room. Besides the regular business meeting, a workbee helped with graduation preparations.

The children have a most exciting schedule for May, including a visit to the firehall, a chance to see baby chicks, ducks and gosling, a hobo walk with a picnic lunch, a visit to Storyland Valley Zoo in Edmonton, a train ride, and a visit to the Kinsmen pool in Edmonton as well.

The big event is on May 18 when the children graduate from kindergarten. They have put in a busy year and a special thanks to all who helped make the activities worthwhile. In particular, our appreciation goes to our teacher, Mrs. Rittammer, aide Mrs. Reist and helper Mrs. Tulloch for their untiring efforts in the classroom plus their additional time spent in preparation, as well as for the many workshops they attend for the benefit of the kindergarten.

The 1979-80 kindergarten executive is: Darlene Markovich, president; Shirley Schneider, vice-president; Bev Heinig, secretary-treasurer; and Kay Reist, co-ordinator.

A meeting was held May 8, at which it was decided to hold the orientation day Wednesday and Thursday mornings May 23 and 24. Beginning September 17, the children will go to kindergarten three half-days a week before Christmas.

Meetings will be held the second May of each month beginning in September.

Cop Talk

Since we appeared last in the paper, criminal activity in the area has slowed down quite considerably. We are certainly not complaining about that. There have been a few minor thefts occurring along with the usual wilful damage offences, which are very difficult to bring to a successful conclusion due to lack of evidence. The evidence required would be physical evidence at the scene or possibly eyewitnesses.

The members have been quite busy in the Hardisty area investigating numerous thefts off of trains which I have mentioned before. The investigation has been a successful one with approximately $6,000 of stolen merchandise being recovered. Four local youths have been charged with various counts of break, enter and theft; possession of stolen property and theft over $200. They are to appear in court in the near future. A number of these charges also stem from breaks and thefts which have occurred at various businesses in Hardisty over the past few months and even some which occurred in 1977 and 1978.

On May 7, 1979, Lyle Firkus, a 19-year-old from Strome appeared in provincial judge's court in Killam and plead guilty to charges rising out of a shooting incident in Strome during the early hours of April 3, 1979. Firkus was sentenced to nine months in jail.

As the weather gets warmer, we can certainly notice a big increase in charges relating to liquor in vehicles. For the months of January, February and March we had a total of 60 charges of illegal possession of liquor. For the month of April alone, we had 68 charges plus 16 more in the first five days of May for a total of 189 charges.

The majority of these charges are youths in the 16 to 20 year-old group and that does include quite a number of females in case any mothers are wondering. At $50 a charge, that totals $6,950. The youth of today certainly must have lots of money to pay in fines (or do they "float a loan" from mom or dad. Irregardless, is it any wonder that more than 50 per cent of all injury and fatal motor vehicle accidents in Alberta are liquor-related. Parents: Think about that next time your child comes home with liquor on his or her breath. Next time they may not make it home.

Hearing, speech focused

Listen - Speak

For many Albertas these acts which most of us take for granted are a barrier to full enjoyment of life.

To make Albertans more conscious of these handicaps, May has been designated "hearing and speech month."

"during the month, agencies, organizations and governments will be working toward heightening the awareness of speech and hearing problems, as well as informing people of where to go for assistance," said Bob Bogle, minister of Social Services and Community Health.

The speech pathology and audiology program of Alberta Social Services and Community Health assists through emphasizing early detection and correction of language and hearing disorders.

"In the provincial program, 53 speech therapists in the health units, together with the community health nurses, conduct a screening program, beginning with pre-school children," said Mr. Bogle.

"Once a problem has been detected, the patient may be referred to a specialist and begin working with a speech therapist in the health unit or a combination of both."

The Social Services and Community Health department also works closely with hospitals and other agencies providing services to Albertans with hearing problems. Specialized audiology services are available through the Glenrose Provincial General and University of Alberta Hospitals in Edmonton, and the Alberta Children's Hospital and Foothills Provincial General Hospital in Calgary.

Two mobile units donated by the Elks' Purple Cross program are used in transporting staff from the Glenrose and Foothills Hospitals throughout the province, bringing audiology services to areas outside the two major metropolitan centres.

Public education is also a part of the province al program to prevent hearing and speech disorders among Albertans of all ages.

Contact the speech pathologist at a local health unit for more information.

Don't forget.

Lougheed tower up

An area of east-central Alberta which has never had primary signal television service will see that shortcoming rectified within the forseeable future, announced CFRN Television in Edmonton.

A 533-foot tower and antennae is now erected and in place south of Lougheed. What remains to be done before the signal can be transmitted is completion of a building and tower at Heisler, which is the microwave installation to relay the signal to Lougheed for distribution to the Lougheed rebroadcast station.

CFRN President and General Manager Dr. G.R.A. Rice said there can always be last-minute problems with the delivery of equipment, but was hopeful they would be on the air by July. Overall cost is approximately $300,000.

"We are delighted to be able to bring CFRN-TV service to these 20,000 Albertans," he stated. "This is the ninth rebroadcasting station we have established in the province with other ones located at Grande Prairie, Peace River, Whitecourt-Edson, Ashmont-St. Paul, Rocky Mountain House, Crimson Lake and Red Deer."

"We are fortunate in having the largest viewing audience between Toronto and Vancouver and are glad to have the opportunity of adding viewers in the Lougheed district who will see us on Channel 7."

The president said the new signal will encompass an area from Sedgewick on the north to the Coronation area in the south and from Czar-Metiskow in the east to Rosaline-Donalda in the west.

Election advice

Voters in the upcoming federal election who live in rural areas and whose name is on neither the preliminary nor revised list of voters may still vote on election day if qualified.

At the polling station, the voter takes an oath that he or she is entitled to vote and must be vouched for by another elector whose name is on the official list of electors, where your name normally should have appeared. But this rule doesn't apply to voters in urban polling divisions.

To be an eligible elector in this election, voters must be at least 18 years old on or before election day, a Canadian citizen, and be a resident in his voting district or riding on the first day of enumeration.

Lougheed W.I. raises $597

The Senior Citizens' Welcome Centre was the gathering place on Tuesday, May 8 for the meeting of the Lougheed W.I. Eleven members were present, also a number of invited guests, all of whom were welcomed by President Mrs. J. Johnson as she opened the meeting.

The creed was repeated, after which the minutes of the April meeting were read and adopted.

Committee reports showed that the Red Cross canvas had netted $397; a shipment of children's books had been received for the library; a donation of $5 had been given to the playschool; a quilt is being given to the family who lost their home by fire recently.

A letter from the Red Cross Society was read expressing sincere appreciation to the co-ordinators and volunteers who conducted the recent canvas.

Several announcements were made concerning forthcoming events: the invitation by the kindergarten children and their leader to their program and ten on May 11; the regional convention at Camrose on May 15; the provincial conference at Olds; the Lougheed school awards night June 22; and the catering for a wedding reception in August.

District Convener Mrs. D. Courtenay was present and she spoke briefly on some sources of information for various projects, and also asked that every group try to assist the Girls' Club with funds.

Mrs. P. Snethun introduced Mrs. C. Hepworth, who took us on a "Grand tour" by means of slides. These were taken when she and her husband visited some of the countries of the Far East earlier this year. Her interesting commentary added much to the enjoyment of the pictures, and a very sincere thank you was extended to her at the close.

Before partaking of a delicious lunch provided by Mrs. E. Waite and Mrs. M. Skoberg, all were given a true/false contest regarding the conservation of energy in the home. Mrs. V. Storbakken had a perfect score and was the winner of the hostess prize.

Girl Guides congratulated

The following girls from the Girl Guides of Canada, Manitou Division are congratulated for earning their International Year of the Child crests: 1. The Killam Brownies, who held an overnight camp with the IYC theme for the 'aware' part of their crests, and who made 11 quilts and a donation to the water project; 2. The Camrose Brownies, who raised money for both the water project and the Save the Children Fund; 3. The New Sarpeta Brownies, who earned their crests by collecting supplies for the Save the Children project and the water project; 4. The New Sarepta Guides, who very industriously made 37 quilts and donated to the water project; 5. The New Sarepta Rangers, who made 18 quilts at an overnight quilting bee, and raised a generous donation to the water project by cleaning the kindergarten all year.

These girls also had to show they understood what the International Year of the Child was all about and what the rights of the child are. They did this by making posters.

The quilts will be sent to little refugees in Vietnam and the money sent to Upper Volta, Africa to help a dry area provide clean water for the people.

WMS members attend Banff-held convention

On May 4 and 5, Carrie Bowness, Gene and Anna Whitehead, Dorothy Jackson and Carol Jackson had the privilege of attending the Women's Missionary Society Convention held at the Banff Springs Hotel.

The first session Friday afternoon was the president's challenge, "WMS: from here to where?"

At the evening banquet, Michele Kilbourne, speaker for the weekend, spoke on the convention theme, "Clay . . . in the Potter's Hand." We are just clay in the rough or unfinished state until we let God take control of our lives. When we let God be our potter, he can mold us and make something beautiful out of our lives.

Sometimes the clay God works with is so hard he has to use tears to soften the clay so that it can be worked with. Let us not become so hard that crisis or heartbreaking situations have to come into our lives before we can be molded.

Saturday afternoon, there were four workshops: "Open Heart - Open Home;" "Women's Unlimited Potential;" "Strategy for Living;" and "God and I are a Majority."

There were 179 women registered for convention. Everyone enjoyed the hotel tremendously and were surprised to learn that it is only since 1969, after a major winterization, that guests can enjoy the hotel's facilities year 'round.

IN MEMORIAM

FELGATE — In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Connie, who passed away May 21, 1977.

Unseen, unheard, she is ever near
Still loved, still missed, still very dear
Please God forgive a silent tear
And a constant wish that she was here.
Others are taken, yes, we know,
But she was ours and we miss her so.
Always remembered - always missed by Mom, Dad, Bill and Teresa. 37-1p

FELGATE — In loving memory of Connie who passed away on May 20, 1977.

When evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing
If she only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile;
But they little know the heartaches
Our smiles hide all the while.
Sadly missed by Clarence, Joy, Angela and Lisa Roti. 37-1p

Lougheed Rebekahs

Fifteen members of Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met for their regular meeting on Wednesday, May 9. P.N.G. Sis. Agnes Wright was in the chair.

The sisters were indeed sorry to hear Sis. Marlow is in hospital. Sis. L. Skoberg is out of hospital and at home in the lodge.

The members are looking forward with pleasure to being on hand for Sis. L. Skoberg's birthday later in May.

Sis. A. McClements asked the sisters to enter to her daughter's wedding in June. Plans will be finalized.

There was a discussion regarding the engraving of spoons to be given as gifts in the future.

Under Good of the Order, Sis. Cookson read a timely bit of advice related to planting a garden and being a good Rebekah. After Penny Drill, Sisters H. Skoberg and Wright were serenaded for having passed another milestone.

Lodge closed in harmony and lunch followed. What did the sisters discuss during lunch? You guessed it - gardening. Do crushed egg shells really scratch the backs of cutworms? Come to the next meeting May 23 for the answer.

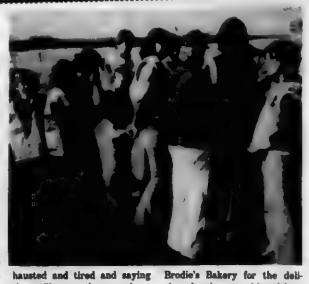
Battle River 4-H Beef Club cleans up hwy

"Oh, my feet are killing me. Can't we stop?" These were the words spoken by the members and parents of Battle River Beef Club and Alliance Bits and Spurs on May 12 at the Highway Clean-up.

The clubs started at 9 a.m. at two miles east of Sedgewick on Highway 13 and went to Hardisty. At 1:30 p.m., the clubs went to the Hardisty campsite and had a weiner roast. After everyone was finished, all 30 members and parents went back to work picking up garbage in the ditches.

At 6 p.m., the clubs finally finished at Hardisty with a total of more than 150 garbage bags filled and found more than a half of a half-ton truck full of bottles. After they finished, they all went to Hardisty and had ice-cream and pop.

Then, they all went home exhausted and tired and saying they will never throw garbage out of the windows again.



The clubs would like to thank Brodie's Bakery for the delicious doughnuts and longjohns. They really hit the spot!

The Drumheller, Alta. firm of Hayden Homes Limited, represented by Pat Madden and Art Alexandre, recently received the Manufactured Products Division (MPD) of Engineered Homes' Construction Quality Award.

Hayden Homes was recognized for its high standard of construction quality among MPD's network of Allied Builders throughout Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan. The Manufactured Products Division has more than 90 Allied Builder members and had been building design award-winning homes since 1943.

A committee of MPD sales management personnel evaluated the various Allied Builders' performances during 1978 and judged them on the criteria of house siting, structural standards, mechanical and electrical work, finishing work, overall workmanship, attention to detail, housekeeping and the visual impact of the finished product.

During the presentation MPD General Manager Steve Majko complimented Hayden Homes on its professional competence and business integrity.

We are proud to be associated with a firm that at all times demonstrates an organized approach to house construction and portrays our product in an impressive manner, he said.

If you would like a new home built for you, give Pat Madden or Art Alexandre a call. From foundation to finishing you can rely on highly skilled crews to do the best possible job — and then some!

These four CFB Cold Lake personnel took part in the rescue of 11 people last month, who had gone down in their malfunctioning helicopter near Lac La Biche. The four, part of a six-man rescue team, are (left to right) Rocky Hendrickson, Rick Cameron, Paul Prenette and Nels Jensen, son of Mrs. Daisy Jensen of Hardisty. Capt. Jensen piloted one of the two Twin Hueys involved in the rescue operation.

Former Hardisty man aids in rescue

Helicopters from CFB Cold Lake performed a rescue operation on Easter Monday that successfully transferred a number of victims from a private helicopter to Lac La Biche hospital in two and a half hours.

A base helicopter flown by Capt. Nels Jensen with crew members Major Leo Galvin and Corp. Rocky Hendrickson was returning from Edmonton when it picked up a Mayday call after a chopper belonging to Nahanni Helicopters of Delta, B.C. went down approximately 50 miles west of Cold Lake with 10 people on board at about 2:30 p.m.

Apparently, the company helicopter was engaged in seismic surveys. The Mayday call actually came from a second Nahanni copter which retired to Lac La Biche for assistance.

The Jensen helicopter called the base and a standby helicopter was dispatched to the site near Fork Lake, about 40 miles north of Ashmont.

Both base helicopters were Twin Hueys and the second crew was comprised of Lt. Rich Cameron, Capt. Bob Kobierski, MCpl. Paul Fennette, Dr. Capt. Ross Yoneda and medical assistants Cpl Barb Britton and Srg. Wayne Lablanc.

The Cameron crew was the first on the scene and had to land 400 yards away from the actual crash site.

Three of the victims were seriously injured, two less so, and five had minor injuries.

In the meantime, the Rescue Co-ordination Centre in Edmonton dispatched a twin Otter and the Jensen crew returned to the scene.

The injured were taken to the closest hospital, in Lac La Biche, and planes were readied there to take people on to Edmonton if necessary, but were not needed.

Base Publicity Officer Capt. Bob Morris says that search and rescue operations are the responsibility of the Rescue Co-ordinating Centre, but the base does give assistance when asked.

Response time is important, he points out, and in this case, the base was able to complete the operation quickly.

Capt. Nels Jensen, who flew one of the base helicopters in the rescue, is the son of Mrs. Daisy Jensen of Hardisty.

Hardisty and District News

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Madden and family of Drumheller, Mrs. Madden's mother and some friends also of Drumheller, were in St. Paul's United Church on Sunday and had their daughter Susanne christened by Rev. Jackson. Cland and Ivy May were the godparents.

Afterwards, a delicious dinner was served at Pat and Marion Maddens' for relatives and friends.

The Perry Powells attended the graduation exercises in Irma when Beverly Ann Bell, their granddaughter, and one of 20 young people to graduate in Irma last Friday night.

Then, on Saturday, Doreen and Irving Bell entertained a number of relatives and friends in honour of Bev's graduation.

Many relatives and friends attended the funeral in Provost United Church for the late Mrs. MacIntyre.

She was born in Eagle, Ontario in 1885 and came to Alberta in 1909 with her husband.

She lived in the Provost area for many years, later moving south of Metiskow after the passing of her husband. She and Lawrence lived together where Bill Davies now lives.

She spent some time in the Provost Lodge, later moving to Stony Plain Lodge where she was close to Lawrence and Betty.

Clifford Fossen sang "In Thy Garden." The pallbearers were Mac Iverson, Ken McDearmid, Ted Knox, Frank Bennefeld and Bill Senior.

Honourary pallbearers were Paul Mazure, Oliver Peddicord, Vern Downing, Raymond Bennefeld Ben Flaade and Arne Busk.

Interment was beside her husband in the Provost Cemetery.

The children of Mrs. MacIntyre were all able to attend with their wives, and several grandchildren attended as well as some great grandchildren. Many friends from Hardisty, Amisk and Hughenden were there also.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mazure, who celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary on May 8. They were treated to a Chinese food supper at Seto's by their son, Paul, and his family.

Hedley Sanson, who is Lawrence MacIntyre's brother-in-law, and who was brought up in the Amisk area, was asking about many of his old friends, especially members of the Sampson family.

Your reporter was not able to attend the political meeting May 8, but rumour has it that Rev. Jackson was a very capable chairman and there was a hall full of interested people, with Arnold Malone making the town rounds the next morning.

Church nears completion

The Killam Baptist Church congregation will re-occupy its newly-renovated sanctuary Sunday, May 27 after meeting for the past two months in the basement of the new wing. This follows very closely the recent arrival of Mr. Bob Cochrane, who conducted his first services as the new pastor on Sunday, May 20.

Started in 1975, the new 20-foot by 60-foot wing, immediately west of the existing sanctuary, houses the pastor's study, church office, nursery, three Sunday School rooms, kitchen and hall. The addition has been in use since late March while renovations were underway in the sanctuary. The latter has been enlarged by removing partitions and is refinished throughout its interior. The sanctuary and new wing are furnished with carpet and equipped with a PA system.

Mr. Cochrane comes from Regina where he worked in a lay teaching ministry in Hillsdale Baptist Church. In October, 1977, Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane visited the mission fields of the Baptist General Conference in Japan and the Philippines, after which they toured some 20 interested churches giving their first-hand account. Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane have been associated with camp work, youth ministries, child evangelism and the Gideons.

On the first Sunday in the main sanctuary, May 27 at 7 p.m., the youth group will present a drama, "Two Shall See the Light," under the direction of Glen and Lis Werner.

Chamber discusses lots, winning farm choices

Twenty-one members were present at the regular dinner meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce held in the Anglican Hall May 15. Vice-president Al Strobel welcomed new member Mr. David Black and expressed appreciation to the Anglican Ladies for the excellent meal.

Mayor Koshli reported only eight lots were left in the new subdivision and that levelling work on the machine storage building was started. The Farm Awards Committee presented its choices, which were accepted by the meeting. There were three possibilities suggested by the committee working on the auxiliary railway crossing, and the county is to be approached on one of these.

A letter from the Alberta Chamber of Commerce was read about the 41st annual meeting to be held in Red Deer July 10, 11 and 12. The chamber also received application forms for the Gold Eye Youth Camp. Thank you letters were received from the senior citizens, library, play school and Mrs. Bruce. Flagstaff Further Education Council requested a representative to attend its annual meeting June 11.

A request for assistance from Hal Sparrow to build a trailer dump was received and discussed. This would be a free service to the community. It was decided that on completion of the project, chamber would give $200 on the understanding that Mr. Sparrow would supply water and normal service. It was also suggested that the department of Highways be asked for road signs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Potiage again extended the invitation to hold the June meeting at their home in the form of a barbecue on June 28 at 7 p.m.

As this is also the chamber's annual meeting, a nominating committee was named to choose an executive for next year.

It was agreed to invite Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lysons to be our guests on this occasion.

A discussion about non-resident tradesmen working and selling in town without a permit created some lively interest. It was decided that a committee present a letter to the town council requesting that non-resident tradesmen be required to have a permit and pay a fee to operate within the town limits.

Local students travel east

While in Montreal, the Central High students will visit television studios, Old Montreal, tour cultural and recreational centres and experience many facets of life in a large city. The students will also visit historic Quebec City.

They will return to Sedgewick on Sunday, May 27.

Editorially

All over but the recounts

Well, it's over. The 1979 federal election realised a victory for Joe Clark and his conservative party.

There weren't too many surprised when the western polls were counted. The PCs swept the field while the Liberals elected only a minimal, if any, candidates in the western provinces.

The Liberal votes were again from the east, but it was nice to see that the PCs did better than ever in that area of our country as well. Maybe this time, all parts of Canada will have representation when Mr. Clark calls together the House of Commons.

We watched with great interest the election coverage Tuesday night when former Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau conceded his loss and Clark's gain.

He conceded with a class, something we wish our own policitcal candidate Jack Horner, might have. The Crowfoot constituency saw a resounding conservative victory for Arnold Malone. We don't think even he expected his majority to be so large.

We wish the new prime minister, Joe Clark, success. At 39 years of age, he is Canada's youngest prime minister, and as a native Albertan, he is the first western-born leader this country has elected. We hope those characteristics will be instrumental in his leadership, and in bringing together all regions of this country into a united Canada. Too long the west has felt independent of the goings-on in Ottawa, and too long have some in Quebec wanted to be independent.

Trudeau has indicated he will remain leader of the Liberal party and the new leader of the opposition in parliament. It will make for an interesting government – we hope one that is best for Canada.

What Others Say

Right to publish?

A few weeks ago, Doug Caston, publisher of the Edson Leader, got in to a little hot water over publishing an article prematurely, according to the new elections act, and threatened with retribution.

Now Doug is not the kind of guy to take an accusation like that lying down and as expected came out with a fiery editorial in his last issue expressing his views about the whole thing. It follows:

"Needless to say, we have had some comments on my stand on 'going to jail' over what I consider my 'right to publish.' An old friend of the family phoned in to say that she would make sure I had breakfast if they kept me in jail in Edson. What about The Fort, Simmonds?

We didn't intentionally put in Joe Clark's free column – it has been hanging on the hook for several weeks before the election was called and one of the staff popped it into a vacant space in the issue of April 4.

While it wasn't intentional on our part, but inadvertent, some editor-publisher somewhere in Canada is going to have to take a stand, publish something contrary to the amended Elections Act 1977, and thereby force a test case in the courts.

We can't really believe that the all-party committee of the House of Commons thought through the implications of the amendments they recommended after the 1974 election. My point of view is that if the government, any government, can tel me what I can't publish for four weeks – is the day far off when government starts to tell us what we can publish during any period?

It is the favourite ploy of budding dictatorships, and we've seen a few of them arise in recent years with emerging nations and banana republics. Standard procedure is to clobber a newspaper's newsprint supply at the same time their intimidation of the newspaper's advertisers dries up the financial viability of the publication. The result – another thorn removed from the side of the dictatorship and another nail in the coffin of free speech and free press comment.

In our non-legalistic opinion, this section of the Canada Elections Act 1977 is clearly at variance with the traditions of parliamentary democracy and the Canadian Bill of Rights as passed by former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's government.

The Bill of Rights, as we understand its purpose, says that all other acts by the Government of Canada must conform to the basic freedoms outlined in the Bill of Rights unless specifically exempted in certain narrow circumstances."

Another contentious point about the new elections act that Doug did not mention is that a new edict on the control and costs of advertising space.

Verbatim from the act it reads: "It is prohibited to charge a registered party or candidate a rate for a partisan political advertisement that exceeds the lowest rate for an equal amount of equivalent advertising space in the same issue of the periodical or in any other issue published or disbursed and made public in that period."

In plain language, it restricts a publisher from charging his current transient rate to a political party or candidate and must charge the lowest rate charged to any advertiser in the same publication. Apart from the fact that it is dictatorial is restricting a publisher on what he can or may charge, it doesn't make too much sense and will be hard to act accordingly, considering that many of the advertisers are on special volume contract rates while the politicians are transient.

More bloody restrictions that are bound to cause problems and may have to be tested in the courts if any charges arise from them.

The Third Column

by Truncate
[I Write As I Please]

BUTTON, WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON. Do you remember that little fun game we used to play? A sort of semi-intellectual thing to pass some of the time at kid parties? Of course, you have to be three score at least to remember because the game went out of style many years ago. Nowadays we play a different Button game, but more of that later. In my remembered game, you had to be alert, in possession of good eyesight and the intelligence to distinguish between various facial expressions. If you were watchful and smart you ended up as boss of the game, and that was the object of the whole thing. Oh, I tell you, they really taxed the I.Q. in those scary days. Not really as sophisticated as musical chairs, when the object was not only to get seated but to get the girl friend landed on your knee flustered and red-faced. It was fun though, but not nearly as demanding as Button Button.

THERE ARE ALL KINDS OF BUTTONS. Remember that piano player, Libber something or other. We won't try to spell it because we'd probably botch the job. Anyway, this gentleman would breeze onto the platform bedecked in a coat of many colours, covered with buttons of every description from imitation pearls to other equally useless varieties. Then in a maudlin voice stranded somewhere between a fawning grandmother and a broken phonograph record, announce his act. But making up for all the other shortcomings, hypnotize his audience with superb tickling of the ivory keys.

THEN THERE WERE the good old utility buttons. You know, the kind used on the front vents of trousers to keep the aperture safely closed, or at the back acting as anchors for the good old police suspenders. They had to be sturdy man, and made of good material, true and trusty. Alas, today they have given way to mechanical devices of bastard parentage and hazardous application.

NOW WE COME TO THE REAL BUTTON and the original of them all. The good old BELLY BUTTON. This is the most common one of all for everybody has one, male and female, rich and poor. We have this in common. They differ to be sure. Some look like an elevated plateau in the midst of the wilderness, while others resemble a gully in the mountainous terrain. Situated as it is in the middle of a vast space, it yet has the appearance of holding the whole thing together. After strict search and due inquiry, I have learned that after the umbilical cord has been severed, the belly button is a useless accoutrement to the human anatomy. It has served its purpose, save as a decorative reminder of birth. So there it rests, like a ten-cent piece surrounded by five dollar bills, and nobody in this day and age is going for dimes. Yet not one of us wants this decorative item to stray away. We like it the way it is.

THAT'S EXACTLY what the lady had in mind when she sued her doctor for damages and won $860 thousand for a misplaced Belly Button. Oh, she still has her's, but in our modern day and haste to get a job done, it appears the attending surgon threw away his needle and thread and subetitued a zig zag machine. Result? Her beautiful and enticing belly button ended up two inches on the blas, a most distressing and disturbing event for a sustaining blonde. Men would look with disgust and distaste on a belly button that's off centre. That's the way the judge saw it anyway. BUTTONS come in all sizes, shapes and prices, but $850 thousand for an ordinary belly button. Now there's Inflation for you. Mine's for sale at that price, providing my doctor can guarantee closure of the incision with safety and professionalism. Any buyers?

COME ALIVE . .

-Lorne Fisher

DO YOU?

It has been said that every snowflake drifting down to settle upon the earth is imperceptibly different to its counterpart. Does design of this magnitude just happen or can we find a hint of a creator having had an influence on our world?

The sun, approximately 93,000,000 miles away would take us 64,583 days travelling at 60 miles per hour to reach, is the life supply of our planet. Neglect the influence of the sun and plants die, which in turn causes animals and humans to suffocate from lack of [illegible].

Ice would cover our continent as the Arctic and Antarctic if we were to snuff out the fire of the sun. Is this balance of nature and seasons just a hit and miss, trial and error unification produced by foreign pieces of matter suddenly coming together? Or can we be persuaded of a power greater than this world laying a foundation of balance, relativity and cohesion.

Ants have always been referred to as an army: disciplined, resourceful and virtually unmatched in ratio of strenth to size. Eagles soar in relaxed flight shewing an inborn instinct to search the skies for the many natural up-drafts to carry them to heights and pleasure man has only begun to enjoy. Scientists are just now realizing the possibilities of porpoises and other creatures of the sea being used in underwater salvage and rescue operations. It is very taxing on our minds to have to try and equate all these wonderful and marvelous beings to be the result of happen-stance or an accident.

The Bible says, "God created man in His own image and sustains man by His Son, Jesus Christ." We breathe, sleep, eat, work, play and enjoy our families because God supports or supplies to us all necessary ingredients to maintain this life. Even if we do not realize it or do not care, still God keeps up the supply.

Yes, our living depends on God. Everything of nature in this world points to a Creator and Diety. What does your nature point to. Do your kind actions and polite conversation give evidence to a righteous, loving and caring God? Or is the beautiful picture upon God's canvas smudged by drunkedness, beating of your family, moral rottenness or by a deceitful tongue?

COME ALIVE, GOD CARES.
DO YOU?

ALBERTA'S AGRICULTURE

Very early in Alberta's development, agriculture as an industry was discouraged. The fur traders worried that settlements would scare the animals away and thus, harm their industry.

Most of the credit for Alberta's agriculture development in the late 1800s should go to the Northwest Mounted Police. They not only encouraged farming and agriculture, but experimented with small garden-plots.

Alberta maintains the largest livestock population of Canada's western provinces, accounting for almost half the cattle and calves, more than 40 per cent of the hogs, and nearly 55 per cent of the sheep and lambs.

Alberta's population is eight per cent of Canada's total, yet we produce 20 per cent of the nation's food supply.

WHAT IS HAM?

Ham means meat from the hind leg of a pig, according to federal government regulations.

In the fresh state, the hind leg of the pig is often referred to as leg-of-pork, however, in both the live hog and in a carcass or cut form, it is widely known as the ham.

While there are several processed pork products in the market place that look much like ham, for example a smoked picnic or cottage roll, they cannot be called a ham as they come from the front shoulder of the pig.

A popular misconception is that any cured pork product is ham. This is simply not so.

Each processor has his own particular curing procedure imparting a characteristic flavour of ham. Consumers may be well advised to select hams by brand name. When purchasing cured, smoked products, such as hams, be sure to read the label. Cooking and heating instructions are often provided.

SPRING CLEANING
by Rose Marie Bee

Spring cleaning should not take long
If I wisk through it like a breeze;
But little things get in the way
As my memory they tease.

Like a bundle of old letters
An autograph, trinkets small;
These items full of memories,
I should get rid of them all.

Books and toys to sort through
Souvenirs from a visited place;
Treasures collected thru the years
Bring back a smile to my face.

Spring cleaning gets me nowhere
Oh, I've washed and dusted at will;
But what I'd intended to throw away,
Remains in the same place still.

Rural land buying to be controlled

Restrictions against rural land buying by foreign-controlled corporations have been tightened a notch in revised Alberta regulations which go into force June 1.

The government will scrutinize the full chain of controlling interests behind firms which attempt to acquire farm and recreational real estate in the province.

Review of companies' nationalities has covered only their immediate parent interests, one step removed from the nominal purchasers, under temporary rules which have been enforced for two years.

No major changes were made in the restrictive policy when the Lougheed cabinet passed long-awaited permanent regulations and proclaimed in force the Agricultural and Recreation Land Ownership Act.

Non-Canadians are prohibited from buying more than 20 acres of land outside the boundaries of cities, towns, new towns, villages and summer villages.

Exceptions will continue to be made when property is acquired for industrial processing, manufacturing, commercial or transportation facilities and new residential subdivisions.

Companies are considered to be non-Canadian when they are more than half-owned by foreign interests.

Slightly liberalized rules are made for public companies whose shares trade on Canadian stock exchanges. In figuring ownership, the government counts only shareholders with five per cent or more of the stock apiece. But at least two-thirds of their directors have to be Canadian citizens or permanent residents of the country.

David Coombs, director of the provincial foreign land ownership administration, reported that the two-year-old controls have worked.

The government continues to collect information on foreign land buying in the cities. But no figures are available and the Lougheed cabinet shows no interest in limiting foreign control of urban Alberta.

In the countryside, foreigners acquired 29,620 acres between May 1, 1977, and December 31, 1978. However, all but 2,190 acres were acquired under agreements already made when the rules were imposed. They were not retroactive.

The cabinet exempted foreign buyers from the restrictions 21 times and all but eight of the permitted transactions increased non-Canadian holdings.

But while exempted buyers picked up 9,364 acres, that was far less than the record 77,565 acres that foreigners acquired in the month of August alone in 1976, the year before restrictions were imposed.

Coombs reported, "The percentage of foreign rural sales to total rural sales dropped from just over six per cent to just under one per cent during the first year the regulations were in effect and the percentage continues to fall."

Dayland fair rewarding youngsters

The Agriculture Society held its monthly meeting on Tuesday, May 15. Reports showed fair plans for 1979 are progressing well and the fair books are now available in all stores in Lougheed.

As a tribute to youth in the International Year of the Child, the Dayland Agriculture Society is awarding special cash awards plus usual prize money to the child with the highest number of points in each junior section, omitting school work. So children, get your exhibits ready. The seeds for the junior horticulture section are available at Cockburns Gift Shop.

The Sunbeam Club met in the hall May 16 with 27 members present. There were two who played scrabble and six tables of whist were played as well.

High score went to Ted Bendfeld and two won the low with the same score, Catherine Green and Kamille Knudsen. The next game is in two weeks on May 30 at 1:30 p.m.

1979 pandazte were given out to all of the Dayland Graduation Class, compliments of the Cockburn Gift Shop.

Mrs. Rose Kishkewich has just returned from a nice holiday in Vancouver, B.C. visiting some of her family and friends.

Visiting at the Fred Makarowski's for a belated wedding anniversary and a early Mothers' Day May 5 were their daughter Kay Lasecsen from Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hamilton and two children from Edson, the Werner Koehli's and family, the Marvin Makarowskis and family of Dayland and Mr. and Mrs. Al Guthiel from Calgary.

The Dayland High School sold tickets on a hind quarter of beef, cut and wrapped, valued at $225; on 20 lbs. of ham valued at $32; and on a 20-lb. turkey at $27. The draw was made last Tuesday night at the Lions bingo with the winners as follows: the beef - Mrs. Maureen Larson (nee Koehli) of Edmonton; the ham to Mr. Andy Toth of Dayland; and the turkey to Judy Thorburn of Strome. The raffle was sponsored by the Dayland School and proceeds went to the Dayland School photocopier fund.

In Profile: Memories of a '43 Ford

It sits in the mud behind Killam's Shell Sunset Service. The worn red paint emphasizes its age while blowing dirt climbs its exterior to almost cover the faded white lettering: Killam Fire Department.

But the hasty park job among seasonal water puddles is only temporary. In less than a month, the 1943 truck will again drive down Killam's main street – and looking like new.

The now-antique model was Killam's main fire truck when it was purchased in 1961 from High Prairie. Originally, an air force crash wagon, the '43 Ford is being restored by Killam's volunteer fire brigade. Residents will see the results of the men's efforts June 9 when the truck leads Killam's annual parade.

It occupied the main stall in the fire hall until 1968 when a newer, 1956 model took its place. But it still saw active duty as the back-up unit until only a few years ago when a 1976 truck became the town's primary fire-fighting unit.

With its purchase, the 1960s model took over as back-up and the '43 Ford was retired for occasional work on sewer lines and general street maintenance.

Killam's Gord Hilker recalls earlier days when the '43 Ford was first purchased. He and Louis Watts, fire chief at the time, were elected to bring the truck to its new home. It's a trip Mr. Hilker says he's not soon to forget. The truck wasn't equipped with windows at the time so Mr. Hilker drove from High Prairie to Killam in the cool, early spring weather with nature's own air conditioning.

A tandem, six-wheel drive, it was an ideal truck, he remembers, "new trucks can't beat that traction, especially in farmers' fields."

With the town's purchase of the 1956 truck, Hilker again found himself in charge of retrieving fire equipment – this time from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

This model, with a capacity for 750 gallons of water, outdid old '43 by 100 gallons. Although 650 gallons always has been plenty to extinguish a house fire in town, says Killam Fire Chief Reuben Link, it wasn't always enough to combat a brush fire in the rural areas. Even today, with the two present trucks both holding 750 gallons, the fire brigade likes to locate near a slough or dugout in case extra water is needed.

The 1943 Ford being restored wasn't Killam's first fire truck, however, Mr. Hilker adds. "A real antique," the original was an open-cab model, making it look a great deal like a chauffeur-driven vehicle.

It's unfortunate, Mr. Hilker says, that it too wasn't kept and restored. Today, that type of fire-fighting equipment is seen only in antique shows.

The '43 Ford almost wasn't kept either, says Mr. Link. The town wanted to sell it until the fire brigade suggested the restoration project and offered to do the work. Town officials provided $200 toward the project.

When completed, the old fire truck will have a new clutch and other minor mechanical parts replaced. The entire body will have been painted, as well as the tires which are almost impossible to replace, says the fire chief.

Military-type tires such as the ones made in 1943 for war vehicles are exceedingly difficult to locate, he explains. And since the truck is being restored to admire, not use, the original tires are in good shape for the minimal number of miles they will travel.

All-in-all, the volunteer work force isn't facing a great deal of repairs to complete before parade-time June 9. Basic fire equipment, such as the pump, didn't deteriorate over the years and is still operational.

Only one problem remains, Mr. Link notes. Neither the fire brigade nor the town is sure where the '43 Ford can be housed after restoration is complete. With only enough room to park the town's present two fire trucks, the fire hall hasn't the size to accommodate another vehicle. The men are hoping something can be found. After their work in preserving a part of Killam's history is complete, they don't want to see it parked outdoors year 'round again.

Gretna Good Will

The meeting of the Gretna Good Will Club was held at the home of Helen O'Reilly's on May 9. In attendance were all the members and one visitor.

The secretary read the previous minutes and there were discussions on several items. One of the items was that we bring articles for the Lougheed Playschool to our September meeting.

Correspondence was read and our offer to Karen Simpson to serve at her wedding reception was accepted.

We decided we would buy decorations for showers, etc. for Bellshill Hall. We also decided to buy a new briefcase because the one we're using has had too many years of use.

It was Chrissie's birthday the next day so the ladies sang happy birthday to her. Also, the birthday box got its donation.

We decided to buy a wedding present for Eugene Huse and his bride who were married in April.

At this meeting, all signed three beautiful cards and sent them to three wonderful great grandmothers for Mothers' Day. Etta read a poem, "What's A Mother?" Helen O. also read a reading.

We had a regal surprise package, which was very interesting with many nice articles. About one half of the articles was sold.

The treasurer gave her report and we have a nice, healthy bank account.

We then had the roll call, which was answered by each of us by bringing plants or seeds and exchanging them with each other.

The next meeting is to be at Mary Albrecht's on June 13. Chrissie is to be co-hostess. The roll call will be "A bad habit I would like to overcome."

The hostess prize was won by Mary A. and our guest, Esther Carter, was the lucky tea cup prize. Both prizes were very practical and very cute.

The hostess served a very delicious lunch seated around the kitchen table. The tablecloth was crocheted, and made many years ago and so beautiful. Helen S. was co-hostess and as always, Helen S. brought the dessert, just loaded with calories.

Lougheed Legion ladies note auxiliary activities

The Lougheed Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting May 15. President Olive Grieve was in the chair.

The Auxiliary Prayer was read by Margaret Denham.

Roll call was answered by 10 members and one visitor with 12 visits to the sick.

Minute were read and approved. Hazel Swainson gave a very good report on the rally at St. Paul.

Sincere congratulations to Sunny Barton who again is our district commander. She thanked the members for their congratulations.

Hazel Swainson thanked the auxiliary for giving her the opportunity to attend the rally. In return, Hazel was thanked by the members who accompanied her. It was a very enjoyble day.

There was one letter from the Flagstaff Further Education Council. Edna Duffield will attend their meeting June 11.

The financial statement was read and adopted. A motion was made that bills be paid.

A round of enthusiastic applause was given our playground committee who did such a good job cleaning up the playground of leaves, etc. Thanks to Sunny Barton and Hazel Swainson.

The card convenor had sent two cards. There was no cupboard report. A note of thanks will be sent to the gardener who looks after the little flower garden at the hut.

Discussion was held on playground equipment. This was tabled to a later date, and How To Raise Some Money was tabled until the fall.

Acting Sergeant-At-Arms Edna Duffield escorted Past-President Barbara Kuntz to the front, where Olive Grieve with a few well-chosen words presented her with her P.P. Pin. A round of applause was given Barbara.

For her program, Edna Duffield read a few auxiliary rules, which were discussed and voted on.

Birthday girl was Barbara Kuntz. A lovely lunch was enjoyed

For the meeting on June 21, Mrs. G. Potter and Mrs. J. Johnson will be hostesses. Barbara Kuntz will be in charge of the program.

Trinity LCW meet

The Lougheed Trinity LCW held its regular meeting at the church on May 17. President Jenny Mae Tweedy chaired the meeting, which saw seven members present.

The meeting opened with a welcome and the preamble. All took part in the Bible Study.

Minutes and the financial report were read and approved.

A motion was made that outstanding bills be paid.

In keeping with Mothers' Day, the roll call was answered by "Something I remember being scolded for."

In correspondence, a thank-you card was received from Ray and Bev Neibergal, a letter from Flagstaff Further Education council which was tabled until fall, and a letter of thanks from Bible of the Month Club.

A motion was made to send a donation to Hastings Lake Bible Camp.

Activity kits are to be brought to the June meeting.

Donna Soehnn gave her report on the convention held in Camrose May 5.

Irene Potter read a very nice reading entitled "When God Created Mothers."

Hostess Ramona Kinghorn served everyone's favourite angel cake and sauce.

Our president had brought items in which the members were asked to make some small thing to give to a good friend. There were crosses, book marks, etc. made and very effective, too.

The meeting adjourned. Jerry Johnson won the hostess prize.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

WILL . . . OR WILL NOT

Recently, I had the opportunity to attend a seminar on wills and estate planning. Morbid? Possibly. Necessary? Most certainly! Dying is a fact of life so why not plan for this like we plan the rest of our lives – hopefully with a great deal of care and concern. How many people do you know would have to admit that the thought of sitting down and planning a will with their families makes them very uneasy? Doesn't it make sense that everyone concerned should not only know what to expect, but should make their own wishes known so they could be considered. This may seem like inviting trouble beforehand, but it would seem to be preferable to trouble later when nothing can be done about it.

Ever hear of a case where NO. 1 son farms with dad all his life. Dad dies. No. 1 son finds he is now not the owner but merely a partner with his three brothers. Next step – family feud, heartbreak, and the end of the family farm deal worked his whole life to build. This could have been avoided by careful planning, with the lifestyles of the family members kept in mind from the start. What better way than to sit down together and discuss it?

Many of us strongly suspect we have another 25 to 30 years yet so why panic? Do you have a written guarantee on that? What position would your family be in if you didn't come home from work today? Not just you mean – how about the ladies? What if something happened to both of you? Have you appointed a guardian for your underage children? No will! Does the public trustee dispense with the kinds by tender, too!

How don't rush off to the nearest lawyer, walk blindly in and make out your will. First, talk to your accountant, your banker, your friends, and most of all, your family. Some of you are putting yourselves on the back, be careful, don't be too smug. How old is that will you made and how relevant to your family's present needs is it? If you're not sure, chances are some revisions are in order. Don't get around to it sooner or later – it maybe later than you think! Will you or will you not . . . It's up to you!

Clean-up involves local club

When we work together, we share the load
Lift that bag, tote that load.
I help my club clean roads!
-written by a 4-H highway clean-up member.

This is how 11 members of the Killam 4-H Horse Club felt on Saturday, May 12. We met at the junction of Highway 26 and 13 to clean 10 miles south on 26.

It was fun cleaning the ditches. We found all sorts of things, from a dollar bill to pampers. We collected 60 bags of garbage and we thank Mr. Wheller for the pop and chocolate bars at coffee break.

We also would like to thank the person who donated the pop to all 4-H members through the Killam Co-op. It tasted really good at the end of the clean-up.

This is a good way for our clubs to raise money and help the community to look spic and span.

Camrose-based store to expand service, site

A Camrose based, locally-owned independent retail drug company has announced plans for a major expansion. Town & Country Drugmart will be taking over the retail space now occupied by the Camrose Co-op Store when the co-op expands to west Camrose in 1980-81.

The move will allow Town & Country to expand its already aggressive merchandising techniques to 10,000 square feet and will provide a "London Drug" type of outlet for Camrose and area. The expansion will facilitate the "direct" buying now in full swing and will aid in shipping stock to the companies "satellite" stores located in Killam, Tofield and Leduc.

The present location, next to the Smith Clinic, will continue to operate with more space being devoted to prescription service, patient aids, supports and ambulatory appliances. A computer will be added this fall and will be large enough to serve both stores when the location across the street is opened. The balance of the building, constructed 20 years ago by the Smith Clinic partners, will house expanded offices for Town & Country Drugmart, the Camrose Coin Laundry, L.A.C. and Century 21 Real Estate.

Town & Country Drugmart Ltd. was formed in 1975 when Lawrence McFadyen, president, and Robert Borth of Borth-Bailey Drugmart (1973) Ltd. became the major shareholders. The small chain, which employs more than 50 people in east-central Alberta, has expanded rapidly with the population growth in the Leduc and Tofield areas. Other key office personnel are Walter McFadyen, well-known Camrose man, and Edward Borth, founder of Borth Pharmacy (1962) Ltd. in Killam and owner of an active farm operation near Alliance.

Physical expansion is planned also as soon as possible in the Tofield and Killam Town & Country Drugmart stores.

Flagstaff ball clubs organize

Well, it's time to pull out the bats, balls and gloves and start another season of fastball. This year, the Flagstaff Fastball League will have eight teams competing.

Teams playing are: Lougheed Barons, Sedgewick Cougars, Sedgewick Juniors, Killam Cubs, Alliance Bandits, Galahad Blues, Forestburg Flames, and the new entry Cam-Ron Construction.

Fastball has undergone a number of new rule changes. It should make this year a very exciting one to the players, as well as the fans.

Indications are the power houses this year will be the Lougheed and Forestburg clubs. The Cubs will have some new faces in their line-up as well as will the Sedgewick Cougars.

The Alliance and Galahad entries have basically the same line-up as last year. The Saints have the youngest team members in the league with the new entry being a question mark.

Watch for a selection of finishers in upcoming issues.

Upcoming games to watch: Thursday, May 24 - Lougheed and Alliance; Galahad at Flames; Saints at Killam; and Cam-Ron at Cougars.

On Monday, May 28, it's Cougars at Alliance; Lougheed at Galahad; Flames at Saints; and Cam-Ron at Killam.

Mothers' Day was a most unusual and memorable day this May 13.

First of all, at 11 a.m., a girl across the hallway at the YWCA in Halifax and I found ourselves going to the same church, St. Matthews United, a beautiful old building with coffee and cookies served in the basement afterwards.

We had the pleasure of meeting a lovely old gentleman who knew Christine's grandfather, a United Church minister, also a second cousin of my father's, who is a retired United Church minister in Guelph, Ontario.

On Saturday, I phoned Sister Joseph Mary and she invited me to come on Sunday to Mount St. Vincent, the Mother House. It was her day off so she could show me around.

So many sisters and some homeless women have retired there.

I believe Sister. Joseph Mary is just as active as when in Hardisty for 19 years. She showed me the various rooms, single, much like our auxiliary hospital's only each has their own room and a very nice size.

Sister also took me through the archives, showing the dolls dressed in the various habits from the beginning of the order, and also a few things saved from the fire when the original Mother House burned down.

When Sister Elizabeth Seton, founder of the order, was canonized, 10 sisters were chosen to go to Rome and their names were put in the bible. A priest drew out the 10 names and Sister Joseph Mary's was fourth, so she was happy to get an unexpected trip to Rome.

Some of the sisters I met who had been in Hardisty or in Alberta were Sister Anna Louise, Sister Catherine Peter, administrator of St. Vincent's guest house, Sister Miriam Concepta, Sister Leo Frances, who wished to be remembered to the Debocks, Sister Agnes Leo, Sister James Veronica and so many wished to be remembered to all in Hardisty. Sister Clare also remembered Hardisty well.

Sister Devota, who was in Hardisty for some time, passed away in February.

On May 15, I went by bus to North Sydney to visit Ray and Ian McKinnons' parents, brothers and sisters and what a lovely reception I received from them.

They took me that evening to visit Mr. and Mrs. Adair, Ruth Tillman's parents and sister, and there too was a royal welcome.

Sister Elizabeth Veitch in the Halifax Infirmary and although she was very weak was pleased to have me call on her. She is back at the Mother House but in very weak and we only hope for an improvement in her health soon.

Maryon Drager has just returned from a week in Calgary where she attended several performances of the Kiwanis annual music festival held at the Jubilee Auditorium.

Some 35,000 participants gathered for the festival this year so all the classes were large and competition was keen.

Beverley Ritthaler, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Drager, placed among the winners in four out of five of her five classes. She took two firsts and two seconds, and also won a scholarship.

Mrs. Drager also had the opportunity of seeing the First Battalion Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry on parade through the streets of Calgary as they were granted the freedom of the city to commemorate the Battle of Fresenberg. They also staged the Drumhead ceremony, which was most impressive.

Anglican Church Notes

Mrs. Thelma Tanton and the Ron Tanton family attended the 60th wedding anniversary celebrations of Mr. and Mrs. Erickson of Killam.

Keep in mind the Ascension Day service to be held Thursday, May 24 at 7:30 p.m. at St. George's Church, Killam.

Mr. Lindsay Tanton of Edmonton has been visiting with his relatives in the area.

Mrs. Thelma Tanton and Mrs. Doreen Conrad were visitors with Miss Flo Barton at Rosehaven in Camrose. Flo seems to be doing quite well, but would love to have more visitors.

Mrs. Cissy Clark is a patient in Camrose Hospital.

Rumour has it that Elaine Keith was away last week to a conference in Red Deer, but my news sources were able to offer no further information.

The Brewstake family of Edmonton were Sunday guests with Terry's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Richard Conrad.

Mr. Ted Lister held a family barbecue on Monday, attended from out-of-town by his sister Phyllis and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Lyle of Edmonton and cousins Jim and Nellie Lister of Pullman Market, England.

Patients in Killam Hospital this week include Mr. Harry Abbott, Mr. Phil Besser, Mrs. Verna Schultz, Mrs. C.W. McGee, Mr. Ned Butcher and Mrs. Ella Clouston. We wish them all a speedy recovery.

Everyone enjoyed the afternoon even though it was raining outside.

1979 agenda revealed

A long-awaited research policy and a lengthy shopping list of added assistance for the handicapped, the elderly, children and local governments are on the Lougheed government's 1979 agenda.

Plenty of housekeeping work but few surprises marked inauguration of the Conservatives' third term with the annual throne speech read by Lieutenant-Governor Ralph Steinhauer to open the legislature session.

The ceremonial opening was the last for Steinhauer. The farmer, Indian Association of Alberta founder and unsuccessful Liberal candidate in the 1963 federal election turns 74 June 8 and is about to retire.

The government pledged to present a five-year research plan first promised in 1975. The first step will be reorganization of the Alberta Research Council under a new chairman, Eric Musgreave (PC—Calgary Mc-Knight).

Musgreave's new job was only one in a series of appointments of 22 back-benchers to positions on 25 agencies with additional pay ranging up to $12,000 a year. MLAs' house salaries are also due for a review.

Premier Peter Lougheed announced the appointments on the heels of distributing work to four of his former cabinet ministers. The NDP and Social Credit oppositions plan to attack the "patronage" system.

Meanwhile, the throne speech repeated the Tories' winter election promises. Enacting them is expected to preoccupy much of the house sitting this spring and early summer.

Increased house improvement grants and income tax rebates for elderly home owners and renters are coming. The list also ranges from an assured income and free equipment such as wheelchairs for the handicapped to greater aid for pupils with learning disabilities and plans for a new facility for multi-handicapped deaf and blind children.

The dental care program which was in the works last fall but failed to make the grade for the Conservatives' election platform has surfaced.

Albertans were promised "expansion of preventive dental treatment services on a province-wide basis through local health units."

Education Minister Dave King recently went on record as opposing reintroduction of compulsory Grade 12 tests when an advisory committee recommended against restoring them after a seven-year absence.

But that case is not closed. The speech pledged "attention to the desirability of a regular program of testing basic skills, including literacy, prior to high school graduation."

Prospects of some new aid were held out to municipal leaders on top of the election plums of a six-year, $750-million urban transport plan and the $1-billion local government debt reduction scheme.

The administration "will consider changes to the unconditional municipal assistance grant to provide a more equitable distribution of funds among municipalities."

The government further served notice of plans to launch studies of fisheries and workers' compensation by all-party house committees.

COP TALK by the Killam RCMP Detachment

On May 18 in Strome at approximately 9:30 a.m., a local resident had her purse stolen out of her car, which was parked on Main Street near the post office. The purse was recovered, however, a quantity of money was missing. The three suspects are out-of-town young males who were in a brown metallic car parked next to the resident's vehicle. One was blond and wearing a brown leather jacket.

Sometime during the first week of May, an antique wooden door with an oval window was stolen from an empty house approximately 1½ miles east of Lougheed.

During the night of May 17/18, a tractor belonging to the County of Flagstaff was vandalised a short distance north of Lougheed. It was learned that all four tires had been shot and had to be repaired at a considerable amount. We all know who pays for that in the end.

The RCMP would appreciate any information you may have on any of the above offences and, as usual, all information will be treated as confidential. Remember, it's your friends and community this is happening to.

Have you lost anything lately? Give us a call at 385-3602; maybe we have it here. We have numerous tires and rims, a scarf and a 10-speed bike. If your description fits what we have and you can identify it, it's yours.

Recently, we have received numerous phone calls concerning a group of women who are dressed as nuns and are soliciting contributions from the public in the Dayland and Forestburg areas. This group is known as the Apostles of Infinite Love and is purportedly soliciting money and goods for the care of children in the Edmonton area. These persons are not authorized to conduct such a campaign and if they come to your attention, please notify the RCMP right away.

Summer holidays are rapidly approaching and it will be time to "get away from it all." Let's hope it's all here when you get back. The RCMP has a property check book listing your holidays in order that we may make periodic checks on the property to ensure everything is in order. This is certainly not foolproof and we strongly recommend that you have a friend or neighbour look after the house while you are away. Have someone attend to the lawn if you are leaving for extended periods. Do not leave garbage cans out, lights on during the day or allow papers to accumulate on your porch. These are all signs that nobody is home. Another nice thing I always like to read in the local paper is that you shall be away for the month of August, motoring throughout eastern Canada. This gives a thief lots of time to clean out your house. Happy motoring.

Notes from the Anglican Church

To mark its closing for the summer, the St. John's Sunday School, with the assistance of the teachers and Rev. Conrad, conducted a lovely service on Sunday morning. Laura Jean and Katharine McKee were presented with awards for perfect attendance, and Louise, Michael and Gary Tanton were recognized for missing only two Sundays. Each child was presented with a small gift. Our thanks to Sheila Tanton, Sunday School superintendent, and her assistants for their fine work.

The Killam garage sale on Monday was a resounding success. A lot of used, but usable things changed hands. Would any of our other churches like to try?

Mrs. Annie Coleman is a patient in Hardisty Hospital. Among those in Killam Hospital this week are Will and Dolly Cookson and Mrs. Clouston. Good wishes to you all.

Mr. Ned Butcher is home again after a hospital stay.

Mrs. Carol Butcher of Lougheed was a Camrose visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Smith.

The Ascension Day service in Killam last Thursday was reasonably well received.

Please make a special effort to attend the Holy Eucharist service at St. John's in Sedgewick on Thursday, May 31 at 7:30 p.m. We will be celebrating the fourth anniversary of Rev. Conrad's ordination to the priesthood. A light lunch will follow the service. Perhaps some of us could bring along something for the lunch table.

The annual pot luck supper at St. John's ACW for ACW members, their families and friends, and anyone else who might be hungry and would enjoy a pleasant meal with us will take place at the Parish Hall in Sedgewick on June 5 at 6:30 p.m. If you're wondering what to bring, please phone Margaret Culbert at 384-3573. See you there.

Steven Booth of Innisfail was a weekend guest with Bob Conrad.

Rev. Richard Conrad spent a few days last week in Lethbridge.

Rev. Glen Breese, rural dean, and Mr. Bill Davis, lay administrator of the region, were visitors to St. Edmund's Parish last Wednesday. They visited all five points, and were, for the most part, favourably impressed with our large and busy parish. They put in an extremely long day in an effort to adhere to Rev. Conrad's grueling schedule, and reports indicate they are still recovering from exhaustion.

Hope all of you had the opportunity to enjoy the plays presented by the Sedgewick Junior High School and the Flagstaff Drama Club. Our rector, cast in an eminently suitable role, put on his most diabolical performance ever. Don't you agree?

The Conrad family received a card from Mrs. Nellie Johnston who is visiting in the British Isles. She reports she is having a marvellous time.

The Killam Interdenominational Church School held its closing picnic on Sunday afternoon at Big Knife Park. Congratulations to the rector for winning a red ribbon for his skillful participation in the fun and games.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The long, strenuous "Election '79" campaign is over and gone, and this writer would like to take this opportunity to say "well done Crowfoot!" Certainly, as far as my own vote is concerned, we did not do very well. However, the fact that more than 77 per cent of the eligible voters exercised their privileges of picking the candidate of their choice leaves nothing to be bitter about or to second-guess. The people made their choice and I want to congratulate Arnold Malone and wish him success on behalf of Crowfoot Constituency. We were fortunate indeed to have been able to choose from three excellent candidates and the result should give Mr. Malone the feeling of confidence that a Member of Parliament needs.

I have always referred to our candidate, Jack Horner, as the hardest working, most dedicated person I have ever known - that feeling still stands. No one else but Mr. Horner put Crowfoot on the front pages across our land. I hope we are not forgotten.

The Liberal Party is here to stay and I wish to thank all of the people who worked so hard on our behalf. We offer no apologies - we feel no shame. The people have spoken and it is our duty to continue to work at keeping our country the finest place on earth in which to live.

Doug Herbert, President
Crowfoot Liberal Association

Dear Sir:

I would like to tell you, in our Calgary Herald last month, I noticed a picture and write-up about Clarence Dick, who was a long-time resident of Alliance.

Clarence passed away while attending to his horses at the Stampede Grounds. He was 51 years old.

I take my paper, The Enterprise, to a lady who is also from Alliance, Phyllis Yourchuk (nee Starrs), and we were wondering if you had heard as we didn't see anything about it.

A big hellow to everyone from Phyllis and myself.

THE CALL IS OUT AGAIN. The invitation is extended. The information is there and the welcome mats are out. This is the call to STAMP AROUND ALBERTA, to get to know your province and become acquainted with the historical background of many areas of Alberta. Besides that, you will find many places of real interest; places you did not know even existed.

FOR INSTANCE. Did you know there are some 75 so-called "Ghost Towns" in our province? How did they get their names? What took place there in the early days? What caused them to become uninhabited, and what historical background do they have? All this information is available to persons interested in such things. Why not seek them out?

THE BATTLE RIVER TOURIST ASSOCIATION has information galore on sites right here in our own area. How did Battle River get its name? Where does it start and where does it end? Is there some historical fact behind the name? Where are the best fishing spots? What kind of fish inhabit its waters. Visit the "high spots" of the area on Highway 14 east of Viking. See the large rock with Indian drawings of many years past, and view the panorama of scenery extending over the miles. From this lookout, count the towns and villages you can see. Rumour has it that the Indians used this spot as a meeting place and lookout point. Perhaps even in preparation for tribal warfare. Alberta is filled with history, but we seem to know more about far off places than those close at hand. Our province is filled with good campsites, our highways are among the best and accommodation is adequate, so why not?

VISIT THE SITES at Drumheller. The Badlands and the area that once produced the famous Drumheller coal. Take a trip through the Cypress Hills with its beauty and wildlife. Watch the changing scenes where the deer and the antelope roam. These are only a few of the interesting places to go right here in Alberta.

A FEW WEEKS AGO, I had the opportunity to visit the Town of Athabasca and get a short rundown of the history of the settlement. Saw the old building that housed the local printing plant built in 1894. Took a drive across the span-bridge which replaced the old ferry across the Athabasca River. We stood at the "look-out point" for a perfect view of the town, and watched the river as its current carried the water on and on toward Fort McMurray and its junction with the Clearwater River. We saw the monument which marks the spot of the famous "Athabasca Landing." You could stand there and let your imagination wander back over the years. You could almost see the old fur traders urging their canoes on downstream, loaded to the limit with the prime furs of the land, and you wondered how much effort it took to paddle the canoe against the current. How many encounters were there with Indians and fur thieves; how many musket loaders were fired at the poachers and how many canoes overturned in that mighty river? How many larger boats went aground on sandbars because the pilot misread the river? How many ancestors of the present birch trees were used to construct the canoes, and how much was used to record messages? How many hundreds of people used the old ferry to cross the mighty river?

IT'S A FAR CRY from the olden days when everything was transported by pack horse and heavy wagon or by river boat. Now the town is served by a number one highway paved all the way. Up-to-date accommodation is very plentiful and the people welcome the tourist.

THERE ARE MANY such places right here in Alberta, reeking with history and scenery. Seek them out. You will not be disappointed.

WE LEFT ATHABASCA with a cordial invitation to revisit the first week in August when the town celebrates its annual fair. I was told they go all out during that week, not only to celebrate, have fun and exhibit their talent, but go all out too to welcome visitors. Visit in Alberta this year. You will find nice people wherever you go.

Lougheed Rebekahs

Twelve members gathered on Wednesday, May 23 for the regular meeting of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge.

Sisters reported that a few members of the community were ill - some with mumps. Visits had been made to Killam and Dayaland Hospitals and the senior citizens' lodge in Sedgewick.

Plans were made to visit Silver Link Lodge in Killam on June 5 to help celebrate its anniversary.

Plans were finalized for serving at a wedding in June.

We are looking forward to helping Sis. L. Shoberg celebrate her birthday on May 27.

Officers were nominated for the following term.

Under Good of the Order, Sis. Paterson reported having received an interesting catalog.

Happy birthday was sung to Sis. Paterson.

Lodge closed in harmony, after which the members enjoyed lunch. Certain members seriously discussed and considered a second career, but concluded that anything other than being a farmer's helpmate would be dull, boring and mundane.

Members are urged to attend the next meeting because it has been promised that there will also be eggs and potatoes - the ingredients for potato salad and sandwich filling.

Highway hay cutting permits available now

Permits to cut hay on primary highway rights-of-way can now be obtained from Alberta Transportation district offices, Transportation Minister Henry Kroeger announced Friday.

Until June 15, landowners whose property adjoins the rights-of-way will be given priority in obtaining permits to cut the portions next to their land. After that date, permits will be issued on a first-come-first-serve basis.

There is a substantial amount of good quality hay available on highway rights-of-way throughout the province and Mr. Kroeger encouraged farmers to take advantage of these permits which are issued without charge.

Permits are available at Alberta Transportation district offices in Stettler, Vermilion, Hanna, Edmonton, Calgary, Red Deer, Athabasca, Edson, Grande Prairie, High Level, High Prairie, Lac La Biche, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, and Peace River.

COME ALIVE . .

-Lorne Fisher

WHERE HAVE ALL THE FLOWERS GONE?

In giving the title of this song "Where Have All The Flowers Gone?", I will no doubt give date to my youth. When this song became popular among my peers, I had no idea, nor could I have cared less, of its thought or content. But years allow wisdom to circulate through the mind and unmask the realities of life.

Not long ago, I watched a documentary about a girl who, from her infancy, was saturated with books beyond her age and with music that only an accomplished performer could properly appreciate. Her father continued this same environment right through her childhood and adolescence until she arrived at the age of responsibility. By this time, her mental capabilities were so exercised that nothing in this world was out of her ability to comprehend, should she so desire. She is now employed with a large computer company doing work withheld from public knowledge and even from the TV correspondent.

Now I realize, this is not the average student graduating from our local high school, but are we as a society putting demands on our children to excell in scholastic ability and neglecting God-given areas of responsibility.

Solomon said, "Fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." Our homes and family situations have left their greatest responsibility of directing their offspring to FEAR the Lord. Universities, seminaries and colleges have been forced by our society to dominate a young person's mind as to the alpha and omega of wisdom. Secularism tells students to say everything that is on their minds. The Bible says, "A fool's mouth is his destruction" but "He that refraineth his lips and seeketh understanding is a wise man."

The educational system is not wrong in itself but a balance of education at home involving the whole family is needed to keep our society progressing and sane. Without God and an awesome respect for Him, we can prophesy a disrupted and subverted nation and world in a short number of years.

Where has an appreciation or respect of God and His creation gone? Why are the flowers hidden from our view? Will we be able to "stop and smell the roses" five years from now or will greed, hatred, sickness, pride, indifference and lust blot out the beauty and wonder of God and His relationship to our children.

Parents, stop the world and show your kids the flowers: for from the creation of the world God's invisible qualities, such as His eternal power and divine nature, have been made visible and have been understood through His creation. It's your responsibility to train a child in the way he should go: not the church's or the school's, but you, their parents.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

SPRING'S RETURN

by Rose Marie Bos

New awakening of spring reveals
A sudden return of greening fields;
Buds are bursting on the trees
Soon leaves will rustle in the breeze.

Gophers outside their burrows come
To romp around in the warming sun;
Robin, meadowlark, crow, blackbird
From every direction songs are heard.

Homes and nests are built anew
As mothering instincts echo through;
Humming bees fly here and there
As perfumed blossoms fill the air.

Brilliant butterflies opening wings
Scores of insects and creeping things;
The creek is running merrily
Brimming its banks in rippling glee.

Beneath waters frogs constantly hum
Their croaks of joy at setting sun;
Off in the distance a coyote wails
Whining an answer to its mate.

Soon from homes young will appear
Living their lives of joy and fear;
To complete the circle of nature's plan
Bringing new life to all the land.

As penetrating sun invades the earth
Arousing anew a fresh rebirth;
Lifting icy cliff of winter's past,
The miracle of spring arrives at last.

Three Flagstaff girls win 4-H trips

One hundred and thirty 4-H club members from across the province gathered in the City of Camrose from May 18 to 22 for the 1979 Provincial 4-H Selections program to select representatives for 60 award trips. Three Flagstaff girls were recipients in the selections.

Merle Jahns of Forestburg was one of 12 chosen for the Western Provinces 4-H Seminar from August 9 to 16. Cargill Grain Company sponsors the trip.

Karen Lunty, also of Forestburg, was selected with eight others for the Interprovincial 4-H Exchange sponsored by the Royal Bank of Canada. It takes place July 9 to 23.

Galahad's Carmen Brown will travel to Ottawa as one of six delegates for the National 4-H Citizenship Seminar from May 2 to 7, 1980. The Canadian 4-H Council sponsors the national award trip.

The trips, national and international in scope, offer delegates an opportunity to travel, experience different lifestyles and compare 4-H programs. Delegates function in the capacity of ambassadors for Alberta, and the Alberta 4-H program, while in attendance at the various conference seminars, exchanges and work experience opportunities.

The 4-H members were initially chosen to attend selections on the basis of their past achievements in 4-H and in their local communities. During the program, a variety of small group situations were conducted. This year's program theme centered around the International Year of the Child. Staff observers worked closely with delegates, assessing each individual 4-H member. In addition, an exam testing 4-Hers knowledge of current events, 4-H, and children's rights was administered.

Organized and sponsored by the 4-H Branch, Alberta Agriculture, the Selection program receives sponsorship from Agriculture Canada, the Alberta Wheat Pool, and the United Grain Growers.

GREEN ACRES

by Glen Werner, DA

POISON IS POISON

The old adage "one man's food is another man's poison" may apply to a few things in life, but it certainly doesn't apply to the chemicals used in flea beetle control. Poison is poison, and must be respected as such.

There are basically three chemicals which farmers may use to control the flea beetle outbreak we are presently experiencing. They are Malathion, Furadan, and Guthion, all three are sprayed on the crop after it is up.

Malathion is the least poisonous of the three and yet can do an effective job of controlling the beetles. Several things to remember about Malathion are that it must be sprayed when the temperature is 20 degrees Celsius or higher, it should be sprayed on the beetle, and the effectiveness of the chemical lasts about two to three days. Anyone spraying Malathion should wear protective clothing, rubber gloves and a mask. Avoid chemical contact with the skin, and do not breathe the vapour or drift.

Furadan is the most toxic of the three chemicals used. Not only is it effective on the bugs, but it can poison humans, too. For example: of one was unfortunate enough to inhale or get some furadan in his mouth, it takes only one-third as much chemical as if it were Lannate. That is, it is three times more poisonous than Lannate, which was used for the Bertha Army Worms.

Furadan doesn't need 20 degrees Celsius in order to act. It can be sprayed when it's cool and the chemical lasts for up to 10 days on the plant. However, when spraying, protective clothing, rubber gloves, goggles and a charcoal respirator should be worn.

Guthion, a possible third choice is quite similar to Furadan in most respects. It is also as poisonous and must be treated with respect. Proper protection by wearing the same clothing and equipment as Furadan is a must.

One final point. If you must spray, do so with CAUTION. Be sure to read the label on the container, and especially note the information about toxicological information. If you become ill, it just may not be the flu - but rather poisoning. Take a copy of the label and contact your doctor. REMEMBER. A POISON IS A POISON.

Shower for bride-elect

Kathy Spiller was guest of honour at a bridal shower held Friday, May 25 in St. Joseph's Church Hall at Killam. Friends and relatives who signed the guest book numbered approximately 70. Ann, Irene and Rita Spiller, Linda Bonnett, Mrs. Jean Bonar and Mrs. Theresa Spiller were seated at the head table.

The evening program, ably MC'd by Mrs. Eileen Kueber, began with a humorous participation game called "In Speculation." Groups of five to eight ladies were asked to caricature scenes and activities suggesting events in the bride-elect's future married life.

Under various titles, such as "First Child," "First Quarrel," "25th Wedding Anniversary," "Grandchildren," and "As Senior Citizens," a genuinely artistic and humourous series of drawings were made and bound together in booklet form -- an invaluable gift for the bride and groom containing much wisdom and advice from all the highly qualified well-wishers present.

Mrs. Eileen Kueber then presented a short personal sketch of Kathy and David's life in Killam, their high school years at Sedgewick, and their work at Fort St. John, where they will reside.

An abundant shower of lovely gifts was brought to Kathy by her younger sisters, Patty and Irene, on behalf of the large gathering. The serving of refreshments, buns and squares by the CWL comleted the evening's entertainment.

Mena 4-H club has trail ride

Saddle sores, camp fire, sleeping bags, dirt, and no sleep. These are just a few characteristics of an overnight trail ride as you would have found out if you had of been with the Mena Light Horse Club May 26 and 27.

The Whitbeck home was the meeting place Saturday afternoon and as soon as all the sleeping bags and grub were loaded in the truck (our chuck wagon), 21 horses and riders started off at 6 o'clock. Finally, around 8:30, our destination had been reached. We were up in the Flagstaff Hills. Here we ate our supper and spent the night sleeping under the stars.

The next morning, after a delicious breakfast of bacon, eggs and pancakes, we rode to Goose Lake where we ate dinner and a few people went swimming. From here it was another two-hour ride to get home.

The ride was enjoyed by all, even though some were exceptionally tired and dirty. The club would like to thank all those who brought food. It was really good.

This Sunday, the club plans on leaving early in the morning to go to a horse show in Ponoka.

Heisler 4-H Stampeders attend rodeo in city

On May 7, the meeting of the Heisler Stampeders started off by Corleen Romaniuk and Micky Smith leading O Canada followed by Joe Wall and Susan Smith leading the pledge. At roll call, everyone said why they joined 4-H.

The highway clean-up was cancelled May 5 due to the weather so had it May 12. We met at 8:45 a.m. at the hotel. After the clean-up, we all had a special treat.

From there we went on to new business. We planned a ride on May 10 at 7 p.m. Everyone and their horses are to be saddled and ready to go by 7 p.m.

There was a workshop on April 28 at Lloyd Mavis' and Debbie Thompson was the instructor. Janet Dietrich and Michelle Krootaeh gave a speech and demonstration on what they learned at the workshop.

Joe Wall moved the meeting be adjourned.

We then had two films on Western Pleasure Trail Riding and Looks for Equitation classes. The meeting and films were shown at the Ken Wall residence. After that, we all enjoyed a good lunch served by Circle 4.

On May 10, we all gathered horse and rider for an exercise on how to ride properly. Our club leader, Loreen Wall, who raises registered Arabians, instructed us.

Some of us have a hard time sitting on a horse when trotting but eventually with her help and patience we'll all be good riders. -Karen Mildenberger

The Heisler Stampeders and the Heisler Hemmers all gathered together to go to the Edmonton Rodeo. Mr. Ken Wall drove the two clubs up.

Linseth - Lester wed

A beautiful late afternoon wedding took place Saturday, April 7 in Killam at the Knox United Church at 5:30 p.m. when Edna Dorothy, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.H. Lester of Red Deer, became the bride of Mr. Floyd Alan Linseth, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Lindseth of Killam. The double ring ceremony was performed by Pastors Jim Sinclair of Red Deer and Thomas McLaughlin of Killam. Organist was Mrs. Marion Wilson, also of Killam.

After the groom and the pastors had taken their places at the front of the church, the congregation rose and sang a processional hymn, "Praise My soul the King of Heaven," as the bridesmaids and groomsmen entered the church together. The bride followed on the arm of her father. During the ceremony, Robert Sinclair of Red Deer sang "The Wedding Prayer" by Oswald J. Smith, while accompanying himself on the guitar.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of white chiffon over taffeta. It featured a high neckline, fitted bodice enhanced with lace over a sheer yoke, cape sleeves and a flowing train at the back. Her finger tip veil was held in place by a seed pearl trimmed headpiece. The bride's only jewellery was a pair of silver heart-shaped earrings. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and orange silk roses.

The bride's sister, Jane Lester, was maid of honour. Bridesmaids were Hilary St. Clair, a friend of the bride and groom from Edmonton, and Marilyn Moller, niece of the groom. The girls wore gowns of yellow polyester, matching capes, white floppy hats trimmed with orange satin ribbon, matching silver necklaces and carried bouquets of orange silk roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Cyril Lindseth. Groomsmen were Jon and Kenneth Lester, brothers of the bride. They wore dark brown tuxedos, white frilly shirts, the groom's having a dark brown trim on it, brown velvet vests and bow ties and wore an orange rose boutinniere. Ushers were Robert Lester, brother of the bride, and Sterling Moller, groom's brother-in-law. Carey Moller, nephew of the groom, presented the wedding bulletins to the guests as they arrived for the happy occasion.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lester chose a mint green pleated gown and Mrs. Lindseth chose a printed blue and green gown. Corsages for the mothers were yellow carnations. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Lydia Tobert of Camrose, was honoured with a matching corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Killam Elks Hall. Miss Holly-Mae McBride, cousin of the bride, of Red Deer, presided at the guest book. Robert Sinclair sang "The Love Chapter" (I Corinthians 13) during the reception.

The head table was adorned with yellow candles, the bride's and bridesmaids' bouquets and a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with a cascade of yellow roses and sweetpeas. It was tastefully decorated by Mrs. Ed Steinhauer of Forestburg.

After the reception, an open house was held followed by a dance featuring The Ruby Keehn Orchestra of Camrose.

For travelling, the bride and groom returned wearing matching denim outfits accented with cream coloured satin tops and wore orange silk roses on the lapel.

Family and out-of-town guests enjoyed Sunday breakfast hosted by the groom's parents. Following breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. F.A. Lindseth opened their gifts.

Out-of-town guests were from Camrose, Red Deer, Edmonton, Calgary, Sedgewick, Stresne, Daysland, Nisiberg and Denzil, Saskatchewan, Vernon and Vancouver, B.C.

The happy couple will be making their home in Red Deer.

Killam kindergarten ends season

The end of May has ushered in the closing of this year's kindergarten season.

What a productive month this has been! First of all, the ambulance and fireball were toured. We'd like to thank Irene Fenton and Pauline Link for making the tour realistic with flashing lights and sirens!

More study has been done on how plants grow with seed flashcards. Tiffen's greenhouse was visited. There the children learned about mixing solid, fertilizer and planting. Each child was given a tin of soil and a plant which they took home to their mothers. Thanks to Mrs. Tiffen.

Then the grain elevator was toured. There they saw how grain was dumped, weighed and carried to bins. Different samples of grain were shown and given to the kindergartens. At kindergarten, the children drew trucks and glued on the grain they wished their trucks to carry. Thank you for the tour and grain samples.

To top it off, the children also found out where the grain ended up at. Brodies' Bakery was a real adventure. There we saw flower, made from wheat, turn into dough then into delicious buns, bread and doughnuts. Everyone received a sweet treat and a donation of dough. That afternoon, kindergarten became a bakery and buns with raisin faces were soon in the making. Thanks to Brodies' Bakery.

For a change, Mrs. Janet Borth came in one afternoon and told the children exercise stories, and what fun they had. The dental hygenist came for a visit, too. Everyone's teeth were checked and each child received a toothbrush and toothpaste. For a treat, a puppet show on brushing teeth was given.

We also had a very special visit when 17 children from the 1979-80 kindergarten class came to our classroom.

Also, a final swimming party was given at the Killam pool in which four kindergartens participated. After fun in the water, ending with bobbing for apples, a lunch of juice, hot dogs, potato chips and an ice cream treat were given. The children thoroughly enjoyed themselves, thanks to June Gair and Janet Borth and the lifeguard, Diane Bouchard.

The kindergarten children were introduced to the two schools in Killam - the Killam Public School and Our Lady of Fatima School. The children met the Grade 1 teachers, viewed the classrooms and toured the entire schools.

A closing picnic was held at Bouchard's, including games, several races and a hike. Barbecued hot dogs, pop and watermelon were served. Thank you to the Bouchards for the lovely time in the country.

The highlight of the month was the graduation party held in the evening. A special feature, Mrs. Karen Johnson, a ventriloquist, and her dummy Clementine visited us and told a story. The children also gave a short program of songs and finger rhymes. Each child received a diploma. Coffee and doughnuts were served. Thank you moms and dads for your interest and co-operation.

Teacher Mrs. D. Pelage and teacher aide Mrs. M. Fisher wish to thank the parents for the lovely gifts they received. This has been a wonderful year and we've enjoyed your children and enjoyed meeting and working with each one of you

NEW REGULATIONS FOR FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF LAND

On April 26th, 1977 the Foreign Ownership of Land (Temporary) Regulations were passed under the authority of section 33 of the Citizenship Act. Just prior to that, on April 21st, 1977, The Agricultural and Recreational Land Ownership Act had been introduced and the Proposed Draft Regulations tabled in the Legislature. The public were invited to comment on and make submissions concerning the Proposed Draft Regulations prior to the permanent regulations being passed

On May 18th, 1977 The Agricultural and Recreational Land Ownership Act was passed and has waited for proclamation until the permanent regulations were ready. After receiving and reviewing several submissions from different groups, corporations and individuals and as well, having had several months experience under the Temporary Regulations, the permanent regulations referred to as the Foreign Ownership of Land Regulations have been passed and The Agricultural and Recreational Land Ownership Act has been proclaimed in force, effective June 1st, 1979. The new Regulations have dual authority under both section 33 of the Citizenship Act and The Agricultural and Recreational Land Ownership Act.

The elements of the Regulations are as follows:

A. Canadian citizens and permanent residents are not controlled in any way. Non-Canadian and non-permanent residents (ineligible persons), and foreign controlled corporations are subject to the controls.

B. Essentially a "foreign controlled corporation" is one in which the share ownership is more than 50% foreign. However, for public corporations with shares traded on a stock exchange in Canada, only shareholders owning 5% or more of the shares are taken into account, but 2/3 of the directors must be Canadian citizens or permanent residents

C. Trusts cannot be used to circumvent the controls.

D. The regulations do not prohibit the acquisition of an interest in controlled land for pipelines, oil and gas processing plants, refineries, power plants, electric distribution systems, or extraction of coal and aggregate. As well, under certain conditions, industrial processing, manufacturing, commercial or transportation facilities and residential subdivisions are exempt.

E. Wills and transfer of land on death are not controlled.

F. Leases up to 20 years are exempt if registered at a Land Titles Office.

G. An acquisition of the majority of the shares of a corporation owning controlled land by an ineligible person or foreign controlled corporation is considered an acquisition of an interest in controlled land. The same principle is involved for an amalgamated or merged corporation. In such situations as these, the foreign controlled corporation has 3 years in which to divest itself of the controlled land so acquired.

H. Mortgages are allowed but foreclosure of that mortgage constitutes an acquisition of an interest in controlled land, and the ineligible person or foreign controlled corporation must divest himself or itself of the land within 3 years.

I. A "foreign controlled limited partnership" is one in which more than 50% of the value of the outstanding contributions by limited partners are made by ineligible persons or foreign controlled corporations.

J. An ineligible person or foreign controlled corporation may enter into an option up to one year pending his or its becoming eligible under the Regulations.

K. Enforcement will be by sworn declaration attached to a transfer of land and by investigative procedures in conjunction with the Land Titles Offices and the Companies Branch. The Registrar of Land Titles shall refuse to register transfer, transmission, caveat or lease without a statutory declaration as set forth.

L. Penalties:
1. The Citizenship Act (Canada) sets a penalty for breach of the Act or regulations, a fine of up to $10,000 and imprisonment of up to one year or both.
2. Where controlled land is acquired contrary to the Regulations, procedures for judicial sale are set forth.
3. The Criminal Code sets a penalty of up to 14 years imprisonment for swearing a false declaration.

M. Corporations must supply information concerning percentage of foreign ownership at time of incorporation and the filing of annual reports.

N. The Minister may require information, verified by statutory declarations or otherwise, in order to determine whether a particular transaction meets the requirements of the legislation. He also may instruct the Registrar of Land Titles to refuse to register a document which appears to be in contravention of the Regulations.

O. Specific exemptions may be made by Executive Council, where exemption will allow development which will be of economic benefit to the Province of Alberta.

P. The Regulations are not retroactive for transactions that have been registered. Agreements for sale, interim agreements, options to purchase and foreclosure of mortgages signed prior to April 26th, 1977 and registered by August 31st, 1979 will be honoured, except those involving more than 5,000 acres. Transactions involving more than 5,000 acres must be submitted to Executive Council, which may or may not approve the land transfer.

Q. "Controlled land" is defined as any land outside the boundaries of a city, town, new town, village or summer village. It does not include crown land or minerals.

R. The purchase of not more than two parcels of land containing, in the aggregate, not more than 20 acres (8 hectares) is allowed.

Requests for exemption should be submitted in writing and include the following:
—the reason(s) for requesting the exemption
—legal description and size of the land involved (include a copy of the Title(s))
—legal description and size of "controlled land" already owned —present and proposed use of land
—present and proposed ownership (if corporation, share ownership breakdown)

The length of the review process will vary from request to request, depending on the information provided and the need to verify the information. Personal contact may be required in some cases. It is anticipated that applications will be processed in four to six weeks. Assistance in preparing exemption requests is available.

Ohaton hosts W.I. meeting

The 29th annual conference for the Ohaton constituency of the Alberta Women's Institute took place in the Three Links Hall in Camrose on May 15.

Some 70 ladies signed the register to begin the conference. Mrs. Dora Courtney, constituency convenor, called the meeting to order at 10:15 a.m. with the singing of O Canada the repeating of the creed and one minute's silence for departed members.

Corsages were presented to head table guests: Mrs. Kay Rowbottom, vice-president Alberta's Women's Institute; Mrs. Beryle Ballhorn, district director; Mrs. Dora Courtney; Mrs. Bertha Hartman, recording secretary; and Mrs. Lena Hillaby, official hostess.

During the meeting, reports were read on the year's activities in each branch by the branch delegates and the convenors of education. Much community work had been accomplished and a great variety of topics studied. Mrs. Ballhorn spoke on W.I. work, and this being the 70th anniversary of the Alberta Women's Institute, she recalled memories of her childhood, which took place while visiting her grandmother, wondering if the present generation will have the same cherished memories 70 years hence.

The meeting adjourned for lunch, which was served by the members of the Camrose Rebekah Lodge. A lively singsong opened the afternoon session, after which the address of welcome was given by Mrs. Minnie Soderstrom of Camrose and replied to by a member from Round Hill. Mrs. Rowbottom spoke on the coming convention at Olds College and other W.I. matters.

Awards were presented to: Ohaton, the attendance shield; Mrs. Emma Bowthorpe, best secretary; Mrs. Clara Johnson, most points in handicraft in the over 80 class; Mrs. Annie Schofield, most points in handicraft in the over 70 class; Argyle and Camrose tied for most points overall in handicraft.

The following officers were elected for a coming three-year term: Mrs. Hazel Swainson, constituency convenor; Mrs. Van Omoth, handicrafts; Mrs. Janet Omoth, health and home economics; Mrs. Jeanne Campbell, united nations; and Mrs. Pat Cameron, citizenship and education.

Mrs. J. Johnston of Lougheed thanked all those who had worked to make the conference a successful and enjoyable gathering and cordially extended the invitation for the 1980 conference to be held in Lougheed.

The session concluded with tea being served by members of the Camrose branch.

During the signing of the register, Betty Towers sang "Let It Be Me" with Mrs. Grace Rott at the organ.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 180 guests was held in the Elks Hall with Al Wallace very capably acting as master of ceremonies. A very well attended open house and dance followed.

Going away outfits were matching brown fortrel pants and white T-shirts. After opening gifts on Sunday at the Clarence Rott home, the couple left to honeymoon at Banff, Jasper and points in B.C. They will reside in Killam where the groom is employed with the gas company. Killam church school

"Whoops, he's down – kick it over here!" "Yeah, that's a score." So the teams called to one another Sunday at Forestburg's Big Knife Park. The game was fun and so were the relays and tug-o-war that followed. The three-legged and the wheelbarrow race were a challenge for balance among the young people, but lot of enjoyment.

Approximately 25 to 30 youngsters, and perhaps a dozen adults, gathered to culminate the closing of the Killam Community Church School for the summer months.

A cloudy sky drizzled on the proceedings at supper time and we were a bit uncomfortable. But the rain didn't last long. The sun shone again within the next half hour but the group decided to forego a ball game and sing song in case of a further deluge.

The previous Thursday certificates of promotion were presented to the students by the teachers at the Presbyterian Church. Reverends Carson and Conrad were in charge of the [illegible].

A good year was reported by both teachers and youngsters.

IN MEMORIAM

GROVE — In loving memory of our beloved son and brother, Todd Michael Grove, who passed away May 30, 1976.
This month has dawned with sad regrets
Of one we loved and will never forget
Wherever we go, whatever we do,
We will always love and remember you.
The wound is deep and will ache and smart
Only God knows how we feel
We laugh, we cry, we play our part
But beneath it all lies a broken heart
We hide our tears when we speak your name
But the ache in our hearts remains the same.
Always remembered and deeply missed by Mom, Dad, Leslie, Randy and Brian. 39-1c

FISHER — In loving memory of mother and grandmother, Thelma Fisher who passed away May 25, 1978.
Time goes by with deep regret
And brings old memories we'll not forget.
In our hearts you'll always stay
Loved and remembered every day
No tears or flowers can ever buy
How much we miss you in everyway.
Dearly loved and missed by all of your family and grandchildren.

It was easy!

Despite facing the minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce, Tory MP Arnold Malone actually increased his majority in winning the Crowfoot riding in last week's federal election. Back in 1974, Malone polled 68.1 per cent of the popular vote in the then Battle River Constituency.

In handily defeating Liberal Jack Horner and NDP candidate Roger Millbrandt, Malone increased his majority to 76.9 per cent of the total number of votes cast.

A total of 32,863 persons cast ballots in the election, which was 78.2 per cent of the total eligible to vote, 41,970.

Malone lost only three of the 226 polls in the New Crowfoot riding with Horner managing to come out on top only in Pollockville, Sunnynook and one of the Stettler ridings.

Surprisingly enough, NDP candidate Millbrandt managed to beat Horner in a total of nine polls.

The issue was never in doubt when results started pouring in to the returning office located in the Camrose Masonic Hall with Malone leading Horner and Millbrandt 204-32-15 after the first two poll results were received.

In all, Malone grabbed a total of 25,242 votes to 6,034 for Horner and only 1,532 for Millbrandt. Both Horner and Millbrandt lost their deposits.

Hardisty OORP active

The Hardisty Order of the Royal Purple reports very active lodge work in 1979.

March was Red Cross Canvas month.

April was very active also. Word was received from Supreme Lodge in Brandon, Manitoba that Mrs. Dorothy Kroeser has been appointed district deputy again this term 1979-80. Congratulations, Dorothy.

District meeting was held at Viking April 22 with eight lodges participating, which made it very interesting.

Our nominating committee was very busy to bring in a new slate of officers. We also served tea and cake and sold cakes when Brother Elks held their white elephant sale the last part of April.

May 5 was Purple Cross Day. A donation was sent to Purple Cross, Deaf Detection Fund by each member donating this year.

The May meeting held promise with more catering and preparing for installation. All committees have been busy, especially the sunshine committee visiting, sending cards and gifts.

The first Wednesday in June, June 6, is held as Royal Purple Day, at which time the lodge members are holding a tea for the senior citizens at the Hardisty Parkland Manor. We are sorry to lose one of our members, Mrs. Mike Demesik (nee Mary Reber) was recently married and will be moving away. Sorry to lose you, Mary, also congratulations from the members that weren't at the meeting.

At this time the lodge presented Mary with a going-away gift and her perfect attendance pin.

Hardisty C of C finalizes plans

The May 23 meeting of the Hardisty and District Chamber of Commerce was held at the Parkland Manor and saw many plans for Round-Up Days finalized, despite a small turnout of members.

The evening began with a presentation to Bert Jackson in recognition of the excellent job he did as moderator of our election forum. It was agreed by all that the forum had been a great success and well worth the effort. President Jim Thomson thanked all chamber members who had worked on this project.

Publicity Chairman Rose Marie Thompson reported all the information regarding Round-Up Days had been sent to the Battle River Tourist Association, enabling us to receive much free publicity by way of newspaper and radio stations.

The poster set-ups have been completed and are in the hands of The Community Press for printing. These will be ready by month end. The posters this year will encompass all three days of Round-Up Days.

Free bumper stickers have been received from B.R.T.A. and many of these were passed out at the meeting. These will be available from various merchants and it is hoped they will be put to good use.

In regards to the Devonian Main Street Project, Rose Marie reported that because of the late spring, the landscape people are running behind schedule and have now informed the chamber that the major landscaping will be done in September. All tree donors will be notified of this change in plans. The placement of the main street planters will take place in the first half of June so at least there will be some progress by this summer.

On the Beautiful Yards Contest, Rose Marie informed the chamber that the judging date this year has been set for Sunday, August 5. Now is the perfect time to plant those trees and shrubs and pick up annual flowers to beautify your yard. Let's make Hardisty a real showplace this summer.

Alan Thompson reported for the Hospital Planning Board and stated that at a luncheon meeting held this date, a decision was reached to arrange for a meeting with the Honourable Dave Russell, minister of Health. Hospital Administrator Wilf West will contact MLA Charlie Stewart to assist in arranging this meeting.

In other business, the chamber will ask the Town of Hardisty by way of Councillor Yuskiw to assume all costs of the town newsletter as such a small outlay is involved.

Joyce Harrison, our new representative to the B.R.T.A., has attended her first meeting since being appointed to this position and brought back various stickers, buttons and litter bags. These will be distributed at Round-Up Days. Joyce asked the chamber to pay the costs of two editions of Senator Hardisty's Prairie. Once copy is to be donated to the B.R.T.A. library and one to the Town of Hardisty library.

The remainder of the meeting was chaired by Business Manager Darcy Broughton and dealt with the finalization of the budget for Round-Up Days. Figures for the free draws, gong show and disco, parade costs, and radio and newspaper advertising were presented. It remains now for the collecting, from the business to be done, and Debbie Drager and Winnie Frasier will be put in charge of this task. Extensive advertising will be done so the public is advised to look for the posters listen to CFCW and watch for the full-page ads in local newspapers in the week preceeding Round-Up Days so that they may be informed of all the activities going on that weekend.

Entries for the gong show may be phoned to Jean Dunn at 888-3592 or Shari Irving at 888-3567. All entrants must be 16 years of age and over. A total of $250 in prize money is up for grabs.

Parade entries should be registered with Joyce Harrison by calling 888-3611, or by reaching her at the hardware store.

All clubs and organizations are urged to plan on setting up booths at the Friday side-walk sale. Arrangements have been made with the B.P.O.E. for use of their tables, and these can be picked up at the hall Friday morning. Some of the suggestions for the clubs are white elephant sales, bake tables, handicraft exhibits, plant sales, bingo games, midway-type booths perhaps featuring such things as break-the-balloon, and so on. Let's everyone work together to make Round-Up Days '79 a big success.

The Battle River Light Horse Association has all its plans well in hand and is looking to a very entertaining weekend so remember the dates, July 6, 7 and 8. See you in Hardisty!

Legislative Report

Premier under fire . . . again

Indignation but no promises of action have been aroused by opposition attempts to prod Premier Peter Lougheed into imposing a new code of ethics on his administration.

Social Credit Leader Bob Clark and NDP Chief Grant Notley have both proposed legislative which they say is needed to curb abuses of power by the Conservatives.

Clark's bill would limit the activities of MLAs, ministers, their executive staff and deputies, and the heads of provincial Crown corporations and agencies.

Elected and appointed officials would be restrained from doing business with the government, soliciting or accepting gifts and political funds, influence-peddling and trading on their inside information.

Clark says "recent abuses of power by cabinet ministers make it essential to have such written guidelines."

The NDP blueprint is comparable but adds "post-employment" rules to keep officials from promptly going to work for industries they had regulated while in the public service when they leave government jobs.

Lougheed angered the opposition with his "patronage" appointments, Tory party fund-raising methods and the discovery last fall that he had been accepting free vacation airline fares.

Ex-energy Minister Don Getty has a nine-month, $36,000 consulting contract with his former department. Former Business Minister Bob Dowling is getting $40,000 a year for two years as co-ordinator of Alberta's 75th anniversary celebrations in 1980.

Ex-solicitor General Roy Farran is chairman of the Alberta Racing Commission and former Labour Minister Bert Hohol is a member of the Workers Compensation Board. They are paid in a $35,700 to $45,900 range.

Meanwhile, Housing Minister Tom Chambers's campaign fund-raising practices have been attacked. A letter seeking contributions went from his supporters to a businessman who had done business with his department, Clark said.

Clark found that Chambers case comparable to Lougheed's appointments of Tory fund-raisers to the boards of Pacific Western Airlines and the Alberta Energy Company without making them curtail their political work.

Lougheed, indignant and professing to be alarmed by "imputations of motive," has called the opposition proposals "absolutely wrong" and rejected — "completely and totally"— the idea of a new code.

He said he had "not the slightest embarrassment." He maintained "we are very determined . . . that if we can benefit from the experience of people who have served in this legislature, we will in fact do so."

Lougheed likewise rejected rules to prohibit explicitly practices like his acceptance of free air fares and the fund-raising methods. The government maintains its ministers have done no wrong. The premier said they will conduct themselves well, "to the circumstances dictate."

Killam rodeo Friday

The 8th annual Killam Rodeo gets underway Friday, June 9 and continues on Saturday, June 10.

Rodeo Chairman John Borgel and his committee of eight have two full days of rodeo excitement planned, beginning Friday evening with the judging of the four rodeo queen contestants at 6:30 p.m.

The rodeo performance will commence at 7:30 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 12:30 a.m., the crowd is welcome to the dance at the Agriplex Curling Rink.

Saturday starts off with a pancake breakfast from 9:30 to 11 a.m. until the parade gets underway at noon.

Put your money where your mouth is

We like the theory that decentralization promotes a stronger economy, better use of resources, and perhaps even less crime. But many people picked up on the idea before it began its career as a political football. We may not have called it 'decentralization.' Many, not native to the city, simply called it 'going home.'

We are seeing an increase of numbers in our rural towns. Young people, who once flocked to the city life, are returning. Fewer are leaving initially. And with them, our population is experiencing a resurgence of children in what was becoming a haven for retired citizens only.

The cities will continue to grow. But they are no longer the threat they once were now that rural centres can economically survive beside them. But even before small towns began achieving greater independence, our enemy was not as much the city as it was ourselves. The strength of Small Town, Alberta is dictated by the dollars spent there. Quite simply, if you want to enjoy good living in the country, then stop buying all the comforts of home in the city. Even if the prices are sometimes lower, the time and money spent in getting to a sale makes up the difference saved.

Maybe you can save a few hundred on a major appliance bought at a discount warehouse, but we'll bet if you haggled over the price in a local store you'd get a good deal. You won't get as much of a discount, but you'll probably be able to trade your old model for a few bucks toward a new one. And what's more, included in those few dollars more is a guarantee your machine will be serviced and fixed if it needs it. Discount warehouses don't sell service.

Money begets money. The dollars you spend in a local store may very well be paying someone's salary that week. And if that person has cash dollars in his jeans, he'll spend it in another store. It all puts groceries on the table.

Now to be sure, our local merchants have a little homework to do so customers don't have the need to travel elsewhere. Studies show that if small town businessmen updated their merchandise, customers wouldn't be forced to drive to the city. If their stores were a little more presentable, cleaner in some cases, and well arranged, then merchants would realize even more dollars. And if small town businessmen didn't support the city operations themselves, well then, it stands to reason the respect they'd gain might bring in more business, too.

Several prominent businessmen in Sedgewick don't even buy their groceries in their town. Why should anyone buy from their stores if that's the attitude? The real topper is that some of these men are on the chamber of commerce. They're supposed to be our voice in the community for growth, development, prosperity.

And what of Killam, our town so proud of its business community - its reputation as having such a metropolitan outlook. Last we heard, at least two new businesses were disuaded pretty strongly from settling there.

Hardisty citizens seem to be the only ones accepting the changes growth has brought to their town. They're taking part in the inevitable, and it will work to their advantage in the long run.

What Others Say

Alberta Roads

Ten years ago, Alberta had a paved road network and ongoing construction program to be proud of. At that time you knew by the roads when you had crossed the border into the States or B.C., and could give a sigh of relief when you hit them again returning. Not so now.

Traffic has increased and roads are breaking up faster than construction. Small wonder when it takes a whole season to do one small stretch or one overpass. When we consider the length of time it takes the present government to do road work, to get around to new roads or to widen and rebuild existing ones, it is most disturbing.

This spring, the Highway 13 west to Ma-Me-O has suffered severe break-up. Highway 13 east was in deplorable condition for years before they started work on it and there were a number of accidents occurring because of this. By the time the government gets around to doing more than patching some very bad potholes on this west stretch, imagine what that is going to be like. Highway 2A north is bad and getting worse every year.

We have equipment, there are supposed to be a number of unemployed, Alberta is supposed to be a rich province, why are so many highways being allowed to deteriorate? Why is construction so slow?

Highway One, east of Calgary, is long overdue for upgrading since it is one of the main arteries coming into Alberta, and there have been so many accidents on it. With the start of the tourist season, it would be well for the government to get more impetus into the road upgrading if it looks on enticing the tourist trade. If it isn't going to, consideration had better be given to retaining our rail system, upgrading it, and giving enticements to travel by train, instead of trying to scrap the rail system.

I Write As I Please

ONCE AGAIN THE MONTH OF JUNE is upon us. Not only the month that really hails the advent of summer, but a month known traditionally for other things as well. For instance, June signifies the month of Graduation from school, even though University students experience the event much earlier in the year. June is also the month when Marriages take place in greater numbers, or so they tell me.

A LADY ONCE SAID that it was too bad Janie was getting married just after she had graduated with a B.A. degree. She wondered what ever good it would do Jane now that she becomes a housewife. Well, I guess that's a matter of opinion. For myself, I believe Jane is going to need all the B.A.s she can get for the business of marriage. Let's take a look and see how the argument stands up.

NO PROFESSION takes more thought, nor no task either, or talent for that matter than homemaking. Marriage is not a mere contract or arrangement; it is a dedication to a high achievement, for the world holds no experience finer that the creating of a happy home. The high experience of divorce and separation today proves the fact that too many do not hold a B.A. in homemaking. Every person who is happily married is a successful person even if he or she has failed in everything else. And every person whose marriage is a failure is not a successful person even if he or she has succeeded in everything else. Good homes mean good people, good communities and the necessary foundation of a better world. To establish such a home, a "young married" can use some B.A.s.

BE ATTRACTIVE. Perhaps I should say REMAIN ATTRACTIVE. Don't order your mate to the breakfast table with a "Come and get it" while attired in a housecoat and a head full of curlers (husbands, listen too). Put on a shirt for goodness sake, and keep alive in the heart of the other a sense gladness in her company.

BE ALERT. You do not live "happily ever after" unless and until you build for happiness; a process that never ceases during marriage. Be alert to maintaining and improving health and character. Be alert to improving your disposition, to gaining skills. Bring out the best in yourself. It is not position but disposition that makes for real happiness.

BE APPRECIATIVE. You know, the art of expressing appreciation is one of life's nicest. It does a lot for others and even more for you. An expression of niceties in the home can go a long way. A willingness to emphasize the good points of the members of the family rather than a tendency to dwell on their irritating characteristics works pretty well to bring out the best.

BE ADEQUATE. You can't just wait and see how marriage works out. Put your best into it to strive to make the partnership a success. It is essential to be adequate to make adjustments throughout the years that are bound to be present. A careful study of marital adjustments suggests that many couples today who go the way of failure and divorce might have found the path to achievement if they had realized that happiness cannot be claimed as a right. IT MUST BE ACHIEVED. Happiness is something to be created; it is not merely found.

BE AWARE. The true home, the happy home is the home that is aware there is a HIGHER structure of relationships, one to another, and to that HIGHER STRUCTURE. Building a good happy home is too great a venture to be undertaken simply by two people. That kind of awareness brings a measure of peace and stability that pulls family life up to its best level. Then it is that the personalities and the lives of two people who are in love come into harmony with each other. By being drawn to a common centre, a man and wife are drawn toward each other.

YES INDEED, June is a great month of the year. A month of renewal and a month of hope. May it come true for you.

Kindergarten year ends

The Strome Kindergarten would like to thank the staff at the Killam Agriplex for their co-operation in teaching our children many fun things to do in the water. Our trips to the pool have been most enjoyable.

A full day of interesting activities in May included a tour of Brodies Bakery, lunch and playtime at the Killam Kindergarten, after which the children were shown through the RCMP Detachment and then toured through the Killam General Hospital. The day ended at the Auxiliary, where the children presented a short program to the patients.

The dental hygenist and her assistant visited our kindergarten class and presented a puppet show on tooth care which the children enjoyed.

On rare, warm days the children walked to the local playground and have enjoyed playing with their trucks at the school sandpit.

On May 24, 13 children eligible for the 1979-80 kindergarten class spent a morning getting acquainted.

In anticipation of their beginner days, the children visited the Grade 1 classroom and met their future teacher, Miss Siggelkow, and listened to stories read by the present Grade 1 class.

To complete our year, the children presented a puppet play of Snow White to their parents, after which special guest puppets Charlie and Vicki (operated by Lynette Graff and Sharon Edgington) entertained the children. Each child was presented with a souvenir spoon and diploma and birthday cake and ice were then served.

A special thanks goes out to the parents for the lovely gifts received by Mrs. Polege and Mrs. Mobler.

A family picnic at the Daysland campsite was held on Sunday, June 3 to wind up the term.

COME ALIVE . .

RESPONSIBILITY

Responsibility - if obeyed rewards with joy, peace and honour. If neglected, it becomes a cancer eating away at the moral fibre of our society.

The act of our young can be ing cheeky to his parents, to some people today, is cute and undeserving of discipline. But the results of evaded responsibility 10 years down the road will be breaking and entering, possible armed robbery and an indelible scare for the rest of his life.

Proverbs 6 exhorts us to consider the ant who, inspite of no guide, overseer or ruler, takes on the responsibility of providing herself all the necessities of life. Do you realized only in a relationship between two people. Therefore, if you say you have love, show me your responsibility. You shall see my love by my responsibility to my God, my family, my church and my community. Man, you don't have love if you by personal indulgence neglect the emotional, physical and spiritual needs of your wife. Love is only seen when we understand and respond to our responsibility relative to our God, who is love.

Survival of society, in truth, is not with the hardspoken, tough and uncontrollable person but with that person who plants love, joy, kindness, patience, longsuffering, gentleness and trust. In these is the Spirit of God and where the Spirit of God is, there is liberty or the survival of a dying world.

God said to Joshua in Joshua 1:8 that the greatest means to success is to meditate on the Word of God (the Bible), day and night and then accept the responsibility of observing to do according to all that is written therein. If you do this then you will love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. Finally, this will result in a love for your neighbour and you will be prosperous and have good success. Take up your responsibility.

Do you want to succeed? Put God in His rightful place and accept your responsibility as a product of His love and life will take on new meaning, people will begin to relate to you and best of all, God will in the end say to you, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Nazarene welcomes speaker

Mr. Ivan Stonehocker, president of the Creation Science Association of Alberta, will be guest speaker Sunday evening June 10 at 7 p.m. His topic, "Why I am a Creationist," will discuss the fossil record, age of the earth, and problems in genetics for evolution.

Mr. Stonehocker, who has taught science in junior and senior high schools for 36 years, is a past-president of the Alberta Teachers' Association. He will be using overhead transparancies and slides to illustrate his subject.

The ministry of Rev. Fred Hunter of Killam has been appreciated the last two Sundays, as well as local members of the congregation sharing their testimonies.

The junior department of the Sunday School met together for crafts, singing and Bible verse memorizing before the class session, a pattern to be continued during the summer.

July 23 through 27 is the date set for Vacation Bible School. All children four years old and over are invited to reserve this week for increased Bible knowledge, singing, crafts and sports.

A special welcome is extended to the youngest member of our congregation, Jeffory Scott Leedholm.

TRACTOR PULL SAT., JUNE 9

KALEIDOSCOPE

by Diane Bearse, DHE

WOULD YOU BELIEVE?

- That MacDonalds (the hamburger chain) spends $120 million a year on advertising?
- That nutritionists are concerned that children learn distorted food habits from TV. Research by Winick showed 85 per cent of food commercials showed no tie-in with good eating habits or health. Balanced meals weren't even shown in 90 per cent of the food ads, nor even mentioned 94 per cent of the time.
- In cereal ads, cereal with more than 20 per cent of sugar were advertised five times more often than those with less sugar. And milk wasn't even mentioned or shown in 40 per cent of the cereal commercials.
- Research by Brown showed foods advertised on children's programs were poorer in nutritional value than foods advertised to adults.
- It was concluded that TV is being used for unhealthy persuasion rather than for educating children about good health. (Most of us probably suspected these things but the survey confirms it.)

INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF THE CHILD

The significance of the role children play in our society was pointed out by Abraham Lincoln many years ago. "A child is a person who is going to carry on what you have started. He is going to sit where you are sitting, and when you are gone, attend to those things which you think are important. You may adopt all the policies you please: but how they are carried out depends on him. He will assume control of your cities, states and nations. He is going to move in and take over your churches, schools, universities and corporations. All your books are going to be judged, praised or condemned by him. The fate of humanity is in his hands."

SHOPPING FOR CARPET

The Canadian Carpet Institute has introduced a new system of classification labelling for carpet. The purpose of this labelling is to tell you how well you can expect the carpet to wear and retain its appearance.

The symbols L, M and P will be used to indicate Light, Medium or Plus as a measure of the carpets wearability. You can relate this to the traffic that carpet would get in choosing a rug for certain areas of your home. A carpet labelled L will retain its appearance for a minimum of three years with regular care and should only be used in areas where the traffic is fairly light. The carpet labelled M will keep good appearance in an area of heavier traffic with regular care and a P carpet will perform the best in heavy traffic areas.

The type of carpet you choose depends on the size of your family and the uses of the rooms you plan to carpet. For example, a bedroom is usually a light traffic area, however, a children's bedroom might require more durable carpet if the children play a lot in their room. Colour affects the appearance of a carpet as well. Multi-colour carpets in medium shades are easier to care for than plain colours in light or dark shades.

Unfortunately, not all carpets will be labelled with the classification label. Some carpets do not meet the qualifications for a label and others may not have been submitted to the Canadian Carpet Institute for classification although the program is open to all manufacturers in Canada.

"BANVEL, added to a tank-mix, subtracts time and labor costs

'Banvel is the perfect partner for a tank-mix. You can use it with Pool 2,4-D amine on wheat and barley crops, and with Pool MCPA K-64 on wheat, barley and oats. And that's going to save you spraying time, fuel, and labour of hauling water and chemicals.

'A Banvel tank-mix will knock out broadleaf weeds, even the tough ones like Canada thistle and the buckwheats. That's the big plus of Banvel: as a tank-mix, it helps you get the weeds. In just one pass.

"You can get Banvel and 2,4-D amine and MCPA K-64 for tank mixing at The Pool now."

RITERS RAMBLINGS

INTERRUPTED REVERIES

While washing some clothing out,
I stood and dabbled in the suds;
Of a knight so brave,
In a dragon's cave
I dreamed, and burned the spuds!

While ironing the clothes that I
Had so lately cleansed of dirt,
Of gurgling streams
And sunset gleams,
I dreamed, and burned my skirt!

I mixed an angel food so light
And put it in to bake,
Of fluttering wings
And heavenly things
I dreamed, and burned the cake!

While gazing at a flame I lit
To search a topmost shelf,
Of the flame of chivalry,
Fed by love and bravery,
I dreamed, and burned myself!

MLA Tom Lysons reports

It has been some time since my last report to you. On April 24, I had open heart surgery to correct a blockage. The operation was called a triple bypass. My recovery has been good, although for a time my actions will be restricted.

The 19th Alberta Legislature opened for its first session May 24. Lieutenant-Governor The Honourable Ralph G. Steinhauer delivered the speech from the throne. The main thrust of the throne speech was dealing with programs as put forward during the election campaign.

The six priorities are as follows:

1. Economic Development - Continuing to provide job opportunities to Albertans through a vigorous policy of economic growth and development. A new department of economic development, to coordinate and promote initiative and enterprise in business, transportation and agricultural processing, will maintain and strengthen Alberta's leadership in advancing Canada's economic expansion.

2. Hospitals - Alberta's significant commitment to hospital construction, amounting to present and forecast expenditures of more than $730 million for hospitals and nursing homes, will be maintained and further substantial appropriations of funds will be recommended during this session of the legislature. The objective is a multi-year plan to respond, on a staged basis, to needs and upgrading requirements throughout the province.

3. Handicapped Citizens - The interest and concern of Albertans for needs of our handicapped citizens will be reflected and re-emphasized through the expansion of existing programs and by the introduction of a number of new approaches, sustaining Alberta's position at the forefront in Canada in services for the handicapped.

4. Agriculture - The importance of agriculture as one of Alberta's two base industries will be reflected by further actions to advance the interests of Alberta farmers in both domestic and export markets. Particular attention will be paid to the vital concern of the inadequate grain handling and transportation system in Canada.

5. Housing - In recognition of the continued housing needs for Albertans in our expanding province, substantial funds will be requested from the assembly to support important new initiatives under the Alberta Family Home Purchase Program and other key programs.

6. The year 1979 has special significance throughout the world as it marks the 20th anniversary of the United Nations Declaration of the Rights of the Child. In keeping with the spirit of the resolution of the United Nations General Assembly declaring 1979 the International Year of the Child, my government will make a number of proposals in education and other areas for special programs to bring significant benefits to children in the province.

Education programs include:

- expansion of the Learning Disabilities Fund;
- implementation of the School Building Quality Restoration Program;
- improvement in service at the Alberta School for the Deaf;
- a junior high school component added to the Educational Opportunity Fund for programs aimed at improving attendance and reducing drop-out rates;
- a new program unit to enhance significantly the assistance available for dependent handicapped and multi-handicapped children;
- initial steps to plan a facility designed for multi-handicapped deaf and blind children;
- extended small school jurisdiction grants to assure greater equalization of educational opportunity in school jurisdictions with fewer than 1,500 students.

Concerning hospitals and medical care, construction is continuing on three major health care referral centres financed through the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund:

1. The Alberta Health Sciences Centre in Edmonton, which will provide the related functions of patient care, health research, health education, will be completed in 1982.

2. The Calgary Children's Hospital, specializing in diagnostic assessment and treatment of children, will be completed by the summer of 1980.

3. The Sothern Alberta Cancer Centre and Auxiliary Specialty Services Facility, to include cancer treatment and diagnostic services, auxiliary hospital beds, provincial laboratory, nuclear medicine, diagnostic radiology and support services, is scheduled for completion in early 1981.

Funds have also been made available from the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund for special cancer and heart research programs in Edmonton and Calgary. The programs include evaluation, catheterization laboratories, out-patient rehabilitation, cardiovascular surgery, paediatric cardiology, and intensive care units for coronary patients.

The government's pledge to provide to municipalities a $500 per capita grant for debt retirement will be implemented as soon as possible in the session.

The throne speech re-emphasized the importance of the Apprenticeship and Trade Certification program. More than 3,400 people graduated with journeyman status in 36 trade areas in 1978. Registered apprentices last year totalled almost 20,000 with more than 7,000 new entrants. A similar number of new apprentices is expected in 1979. To allow greater apportunity for those interested in this program, the decentralization of apprenticeship training locations commenced in 1978 will continue this year.

More next week.

If you want to contact me, my phone number in Edmonton will be 429-4631. Please phone person to person, collect.

Play group organize

Several mothers in Killam met in the latter part of May and have shown interest in organizing a playgroup for their "independently mobile" children from two to five years.

A tentative registration will be held in order to see how many children will be enrolled. The registration fee will be $6 per year. This fee is made to help cover organizational costs such as liability insurance, supplies, cupboards, and so on. Registration can be made by contacting Margaret O'Dell at 385-3031, or Carol Gillette at 385-3766.

In order to have a successful playgroup, there are several necessities that will be required. The Tiny Tots Playgroup is seeking a program co-ordinator to organize activities for the children. This role will be on a volunteer basis and does not necessarily have to be held by a mother of one of the children in the playgroup.

The program co-ordinator will be responsible for organizing the program to facilitate the children involved. All mothers who enroll their children will be responsible to help the program co-ordinator in some way or another. Working mothers who cannot take shifts will be asked to assist in organizing lunch or clean-up.

Sharon Kelndorfer has offered her basement as a supply depot for any materials, wooden chairs, tables, ice cream pails, etc. that will be required to operate the playgroup.

If you are interested, please contact these ladies immediately so that we can surmise whether or not there will be enough participation to organize a play group.

Kindergarten pool party

Over the chilly months of spring, the Killam pool had several kindergarten classes participating in its swimming program.

Once a week, the kindergarten teachers, mothers and kids would roll their swim suits in towels, load up in cars, trucks or buses and bounce down to the pool. The participating kindergartens were Lougheed, Sedgewick, Killam, Strome and Bawlf.

In order to show our appreciation for coming to the pool, we decided to put on a "Kindergarten Pool Party."

On Tuesday, May 22, the buses, cars and trucks started to roll in and by 10 a.m. there were 100 pre-school children in the pool, along with mothers and teachers.

Dianne Bouchard capably lifeguarded the crew while Janet Berth and myself, June Gair, organized games and sang songs with the children in the water. After a bit of free time, in the pool playing with the toys, balls, hoops and flutterboards, the children bobbed for apples. Once they had consumed all the apples, everyone retreated to the changerooms for showers and soon everyone was dressed and ready for more action.

Sandra Pope of Lougheed and Marie Fisher of Killam managed to sit the children down in the restaurant area of the Agri-Plex and led them in a sing song.

While the children sang songs and played games, the mothers in attendance buttered hot dog buns, made lemonade and we proceeded to feed the hungry crew. After indulging in their ice cream dessert, the tired children and mothers made their way home.

We hope all of the kindergartens enjoyed coming to the pool as much as we enjoyed having them. I would like to thank Janet Berth, Dianne Bouchard and Pat Brady, who helped with their swimming program throughout the six weeks they were attending. We all appreciate it very much.

Killam pool report

The past few months have been busier than ever for the staff and patrons at the Killam pool. Lessons for the first spring session have been completed and the second spring session is already underway. We hope the adults and children have enjoyed the session as much as the staff at the pool have.

The late spring session of lessons that we are running at the pool now is only involving adults and the pre-school-age children. However, the enrollment of these classes alone has been very good.

Summer scheduling for lessons and public swimming has been completed and registration is now underway for July and August swimming lessons.

Classes that will be offered are: Parents and Tots, Pre-School Program, Pre-Beginners up to Seniors, Bronze Medallion, Syncronised Swimming, Special Skills & Fitness Class, Swimnastics, Diving, and Life Saving I, II and III.

Phone now and register yourself and your family in a session of lessons for the summer.

Phil Beazer passes at 78

Philip Henry Beazer passed away May 26, 1979 at the age of 78 years.

Funeral services were held in the Anglican Church in Hardisty by Rev. R. Conrad.

Mr. Beazer came to Canada from Stourport, England in 1908 with his family and farmed 10 miles out of Hardisty until his father died in 1967. Then he and his mother moved to Hardisty where he worked as a night clerk in the hotel for several years and was very well liked. Later, he worked in a bakery and from there moved to Lougheed to live his brother, Archie Beazer, who had opened a shoe repair shop. Finally, his mother also moved to Lougheed where she died in 1982. Philip continued doing all the housework and growing a nice garden until brother Archie took sick and was sent to the Auxiliary in Killam, where he died in 1977.

In the meantime, Philip moved to the Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick in 1973. He leaves to mourn, one sister, Cissy Clark.

Pallbearers were Orville Vandewark, Roy Kells, Joe Beebe, Paige Fisher, Wayne Halberg, and Delbert Galloway.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank Dr. Meer and hospital staff at the Killam Hospital for their wonderful care and help to my brother Philip Beazer. Also, thank you to the Beehive Ladies for a very nice luncheon served after the service and for everyone who donated money and sent cards.

-Cissy Clark

COCKTAILS ANYONE?

A Caesar made from your favourite tomato juice and vodka may make an excellent before dinner cocktail, however, a carbyne and 2,4-D mixture could very well result in the biggest headache you ever had! No! You wouldn't drink it - but the damage it could do to your crop might make you half wish you had.

Every farm dreams of the chemical mixture which would control everything in one pass over the field, however, no such mixture exists. Every year, several people try with disastrous results.

If you're planning a chemical cocktail this spring, here's some points to keep in mind.

1. Is the mixture recommended? If not, don't try it.
2. Read directions on the label, stage of growth and conditions are important.
3. Mix the products in the proper order. The wrong order could mean poor mixing or setting of chemical.
4. Check your sprayer to ensure adequate pump volume and pressure for good agitations. A mechanical agitation may be necessary.

To help you in your choice of mixture, the following list gives the presently registered mixtures for Alberta conditions:

TANK MIX	CROP
Asulox F and Buctril M	Flax
Avadex BW and Treflan	Wheat, barley
Avenge 200 C and Buctril M or Bromsinal M, Torch, MCPA ester, 2,4-D ester.	Barley, wheat (only Neepawa, Glenlea)
Banvel L.H. and 2,4-D (amine)	Wheat, barley
Banvel L.H. and Sencore	Wheat, except Selkirk
Dalapon and MCPA (amine)	Flax
Hoegrass and Torch	Wheat, flax, barley (except Klages and Betzes)
Linuron and MCPA amine	Wheat, barley, oats
Sencore and MCPA amine	Wheat
MCPA amine and Sodium TCA	Flax, oats
Torch and MCPA	Wheat, barley, oats, flax
Sodium TCA and 2,4-D amine	Barley

Finally, if you would like to have your sprayer checked out before you begin spraying, the agricultural service committee of the county has a testing service available. You make an appointment by calling Brian Lee at 384-3821, or our office at 384-3717. The cost is low - $5 plus parts.

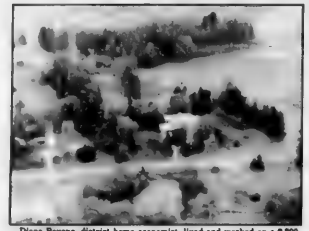
People in Profile:

New Zealand bound - and back



Diane Bourne, district home economist, lived and worked on a 2,500-acre sheep farm in New Zealand for six months. This aerial photo shows the main house with sheds and corral in the background.

A beautiful sight in New Zealand, says Diane, is Queenstown, a lake resort in the Southern Alps.

Eight miles from Diane's host family's farm is Blue Lake, and old gold mine that filled up with water.

Flagstaff's home economist, Diane Bourne, returned to her office in the county building May 1 after six months in New Zealand. And even though it was a working holiday, it was an opportunity Diane said couldn't be passed up.

One of 160 participating in an exchange sponsored by the International Agricultural Exchange Association (IAEA), Diane found herself on a 2,500-acre sheep ranch with 5,000 sheep.

Sheep farming, she says, is "really different." And although Diane was hired primarily to help the farm wife, she did find herself in the fields occasionally.

With three million people and 60 million sheep, it's New Zealand's major industry, providing the largest supply of wool imported to other countries. On the average, sheep are sheared once a year, Diane explains. Every operation is different, however, and each rancher has a different time of year to shear his herd. A professional crew travels throughout the country to remove the wool, starting with seven-month lambs.

As with any other exchange, Diane's six-month stay in New Zealand provided an indepth look at another country's cultures and living style. IAEA distinguished its program from others in that the emphasis is on agriculture - all participants are placed in a farm or ranch environment to experience the different conditions, philosophies and techniques of the host country's agricultural industry.

IAEA is a Danish organization with countries throughout the world participating. "They got your job," Diane explains, as well as arranging for working visas and host families. All that was left for Diane was paying for plane fare, packing her bags, and being at Vancouver's airport in time to catch her flight.

Once there, the group of 42 Canadians, 49 Danes and 89 Europeans attended a week-long orientation seminar before meeting their New Zealand "families."

English was the common language, however, a New Zealander could conduct an entire conversation in English when she first arrived, says Diane, and she "Wouldn't understand a thing they said." Word usage and terminology are very different, she explains, and what a Canadian might say as a compliment, for example, could be taken as an insult in that country.

Other industries native to New Zealand are dairy farming, "very well promoted," and some crop farming for feed. Enough grain is produced around Christ Church, New Zealand to make the country almost self-sufficient. Very few grain products are imported.

Not all sheep are kept for their wool either. Some lambs are designated for the "freezing works" to become the famed New Zealand chops many Westerners enjoy. But only male lambs are used for slaughter; females are kept for breeding stock, Diane explains.

New Zealand itself, she estimates roughly, probably would fit into Alberta three times. Two islands form the country with most of the population located on the northern part, a sub-tropical clime. The south island, where Diane lived, is similar to east-central Alberta weather, but with a longer summer. In New Zealand, summer months fall between October and May. May is the start of fall and spring returns around September.

Although most people mistake New Zealand and Australia as being close geographically, in fact the two cultures are different and distant from one another, our home economist noted.

New Zealand has retained more of its English heritage than Australia, which Diane found to be "more American." The pace is noticeably relaxed in New Zealand, she adds, where "nobody is in a hurry for anything."

Physical activities play a key role in the everyday life of a New Zealander, who "practice fitness with a passion." For example, Diane says, a town she lived nearby provided residents with three tennis courts, one rugby field, a swimming pool attached to the school, and a community hall. Only five houses made up the town.

A great deal of a New Zealander's socializing is carried out in a pub, also very different from our version, she says. No one sits but, rather, walks around with glass in hand and visits before the pub closes - "early."

Except for the beer, which costs 79 cents a jug while highballs are 50 cents, everything costs more in New Zealand even though the salaries are not as high in comparison.

"We don't realize what inflation is," says Diane, who was paid $60 a week before deductions. On the average, she worked 12 hours a day, starting at 7 or 7:30 a.m.

When not working or seeing the countryside, Diane answered a lot of questions about Canada. Margaret Trudeau and how Indians are treated were of particular interest to the New Zealand people she encountered, who were otherwise very well informed about Canada.

"I used to wonder if they were trying to think up the hardest questions to see if I could answer them," Diane laughs.

Busk-Gorst exchange vows in Hardisty

On Saturday, May 19, St. Paul's United Church in Hardisty was the scene of a beautiful wedding when Janice Helene Busk of Hardisty and Gary Leo Gorst of Meadow Lake, Saskatchewan exchanged vows with Rev. Jackson officiating.

As Janice entered the church on the arm of her father, Gail Kobitzsch, the soloist, very competently sang "You Light Up My Life."

The bride's dress was of white polyester with pleated skirt and lace and satin inserts. It featured dainty lace shoulder straps and draping bodice. Janice wore a white wedding hat with veil attached and a red rose at the back. Her bouquet was of red roses with streamers on which red rosebuds were attached.

The bridesmaids, Wendy Hayes, Marilyn Horn, Anita Miller and May Gorst were identical dresses of blue polyester with pleated skirts and blue wedding hats to match. They carried a single yellow rose with streamers on which yellow rosebuds were attached.

The groom wore a light blue tuxedo with a red rose boutoniere, and his attendants, Lee Laskasky, Wayne Pittman, Klaus Baldenby and Ed Yaho wore light blue tuxedos with dark blue pants and wore a yellow boutonniere.

Tanya Gorst, niece of the groom, wore a white dress matching the bride's. She carried a single red rose with streamers on which red rosebuds were attached. Colin Busk, nephew of the bride, wore blue pants and vest with a red rose boutonniere.

Mother-of-the-bride wore a flowered two-piece polyester sheer knit with a corsage of pink carnations. Mother-of-the-groom wore a floral polyester A-line dress with a corsage of pink carnations.

Gail Kobitzsch also sang "Sometimes When We Touch" during the signing of the register.

Ben Hahn was the organist. Ushers were Robin Busk, brother of the bride, and Chester Gorst, brother of the groom.

A reception was held in Rosyth Hall. Teresia Anderson, friend of the bride, was seated at the guest book. M.C. was Bryan Busk, brother of the bride.

Toast-to-the-bride was given by Francis Blue Jr. and very capably answered by the groom. Toast-to-the-bridesmaids was given by Les Laskasky and toast to the best men was given by Wendy Hayes. Chester Gorst welcomed Janice into the Gorst family and Bradley Busk welcomed Gary into the Busk family.

After the bride and groom passed around the wedding cake, the tables were cleared and open house and the dance followed. Music was supplied by the "Sparkletones." For going away, the groom changed into a light beige three-piece suit and the bride wore a light blue polyester interlock knit wrap-around dress with a pink rose at the bodice.

The happy couple will make their home in Meadow Lake, Saskatchewan, where the groom works for the Department of Northern Saskatchewan and the bride works for the Department of Indian and Northern Affairs.

CARD OF THANKS

Gary and Janice, Arne and Helene, and Art and Effie would like to thank everyone for making Gary and Janice's wedding day such a memorable occasion. To all who helped in anyway, and to all who came from near and far to spend the day with us, we would like to say "thanks." 40-1p

Anglican Church News

Last Thursday evening at St. John's Church, a special Holy Eucharist was held to mark the fourth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. Conrad to the priesthood. Following the service, the congregation assembled in the Parish Hall for lunch and fellowship and Mrs. Ruby Farquharson entertained us by putting our refinished piano to the test.

Rev. Conrad, who has long been noted for his lack of aptitude in mechanics, was rescued last week by a teenaged good Samaritan. The minister's car abruptly declined to start at a self-serve gas station in Edmonton late one evening and while Rev. Conrad stood helplessly beside the crippled vehicle, a young stranger arrived, took matters into his own hands, gave half an hour of his time to repairing the car, and then sped away without even leaving his name. Rev. Conrad drove home with a sense of renewed faith in people, and, in particular, in the younger generation.

David and Wendy Edrv and the newest addition to the family, their dog Benjy, were weekend guests with the Donald Cookson and Bob Rosiechuk families of Lougheed. Greg and Donna Martin and Margaret also spent the w·ekend at the Cookson farm.

Please be sure to attend the Confirmation service at Mannville Sunday, June 10 at 3 p.m. The confirmands of St. Edmund's have spent many months in study and preparation for this important event in their spiritual lives, and they would like their families and friends to be present. Since it is hoped that everyone will be in Mannville Sunday, there will be no services in St. Edmund's Parish.

It is good to see Bill and Dolly Cookson home again after a stay in hospital.

Everyone must be too busy with gardening, spraying, fertilizing, or whatever to give me any news this week. Please call Donna Martin at 384-3541 and let me know what's going on.

In Killam Hospital this week are Mrs. McGee, Mr. Ernie Finnegan, Mr. Gordon Ward, and Mrs. Ruby Farquharson.

Miss Carol Farquharson is enjoying a two-week vacation in such areas as Edmonton and Drayton Valley.

Mrs. Bessie Brodie of Killam is now vacationing in Britain.

Don't forget the annual Parish picnic at Shorncliff Park near Czar on June 17. Everyone of every denomination is welcome. Bring along something for lunch. Festivities will begin with a church service at 1 p.m. See you there.

Mrs. Lynnette Kent, who is entering her final year of theological studies at Newman Theological College in St. Albert, will come to our parish this summer for liturgical taining. She will assist the rector with some services and take others herself.

IN MEMORIAM

D'ARCY — Treasured memories of my dear son Edward, who passed away on June 17, 1975.

One sad and lonely year has passed
Since my great sorrow fell.
The shock I received that day
No one can ever tell.
It's lonely here without you,
I miss you more each day,
For life is not the same since you were called away.
You bade no one a last farewell,
Nor even said goodbye.
You were gone before we realized it,
And only God knows why.
Always remembered and sadly missed by Mother. 40-1p

Dandelion control

Are you fed up with having dandelions in your lawn? Have you tried the herbicides that have been especially formulated for homeowners?

According to Rudy Esau, weed control specialist at the Alberta Horticultural Research Center at Brooks, these herbicides contain 2,4-D amine and are effective and safe when used as prescribed on the label. He says the amine formulation is recommended because it is non-volatile and, when properly applied, should not damage desirable plants.

He also says that spraying a lawn to control dandelions is not an expensive proposition. An average sized lawn of 3,000 square feet would require only eight ounces of 2,4-D amine, an applicator equipped with a nozzle and water for mixing with the herbicide.

The important points to remember when treating your lawn to control the dandelions are:

- spray before the dandelions have had a chance to form seed heads;
- use the non-volatile 2,4-D amine formulations and read and follow label directions;
- the best time to spray is early in the morning when the wind is usually calm. Do not spray when it is windy;
- spray after a good rain or after the lawn has been thoroughly watered. The temperature should be between 16 degrees C and 26 degrees C for best results; and
- spray about two days after the grass has been cut and do not mow it again for a day after it has been sprayed.

Some people think that mowing the lawn keeps dandelions under control, but this is not so because the leaves are below the cutting edge of the mower. If the cutting edge is lowered the dandelions will still have a competitive advantage over the grass. Cutting dandelion plants out of a lawn is not effective either because only a small piece of root left in the ground is enough to produce a new plant. Hand weeding is not considered efficient or economical.

Lougheed and District News

Mrs. Eva Wright and daughter Wanda of Lloydminster visited the George Mariows and also attended the 90th birthday of Mrs. Lillian Skoberg on May 27. Eva was a school teacher a few years ago in Lougheed.

A number of Lougheed families and from other towns took in the Battle River Cavalcade put on by the Tourist Association the weekend of May 26. They started from the Camrose Fair Grounds and went on Highway 21 to Big Valley, Stettler, Reeben Sands and other points of interest.

Seems as though the farmers are busy trying to kill the flea beetles. They are destroying the rape seed crops and some gardens. Some farmers are having to reseed their rape seed. We are having some very nice rains the last while.

Recent visitors at the Graham Bostons were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Volkart and Diane of B.C. and Larry Volkart of Blairmore, Don, Sandra, Kelly and Mark Boston from Coronation.

Some of you would remember the Ari Matheson family when they were here. They lived in the house where the Lindquists now live. Mrs. Matheson now resides in the Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick, also Mrs. (Young) Reynolds. She and her husband were in the Lougheed Hotel a number of years back. So if you are visiting the Lodge, I'm sure they would enjoy your visit with them, too.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of Mr. Phil Bonser, who passed away last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Boston attended the wedding of Brian and Wendy Volkart in Sedgewick Saturday, May 26. Congratulations to Brian and Wendy.

There were a lot of out-of-town people attended Mrs. Lillian Skoberg's 90th birthday; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilcox and Mary from Camrose, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Niven and family from Drumheller, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Stevenson and son from Edmonton, Linda Odegard and family from Beaumont, Mrs. Gertie Sax and son Donald of Edmonton, and many more I did not know. Oh yes, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Westra of Edmonton were down, too.

Good Deed gets letters

On May 16, nine members of the Hazelwood Good Deed Club met at the home of Mrs. Violet Metz. We also had Molly Fernleybough, Dorothy Tennis and Carol Busse as visitors.

Roll was called and the minutes and treasurer's report of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Correspondence received was our licence to hold our quilt raffle. Letters from the Further Education, the Bethany Home at Gwynne and the Hardisty Legion Ladies were read.

The new business discussed was the shower for Diane Metz with the Legion and UCW from Hardisty and our members going together to put it on.

The members also agreed to serve for the reception and open house at Diane's wedding in July.

Mrs. Metz presented one bill and we made donations to Bethany Home for the house fund, and made a donation to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mat'ri family for their fire fund.

Jo McClements was going to try to go to the Further Education meeting as our representative.

Members all paid their memberships. Sick Committee had sent two cards to Mrs. A. Parsons and Mrs. E. Drager.

The next meeting is June 20 at the home of Jo McClements.

The hostess draw was won by Doris Swanson. A pickle dish was her prize.

Mrs. Alvina Parsons, as birthday gal of the month, made her donation to the birthday box and nobody believes you are 100 years old.

The meeting was adjourned and Mrs. Jo McClements was asked to hold the chair for the election of officers.

The officers are to stay the same but Margaret Tinhome is now sewing convenor in place of Jo McClements.

Jo McClements now has the job of reporter in place of Essie and Kay.

Hardisty District News

Congratulations to David Andersen, who successfully completed his course in Building Construction Engineering Technology at the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology.

His parents attended graduation exercises at the Jubilee Auditorium Saturday, June 2.

While at Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon's home in Cape Breton, I phoned Sister Grace Marie, the last Mother Superior in St. Anne's Hospital and she asked about so many. That evening, Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon took me to see Sister Henry at Reserve Mines. She too asked about different ones here. Her next move is to North Sydney.

I hope that someone will send in a report about the Fly-In breakfast. People would like to know who the oldest flyer was, the farthest to come, and so on. I did ask for news last year, but I don't recall it being in the paper. That is really news.

Neal Nelson said he enjoyed his plane ride and hopes his pictures turn out.

A number in Halifax that I met were overjoyed at Joe Clark's success and were particularly pleased with Alberta.

Life can be full of surprises and how pleasant when they are so nice. Doris and Perry Powell asked me to go to Provost with them, so while they are about their business I tried phoning Ida Timmins but no answer, so I phoned Vivian Israelson and she had an ex-Hardistyite and her husband visiting her which was Shirley Bradbury (nee Carpenter) with her husband Brad.

What a lovely surprise as neither the Powells or I had seen Shirley for years. Long ago, I would go to Metiskow on the way freight and Shirley would be bound for Metiskow too, to give music lessons.

Brad worked in the creamery in Metiskow. They have been living in Lethbridge, but have moved to Calgary only two weeks ago.

Shirley was trying to catch up on so many people both she and Brad had known here and were particularly interested in Roger Krootsch as he stayed with Mrs. Carpenter sometime when he lived in Hardisty.

Another surprise was in Halifax as I phoned a distant relative whom I had just located and found she worked at the Y where I stayed.

Had supper again with the Sisters at Mount St. Vincent and Sister Elizabeth James was with us. She was in the kitchen for four years in Hardisty.

Nettie Johnson, with daughter Doris and son-in-law Oscar Elize, along with their daughter Gloria, have just returned from a three week trip overseas.

A dinner to honour 25 years of service with the IPL was held at the Edmonton Plaza on May 15. Twenty-six service men attended this cocktail party and banquet and Pat Madden was among those so honoured, receiving a gold watch for his 25 years at Hardisty.

Anna Saruga is lonesome for her garden ornaments, her flamingos, and wishes that those who borrowed or took them would kindly return them. No questions asked.

We were saddened to learn that Teresa Opgenorth's mother, who had been visiting from Poland and was due to return in May, had a stroke and is unable to talk or move. Teresa's father had to return to Poland without her.

Anna Saruga went to Edmonton to be with Teresa and family after hearing the sad news.

We were so sorry to hear of the passing away on Mother's Day of Ginny Pregitzer's mother in a car accident. Mrs. Kent was a very fine person and will be greatly missed, especially by her grandchildren.

While the Horace Cookaons were in the Gooseberry Lake area, they found an oldtimer of Hardisty. She was Irene Gunn, who as a girl started in the first school here, which was above the old Arcade building and run by Wm. Foden. It was located where the late Len Walker's house is.

Irene married and came back to Hardisty to work with Dr. McBride in your reporter's building, which was a hospital at one time, and she was quite surprised to learn that the red old building is still here.

Sympathy goes to Phil Bezer's relatives on his passing and the service was conducted by Rev. Conrad in St. Mark's Church.

The Strong Ladies Club held their May meeting at the home of Ruth Moor with Adella Goldsmith as co-hostess.

The next meeting is to be held at Gladys Goodrich's with Isabel Nelson as co-hostess.

Congratulations to Joyce and Henry Hauck of Medicine Hat on their 25th wedding anniversary Tuesday, May 29. A family celebration was held on Sunday, May 27 at Medicine Hat.

In attendance were Joyce's mother, Mrs. Laughlin, sisters and their husbands, Anne, her bridesmaid, and Allan Alderdice, Irene and Emil Bettcher, brother Jim Laughlin and his wife Ray, and all the nieces and nephews as well as many friends.

The presentation was made at the association's annual convention. The total raised by the Alberta Kinsmen for cystic fibrosis this year was $143,474.

Sedgewick's donation was the profit realized from the 2nd annual C.P. curling bonspiel held in December by the Kinsmen.

Alliance girl wins as Killam queen

Jackie Findlay of Alliance Bits & Spurs 4-H Club was the lucky girl winning the Killam 1979 Rodeo Queen title. 1978 Rodeo Queen Jackie Coates crowned and presented Jackie with a trophy Saturday evening during the rodeo performance. First-runner-up was Patty Kelnderler, who was sponsored by the Killam & District Agricultural Society.

Sunny skies brought many people out to Friday's ball tournament in Killam along with Saturday's parade, which was a huge success due to an overwhelming number of entries.

The parade was led by the RCMP, music was supplied by pipers and the Flagstaff Band. Youngsters showed much talent in the decorating of their bicycles. There was a large number of horse entries along with riding clubs from local and surrounding districts. A large crowd attended the tractor pull and machinery display which took place at the fair grounds after the parade.

The pit barbecue, which was held at the arena was well attended. The roast beef for the barbecue was prepared by Jim Rasmusin and salads were supplied by the CWL.

Many spectators enjoyed watching some of our local cowboys display their riding abilities on bucking broncs and bulls. Rodeo music was supplied by the Bud Clark Band, which livened the action of the bucking stock. Trophy buckles were awarded to the first-place winners of each event.

The beer gardens and dance was filled with lively people who danced to music supplied by the Huckalbucks both evenings.

Winners of the rodeo events were: Saddle Bronc - Corbin Jackson, Minburn; Bareback Riding - Ruben Elgie, Minburn; Bull Riding - Bill Sedson, Brownfield; Boys' Steer Riding - Curtis Nicholson, Minburn; Wild Horse Race - Greg Blumhagen, Killam; and Ladies' Barrel Race - Liz Thomson, New Sarepta.

Winners of the Queen Contest Draw were: gas barbecue - Del Bergum, Sedgewick; patio set - Jack Campbell, Alliance; bug zapper - Sam Smolski, Killam.

Lucky program winners were: one free oil change from Shell Sunset Service - Dwight Smith Gander, Strome; $25 voucher from Killam Speedway Q-Mart - Jeff Collins, Killam; $85 cowboy boots from Stockman's Stall - Pat McLennan, Alliance; 10 admission tickets from Princess Theatre - Myrtle Richardson, Sedgewick; $25 grocery hamper from the Killam-Strome Co-op - Allan Freudrich, Killam.

Gas co-op receives funds

The announcement made by the provincial government last week regarding the $15 million it will provide rural gas co-operatives to replace faulty plastic pipe will see the Iron Creek Gas Co-op included in the program.

The commitment to replace about 4,500 kilometres of the faulty pipe across Alberta came last fall. The $15 million will pay 50 per cent of the cost in replacing the pipe which has sprung leaks.

Iron Creek has 275 miles of pipe to replace under the three-year program with plans to complete 120 miles this year in the Viking-Irma area.

The government made the decision so that rural co-ops don't suffer financially because of faulty pipe. Not all pipe was faulty, however. Less than half of Alberta's 72 co-ops have had problems with the pipe.

The shy children

(From the Master Teacher and contributed by W. Baergen, assistant superintendent of schools in Stettler).

Today, many adults tend to think that if students aren't properly outgoing or extroverted in terms that are understood and accepted in our society, they are in need of help. The burgeoning number of therapists, personal counselors, group encounters, and other such adjustment clinics attest to this rationale. And there is one area of human personality that has always been a target. That area is shyness. We have adopted some assumptions about shyness that we ought to look at and ponder a bit, especially at the end of the school year. After all, this is the final time we can either try to prod some students toward extroversion - or forget them.

Out of Organization

We adults have organized society to the hilt. Our children often move like robots from one activity to another. We have programmed them for heavy involvement and interaction with other human beings. A close look might reveal that we think life is right for our children if they can give us a laundry list of things they must attend during the coming week. For some reason, that isn't quite identified, our security seems to be linked to our children's activities.

Unfortunately, we often don't bother to wonder whether there is any quality in these activities as long as children keep participating. And hardly anyone dares criticize the trend. It's like assaulting the flag or motherhood to suggest that far too much of what we push our children into is nothing more than meaningless and unsubstantial activity.

In truth, children who learn that success comes out of learning to keep up with the running crowd are the extroverted children. Many will end up in positions of leadership because they have learned their lessons well. They may never know that they have missed out on a good deal of quality living by never being inactive. These busy children are always in a position of getting attention. Their egos are fed constantly by their various activities and successes. They get labels from adults that imply they are well-adjusted children. Yet, as adults, we often feel differently about shy children. We tend to worry about them. We consider them socially lacking - if not downright crippled. But are they? We ought to pause and take a more considered look.

. . . Out of Strength

In "Desiderata" there is a line we ought to remember in dealing with our students. It is this: "You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here." I take that to mean that we all have the right to be here, whatever our personalities happen to be.

There is room in the world for all. We need only to accept the fact that others being different from us does not necessarily mean inferior to us. And we should not label them as such. We need to remember that any human trait can be a problem if it's in a state of exaggeration which interferes with functioning. But this can be said of almost any one of the ingredients that go into making up a personality. Nothing is all good or all bad. I say this so that it will be clear that we understand the need to get help for some shy children who suffer excessively out of their shyness. I am not talking about these children. I am talking about the ones who prefer their own company and enjoy reading the inner life. As teachers, we need to know some things about shy people. After all, some of them are on both sides of the desk in our schools.

Shy people are often strong people. They can do one thing that many others can't. They can be alone. This is quite a strength in itself. Shy people are often the gentle people of the world. They often are the artistic producers. Writing, for instance, is a solitary pursuit. This doesn't necessarily make writers anti-social. Neither does it make them shy.

The shy are also often the researchers, scientists, composers, lab technicians, and surgeons of the world. They may also be heavy equipment operators. According to opinion polls, artists and writers seem to be those most admired in our society. Maybe this is so because most people feel they cannot do - much less achieve - in these areas. The rewards in these professions are those that the shy understand and feel comfortable with. Their success may last for centuries. As teachers, we should remember that their efforts had shyness as their companion.

The Master Teacher

The Master Teacher is well aware that shyness is not abnormal. However, the pressures in our society are great impositions on the shy. As teachers, we may be doing much of the imposing. When we think we are helping, we may not be. Because we especially enjoy interacting with people, we may be suspect of those who do not. Our reaction to their personality characteristics could force them into unnatural conclusions about themselves. Worse, it could force them into unnatural actions.

The Master Teacher knows we must validate the position of all our students. Our experience should tell us that shy children often do well academically. More importantly, their achievements often reflect thoughtful and meaningful learning. As professional educators, we should recognize that they are motivated because they are inner people, and they often evaluate their work and themselves well because they are deeply thoughtful. We should resist trying to change them. They not only have a right to be as they are - they should be a pleasure for us to teach. So there may be no need to worry about the shy - or make a last-minute effort to make them extroverts. They're okay; so just tell them so. Such validation may be the most important action we ever take with the shy.

I Write As I Please

POLITICS IS AN HONOURABLE PROFESSION, so we have been told by some of the pundits. Perhaps there was a day in the past when such a statement would have some credence, but the way things have gone in the past several years, it might be more proper to say that politics is a dirty, rotten game at which many of the players are unreliable, untruthful position seekers for whom promises mean nothing once the electors have suppressed their desire. Promises by individual politicians in the heat of a campaign really mean little of anything, for they must know that in the final analysis they will be compelled to follow the "party line" or be forever relegated to the obscure back benches, or even barred from the party caucus. That is one reason why a private member's bill usually gets short shrift in any session. You go through the proper channels or get stranded on a sandbar.

BECAUSE POLITICS IS WHAT IT IS, the choices of the electors gets little attention, unless that choice is in line with the party thinkers. Capital Punishment is a good example, at the federal level. An individual politician may express his personal desire to see the death penalty re-instated but if his thought crosses party lines he's out of luck. There are hundreds of instances of private bills dying on the Order Paper. So, after all, what real value has an individual politician to his electors or to himself, except to party and give more clout? It almost gets to the stage where the elector loses his trust of the politician and decides: It's all a big game. The only choice he has is to try and pick the lesser of several evils.

THERE WAS A TIME when the so-called opposition was strictly the watchdog of the House, assessing proposed legislation, suggesting changes and improvements for the better, to try and prevent harmful legislation and improve the lot of the people represented. To give approval to good legislation. But nowadays, we have descended into the very depths of hell in castigating every move a government makes; in attempts to destroy the integrity of individual members; to cast suspicion on every act; to make out the other fellow is a crook and a suspicious character who should be called upon to resign. If that is opposition duty, then I'm a monkey's uncle.

AND THEN THERE ARE THOSE who hold the power, and entertain the stupid notion that because the people put them where they are, that they have also given them license to do as they please. We have seen implications of this most recently in Alberta, where questionable appointments have been made, political patronage has been allowed to run rampant, all in the justification that such an overwhelming majority signifies license to do as you please. Such is not the case, for in the final analysis, the greater the power, the greater the responsibility to act responsibly. Failure to do this means eventual wrath of the public which will be turned into negative votes the next time around.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING as a politician or a political party being "in there too long." What a silly argument is the one that it is time for a change. Fellow that through to a conclusion and how many individual politicians today should be out of there. If a party or an individual member is doing a first-class job, is doing what the electors want him to do to the best of his ability, then there is no time limit on the services he renders. It is only when laxity and disregard set in, and staleness takes over that removal from office becomes necessary.

OF COURSE, IT STANDS TO REASON that all the blame lies not with the politician, or would-be politician. We ourselves must accept a due share of the blame. Who the best person is: who will do the best job for us; who drags the fewest red herrings across the issues; who is the most forthright, whose integrity and trustworthiness stands out above doubt. These things bother us not the least bit for we must vote party above everything. This is our fault; this is our lack, and until we change it we will not get what we want, but will continue to get what we deserve. That is the situation politics is in today, and we had better smarten up or we are going to end up with something we want the least. Think it over.

CHICKEN DISEASE

There is a new disease infecting a number of younger folk. Those who have it take unnecessary risks of life and limb.

They are not ill enough to be confined to bed, so you could be confronted by such a person on the highway, main street, or country road.

Could some of our fatal accidents be caused by the "chicken disease?" It is just possible for there have been some innocent persons who had to make the choice of going into the ditch or having a head-on collision. Just when they were about to choose the former as a way out, the infected driver turned sharply and roared off at high speed.

The disease is very catching and one shudders to hear we folk in the lower grades at school who are already showing symptoms of the illness.

Indians took scalps to show their bravery. Desperadoes put notches on their guns for the same reason. How do these infected with "chicken disease" record their acts of bravery and narrow escapes?

Diagnosis - Chicken Disease is self-inflicted, can only be caught by copy-cats and showoffs. Could prove fatal in some cases.

-Signed,
No Chicken

RED DEATH REVISITED

Are you one of the multitudes suffering from a plague? If you are from 12 to 20 years of age, chances are, you are. This plague has been tearing at our flaming youth for centuries, turning them into hideous monsters. This place has been named by scientists and Edgar Allan Poe alike. You guessed it, it's the Red Death, otherwise known as acne.

Yes, this disease with its maiming affects has grown to momentous proportions. Why? What has caused this majestic outbreak?

The first theory is that the victim hasn't washed properly, but this is not the case as I questioned a lad who was suffering from soap poisoning. When asked how he obtained this next disease, he replied, "I don't know. I didn't use any soap. I used Zest."

The second theory is the outbreak has resulted from the invention of the chocolate bar, but this rumor has resulted only because of a court case where the victim tried to blame William H. Hershey.

The third theory which I will discuss is the outbreak has resulted because the victims have not had enough sex. However, I have heard from a reliable source that this excuse was used for the promotion of Playboy sales in 1972. Well, that idea down the drain, too.

There seems to be no apparent cure for the little red devils that pop up overnight, but we can take into consideration what the leper, uh, acne victim goes through. By this we can make life easier for our fellow people who have the unfortunate luck to have been born with oily skin.

One of the first items you can do to help your pimply pal is to suggest a trip to the doctor to see what's wrong. Yes, the mean-eyed man with the scalpel can help you with your predicament, or at least give you a little hope.

How you are treated will depend upon the nature of the doctor. If he is a nicely tempered man, he'll simply prescribe some antibiotics. If he is mean, he will simply laugh and say, "I had it when I was a kid."

I have found the best therapy is from a half-nice, partially-mean doctor. He will hurl you onto the operating table and smother you with a thick paste, so thick you can barely see where to cry. Then he will say:

"This'll only itch constantly for about three months. Do not scratch. Do not use Lanacane. Avoid bathing, swimming, sweating, and sudden rainstorms. Oh, and do not spit. And stop that crying, you'll handicap the power of the paste. After a week, you could start to smell. Do not use deodorants."

You will leave terribly itchy and terribly sick, but you will be happy because you are on the way to beautiful skin again, not an outer layer of pus.

While your friend is going through this three-month stage, avoid saying "simple as a pimple" while he is near or he could break out again.

The final helpful hint is, if the treatments do not work, place a shopping bag over your friend's head and cut two eyeholes in it. That way, both of you won't have to suffer the affects of the Red Death. -by Wayne Bos

MLA Tom Lysons reports

The Honourable Marvin Moore, minister of Municipal Affairs, brought forward the anticipated Bill 21, the Municipal Debt Reduction Act, whereby municipalities will receive $800 per capita for debt retirement.

This will mean our constituency will receive many millions of dollars. Every jurisdiction will be expected to pay off debts with interest rates in excess of eight per cent unless they are of a revenue-producing nature. Funds over and above debts can be used for other municipal purposes or invested. This will, in effect, directly lower taxes in the future.

Charles Stewart, MLA for the Wainwright constituency, brought in a resolution asking for more grazing reserve production by brushing and range improvement. This idea is certainly receiving much attention now that cattle prices are a great deal better.

The government has invested a large sum of money through the Heritage Savings and Trust Fund in a grazing reserve and community pasture programs, mainly in the grey-wooded soil zones. It is our intention to look into this whole question of providing needed grazing land.

In the Throne Speech delivered May 24, in keeping with the spirit of the International Year of the Child, proposals for the following programs were included:

- expansion of preventative dental treatment services on a province-wide basis through local health units;
- day-time development opportunities for mentally retarded and handicapped children;
- additional residential spaces for mentally retarded children currently living in local communities, but not receiving adequate residential services.

Dealing with agriculture, the government continues its recognition of agriculture as forming with energy the basic economic foundation for the province. It has special significance to Alberta's present and future economy as a renewable re-

The outlook for agriculture in 1979 is for a generally favourable year, but with concern over grain pricing. Therefore, the government, as it has in the past, will continue to emphasize the role of the provinces in grain marketing.

The Alberta Government has acted as an initiator and a catalyst to stimulate construction of a new grain terminal at the Port of Prince Rupert, and has proposed that, if required, up to $100 million from the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund be made available for financing the facility.

Alberta has successfully tendered for the purchase of the Canadian Government elevators located in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge in the belief that up-grading of these facilities is necessary for the maintenance of the delivery marketing system servicing Alberta's grain producers.

Decentralization of the Department of Agriculture will be continued, moving laboratory staff to the Environmental Laboratory in Vegreville and the office of the Provincial Apiculturist to Falher.

Expansion of Farm Business Management programs will be proposed so that more farmers will be reached with information to assist in development of sound farm management practices and technique.

Increased funding for irrigation will promote efficient use of irrigation water on the farm while achieving optimum yields and maintaining soil quality.

Funds for promotion of Alberta-grown food products will be increased substantially.

DENITRIFICATION

From the standpoint of efficient crop production, nitrogen is the most important plant nutrient contained in the soil. Plants take up nitrogen primarily in the available ammonium and nitrate ion form. There are numerous ways available nitrogen can be lost from the soil however, perhaps the largest single loss can be attributed to a process called denitrification.

Denitrification is the conversion by soil organisms of nitrate-nitrogen contained in the soil to a volatile gaseous form of nitrogen that can be lost to the atmosphere. Losses via denitrification are contingent upon low soil oxygen levels as the micro-organisms involved are anaerobic - this is, they function in the absence of oxygen.

One would expect to encounter anaerobic soil conditions as a result of water logging, ie. spring conditions. A build-up of nitrate-nitrogen can result from practices such as summerfallow or fall application of a nitrate or ammonium-based fertilizer.

In a recent paper, Dr. Marvin Nyborg, et al, of the University of Alberta Soils Department estimated that average losses by denitrification of all applied nitrogen as fertilizer could approach 30 per cent. When one takes into account that approximately 25 per cent of nitrogen fertilizer is fall applied in Alberta, the losses are staggering. It should be mentioned that in dryer areas of the province, or in dry years, where the threat of standing water is not great, fall application of nitrogen fertilizer has given equal results to spring application.

To a large extent, losses due to denitrification can be diminished. Fallow should be minimized. The reason for this is that with each cultivation available, nitrate-nitrogen in the soil increases. Without a growing crop to make use of the nitrate-nitrogen generated during the fallow period, more is around to be denitrified in the spring. Any practice that would tend to remove soil cover, for example burning, fall ploughing, should be avoided. Soil with stubble and residue removed tends to thaw later at depth. This creates the possibility of surface saturation and water-logging, which would induce the denitrification process.

Continuous cropping, maintaining crop residues, minimum tillage - even zero tillage, would tend to produce less of a build-up of nitrate-nitrogen in the soil by fall. The result would be less nitrate-nitrogen available to be lost by denitrification under wet spring conditions.

An innovative approach that soil scientists are taking to lessen the problem is the use of nitrification inhibitors. The inhibitor would serve the purpose of slowly releasing nitrate-nitrogen and thus decrease the amount of nitrate-nitrogen that potentially could be lost. At present, this is not a practical method to be used by farmers, however, it does present one novel solution to the problem that could have been potential.

Control wild oats early or late

Endaven or Mataven will clean up your wild oat problems! And your Pioneer Elevator Manager can help you decide which of the two you should use, to get better yields.

Endaven is a most effective post-emergent spray when wild oats are in the 4 to 6 leaf stage. It can be used on all wheat varieties (except Selkirk).

Mataven is a product you can use effectively from the 3 to 6 leaf stage of wild oats.

Rely on Shell's Endaven or Mataven, and your Pioneer Elevator Manager's know-how, in your fight against wild oats.

Endaven and Mataven are products of Shell Chemicals. Read label instructions before use.

New church opens Sunday

Sunday, June 17 will mark a memorable day for Pastor Mel Dietrich and the congregation of the Daysland Alliance Church. The occasion will be the dedication service of the new sanctuary, just recently completed, seating more than 200, and constructed mainly by volunteer labour.

The building will be officially dedicated to the glory of our great God who has made it all possible during the service beginning at 2:30 p.m. The district superintendent, Rev. Roy McIntyre, will bring the dedicatory message.

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend. Closed circuit TV will be provided for those in the lower auditorium. Refreshments will be served immediately following the service. Come and enjoy this time of blessing and let us praise the Lord together for the great things He has done.

Hardisty and District News

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion met in the hall for their regular meeting June 4 with nine members present.

The meeting opened as usual with the flag ceremony. The minutes were read and approved and the financial statement given.

Miss. Barbe Matthews reported a highly successful caesar contest with a total of $668.75 being raised. This includes the cash and guarantee donation from IPL, for which we give many thanks.

It was decided to send invitations to the Royal Purple, Hospital Auxiliary and CWL Ladies to join us at a meeting in the fall with a view to simplifying convening in the future.

It was requested that the new kitchen cupboards had been painted and the walls washed.

The members will help the Legion with a pancake breakfast on July 7 during Exodus Days.

Arrangements were made to help the Good Deed Club and UCW with a shower for the daughter of one of our members in July.

It was decided to have a history of the Auxiliary made up with an accompanying album of pictures. Miss. Matthews and Miss. Kramer were put in charge of this.

The September meeting will be held September 6 because of Labour Day. Following the closing ceremony, lunch was served.

St. Mark's Women's Guild met Wednesday evening at the home of Marguerite Drover with seven members present. In the absence of the secretary, Barbe Matthews acted proxie.

Following the acceptance of the financial and other reports, plans were finalized for the June 9 Knit-a-thon. It was decided not to have a bake sale at this time as the membership is too small.

During the summer season, Mary Gutmann and Barbe Matthews will be responsible for the altar. The September meeting is to be September 5 at Mrs. Hearns'.

St. Mark's fourth annual knit-a-thon was again a real success, financially and socially. Seven knitters took part with Mrs. Nettie Johnson winning first place for rows knit. Hearty thanks are due to the many sponsors and others who helped with the day.

The Drop-In Center and card party was held Saturday evening with five tables in play. Prizes were won by Eleanor Moody - Ladies' first; Peggy Burgess - consolation; Barbe Matthews - Men's first; John Hoscher - consolation.

The next card party will be June 23, preceded by a potluck supper at 6 p.m.

Trap club holds shoot

The Hardisty Trap Club held a team shoot Sunday, June 3 with new membership being the prime objective. Each of the regular members led a team of four new members, and a total of eight teams were squadded.

There was a team from Wainwright, and several shooters came from Provost and Czar.

John Gelba, club president, with Louis Gelba, Lee Hendricks, Walter Sonke and Ed Redd won first place and the fishing rods. Bill Matthews with Dave Hooper, Doug Irving, Dean Dragor and Leif Lemley took second honours and the tackle boxes.

A barbecue supper followed by a fun shoot finished the day. Including the kids, there were approximately 60 people in attendance, and the trap club thanks everybody for such a wonderful turnout.

The club shoots every Thursday evening. Another competition will be held June 28 and 24.

SECOND SECTION WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13, 1979

Dwayne McCracken of the Battle River 4-H Club was awarded Grand Champion honours in the 4-h interclub show last week in Killam. Dwayne's calf weighed 1,260 pounds. Average weight of the 58 animals in the show was 1,046 pounds. The average selling price was $83.72 per pound.

Here comes a parade!

The Killam and District Chamber of Commerce sponsored Killam's Saturday parade with the local RCMP starting it off. The men were dressed in red tunics followed by the flag bearers, Alan and Ernie Bouchard.

Town officials followed in a 1929 Studebaker driven by Sharleen Chevraux. G. Dammann carried the Chamber of Commerce president in his '53 Buick, led by Jackie Collins and Karen Costes carrying the banner.

The parade consisted of three bands: The Flagstaff Community Band, who put on an excellent performance, The Pipers from Daysland and from Vermilion, who should be commended for the fabulous performance they put on, as usual. The Girl Guides were represented by Elaine Basterash and Kathy Slavik carrying the company banner.

Each and every float entry should be commended for the tremendous amount of work put into their displays. Floats were entered by Killam Swim hub, Killam Hospital, Ladies Bowling, Killam Tire & Rubber, UGG, Elks and Royal Purple, Lions Club, Minor Ball, and the Co-op.

The vehicles put on a very impressive showing with their decorations. Special mention should be made to Fee & Sons, who entered three cars representing three generations. Gordon and Dora Fee led in a 1927 Chev.

A fabulous amount of work was put into the following vehicles: Sears and Sport Shop, James Real Estate, Battle River Tourist Association, North Drug Mart, Killam Electric, Saunders Variety Store, MacLeod's Store, Kalawsky Motors, Treasury Branch, Transit Mix, Q-Mart, and Kim Alta Enterprises.

Other interesting entries were Darrel Garn on a go-cart, Dean Sorken in a miniature car, Randy Bouchard on a tractor pulling his sister in a cart, Killam Farm Equipment Bicycle Built-For-Two ridden by Janice Arntzen and Julie Dammann, and the Argo driven by Wayne Bos.

Horse-drawn novelties consisted of John Armitage's draft horse and buggy and the Legion entry driven by Cliff Meakin and Gordon Brodie. We must mention the Meakin entry, which was a mule-drawn cart carrying clowns.

Special mention should go out to Shirley and Janet Voltner, Anna Voltner, all of Viking, Tom Yule of Holden, the Terry Leslie family of Sedgewick, who made a very impressive showing with their beautiful show horses.

Leading the queens and queen-elects were Patti Wallace and Lori Lund with the flags, followed by John Borgel, rodeo chairman, and Sharon Moser, rodeo secretary. The horse clubs represented were the well-groomed Happy Riders Club and the Killam 4-H Club. There were many other riders as well.

The farm machinery and fire-truck ended the parade.

The only prizes given out were to the bicycles of which there were 22. First prize went to Shaun Sorken as a spaceman, second to Lisa Bonnett as a clown, and third to Lee Sorken with his modern chopper, and fourth prize going to all the rest.

Lougheed's Club Champion in the 4-H Interclub show was Jeff Roelchuck for his calf weighing 653 pounds.

Legislative Report

X-ray examined

Confusing statements by Worker Health and Safety Minister Bill Diachuk about the safety of the province's X-ray equipment did little to block Opposition charges that there is reason for public alarm about possible radiation hazards from faulty machines.

Early in the week, Diachuk told the assembly a shortage of inspectors in his department had resulted in delays in the installation of new X-ray equipment.

But there is no backlog of inspections of machines currently in use because the equipment is only inspected when a trained radiologist complains of a problem, Diachuk said.

This statement prompted Social Credit MLA Walter Buck, a Fort Saskatchewan dentist, to ask why the department doesn't carry out regular inspections of the machines. To which, Diachuk replied that the technicians alert his department when a problem arises.

But the next day in the assembly, the minister changed his turn. He said officials in his department had informed him there was a backlog in "routine inspections" – that is, inspections of machines about which radiologists had sounded a warning.

Opposition members then had reason to be profoundly skeptical when Diachuk, when promising to examine the possibility of initiating regular inspections, dismissed suggestions that X-ray machines might pose a danger to patients and workers.

The barbs thrown by the Opposition on this matter, however, didn't daunt Premier Peter Lougheed who set out "to interpret his mandate" from the people of Alberta in the March 14 election.

In his contribution to the Throne Speech debate, the premier told the assembly his overwhelming electoral victory demonstrated the people of Alberta want four more years of the kind of government they've had in the last eight.

He promised bold initiatives in economic development, cautious use of the Heritage Savings Trust Fund, continued restraint in government expenditure including continuation of guidelines on public service wages and "a fair and impartial" stance toward conflict between workers and bosses.

Lougheed also issued his first challenge to the new government of Prime Minister Joe Cark, suggesting that if the administration in Ottawa wants accelerated oil sands and heavy oil development to meet its goals of "energy self-sufficiency" then it should approach the province with specific proposals.

Meanwhile, Energy Minister Merv Leitch refused to throw any light on government plans for the proposed Alsands and Cold Lake unconventional oil extraction projects.

To persistent Opposition questioning, he would only reply that no major decisions would be made before the government receives the reports from the Energy Resources Conservation Board.

Tragedy hits Irma residents

The fire siren in Irma sounded about 11 a.m. Monday, sending a fire engine out to the farm of Robert Bell, six miles south of that community. Mr. Bell had been covered in a cave-in where he had been excavating for the installation of a water system.

The volunteer fireman were unfortunately too late and were unable to revive him. Mr. Bell is a brother of Rod Bell of the Sedgewick district. Our sympathy goes out to the family at this time.

COME ALIVE . . .

-Curtis Sedgewick

CONFRONT YOUR FAITH

Be of good courage, and he shall strengthen your heart, all ye that hope in the Lord. (Ps. 31:24).

Even Christians of long experience are often assaulted with most terrible doubts and waverings. You must not consider that for these temptations your case is hopeless. Hope in God, trust in Him and rest in His promises.

When the devil comes with his doubts and unbeliefs, shut the door of your heart. Shut your eyes so that you will not dwell upon his hellish shadows. Lift them up where they can behold the things which are eternal, and you will have strength every hour. The trial of your faith is much more precious than gold. It makes you valiant to fight the battle of the Lord.

Satan connects with every-one that will connect with him. If he can get those who have had experience in religion, they are his most effectual agents to reach just such men and compass their souls with unbelief. You cannot afford to let any doubts come into your mind. Do not please the devil enough to tell about the terrible business you are carrying. Every time you do it, Satan laughs that his soul can control you and that you have lost sight of Jesus Christ your Redeemer.

We are to show forth Him who hath called us out of darkness into His marvelous light. It is by living faith that we rest in that light. It is by living faith that we rejoice in that light every day. We are not to talk about our doubts and trials, because they grow bigger every time we talk them. Every time we talk them, Satan has gained the victory; but when we say, "I will commit the keeping of my soul unto God, as unto a faithful witness," then we testify that we have given ourselves to Jesus Christ without reservation, and then God gives us light and we rejoice in Him.

The soul that loves God rises above the fog of doubt; he gains a bright, broad, deep, living experience, and becomes meek and Christlike. His life is committed to God, hid with Christ in God.

Golf tourney in Sedgewick sees 22 enter

On Saturday, June 9, 22 young, enthusiastic golfers gathered at the Sedgewick Golf Course, ready for a three-round junior golf tournament. Some came as far as Lacombe, Vegreville, Hughenden, Daysland and Viking.

The championship flight was won by Garnet Eckstrand of Sedgewick with Ian Gullion of Vegreville beating Dean Piller of Lacombe in a play-off for second.

First flight was won by Dave Anderson of Viking with Scott Taylor of Viking coming in second.

Second flight was won by Cam Hanciuk of Vegreville with Frank Block of Daysland taking second place.

Third flight was won by Shannon Deardoff of Lacombe with Jordy Brand, also of Lacombe, taking second.

Fourth flight was won by Murray Shaw of Lacombe and Ron Sather of Lacombe took second.

The boys seemed to enjoy the golfing as well as the eating and all promised to come again next year. Congratulations to all the trophy winners and better luck next year to the rest.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped in any way to make the Junior Golf Tournament a success.

Thanks to all who donated pies and to the "swell gals" who worked in the kitchen. It's very reassuring to know we have some behind us when we venture out on something like this. Thanks again.

-Edythe Eckstrand

Any ladies interested in forming a "fun day" or whatever-you, would you please be at the club house on Monday afternoon, June 18, at 2 p.m. Come and bring your ideas, and your golf clubs.

Writer publishes poems

Mrs. Violet Copeland of Maidstone, Saskatchewan, formerly of the Irma District and a once-member of the Flagstaff Creative Writers, has just completed the publishing of a collection of her poems in a book entitled "Tarpaper and Wild Flowers."

Mrs. Copeland has been writing poetry since the age of eight when she began composing poetry for school assignments.

Her first published poem was entitled "Ode to a Farmer" and appeared in the Maidstone Mirror in 1964.

Since that time, she has had more than 200 of her poems and several articles and stories published by newspapers and magazines, including The Maidstone Mirror, The Saskatoon Star Phoenix, The Western Producer, The Regina Leader Post, The Winnipeg Free Press, The Chatelain Magazine, and The Country Guide.

Her wide range of writing includes works for both children and for adults. She has had one poem included in a Canadian reader, and has sold her work to be included in educational guides for firms in the United States. Her work has been included in Jack and Jill Magazines, and in their hardcover book Around the World.

A number of Mrs. Copeland's poems have been chosen to be included in a hardcover book to be published this fall by the Alberta Department of Culture and Youth. The books will be used exclusively in Alberta schools.

Mrs. Copeland was forced to leave school at the Grade 10 level for medical reasons and the only further creative instruction she received was a creative writing course she took while in Alberta and her experiences in the writers' group.

This is the third book which Mrs. Copeland has published. In 1967, two other small booklets were published and were completely sold out.

Mrs. Copeland's rural background gives her work a very down-to-earth flavour. Her work reflects the joys and sorrows of life from the 1900s to the present day.

MY FATHER
by Violet M. Copeland

My father wove his own philosophy
Into the sturdy pattern of his days.
He reads no tomes of child philosophy
But let his theories pervade his ways.
Those quiet ways we followed in his wake
Down the plowed fields whose fragrant earthey scent
Comes back with clear remembrance from my youth
With thoughts of summer rain and deep contest.

He hummed a wordless tune at every task.
It often lulled the youngest child to rest
Sprawled close in trusting weariness against
The broad protection of his brawny chest.
His tones were low; still lower when he spoke
An urging or an absolute command;
His tastes were simple; not beyond his means
His was the calm, ripe wisdom of the land.

Flagstaff Hobby Club

On Wednesday, May 16, the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff sponsored the Camrose Camera Photography Spectacular. The show was held in the Sedgewick Central High gym and proved to be an exceptionally fine program.

The next meeting of the hobby club will be Wednesday, June 20 at 8 p.m. in the Sedgewick United Church Hall. This will be the annual meeting. Mrs. Ole Lundie has a presentation of slides.

Lunch will be served and everyone is welcome.

LOCAL 4-H CLUB RIDES IN RODEO PARADE

Have you ever ridden a horse in a parade before? The members of the Killam 4-H Horse Club did Saturday, June 9.

There were about 50 horses in the parade altogether. It was fun but some of us were nervous that our horses would not behave, but we all had a good time and had worked hard to get our horses trimmed and cleaned to look nice for the parade.

We rode our horses through Killam and down to the hospital where the patients clapped to see us. Horses help to make the parade.

At the meeting, we decided to have a trailride Sunday, June 17 at Tisdall's at 1 p.m. It was discussed to change achievement day to another date.

Thanks to Lee Wilson who gave a good demonstration on showmanship. Jane would like more pictures and information for the history book.

TELEVISION AWARENESS Change

When the influence of television in our lives is examined in depth, there is often some desire to make changes in our personal and/or family use of TV. These changes might be choosing to watch less television and find other activities for our leisure time or just being more selective in our viewing. It may mean watching more TV with your children to help them understand the values being presented.

You may even want to help create change in the television industry by calling and/or writing to station managers or advertisers or government to let your views be known.

Hardisty family travels abroad

Pete and Jean Gossard, their daughter Annette and her husband Dave, went to France recently.

Pete was in the house in which he was born and the lady living there knew of Pete's father, who was a policeman even though they left there around 70 years ago.

Then Paulette Manning's parents, the Martens, lived in that house for three years and this lady living there now moved is after Paulette's parents left.

The sad note was that her husband, who was invalided in World War II, died just 10 days before they arrived. He had always hoped that someone from Canada would come over.

While looking for a place to eat, they saw Jean's maiden name over his eating place so Jean discovered a second cousin.

Another highlight was their visit to Vinny Ridge where so many Canadians are buried, and to those missing a tree was planted so there are beautiful trees in their memory.

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW

By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

Having been Minister of Agriculture, now for just about two months, has given me some new and interesting experiences. One of them is the opportunity to write a province-wide weekly column on the issues affecting our industry. To a large extent, the above title reflects my concern for these issues, for I believe many of today's decisions will alter irrevocably the industry on which we and our children must depend tomorrow.

This is my first column, and in it I would like to introduce some of the issues that I see worth discussing in coming weeks. But, before I do, I think right now it would be wise to answer any questions readers might have concerning my publishing a column at all.

Readers might be interested to know that the idea of a column was conceived by my predecessor, the Honourable Marvin Moore. He found, as I have since, that a real communication gap exists between government and the agriculture community on issues affecting our industry. That gap Mr. Moore helped to close by distributing to Alberta weeklies a column, like this one, in which the Minister explained the issues as he saw them and, for the most part, limited his comments to agriculture. That was his recipe for success, and I intend to follow that precedent.

I also have a second reason for writing this column. I think it's wise to let the public know what I feel about many issues. This column is a good method of doing so. Through the process of writing I can logically deal with the various aspects of a given problem, and through the column I trust you can follow my reasoning which, in turn, I hope will give you a better grasp of government intentions in similar or related areas of agriculture.

What are my concerns? Certainly, after two months in this job, I feel definite sectors of our industry need to be scrutinized. From my first week as Minister I have been interested in checking out the dairy industry and, in particular, the government bodies that influence and regulate that industry.

However, I now feel many more government bodies and programs should come under review. This is not unusual for it is a process that should occur at the beginning of any new administration. Programs and committees need to be checked periodically to determine if changes are required, if the original guidelines are adequate, and if the reasons for creating the program or body in the past continue to exist today.

For instance, I intend to look at Agricultural Development Corporation (ADC) programs and procedures. Financial requirements in our industry are constantly changing. Higher land prices and increased operating costs have hindered many young people from entering an industry that has displayed a marked trend to farm growth and consolidation. A beginning farmer is finding it increasingly difficult to enter this business, and it's possible that new or revised ADC programs may be able to help young Albertans gain a foothold and remain solvent during the early, critical years of establishing a farm.

Certainly, I feel we must do some serious thinking on the marketing philosophy of our industry. In today's world, marketing, in the broad sense, has grown to affect almost every facet of agriculture.

Alberta farmers know we have marketing problems. Transportation, one facet of marketing, has come under increasing pressure in Canada as system capacity has not kept up with export opportunities and increased productivity.

In other areas marketing philosophy could dictate that greater government-industry consultation may be required. Dr. Hugh Horner's new Ministry of Economic Development will be responsible, in part, for identifying agricultural opportunities both in this province and abroad. Quick reaction by both government and individuals will probably be required to take advantage of these openings. Are we now ready for that task?

There are many issues. Recently the Canadian Wheat Board announced it was going to impose quotas on domestic feed grains. I was not exactly pleased with that decision. That's something I would like to discuss in more detail.

And more research in agriculture is required if we are to remain competitive in the world marketplace. Farming for the Future, a research program established last year, is starting to take up some of the slack as we look toward the mid-1980's and the 1990's. However, beyond that, agricultural research must become an on-going process if Albertans are to receive the tools and information needed to keep our industry viable.

Those are just a few areas I would like to discuss in coming weeks — to give the farm community some idea of where its minister stands on current issues and what direction its government intends to take on today's problems, and issues that will arise in the weeks, months and years ahead.

Hardisty District News Items

Belva Leadley was very pleased to have her cousin and husband from Oregon to visit her over the weekend.

Gladys Goodrich accompanied her sister Sylvia to Butte, Montana. Although their time there was short, they toured a one-time mansion with beautiful furniture, ballroom, etc., and enjoyed seeing the lovely old furniture and other antique items.

It was nice to see Mr. and Mrs. Hooper in town. They came to see their new granddaughter. Mrs. Hooper taught both Mary Breen and Allen Nelson, as well as many, many more pupils.

It was nice to see Jimmy Morrison of Airdrie in town. Jimmy underwent major surgery in May so is still recuperating but drove his car from Airdrie so is doing well.

Received a very welcome letter from Ida Timmins and we may find her in the Mills building in charge of household products in Provost. She also says she became a grandma in March. Geraldine and Bob Mahood of Calgary became parents of a lovely daughter, whose name is Jennifer Carolyn, and they live in Calgary.

Jim and Shannon Timmins live in Lethbridge and Ida had been there in March. Wished to be remembered to all her Hardisty friends.

Morning visitors on Sunday at Isabel Nelson's were Fred and Mary Alderdice from Gunn with Ruth Brynlund of Camrose. They then went on to call on Esther Nelson. They had been down for the Light Horse ministrations.

We understand that Harold Alderdice is doing very well with his chuckwagon winning first at Motionow Sports Day, also first at Chauvin. Congratulations, Harold.

A lovely afternoon was held at the Parkland Manor when quite a few people, guests of the OOEP enjoyed a beautiful lunch and good fellowship to celebrate Royal Purple Day, which is a yearly event by that organization all over Canada.

It was nice to see Mrs. Castlen recently released from hospital attending.

Helen Morrison from Airdrie too was another familiar face as was Jim Shenta. It was also Orman Thorp's first visit to the manor.

Guests were welcomed by Dorothy Kreszer and they were thanked for coming by Nellie Scott.

Mrs. Hazel Rubenek in turn thanked the Royal Purple ladies for honouring we senior citizens and some not so senior yet.

Those in the manor not attending were given coffee and a plate of goodies so that everyone was remembered.

Flagstaff Guiders go to Red Deer conference

From May 14 to 17, Red Deer College hosted the annual girl guide meeting and conference where commissioners and local association delegates met for more training sessions.

Tuesday's sessions were held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Elaine Keith of Sedgewick, deputy commissioner, and Sonja Frank of Forestburg, commissioner, both attended the conference.

On Wednesday evening, we were honoured by attending a special banquet for the retirement of our lovely provincial commissioner, Evelyn Smith, who everyone really thought a lot of. Your own commissioner had the privilege of being in the colour party.

Many gifts were bestowed on Evelyn with the special feature of a paid trip to "Our Chalet" in Switzerland with the kind donations of all the Brownies, Bees, Guides and Rangers of Alberta.

Wednesday morning reflections were presented by our own Michener Area and Sonja again had the priviledge of playing her guitar for the musical background.

Thursday morning were the windup sessions.

Everyone went home with more knowledge to pass on and more enthusiasm toward Girl Guiding.

"Put simply BUCTRIL M hits weeds hard and safely

"It's been our experience here at The Pool that Buctril M effectively kills those problem broadleaf weeds without damaging your wheat, barley, oats or flax. You can count on Buctril M to give total weed kill with total crop safety.

"Buctril M is especially effective on tartary and wild buckwheat, green smartweed, lady's thumb and cow cockle. And Buctril M can be tank mixed with Avenge to give you double the kill power wild oats and broadleaf weeds.

"Keeping it plain and simple, Buctril M is selective and effective."

Anglican Church Notes

Christ Church in Manville was filled to capacity on Sunday afternoon for a service of confirmation conducted by Right Rev. John Langstone, bishop of the Diocese of Edmonton. The seven persons from St. Edmund's confirmed were Laura Jean McKee, Lorna, Kathy and Randy Brodie, Dorothy Brickner, Lee Mackay and Keith Mackay.

A number of St. Edmund's parishioners were in attendance. Among the participating clergy were Rev. T. James of the Synod office, Rev. Bill Brown of Tofield-Vegreville, Rev. Eliot Shepard of Wainwright, Rev. Chris Morton, retired, and Rev. Ken Davis of Vermilion-Manville.

Afterwards, a reception was held in the church hall hosted by the Manville ACW at which confirmation certificates were presented.

Let's see everyone at the annual St. Edmund's picnic at Shorecliff Park on Sunday, June 17. The schedule begins with a short service of worship at 1 p.m. At 1:45 p.m., slides narrated by Mrs. G. Wall will be shown. A soccer game and games for the children are scheduled at 3 p.m. At 4:30 p.m., supper will be served, and at 6 p.m., the annual baseball game will take place.

The rector is hoping someone will come across some peanuts in the shell for a peanut scramble, and he is stocking up on first-prize ribbons.

Bring some lunch for the picnic table and bring along your relatives and friends for the fun. Anyone who requires a ride should contact Rev. Conrad at 384-3805 or Donna Martin at 384-3544.

Our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Owen Cook, formerly Cheryl Martin, who were married by Rev. Conrad in the Bawlf area on Saturday.

Banquet enjoyed

On Thursday, June 7, the 1st Sedgewick Brownie Pack and the 1st Sedgewick Guide Company held their mother and daughter banquet.

A lot of preparation went into the planning and decorating, and it paid off. The Anglican Church hall looked very nice and the program was really good.

The mistress of ceremonies was Guide Charlotte Lewis, who welcomed everyone and then Grace was sang by all.

Debbie Steil introduced the head table, including the MC Charlotte Lewis and her mother, Mary Ann Lewis, Mrs. Sonja Frank of Forestburg, who is district commissioner, Mrs. Helga Affolder, chairman of the local association, and her daughters Jennifer and Natasha, and Mrs. Elaine Keith, deputy commissioner.

Then everyone enjoyed a wonderful turkey supper served by the Sedgewick Kinettes. The Kinettes had decorated the tables with Canadian flags, which they gave to the girls to take home.

After the dinner, Stephanie Erickson presented a toast to the sponsoring club, the Kinettes.

Susie Harris then presented a short story to the mothers and toasted them. Mrs. Affolder replied.

Susie was reminded of her 14th birthday when Happy Birthday was sung by all. Congratulations, Susie, and many happy returns.

Mrs. Shirley Kobsar, on behalf of the Sedgewick Legion, presented a gift of a company flag to the Girl Guides, and this was accepted by the two patrol leaders, Susie Harris and Charlotte Lewis on behalf of the Guides. Pat McArthur then thanked the Legion, both for the new flag and for the use of the hall this past year.

Mrs. Barb McArthur was the guest speaker and showed some interesting slides of the north and some unique samples of Eskimo arts and crafts.

The Guides formed a horseshoe and were presented with badges earned recently. Pat McArthur was the recipient of her "All 'Round Cord," the result of much hard work.

The Brownies formed their Brownie ring and with a graduation theme said goodbye to six Brownies who were "flying up" to Guides: Jennifer Affolder, Marilyn Duperron, Angela Kobsar, Patty McDonald, Tracy Pellern and Karen Smith. Then all joined in a campfire singsong, closing with Brownie and Guide Taps.

Off to Camp

Friday morning, June 8, the Brownies, under Leader Verna Steil, left for Bellshill for a weekend camp with the Alliance Brownies. They were accompanied by two Guides, Charlotte Lewis and Debbie Steil. A good time was reported by all. -Charlotte Lewis

Killam Rebekahs celebrate 65th anniversary of lodge

Silver Link Rebekah Lodge No. 40 celebrated its 65th anniversary June 5, 1979 at the Legion Hall in Killam. This lodge was instituted April 6, 1914. At that time, there were 48 people initiated - 27 men and 21 women. The one remaining charter member is Mrs. Lily Stewart.

Our celebration commenced with a banquet attended by a number of Rebekahs and husbands and Oddfellows and wives. Among the out-of-town Rebekahs present were Mrs. Lena Ward from Rochester, Miss Winnie Humphries and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of Edmonton, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gage from Ponoka.

Following the dinner, the Rebekahs presented a short program. It began with a skit on the history of Oddfellowship. Included in the skit were musical numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Forster and Reverend Richard Conrad. We were entertained with a comedy act by "Tiny Tim." Another short play followed with various members putting together a membership cake.

A beautifully decorated cake was presented to our Noble Grand who, in turn, gave it to our district deputy president, Mrs. Phyllis Lawson.

The group sang a number, "This Lodge is your Lodge," composed for the occasion by two sister Rebekahs.

The program concluded with everyone singing the hymn, "He Leadeth Me."

Our provincial president, Margaret Frey, who was unable to attend, extended greetings from the Provincial Assembly of Oddfellows and Rebekahs through our district deputy president, Sister Phyllis Lawson. Greetings and congratulations were brought from Lougheed Rebekah Lodge, the Oddfellows, the Ministerial Association, and other guests.

Mrs. Stewart shared incidents from the earlier years when the lodge first came into being. Her aunt, the late Mrs. W.E. Nichol, was instrumental in the founding of this lodge. Mrs. Stewart shared many happy and interesting memories with us.

Congratulatory bouquets were received from the Oddfellows, Lougheed Rebekah Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Baken, and the district deputy president, Mrs. Phyllis Lawson.

Mrs. Palmer, our most senior member, cut the anniversary cake assisted by our Noble Grand, Mrs. Gudrun Backen.

Legislature stays interesting

The Conservative government has been having a hard time denying it is concerned about Prime Minister Clark's intention to move the Canadian embassy in Israel to Jerusalem.

Several Alberta businesses have expressed fear the move would jeopardize millions of dollars in contracts with Arab countries which might mount a trade boycott against Canada if Clark goes ahead with his plans.

But Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Dick Johnston tried to dodge Opposition questions as to whether the province had protested the new government's intentions by claiming the issue was a purely federal matter because of its international scope.

Meanwhile, Premier Peter Lougheed was himself very active in the international arena as he met with 11 western United States governors in Sun Valley, Idaho to promote sales of Alberta gas.

Lougheed met privately with the governors of Montana, Alaska and Washington and spoke at an open meeting of all 11 governors to assure them Alberta was ready to provide gas to the energy-hungry states should the National Energy Board approve new exports.

As the meeting ended, the premier claimed that recent large gas finds in Alberta and the desire of the western states to get the fuel have improved prospects for removal of tariff barriers against the incursion of the province's agricultural and petrochemical products into the Pacific Northwest.

Lougheed scored some goodwill with at least one of the governors when he promised Montana's Tom Judge that the province would look at the possibility of shipping any surplus diesel fuel it might have to the diesel-short state.

But the premier told Judge he must first convince the U.S. federal government to declare Montana's situation an emergency and sponsor the state's application for a short-term shipment before the NEB. Truckers have been forced off the roads and farmers have been unable to work their fields because of the diesel shortage in the state.

Back in Edmonton, Opposition members were suggesting the provincial Conservatives had gone soft on their Tory cousins in Ottawa by not publicly rebuking the Jerusalem move.

The same charge was made after Energy Minister Merv Leitch refused after repeated questioning in the house to indicate what price Alberta would be seeking in gas pricing negotiations with federal Energy Minister Ray Hnatyshyn.

Leitch acknowledged that his predecessor Don Getty had often announced what Alberta wanted before pricing talks with federal officials.

But Leitch said that while there "may be occasions when it is useful to reveal a bargaining position in advance," in this case early disclosure would be damaging.

Horatius at the Bridge

The story goes like this. In old Roman times, Horatius and two other soldiers risked all to save Rome and its people. An invading army had almost reached the city before its citizens realized the danger. Horatius and his men held back the aggressors on the bridge on the Tiber River until the people were safely inside the city and the drawbridge up. Meanwhile, other citizens were destroying the bridge supports so the approaching army could not cross.

"Then out spake brave Horatius,
The Captain of the Gate:
'To every man upon this earth,
Death cometh soon or late,
And how can man die better
Than facing fearful odds,
For the ashes of his fathers,
And the temples of his Gods,' "

The fanciful piece of poetry written by Thomas Babington Macaulay serves as an apt analogy for a modern-day situation residents of Sedgewick now face. Granted, the stakes aren't as high as life and death, but the commitments are.

A small group of people in Sedgewick has been trying to preserve a part of that town for more than a decade. The Kinsmen Club, with members only slightly more than Horatius and his two men, have given the community its own lake one mile outside town.

Last week, they appealed to citizens of the community to help clean up the facility for the summer season. Almost all Kinsmen members showed up at the allotted time Tuesday evening. Only three young people and three other local citizens cared to help.

Saturday, however, was quite another story. A crowd estimated at 100 gathered at the lake's campsite for a day of fun and sun. People of Sedgewick and district seem to appreciate having the lake for their enjoyment, at someone else's expense.

Unless that attitude changes, unless these people start caring a little more about the efforts of others who are trying to do something for their community, Sedgewick Lake is going to be little more than a slough. And unlike Horatius at the Bridge, we doubt if its memory will be commemorated in poem.

The attitude of Sedgewick's town council has to change, too. That group of people doesn't seem to appreciate the amenity either. Rather, they seem to be anxious about its demise. How else would you explain their lack of support for the project? For example, it would be no great problem for the town to include a regular garbage pick-up at the lake in the schedule. The fact that it's outside town limits shouldn't stop them. Garbage is being picked up at private homes which are outside town.

And what of the large, large quantity of trees the Kinsmen started planting at the lake those 10 or more years ago. Some died because the facilities to water them weren't made available. Unwatered trees die, and these surely did!

Perhaps we could take a lesson from Horatius. In his time, people worked together to maintain and preserve their communities. We seem to have the selfish attitude of let someone else do it. They're not going to do it much longer. How can they when the odds and the people are against them.

"Then none was for a party;
Then all were for the state;
Then great men helped the poor,
And the poor man loved the great;
Then lands were fairly portioned;
Then spoils were fairly sold:
The Romans were like brothers
In the brave days of old."

What Others Say

The incredible swelling of the Cowboys' Search Fund sets me to philosophising on the recent loss of a light plane in Oregon, and the repercussions resulting.

Planes have been lost before, and citizens as a whole have held their breath as days passed, awaiting news of the occupants. But when has it ever happened that segments of a population have dug into their pockets - that most vulnerable spot - to finance a search such as this?

Trying to analyse the situation, one word comes to mind over and over again. That word is RODEO.

Rodeo as a sport has, for the most part, been peculiar to North America. It is a sport that caters to individuals who feel they can pit their will and strength against horses and bovines. It is a sport that very, very often carries no reward. Skill is not the only criteria of the winner, for the animal too is judged, and a good rider on a poor mount fares little better than a good mount carrying a poor rider.

In 1979, we have the example of the mighty Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Board saying, in effect, "Individual rodeo is dead. Long live Team Rodeo!" But the loss of Brian Claypool's plane is a thunderous denial of the death of individual rodeo. The thousands and thousands of dollars pouring into the Search Fun says, plainer than any words, that rodeo fans care about rodeo contestants, and the planes flying the skies over Oregon bear witness that rodeo cowboys are a breed who will stick together.

Our hearts bleed for the families still searching, but the support they are receiving makes one feel like standing up to be counted as a rodeo fan. A fantastic effort by a fantastic breed of people.

I salute them!

THE MONTH OF JUNE has a lot going for it. Besides setting the time for a change of seasons, the time of marriages and Father's Day, it is also renowned for the month of Graduation from the halls of learning, the time when students lay aside the books and enter into the realm of realism. A time when they must face life in the raw and make some very serious decisions as to what their lives are to be and how spent. In some ways, graduating is like going out for dinner for those who can afford it and even for those who cannot, but go anyway. Here is where the choices are to be made.

VERY LITTLE IMAGINATION is needed to entertain your friends in a public restaurant, when the waiter presents you with a TABLE D'HOTE menu; you just sit back and accept whatever is set in front of you. That's one way of going through life. But it is quite another matter when the waiter with a sweep of the arm distributes to you and your's a huge great menu card covered with strange hieroglyphics and with the names of the dishes in unpronounceable French, from which you must make your selection. You obviously cannot have everything, even if you could afford it, and so a careful selection has to be made. This is the other way of going through life.

CHOOSE THE BEST DISH for nourishment and the BEST COURSE for living, and don't be dragged away from either. Don't fuss over many choices and end up with nothing; make the deliberate choice and let that be the main course of life. Preserve yourself from false choices. Many are endangered by this, in failing to make a deliberate choice from life's bewildering menu. Life should be a la carte. A rich profusion is offered and if life is to have coherent meaning, choices must be made. The table d'hote is much easier but it never grows a character, for that grows only through choice of belief and behaviour.

HOW MUCH HINGES on a choice of career. In a world of increasing opportunity, how are young people setting about that momentous choice, which once made determines the future course of their destiny? Do they look down the menu and choose the most luscious food, the career which seems to offer rich prizes and easy money for very little effort? That is the common way of settling the matter in our crazy society which offers a pittance for dedication and wraps a film star in mink and jewels. Do we choose a career that offers security and prestige, or one that will bring out the best in talent.

THEN THERE IS THE CHOICE of a set of values. In table d'hote this is all arranged for you. You simply accept the standard of the folks around you and make them the standard of your life. This is not very exacting for respectable social behaviour makes few demands. Remember the fashionable morals of the present time applaud the man who beats the income tax, and cheats his firm on expense accounts and never examines the source of his wealth. There are four absolutes: honesty, purity, unselfishness and love. Quibble over them if you will, but they are absolutes. Choose this June who and what you will serve.

CHOICE OF CAREER, choice of values, choice of allegiance. Choice, choice, choice. That's what life is all about. It's all a matter of table d'hote, making the proper choices. We've all had to make choices in life, and as you leave the halls of learning, this is one of the hard facts of life that will face you now. How you make those choices will frame your future, and each choice will influence future choices. Choose this June what your future will be, and stick to it, for on that depends your future life. May you choose well.

Killam 4-H Horse Club reports ride

Wet and shivering 4-Hers and horses, also the weiner roast fire went out when the Killam 4-H Horse club was caught in a rainstorm on the trailride Sunday, June 17.

We still had fun even though we were wet and cold. There were about 18 4-H members plus parents. We rode six miles in Mr. Tindall's pasture. We had to cross mud puddles, bridges and a creek. Nobody fell off their horse.

We would like to thank Mr. Tindall for letting us use his pasture and letting us use his barbecue to cook our weiners.

Thanks to Mr. Ted Djos for bringing the pop. The achievement day date will be July 16 at 10 a.m. at the Sedgewick Rec Centre. Please bring pot luck for dinner and supper.

COME ALIVE . . .

-Curtis Johnson

COME ALIVE

"Elesa is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord has promised to them that love him." James 1:12

It is not the order and will of God to shield His people from temptation. When truth takes possession of the heart, the Christian will be brought into conflict. There are opposing elements in his own household, even in his own heart, and nothing but the free Spirit of God can ensure for him the victory.

The beginning of yielding to temptation is in the sin of permitting the mind to waver, to be inconsistent in our trust in God. The wicked one is ever watching for a chance to misrepresent God, and to attract the mind to that which is forbidden. If he can, he will fasten the mind upon the things of the world. He will endeavour to excite the emotions, to arouse the passions, to fasten the affections on that which is not for your good; but it is for you to hold every emotion and passion under control, in calm subjection to reason and conscience. Then Satan loses his power to control the mind. The work which Christ call us is to the work of progressive conquest over spiritual evil in our characters. Natural tendencies are to be overcome. Appetite and passion must be conquered, and the will must be placed wholly on the side of Christ.

We pray to our heavenly Father, "Lead us not into temptation," and then, too often, we fail to guard our feet against leading us into temptation. We are to keep away from the temptations by which we are easily overcome. Our success is wrought out by ourselves through the grace of Christ. We are to roll out of the way the stone of stumbling that has caused us and others so much sadness.

Temptation and trial will come to us all, but we need never be worsted by the enemy. Our Saviour has conquered in our behalf. Satan is not invincible. Christ was tempted that He might know how to help every soul that should afterwards be tempted. Temptation is not sin; the sin lies in yielding. To the soul who trusts in Jesus, temptation means victory and greater strength.

Bethania women meet

Fifteen members of the Bethania LCW met at the church for their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, June 12. Edith Osback led in the Bible Study, "Stewardship of God's Gifts."

As stewards, we are to consider prayer. This is also a gift from God as this is the way we communicate with Him. Jesus taught much about prayer, as He lived in constant communication with the Father . . . in making important decisions, in emergencies, in thanksgiving, both in seclusion and in groups of people. He prayed for others. He prayed as He died.

We are to be bold in prayer, in our specific concerns and requests. He wants our fellowship and our confidence, that is why He has given us the gift of prayer. We are to pray that His will be done in our lives. We are to pray in Jesus' name. Inga Jacobsen led the group in prayer.

Molly Magee thanked the ladies for their prayers, their greetings and gift of plants during her recent surgery. It is unusual to have such a good time in a hospital!

Plans for the flower show and tea were finalized. It will be held as in the past in the Sedgewick Community Hall August 18 and 19.

The new pews for Bethania are now installed and really add a new look to the sanctuary. We are very grateful for these, also that the old ones have been put to very good use in the Sunday School chapel and the foyer.

I opened my fridge door this morning and nearly got mugged! My quick reaction saved the day. I shoved the door and leaned against it. Waiting for my pulse to quit racing, I told myself I didn't believe in reincarnation — at least not from left-overs!

Then what could be in the refrigerator so long it could have grown legs, or sprouted wings! Mentally, I tried to tick off the possibilities. Was it that dab of sweet and sour sauce left over from last week's gourmet dinner? Perhaps that wizened lump of gravy I saw curling away from the sides of a saucepan four days ago?

Whatever the culprit, it couldn't have been there TOO long. I distinctly remember cleaning the refrigerator after the last power failure. Now, how long ago was that?

I mustered up my courage and opened the door a crack. Nothing happened. Gritting my teeth, I methodically began checking items:

New: one loaf bread - should be in the bread box one tin ravioli - should be in canned goods cupboard four black bananas - shouldn't even be in refrigerator

Used: six partially emptied salad dressing bottles - three coleslaw, three French one juice pitcher - empty two large covered bowls - also empty one half-full carton of cream - extremely sour

Left-overs: one bowl with tablespoon of mashed potatoes one bowl with dozen wrinkled peas one bowl with spoonful of dried-up minute rice saucer holding one hamburger pattie, green at edges

Out of that entire menagerie nothing moved, or looked like it had moved for quite some time.

Next I checked the crispers: First crisper had: one over-ripe tomato - soft three Christmas oranges - hard partially-used onion in open plastic bag - strong a rotten, brown pile I think was once a head of lettuce - limp

Second crisper has: corsage from New Year's Eve - past recycling single unpeeled potato - sprouting rolled up package - contents unknown
jar containing Junior's biology experiment - also sprouting

Meat Keeper: one shriveled wiener one slice raw bacon
a bad smell.

I check contents in the refrigerator door:

Butter Keeper: no butter except what is adhering to the side walls.

Cheese Keeper: several chunks and lumps, all of which should be pensioned off. They are in various stages of growth and could supply enough penicillin for an entire hospital.

Door shelf: three jars jelly - one half-full (looks like raspberry) one moldy on top (can't distinguish type) one without lid, or jelly!
one bottle of relish (gives gas)
one bottle suppositories (left over from teenager's babyhood)

As I kneel to check the bottom shelf, I catch sight of a slight movement from the back of the top shelf, extreme rear. I think fast and make a decision on the spot. Before I phone the 'exterminators,' I'll leave the door ajar for half an hour. I grab the broom and wait to see what crawls out!

MLA Tom Lysons reports activities

The legislature was very interesting this past week with routine work, as well as good questioning from the opposition and government members.

The procedure is that the Leader of the Opposition is allowed two questions to open the question period. He will ask a question in an effort to criticize or embarrass the government, and then with supplementaries try to show how his policy would work better or have avoided the situation in the first place, if he was leading the government. The government ministers or the premier answer the questions and explain the government's position.

This really is the interesting part of the daily sessions. Of course, it is not only the Leader of the Opposition who asks questions, but everyone that isn't a cabinet minister has this opportunity.

Generally, I try to work out the concerns of our constituency directly with the minister or department concerned, and usually only ask questions of a general nature in the House. I feel that this is the best route to take as it seems that it is only fair to allow the small opposition we have every opportunity to have as much time as possible.

On Friday evening, the budget for 1979-80 was brought down. It outlines the government's commitments as promised during the election campaign, as well as overall spending programs for the coming year. There will be some modest tax cuts, but overall it has been pretty well restricted in an effort to keep a reasonable balance as much as possible.

The secondary road program will be as vigorous as last year and public building construction will be greater in an effort to balance the lag between major energy projects.

Next week, I plan to be more specific about local projects.

I gave a short speech on the Throne Speech debate on Friday. As I am not supposed to be working for at least another six weeks, it was short and touched on only a few concerns.

I will be addressing the budget address early in the week. Budgets are always interesting and they truly show where the money will be spent.

I would like to go over some of the major items in the 1979 budget. To summarize, this progressive budget:

- assists renters most in need by increasing the Alberta Renter Assistance Tax Credit by $3 million and doubling the Alberta Senior Citizen Renter Assistance Grant to $500, thus providing a further $7 million in benefits;
- provides a total of $38.5 million for the new Assured Income for the Handicapped and Aids to Daily Living Programs;
- reduces the corporate tax rate on small business income from 11 per cent to five per cent, thereby boosting the annual cash flow of Alberta small businesses by more than $40 million;
- makes available $750 million to our cities under the unparalleled six-year Urban Transportation Grant Program;
- proposed a new five-year program for maintenance and improvement of high traffic resource roads in development areas, with $20 million earmarked for 1979-80;
- continues to restrain operating expenditure, allowing only slightly higher growth than is expected for the economy generally, while maintaining Alberta's lead position among provinces in the quality of services provided;
- includes many other new and expanded operating programs to provide even better services to all Albertans particularly in the areas of health care, housing, and education with special emphasis on programs to assist senior citizens, the handicapped, children, and homebuyers;
- and provides $788.5 million as a major capital project stimulus for the Alberta economy.

As promised above, some of the major spending in our constituency will include the new Viking Hospital and funding for secondary roads Nos. 619, 870 and 881, plus several other secondary roads. As well, a new provincial building at Vermilion is to be tendered shortly.

The Alberta economy, although heavily dependent on energy for sources of income, is now being diversified into other areas, such as manufacturing and processing. No other province in Canada has placed such a high emphasis on moving the economy out of centralized areas to all areas. It will take years to have people fully realize the importance of this.

The government this year is continuing a heavy capital spending program on public buildings and roads, first because they are needed, and secondly, because there hasn't been a decision yet on the development of the new oil sands and the heavy oil upgrading plants. When these projects start, there is no question that government spending on public buildings will reduce. The more building industry does, of course, the less government needs to do and we wouldn't have the manpower.

The spring sitting of the Legislature should conclude in about two weeks. I can then be reached at home. My home phone is 663-5265, and my Edmonton number is 429-4631.

Please feel free to call person to person, collect.

GREEN ACRES

Control of Garden Pests

Are you having insect problems in your garden? Insects can be quite the pests, causing a nuisance to you and damage to your garden.

Identify the insect before attempting control, many are beneficial rather than harmful.

If control methods such as hand-picking and screening are not practical then the following chemical control may come in handy.

REMEMBER, A POISON IS A POISON, read and follow label directions, adhering to wait periods and proper handling and disposal methods.

APHIDS: found on most garden plants. Small, soft-bodied insects, ranging from yellowish to black. Suck the sap of plants. Controlled by Malathion or Diazinon spray.

IMPORTED CABBAGE WORMS: attack cabbage, cauliflower, brussel sprouts, and other crucifers. Caterpillars with velvety green surface, with faint gold line down back. Controlled by Diazinon, Malathion, or Rotenone.

CURRANT FRUIT FLIES: (Maggot) on currant and gooseberry. Eggs develop into maggot inside berry and cause fruit to spoil and drop off. Apply Malathion after flowering.

COLORADO POTATO BEETLE: affect potato and tomato and some other plants. Eat leaves of plants. Adults are round-backed with black and yellow stripes. Larvae are brick red with two rows of black dots on back. Controlled by Diazinon and Rotenone.

SLUGS: feed at night and overwinter in plant debris. Dispose of plant debris under which slugs hide and lay eggs. Slug bait and pellets are commercially available. Be sure it's fresh since shelf life is only six months.

Rates of Chemical Mixing

MALATHION: 1 tablespoon 50% E.C. per gallon of water. Apply when temperature's 20 degree C or warmer.

DIAZINON: 2 tablespoons 12% E.C. per gallon water.

ROTENONE: 1% dust on moist leaves.

For further information concerning these and other insects and pests, please contact our office in the county building, or at 384-3787.

Anglican congregation enjoys annual picnic

The annual St. Edmund's picnic, held at Shercliff Park on Sunday, was highly successful. Slides of Japan and the Orient were shown by Mrs. Wall. Soccer games were held, and in the traditional baseball game, the Devils were, as usual, victorious over the Angels. Unfortunately, very few senior citizens were able to attend, and their presence was very much missed.

A special highlight of the picnic was the celebration of the birthday of Mrs. Doreen Conrad. Everyone enjoyed a lovely birthday cake in her honour.

All of the Conrad children were home for the weekend to help their mother celebrate her birthday. They included Rick, Frances and son of Calahoo, Terry, Bob and son of Edmonton, Kathy, David and children of Hardisty, and Bob of Sedgewick.

Mr. Allan Cookson has returned from an apparently successful fishing trip to Cold Lake.

Miss Jackie Collins is home again after a stay in hospital as a result of a fall from her bike.

Mrs. Dorothy Cookson of Sedgewick is again a patient in Killam Hospital, and Mrs. Clouston and Mrs. McGee are still patients. Mr. Ned Butcher has returned home.

It is back to regular services this Sunday. Check your schedules, everybody.

Mrs. Doreen Conrad attended a convention for statisticians recently at the Chateau Lacombe in Edmonton.

Project Summer 1979 for the youth of Sedgewick and surrounding areas will take place this year at St. John's Anglican Parish Hall under the direction of Rev. Conrad. If this project is to be a success, it will require the enthusiastic participation of both youth and their parents, and the support of the rest of the community. If you can volunteer your time or assistance in any way, please contact Rev. Conrad immediately at 384-3805.

Watch this column next week for a special message from the rector. So far, he's keeping it a secret.

Miss Margaret Martin was an overnight guest with her great grandmother, Mrs. Elsie Cookson of Sedgewick, while mother Donna Martin paid a short visit to Edmonton.

Miss Carol Farquharson of Sedgewick visited in Drayton Valley with her sister, Mrs. Ernie Rathbun.

With school drawing to a close, we extend our best wishes to all those young people who are toiling over exams.

A special feature of this year's picnic was the Rose Scramble, a dramatic battle among children old and young to collect as many as possible of 20 pounds of peanuts. The peanuts were kindly donated by Mr. and Mrs. Norm Rose of Sedgewick, and we extend our thanks.

Mrs. Thelma Tanton, Mrs. Sheila Tanton and Mr. David Tanton attended the wedding of Mr. Lindsay Tanton in Edmonton on Saturday.

Why settle for a modified farm tractor when you can own the real thing

For more than 25 years, JCB has engineered and manufactured a rubber-tired backhoe loader designed exclusively for the construction market. From these years of experience has evolved a quality construction machine that is Number One in 50 countries, outselling Case 3 to 1 and John Deere 4 to 1 in Europe.

Combine this enviable reputation with the parts and service capabilities of R. Angus, and you've got a team that is almost certain to make you money.

Just a few minutes of your time invested today can save you dollars, tomorrow. Drop by your nearest R. Angus operation and walk around a JCB backhoe loader. Take a look at the exclusive JCB one-piece integral frame. It absorbs the digging and loading stresses usually imposed on the engine and transmission, resulting in a much longer working life.

Look at the massive cast steel kingpost and totally enclosed rack-and-pinion swing actuator. Great strength, reliability and freedom from the fabrication failures of conventionally designed kingposts. Note the JCB Hydraslide — a sideshift that lets you precisely position the backhoe across the rear frame. It's in-cab operated and don't let anyone tell you that it isn't strong.

The loading end of the machine is no different. Strength, reliability, lots of power, only 12 pivots to grease. Now look at the serviceability. The fuel and hydraulic oils are conveniently stored in the hollow box sections of the frame so there are no tanks to obstruct engine access.

Brakes can be serviced without wheel removal. Engine gearbox components are reached without completely dismantling the machine. The list goes on.

Sit in the JCB backhoe loader and experience the spacious, quiet comfort of the operator-oriented cab. Good visibility, controls that are easy to operate. No clutter on the floor. A seat that will spoil you.

The friendly Utility Products Sales Reps at R. Angus will be happy to show you these features, and more. Stop by or give one of them a call today and ask for a free demonstration of the JCB backhoe loader that will suit your job requirements.

Galahad News Items

The cadets and their leaders held a missionary service Sunday evening, June 12. Miss Phyllis Lawson of the Sudan Interior Mission was the speaker. She had spent 25 years in Nigeria teaching in a boys' school.

She presented her work there with slides, special numbers in song, and a verbal account of a most interesting career which God had called her to as a child. A health problem barred her first attempt to go to Nigeria, however, she persevered and attained her goal. Lunch was served after the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Doan of New Norway were Galahad visitors with Merle Wright and Eva Doan at the General Hospital. They were able to take Eva out for supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Whitehead and Laura Ettty spent Friday and Saturday in Red Deer where they were attendance at the district conference of the Missionary Church. Laura acted as Galahad's delegate and gave her report on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fankhaned of Edmonton visited the Ernie Gamroths over the weekend.

The Cemetery Committee was well pleased with the large number of folk who gathered for the clean-up. About 50 workers soon finished the task.

By lunch time, the cemetery had taken on quite a different look than when the crew arrived. Thanks to everyone who came to help.

Congratulations to Lavina Hodson, the lucky winner of $165 at the CWL bingo Monday, June 11.

Mrs. Eddie Gamroth of Edmonton was a Galahad visitor on Monday. She brought Mrs. Proxy Gamroth home from a visit to the city. We were sorry to learn that Proxy had fallen while holidaying and broke her right arm near the shoulder.

Sister St. Charles and two of her sisters, Marcella and Julie, all of Edmonton, visited at the Lois Brausen home Monday and with other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schlakt visited the Dave Suis home at Hanna on Sunday.

The Missionary Church WMS meeting was held Wednesday afternoon with 18 members present. A quilt was tied in the work period and was followed by a delicious lunch served by Babe McGowan and Aileen Vincett.

President Anna Whitehead was in charge of the business meeting. Items of interest included the need for used greeting cards and used Sunday School material for missionaries in India and Egypt. Members are urged to bring such to before family camp June 29.

Two quilts were sold that were not needed at James River Camp. Plans were made to attend the missionary convention at Caster on June 21 and for the Sunday School picnic to be held at Big Knife Park June 22.

Carol Jackson gave a report of the WMS convention held at Banff recently.

Ethel Black opened the devotional period with Mrs. Clara Dewitt at the piano for the singing of the hymn "Trust and Obey." The theme of Ethel's talk was "Victorious Living." She was assisted by Mrs. McGhie and Anna Whitehead with poems. Other ladies read verses of scripture. The closing prayer was by Alta Willis. There will be no July and August meetings.

Get well wishes go to Anna Blumhagen in the Daysland Hospital and to the wee daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Wegenast in an Edmonton hospital, and also to Charlie Maier in the University Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farnquist of Camrose were Galahad visitors on Monday, helping with the cemetery clean-up.

The senior citizens' Friendship Club met in the center for its June meeting with 24 members present.

President Anne Wise was able to be with us as she had received a pass from the hospital for the evening.

The meeting opened with the "Serenity Prayer" by Anne Wise. The usual business was translated. Following the meeting, Polly Reister and Katie Gamroth served a delicious lunch.

Mrs. Madeline Blumhagen, Mrs. Mary Leppage, and Mrs. Emma George were in attendance at the graduation of Angela and Dianne George at Lloydminster recently. The girls are Madeline's nieces and granddaughters to Mrs. Leppage and Mrs. George.

Mrs. Eileen Leafak of Edam, Saskatchewan is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Madeline Blumhagen this weekend. Eileen was on the staff of St. Joseph Hospital here at one time and is now matron of Edam Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillippe Perie have relatives from Paris, France visiting them. The youngest member of the group is a little boy fours year old. He and Madeline Blumhagen's little girl play happily together. She has learned a few words in French from listening to the French broadcast on TV.

Rev. Norman Reimer spent Wednesday and Thursday at the Gene Whitehead home. He came to help the man paint the exterior of the Missionary Church. Mr. Reimer lives in Calgary and is the district superintendent of the Canada West District.

Mr. Herb Dietz and Bill Wise along with 10 Forestberg rodeo fans attended the Hand Hills Lake Stampede Wednesday, June 13.

The rodeo was very good but the weather was terrible. A real old-fashioned dust storm blew up and lasted all day. We were all a tired and dirty lot when we arrived home.

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Borgel of Edmonton were guests of their mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kuefler and Terry over the weekend.

Mrs. Ruth Granger met Mr. and Mrs. Jack Granger of Edmonton and their friends, Dick and Dianne, at Big Knife Park on Sunday.

We are happy to have Mrs. Edith Jacobs home again after a prolonged hospitalization in Edmonton.

Mrs. Lilly Moore spent several days in Fort McMurray visiting her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bottems. Also visiting were Lilly's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bottoms from Woodstock, Ontario.

A number of close friends held a surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kesowan one evening last week to congratulate them on their recent wedding.

Last Friday night, the bowling club, business associates and swim-a-thon group held a farewell for Sergeant and Mrs. Jim Black and family. They will be leaving for Grand Prairie approximately July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. John Forster were guests at the 60th anniversary of Avonroy Community Hall, located four miles east of Camrose. Shareholders as well as many of the families of 80 years ago were present. Saturday evening commenced with a get acquainted hour, a lovely dinner and program. Mrs. Victor Mason (nee Jean Wilson) read bits and pieces of interest from the first and only minute book.

Shareholders paid $5 per share and juniors 25 cents, all promising to help build and maintain the hall.

A dance was held later and lunch followed. Sunday, some went to church. We all had a picnic lunch then old friends and their families. Folks came from Smithers, B.C., Edmonton, Killam, Cold Lake, and Camrose.

Mr. Edward Fee gave a most interesting and informative address in the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening. He and his son Doug have just shortly returned from visiting Rev. Richard Fee, who is a missionary in Nigeria. He showed some pictures and artifacts he had brought from there and gave a vivid picture of the living conditions, etc., and the work that is being done by the church in that area. The ladies served coffee and an enjoyable time was had visiting.

Killam senior citizens annouce tours

The June meeting of the Killam Senior Citizens saw 27 members and a visitor present.

Minutes of the May meeting were read and adopted. A letter from The Council on Aging was read and more on tours during 1979. The next tour will be to Yellowknife, NWT August 16 to 25. The tour includes seeing lead zink mines at Pine Point Minesas at Fort Smith, gold mines at Yellowknife, and more. Senior citizens, and all others, are welcome. Contact Amy at 385-3506.

From all reports, the eight ladies from Killam who joined the bus load in Edmonton had a wonderful trip, stopping over at Golden. Then it was on to Penticton, Vernon, Bellingham and Portland for three nights, enjoying the beautiful flower parks, the rose parade, and much more.

The scrabble board has arrived and can be used at our next party, to be held June 21 when whist also will be played.

Visits to the sick were reported and get well cards sent.

The treasurer's report was given and adopted. Utility, varnish and other bills were presented.

It was reported there were sufficient volunteer helpers to serve the pancake breakfast for the rodeo association. Thanks to all for their assistance.

It was noted also that free help for senior citizens is available by calling PSS at 385-3976.

The new cupboards look lovely with three coats of varnish and shelves completely finished. Thanks to Chris Enghoj and helpers.

Many hours of hard work were involved in cleaning up the flower beds in both parks, as well as the flower boxes on main street, and mowing last fall's grass in the park areas. The bedding plants are planted and we hope the blooms will not be nipped off again.

It was decided to have a picnic at Big Knife Park in July. Further arrangements will be made at the July 12 meeting. The $50 card party is June 28 at 2 p.m.

Our guest speaker was Mrs. Jean Johnson, who is co-ordinator of adult education. The many programs include quilting, crocheting, knitting, painting, leather work, exercising, and others. The co-ordinator for this area is Margaret Manning.

All business attended to, a lovely lunch was served by Florence McCabe and Donna McCormick, after which quite a number remained to play cards.

Summer employment program well accepted

Established in 1973 and in operation again this year, the Summer Temporary Employment Program (STEP) is designed to provide a meaningful farm work experience for Alberta youth during July and August.

Under this program, any Alberta farmer is eligible to employ one young person providing he or she is not a member of the farmer's immediate family (son, daughter, brother, sister, wife or grandchild).

An applicant for employment must be at least 15 years old and must have written parental consent if he or she is under 18. The applicant must have been a resident of Alberta for the past six months and must be legally entitled to work in Canada (citizen, landed immigrant or visitor with a work permit) and must be prepared to work for a continuous period of at least two weeks.

Wages have to be negotiated between the farmer and the employee. The minimum wage that can be paid under the program is $400 per month and overtime pay cannot be less than the provincial minimum wage, which is $2.85 per hour for employees under 18 years of age, and $3 per hour for those 18 and over.

The Alberta government will pay one-half of the employees monthly salary up to a maximum of $200 under a cost-sharing agreement with the farmer. The farmer is responsible for providing suitable room and board, at no cost to the employee. If the employee makes his or her own provisions for room and board, the farmer must compensate the employee at an agreed rate. Suggested rates are $25 for room and $40 for board.

The Alberta government will also pay the Workers' Compensation Board (WCB) premium to make sure all workers under the program are covered by WCB benefits. Employees will be responsible for paying their own Alberta Health Care Insurance premiums if they are not already covered under their parents' contract.

The first game saw Lougheed beat Hardisty 7-2. The second game between Sedgewick and Killam was scoreless until the fifth inning. Sedgewick took a 5-1 lead and hung on to edge Killam 5-4.

In the third game, Czar took Hodse 6-0 with the Czar pitcher having a one-hit game. Czar then had a bye into the finals.

The semi-finals between Lougheed and Sedgewick saw Lougheed take a big lead but the three runs Sedgwick brought in in the bottom of the seventh inning gave them a 14-13 win.

Czar overpowered Sedgewick in the finals to win in a game that only went five innings. So Czar took first place money in a day of interesting and often exciting ball games.

Hardisty and District News

I wish to thank the many people who have commented on my letter from Halifax. So many were interested in hearing about our Sisters of Charity as many of us have very fond memories of their kindness to us as patients.

The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the Jim Bell family on the loss of their son and brother of Irving's. Robert Bell died in a sad farm accident. Sympathy to his wife Helen and family.

Mrs. Carmen Reed had surprise company on Sunday. Colleen Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Len Anderson of Edmonton, and Janice Reid of Vancouver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stu Reid, called on her and it was nice to hear of these girls. Janice is a lab technician and Colleen is training for a dietician.

Another visitor to these parts was Mrs. Jean Nicols of Afix. Jean was with Roland and Cathy Vandewark but had visited with Virginia Johnson.

Another surprise was the visit of Joe Armstrong to Ruth and Sam Moor's. Joe saw a lot of changes in Hardisty since he had been here.

Joe hasn't been here for five or six years and he can tell you where all the old buildings, long gone now, stood and who had which.

He had a good visit in Camrose with Glen and Joan Smith, also Iva Herder at Rosalind. He hopes to go on to North Dakota.

Sympathy to Adelle Goldsmith on the sudden passing away of her sister Mabel's husband in Wilcox, Saskatchewan.

Joe Duncan, too, has passed away after a long illness. The latter part he spent in Rosehaven in Camrose.

Isabel Nelson was very pleasantly surprised by Monday morning visitors when Don and Mary Duncan of Sedgewick called on her. Many years ago, Isabel worked for Mary's grandmother.

Mary and Don had been looking over Mary's old home and the familiar country surrounding it southwest of Czar.

When we go to our old home base and see what kind of quarters our parents had, it leaves a great sadness as they endured so much to make their children' lives better, but received so little of life's conveniences that we have today. Our parents left us a rich heritage that so many today know nothing of.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smallwood and Mrs. Hazel Brunken visited the Jimmy Bells on Sunday.

It was so fortunate that the Bells had returned from Chilliwack, B.C. just a few days before their son's accident. They had visited a friend there and Tillie's brothers and more relatives had come from Washington to see them.

Also, Buster Berreth called on them, he being a neighbour of the Bells north of Hardisty.

When Nettie Johnston, with her daughter Doris and her husband, Oscar Rilee, and daughter Gloria, left for England and Scotland May 7 they found the weather not too warm there and things late, too although Nettie's brother Wilfred had beautiful flowers.

It was a thrill for Doris to view the school that her mother had attended, which was a church of England school at Skegby with a large clock on the front, a war memorial to the soldiers of World War I.

They also saw Nettie's old home from the outside and the outward appearance had changed considerably so that it did not seem like the old home.

They rented a car and made many miles on it although gas was close to $2.50 a gallon. London has many universities and one place, the law courts, is where anyone who wants a divorce can get it immediately for L35.

Some eating places had really quaint names, such as the Porridge Pot Inn, which was built in 1420 and served delicious meals.

They motored to Scotland where they visited Nettie's sister-in-law and her family. They took pictures of Doris' paternal great grandmother's grave, which is located in Sleepy Hillick, a beautiful cemetery very well kept and lovely scenery all around from this hillock.

ASBESTOS AND HAIR DRYERS' REPORT

Asbestos and hair dryers' report by National Health and Welfare indicated that CSA approved hair dryers do not release any greater amounts of asbestos than normal background levels found in city air. Recognizing that some consumers will have continuing concern about hair dryers containing asbestos sleeves and in terests of consumer satisfaction, some manufacturers are making arrangements either to refit or exchange portable hair dryers. For more information, consumers should contact their points of purchase. This does not apply to hair dryers from the United States. (Source: Energy Bulletin, Calgary Power Ltd., June '79 issue).

GILLETTE "CURLY TOP"

Gillette "Curly Top" hand hair dryer is 1200 watts of dryer providing more heat than air flow for permed hair.

Gretna Goodwill Club adjourns for summer

The regular meeting of the Gretna Goodwill ladies was held at Mary Albrecht's on June 13 with five members, two silent sisters and one visitor present. Marlene Simpson presided and welcomed all to the meeting.

Helen O'Reilly read the minutes of the previous meeting. These were approved of and further discussion followed in regards to serving at the Kelndorfer-Simpson wedding reception and open house July 7 in Lougheed.

It was decided there would be no meeting in July unless an emergency came up. Marlene invited us all to her home August 8 with Melba Cameron as her co-hostess.

Thank you messages were read from Mrs. Remnick and Mrs. Zimmerman for Mother's Day cards, and from Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Huse for the wedding gift from the club.

The roll call, a bad habit you would like to overcome, brought forth some very interesting replies. The next one is tell of the best laugh you've had lately.

The hostess prize was won by Marlene who then conducted a short contest. Helen O. got the most and three ladies tied for the least, but Mary A. drew the lucky number so got the consolation prize.

Over the coffee cups, we all signed a card to send to Christie. We were sorry to hear she was still in the Daysland Hospital. Pat took her mother's place as co-hostess. That was a scrumptious dessert. Pat! The lucky tea cup winner was Marlene. See you all at Marlene's August 8. Sure missed you, Helen Sutherland and Christie.

Lougheed and District News

Betty Bahlen of Prince George, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Pete Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lattonan of Vancouver and Pam Brown of McBride, B.C. were visiting with Mrs. Essie Drager an afternoon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Furneyhough visited Molly Furneyhough a couple Sundays ago. They had been visiting their daughter Bertha and family at Myrnam for a couple weeks. They live in Stettler.

Some of you will remember the Holman family when they lived in Lougheed. Their son Maurice of Calgary was in town last Friday. Lars Snothun was taking him around town. There has been a lot of changes since he left here.

Maurice was quite taken up with our clean looking town, also with a museum. Where the senior citizens' welcome center is now, it was a Red and White Store and Holmans had the store which was a few years later owned by Orval Probst. Holmans lived awhile in the house where Alan Harding lived, also in the back of Mel's Barber Shop which is the Women's Institute Library. It is very good to have people come back to visit.

Mrs. Margaret Denham has returned home after spending awhile in Kelowna, B.C. to be with her daughter Joyce and family. John and Joyce celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary while she was there. Congratulations to you both.

While Margaret was there, she talked to Miss Alice Cade and she said to say hello to all. Margaret also spent a couple days in Calgary with Louise Barthel. They also wish to be remembered to you all.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Bergun of Vauxhalle were recent visitors with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schmidt and family.

The Materi family has taken up residence in Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davis' house and Keith and Ardis have moved into the house which was once owned by Adolph Russell. There has been a lot of moving around in Lougheed the last while. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Grove and family have moved into the late Mrs. Minnie Jablonski's house. Seems as though everyone's on the move. Oh yes, Raymond and Brenda have moved back to Lougheed again.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Clouston went to Calgary on the long weekend to visit with Bill and Jeanne Riester and family, and Ada Clouston and Dan Robertson. While they were there, they talked to Phyllis McClure (nee Rogers) and she wants to be remembered to all the friends.

Mrs. Margaret Denham, Hiwa and Dale Ortner and Adam the band concert at Viking on Thursday night. This band is really something worthwhile to hear so any time it is playing around here, just go and hear them. It is wonderful.

If you have any old eye glasses around your home that are no longer in use, the Lions Club has boxes in the stores in town so you can put them in. They are used in countries for people who need them. This is a very good cause.

Seems like everyone is busy with weddings ever Saturday for awhile to come.

Dolores Acres and Mrs. Dorothy Bartley of Edmonton were down visiting with Mrs. Robertn Riddock a couple days last week, and also to visit George in the Hardisty Hospital. Get well wishes are to George while he is not well.

Mrs. Rosanna Hanlon of Hanna was an overnight guest with Agnes Wright. Rosanna and Agnes were roommates when they attended Camrose Lutheran College - too many years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. John Groves of Lethbridge were back visiting relatives and friends last weekend.

Visiting Mrs. Bertha Johnson were cousins Andrew Mellemstrand from Norway and Mr. and Mrs. I. Mellemstrand and H. Hailand from Amisk.

Sympathy is extended to the families of Mr. Mike Eastly, who passed away last week.

Mrs. Essie Drager went with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Black of Sedgewick last Wednesday to Friday to Edson. Essie's granddaughter, Teresa Barker, was one of 10 young people running for rodeo queen. They found it very interesting to watch all the motions and performing their horses and themselves had to go through for it all. Teresa and another girl tied in first place so their names had to go in a hat for a draw. The other girl's name was drawn first so it made Teresa first princess.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hardick of Thessalon, Ontario visited with Mr. and Mrs. T. Horricks. They also had Mrs. Verna Bish of Hinton and Mrs. Gerry Krus of Swan Hills spending a couple days with them and other relatives of the Horricks family also visited their mother, Mrs. Ellen Horricks, in the Killam Auxiliary Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fournier (nee Ruth Jablonski) of Orleans, Ontario, and Ruth's aunt were here visiting last week.

On Friday, June 15, a birthday party was held in honour of Terri Quast's first birthday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swainson and Grace, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Quast and Tracy, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Swainson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Price and family, and Mrs. Ken Schaupmeyer and family.

Lillian Skoberg celebrates

A capacity crowd gathered in the Lougheed Community Hall Sunday, May 27 to pay tribute to Mrs. Lillian Skoberg on her 90th birthday.

The Sweet Adelines of Camrose, with Mrs. Skoberg's daughter Joyce as leader, brought harmony and melody as only that group can. Following their first group of songs, Mrs. Riddock brought greetings from the Village of Lougheed.

Hazel Scherpen presented flowers and brought greetings from the Rebekah Lodge, after which the entire group sang happy birthday.

Mrs. Hazel Swainson presented flowers and spoke on behalf of the Women' Institute. Mrs. Eileen Paterson spoke for St. Andrew's UCW. John Skoberg of Moose Jaw read messages and telegrams from the dignitaries of Canada, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Following this, the Sweet Adelines again provided harmony in song.

Various members of the gathering put sentiments into words when they recalled Mrs. Skoberg's virtues as a mother, homemaker, community worker and friend.

It was indeed fitting that Mrs. Skoberg was surrounded by her family - children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, as well as representatives of all branches of her family from near and far, and a host of friends.

The festivities of the afternoon concluded with a buffet lunch served by the Rebekah Lodge.

Rebekahs meet

On Wednesday, June 13, 17 members of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met for their regular meeting. N.G. Sis. Verona Cookson was in the chair.

Sisters Knowland and Sexton were reported to be improving after their stay in hospital. Visits had been made to Killam and Camrose Hospitals as well as the Lodge in Sedgewick.

Included in the correspondence were notes from Sisters Derraugh and Grove, who have recently moved to Lethbridge. There was also a letter from the Skoberg family with a very generous donation. D.D.P. Sis. Lawson gave notice of her visit to the next meeting when she will install the new slate of officers. Members are reminded to wear long dresses.

Also in the correspondence was a note from Silver Link Lodge thanking the sisters for having visited Killam at the time of their 65th anniversary and for the gift presented.

Plans were finalized for serving at the McClements wedding Saturday, June 16.

N.G. Sis. Cookson reported on the meeting she had attended at the Auxiliary Hospital where she had learned of the needs for a visiting program.

A motion was carried to enter a float in the fair parade but not to serve at the pancake breakfast.

The final call for nominations was made. Officers will be installed at the next meeting.

Under Good of the Order, Penny Drill was marched. Three sisters were given the birthday serenade.

Lodge closed in harmony, after which the members enjoyed lunch served by Sisters Barton and Denham. Conversation was general with a strong plea for the wind to stop blowing.

Lougheed WI ladies gather

The regular meeting of the Lougheed Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. McClements on June 12. Mrs. Wm. Paterson was co-hostess. There were eight members and three visitors present.

President Mrs. J. Johnson was in the chair and the meeting opened with a welcome and all repeating the W.I. creed.

Acting Secretary Mrs. G. Coates read the minutes which were adopted as corrected. There was no treasurer's report.

Mrs. Johnson gave the cemetery report for Mrs. Marlow. Mrs. H. Swainson gave the book report and informed us the kindergarten class had received a booklet on their last library day.

Card Convenor Molly Ferneyhough reported no cards sent, but she had visited a few homes.

A motion was made that outstanding bills be paid. This was carried.

In correspondence, thank you notes were received from the Winnifred Stewart School for jewelry and calendars, the D. Maiori family and Mr. and Mrs. A. Peters.

An invitation was received from the Ohaton W.I. to its 60th anniversary on August 26. Please try and attend this special occasion.

The W.I. members wish to sincerely thank Mr. and Mrs. M. Skoberg for the lovely job they have done at the cemetery. Help through the S.T.E.P. Program from the town was offered so the cemetery will be done by these young people later on.

It was moved that Mrs. M. Skoberg purchase a badge trimmer. This was carried. A donation will be given for the Junior High Scholarships at Awards Night June 22.

Mrs. W. Paterson reported on the meeting she attended at the Killam Auxiliary June 7. Her report was both interesting and informative.

It was noted that the senior citizens' picnic will take place at Burma Bridge July 5. Some of our members will take part in this outing. Handicraft Convenor Miss Molly Ferneyhough thanked the members who entered handicraft at the Camrose Conference.

Each member of our W.I. wishes to extend their sincere congratulations to Mrs. H. Swainson on becoming our constituency convenor for the next three years.

A committee of three will plan for Valda Probst's wedding August 4.

Roll call was giving a gardening hint. Some very interesting things happen to gardeners.

Mrs. J. McClements gave a very interesting report on the convention in Olds. No doubt about it, Hazel and Sadie enjoyed themselves.

The report on the Camrose Conference will be given in the fall.

Please note that the Burgess School in Camrose will no longer accept money-back coupons.

Delicious homemade cinnamon buns, tea and coffee were served by hostesses Mrs. J. McClements and Mrs. W. Paterson. Have a nice summer.

Hardisty Auxiliary plans

The last meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary before the summer break was held Tuesday, June 12 at the hospital.

The auxiliary welcomed Isabelle Pounder as a new member and it is hoped that the change of meeting dates from Wednesdays to Tuesday will see an increase in members when we resume activities this fall.

Unfortunately, due to various circumstances, no members were able to attend the Consort Regional Meeting. Erma Mathews and Marion Ehn are going to figure out which members shall be in receipt of five-year service pins. This task will be carried out over the summer recess as it is quite time consuming.

There was no report on the fetal heart monitor. Charlotte Golka attended the last Planning Board meeting in the absence of Hilary Gray and gave a short report. Hilary will be attending a hospital planning workshop June 21 in Edmonton.

Final arrangements were made for our bake table on Friday at Hardisty Round-Up Days. Every member is to bring two articles of baking for the tables which will be located on the west side of main street between the Western Wear Store and the Bake Shop. Look for us there!

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, September 11 at 8 p.m. downstairs at the hospital. A special invitation is extended to all newcomers to attend.

Mrs. Essie Dragor of Lougheed accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Dave Black to Edson on Wednesday. There they saw Mrs. Dragor's granddaughter, Tarsa Parker, tie in the contest for queen of the Edson Rodeo. She lost in the draw but still reigned as first princess. Mrs. Dragor and the Blacks returned Friday.

Saturday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Black included a niece and nephew from Nova Scotia, a nephew and his wife and son from Wainwright, a niece from Moose Jaw, and Mr. John Black and Mrs. Essie Dragor from Lougheed.

Mrs. Ida Black, Miss Vera Swainson and Mrs. Betty Walsh attended the UCW retreat at the Hardisty Lake Camp Monday. A day of good companionship even if it did rain all the time.

The community was shocked and saddened last week at the news of the death of Mr. V.D. (Mike) Eastly of Red Deer. Mike was killed in a single vehicle accident on Wednesday, June 13. He grew up in this district and after wartime service was our congenial postmaster for many years.

TOPS greets new captain for local area

TOPS Area 4 has a new area captain. Mary Ann Lewis of TOPS #AB 2204 in Sedgewick is replacing Peggy Lyster from Camrose who resigned some time ago. She will travel from Bashaw to Hardisty to Halkirk and any chapters between these places when asked to.

Her duties will also include organizing new TOPS chapters, conducting leaders' meetings and handling any inquiries from any chapters in this area or by Co-ordinator Carol Stewart of Olds, or Regional Director Doreen Warwick of Agincourt, Ontario.

Mary Ann's area captain activities have to be reported to the regional director at the end of each month. TOPS is a non-profit organization and each chapter receives no money from headquarters so has to raise its own funds. Let's help out Mary Ann in her new position and Take Off Pounds Sensibly.

Ticketing procedure explained

COP TALK

RCMP Killam Detachment

The detachment has been busy with enforcement duties as during the month of May we issued 60 liquor charges, 88 charges under the Highway Traffic Act, charged 19 persons with impaired driving and two charges under the Narcotic Control Act. We attended 11 motor vehicle accidents during the month.

I would like to explain to you what may happen when and if you receive a traffic ticket. Upon receiving a ticket summons from a peace officer, he will explain to you that you may obtain a money order or a certified cheque for the voluntary specified amount shown on the front of the ticket. There is a date appearing on the front of the ticket. Now this date is the date you have to have your money mailed into the clerk of the court. You also have the option of appearing in court at the place and time and on the date specified on the ticket should you wish to enter a not guilty plea.

If you do not mail your money in or appear in court then a warrant is issued for your arrest and another charge for "failing to appear" is also laid under the Summary Conviction Act and your are then liable to a fine of up to $300 if convicted. The usual fine for this offence in Killam is $75. So it is quite possible that you may forget to pay a $10 fine for an equipment violation and end up paying $85.

The reason for the judge's charging so much is that usually about half of the tickets issued end up as warrants. From there, the court house staff has to type out warrants, obtain the judge's signature and send the warrant to the RCMP Detachment having jurisdiction.

Upon arriving at our office, we then have to make up a file and enter the person upon the computer system, which is Canada-wide, so that he may be arrested if he is every checked.

As you can see, this is an awful lot of work just for a $10 or $20 ticket which wasn't paid and the main reason judges are charging a large fine for the non-payment of traffic tickets. You may say that is what we are being paid for and I agree, however, to arrest a person, locate a justice of the peace and release is using up time which may have been used to patrol your town and prevent a more serious crime from occurring. So next time you get a ticket, if you do, please pay it on time or show up in court on the date specified.

Alberta budget revealed

Provincial budget time in most Canadian provinces doesn't exactly inspire hope in the hearts of citizens as they await news of tax and fee increases.

It's been different in Alberta in recent years as soaring oil prices have at least been partially offset by tax cuts of one sort or another. This year, the benefits were hardly a surprise – the two major promises, a $1 billion municipal debt reduction program and a cut in the corporate taxes of small businesses, were promised during the March 14 election campaign.

But if there wasn't any "hard" good news, the first budget of Provincial Treasurer Lou Hyndman did at least have the background statistics that show why Alberta is Canada's fastest growing province.

It is traditional that the budget speech include a general review of the provincial economy. Seldom has the review ever been as rosy as this version – although there was one dampening note when Hyndman indicated that the next year would be one of "catching our breath" in economic expansion.

Unemployment in Alberta, for example, averaged only 4.7 per cent, a slight increase from the previous year's 4.5 per cent, but still well below Canadian average in excess of eight per cent.

The number of jobs increased far faster in Alberta than the rest of the country, also. Of 323,000 new Canadian jobs, 47,000 were in Alberta. The number of jobs here increased by 5.4 per cent compared to only 2.4 per cent for the rest of the country.

That figure reflected something that was obvious to anyone who watches the economy: Alberta was the site of almost 20 per cent of new Canadian investment, even though it has only 8.5 per cent of the country's population.

The buoyant figures were reflected in almost all areas of the economy. Farm cash receipts were estimated to have increased by 17.3 per cent with realized net farm income up by 22.5 per cent.

Shipments of manufactured goods were up 21 per cent, ahead of the national average. Energy exploration expanded so rapidly that the sale of resource leases netted the province 70 per cent more money than last year's budget anticipated.

Hyndman warned that such rapid explosion cannot be expected to continue on an annual basis: "We are catching our breath. This year should be regarded as a plateau separating the very rapid growth of the past few years and the strong anticipated growth of the 1980s."

Weather during the past week included many heavy showers in local areas, some areas remained dry. A thunderstorm with heavy rain and marble-sized hail damaged gardens and crops in its path. The storm followed the river with Alliance and farms to the south and east included.

Forty-eight residential lots are being developed in a new subdivision in Killam called Park Heights.

A local company, Sonark Developments Ltd., instigated the project which will be completed in three phases. 16 lots developed over the next three years. Bill Clark and Harold Taraleon, both of Killam, are owners of the company.

Lot sizes start at 60 feet by 120 feet with a starting price of $5,900. The Town of Killam is responsible for the water, sewer and gas installations while Sonarc is completing the curbs, sidewalks, power and roads with a "sur-inch gravel surface. Paving should come about in the future, according to Mr. Clark.

Park Heights is located east of Killam's Centennial Ball Park and encompass 55 and 56 Streets and 46 and 47 Avenues.

There are still some lots available in the first phase while building on others, as shown above, has already begun.

Sonark gets its name from the last three letters of owners Taraleon and Clark's name.

Editorially

I am Canadian!

Canada. It's been 112 years. And despite the efforts of some, it's still one country.

Governments in all regions have planned festive, big-budgeted parties, but perhaps instead of 'celebrating' we should be 'promoting.'

Our country, and we as Canadians, need to promote ourselves to ourselves. We seem more concerned about the position of Canada in world-wide affairs than we are aware of, or care about, the affairs at home.

Yes, our country is 112 years old, established and prosperous. We've nothing of which to be ashamed, yet we say 'I'm a Canadian' in such a hushed, feeble tone. Many, in fact, don't even answer to the name but prefer to label themselves 'a Westener', 'an Eastener', and lately, 'an Albertan', and 'a Quebecois.'

Then there are the 'hyphenated Canadians.' You know, the Ukrainian-Canadian, Scottish-Canadian, French-Canadian, and so on. Four or five generations ago there may have been reason for the dual identity – not now. Of the more than 20 million Canadian citizens, 85 per cent are native-born. As a people, we have no identity, and we don't see many indications of being encouraged to change that.

For instance, here's a disturbing item we heard recently. When the last Statistics Canada was taken, it was not admissible to enter 'Canadian' as nationality. Perhaps this has changed. It never should have existed.

A Canadian author once offered this analogy on the semi-united situation in this country: "Canada has never been a melting pot; it is more like a tossed salad." Some prefer the more complimentary analogy that Canada is like a mosaic, where small, widely different pieces each contribute to the whole.

Well, as a whole, united people, we're going in the wrong direction. We prefer to give the analogy that Canada is like a wheel, with all the spokes extending out in their own direction rather than coming together at the centre.

Who knows? July 1, 1979 may be the last time we celebrate Canada's birthday as one united country. Rene Levesque's announcement last week stipulated Quebec's referendum on separation will take place in the spring of 1980. Next year.

How effective his news could have been had he postponed telling it until this Sunday, July 1. We're glad he didn't. Canadians have a hard time as it is raising feelings of identity in this country. Levesque's deadline on the separtist vote might have shattered what little enthusiasm there is.

Canada: Ours Alone

Canadians are modest. Instead of claiming to be the biggest and the best, we have almost a national compulsion to be second biggest, the second biggest country in the world, for example, after Russia but ahead of China and merely pretty good.

But despite the innate modesty in our national character, there are a few things that are ours and ours alone, unique to this land and no other.

We have, for example, the world's only Magnetic Hill, an incline in New Brunswick near Moncton where, if you stop your car at the right place and leave it in neutral, it will roll backwards uphill. Crazy, but true.

We also have:

* the world's tallest free-standing structure, the 1,815-foot CN Tower in Toronto.
* the world's largest piece of gem-quality jade, a dark green boulder weighing four tons in Neal Creek, B.C. by prospector Harry Street in 1969.
* the world's longest covered bridge, the Hartland Bridge in New Brunswick, built in 1897, rebuilt in 1925, and 1,282 feet long. It was covered, like most bridges of that time, to reduce weather damage to the wooden timbers.
* the world's only reversing falls, in Saint John, New Brunswick. When the tide goes out, the Saint John river plunges down the falls to the harbour; when the tide comes in, it rushes back up the falls.
* the world's only Inuksheeks, are pillars of stone encrusted with lichen found on Ennadeo Point on the Foxe Peninsula, and on south-west Baffin Island. An Eskimo word meaning "like a person," the Inuksheeks, made of piles of loose stones, served as landmarks, cairns marking the place where explorers cached food or records, and sometimes traps for animals.
* the world's largest lake-within-a-lake, Lake Manitou. Manitoulin Island – the largest fresh-water island in the world – sits at the northern end of Lake Huron, and inside Manitoulin Island sits Lake Manitou (the Indian word means "Great Spirit"), 68.00 square miles of fresh water.

None of this is going to empty Disneyland of tourists; but they're ours; all ours; and nobody else has them. Pure Canajun, eh?

The Third Column

I Write As I Please

TODAY WE ARE SEEING many travel vans bearing the sign "Stamp Around Alberta." This very thing many more Albertans are doing than ever before. Of course, there are some compelling factors today which inhibit the desire to travel extensively in foreign lands. At present, this is exemplified more particularly in the United States where high accommodation costs and the shortage of gasoline detain travelling at home. Maybe this is good, at least from an economical point of view and the balance of trade area. But socially and environmental-wise, it could and probably will spell disaster. The way people act and treat their surroundings is almost rendering outdoor spaces undesirable if not prohibitable.

THERE ARE THREE WORDS, with distinctive meaning, yet words which, if used together can tell a story, or at least convey a message.

THE FIRST WORD IS "DOMINION". In the sense in which I want to use the word here it means, "Power to govern or control." It has been divinely given to man to have Dominion over the lesser(?) animals, creature and all things related to the environment, etc. We have succeeded pretty well in all but control over the environment. To illustrate the fact, let me tell you a story. A true one.

"THERE ONCE WAS A RIVER that flowed through a very lovely land. All that lived along its banks found gladness in the river. Here and there were beaches of white sand. There were stretches of pebbles made for fathers to chip across the waters to delight the children. At other places there were overhanging birches. Roots painted white and green were used to reach the grey rocks where people fished for Bass. The river was a calm stream and in the middle was a channel where fishermen caught Salmon. Best of all, it was used for swimming. What more could be asked of this river of yesterday? It is no longer such a river. The white sand, the pebbles and the rocks are covered with greasy mud. Fish gathers along its shore. The birches are dying. The fish refuse to live in the dirty waters. No longer do people swim in the polluted stream. The river is spoiled. It is a desecrated river. According to one Truman Douglas, this has happened all over the Continent. The water which comes fresh from rain clouds and springs is poisoned by man-made pollution. So then we must build vast and costly installations to make it fit to drink again. It finally reaches homes laden with chemicals that many children have never known what a drink of fresh, pure water tastes like. This is not merely waste. It is desecration."

THE RAPE OF NATURE not only in streams, but in demanding forests and human destruction of recreational areas is a shame which should weigh heavily on the shoulders of mankind. The pollution of the air and the littering of parks is a shame mankind must bear.

THE SECOND WORD IS "FREEDOM". As used here it means, "Freedom from power or control." A nice word indeed but one which we abuse roundly; for we lose sight of the fact that with freedom goes responsibility, not only to nature but to our fellow creatures, to the laws of nature and mankind. To upset the balance is to flirt with disaster and to court eventual destruction of the finer and more satisfying way of enjoyable living.

THE THIRD WORD IS "DESECRATION". Notice by the story above what has happened, is happening and will continue to happen. To "Desecrate" is to perform a profane and sacrilegious act. This we are carrying out real well, in fact, too well. We are desecrating nature, our environment, the freedom of others, and losing our "Dominion" over a lot of things. Mankind is the only earthly animal with the intelligence to think, to reason, to evaluate, to consider and be capable of acting responsibly. But we don't. I think the so-called lesser animals, some where along the line have taken over where we abdicated. We better get back on track before the "Desecrators" destroy our "Dominion" and take away our "Freedom." Think it over.

Profile: Unsung heroes

Their day starts around 6:30 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m. There's a lot of free hours in between, but driving a school bus takes a lot of concentration and dedication during the active hours.

At present, there are 38 school bus drivers in the County of Flagstaff. Ross Danielson of Sedgewick is one.

Ross has been behind the wheel of a school bus for almost seven years. He enjoys it. "If you didn't like it, I guess you wouldn't do it."

His daily trip takes him across 90 miles of back roads and secondary highways around Sedgewick, picking up school children of all ages "from kindergarten to high school."

But the roads are in good condition, he says, thanks to the county's road crew which keep the snow cleared in winter and the gravel even come summer. The men are especially sure the roads are clear, he jokes, "if any of their kids are on your bus route."

Driving a bus with a 54-seat capacity, Ross greets 45 regular passengers every school day. Are they well-behaved patrons? Well, according to Ross, "if you're good to them, they're good to you."

Everyone is on a well-planned schedule which is co-ordinated the beginning of each school year. He will wait about one minute at every stop before driving on, but very few kids miss their ride, adds Ross. "Most times, I drive up, open the doors and they just walk on in."

On the other hand, a bus driver doesn't like to be late either -- especially in winter when some kids have walked a half-mile to the road to board the bus at a specific time. And if someone isn't going to school a particular day, they're very good about getting a message to the driver so he can go on past without stopping.

Other than the liveliness of the passengers, bus driving is generally routine, says Ross. With good maintenance, the buses seldom have breakdowns. Ross can count the number of mishaps on one hand that he's encountered: a broken wheel bearing, flat tire, and one tired-out water pump. He's been lucky, he adds, in always having been near a house so could quickly phone for another bus to retrieve his valuable cargo. Bus drivers don't like their passengers to be late!

Both the county buses and private ones in use are serviced twice a year, with the major overhaul in summer. Passing safety regulations is compulsory and even then inspectors check annually "just to make sure."

As well, each driver is encouraged to take a defensive driving course and must hold a Class 2 licence. And a medical check-up is mandatory every year, too.

Passenger safety is increased by the number of courteous drivers on the road as well, says Ross, who's glad to report most people go out of their way for a school bus. "When you drive a school bus, you can get away with almost anything," not that he would try, he adds with a smile.

It's a well-run operation, but Ross says he wouldn't mind seeing a couple changes, such as each bus being equipped with a CB unit. That way, he explains, if a driver faces road problems in winter months, or has to take a detour, a message could be relayed quickly to avoid a youngster standing out in -30 degree weather.

It would help drivers who have to co-ordinate their trips with other buses as well, he adds, and doesn't think it would require any major installation or expense since the county already has its own CB base station and frequency for road and maintenance vehicles.

With school over this week, Ross won't see many of his young passengers until fall. But he'll continue to drive bus during the summer, taking various clubs and organizations on field trips and tours.

All in all, it's enjoyable work, says Ross, leaving him plenty of time to fly his plane where he sits behind the controls of another type of vehicle.

HOW MUCH SUGAR DO YOU EAT?

The average Canadian eats two pounds of sugar every week. Impossible? No, there is sugar (and we don't even realize it) in many of the prepared foods we eat.

Read the labels. The sugar content is listed there, if you know what to look for. Sugar is not always listed as sugar on the label. Any ingredient ending in "ose" is a form of sugar. For example, sucrose, dextrose, glucose, and lactose. Ingredients are listed in order of descending amounts - this is, if sugar is listed first, then it's present in the largest amount.

In a recent issue of Alberta Consumer, there was a list of common foods and their sugar content.

Product	% Sugar
CoffeeMate	65.4
Hamburger Helper	23.0
Cool Whip Topping	21.0
Jello-Jelly Powder	82.6
Heinz Ketchup	28.9
Shake 'n Bake Barbeque	39.9

The main nutritional value of sugar is to supply energy. There is little else it has to offer. With more than 50 per cent of Canadians having a weight problem, we can ill afford to eat calories with no additional nutritional value. Be aware of which foods are contributing sugar to your diet. Then consider ways to reduce your sugar intake. The following are a few suggestions on how to reduce your sugar intake:

- develop a taste for less sweet desserts, such as fruit and cheese.
- remove 2 tbsp. of sugar per dessert recipe, it should not affect the finished product.
- taste before adding more sugar, often there is no need to add more sugar, and
- eat less convenience foods.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Owing to the Hospital Auxiliary in Galahad disbanding, we found at Red Cross and Cancer campaign time that no sponsoring club was available to carry on.

As I had been treasurer of the Hospital Auxiliary, the Red Cross material was sent to me. I was in hospital so my husband and I decided we sit tight and wait for the Cancer campaign. I was still in hospital so Bill took my place at the luncheon.

We had the material now that we needed, canvassers and canvassers. March and April are busy months for the farmers so we took over the job of canvassing the campaign.

My thanks to Adaline Kaufler who still had route lists and names of last year's volunteers.

I asked each one of the following ladies and not one turned us down: Mrs. Percy Gamroth, Mrs. Denise Gamroth, Mrs. Doreen Kuefler, Mrs. Kathleen Prahn, Mrs. Olive Washburn, Mrs. Maggie Felsso, Mrs. Katie Gamroth, Mrs. Lorene Eby, Mrs. Chris Fuller, Mrs. Gwen Meiler, Mrs. Delsen Vincent, and Mrs. Irene Stewart.

Eight country routes and four ladies covered the town.

The campaign is over. The Red Cross quota was passed and reached $600. The Cancer campaign totalled more than $300.

I am very proud of my ladies and cannot praise their efforts too highly. My husband and I as co-canvassers wish to thank the public for their generous donations and the canvassers for taking time out of their busy schedules to do such a splendid job.

My reason for writing is this. I want the people of Galahad to know that this year's Red Cross and Cancer campaign was done by private individuals.

Thank you one and all.

-Sincerely,
Anne and Bill Wise

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Recently, we admitted one of our children to the Killam General Hospital to have her tonsils out. When we arrived, we were told she would have to sleep in a crib. As my child was almost nine at the time, along with being large for her age, this proved to be a very uncomfortable period for her compounded with just having her tonsils out.

This problem could probably be coped with if the hospital was full but on this occasion there were several rooms vacant. I think that a facility as fine as the Killam Hospital could accommodate children between six and 12 in a better manner than this.

Having had discussions with other parents regarding this matter, I find it appalling kids in Grade 7 have to be prepared to sleep in cribs perhaps for the first time in 10 years. This can be a psychological trauma as well as a physical one if you've noticed how big our six to 12 year olds are these days.

In closing, the visiting hours are slightly outdated, too if you happen to be a working parent. It is impossible to visit your child. If you do get nerve enough to visit other than the hours of 2 to 5 p.m. you are faced with dirty looks and snarls from the staff. It is my feeling you should update your policies concerning six to 12 year olds and try to make a hospital stay a little more pleasant for this group of children.

Thank you. Brian Sorensen

On Sunday at St. George's Anglican Church in Killam, Mr. Keith Mackay was presented with his badge for completing Stage One in his Boy Scout Religion in Life program. Congratulations, Keith.

The Ab Martin family of Lougheed has returned from a canoeing fishing expedition on the Ram River near Nordegg.

Holy Trinity Church in Hughenden has undergone a very thorough spring cleaning and now looks especially bright and enthusiastic. The crew of willing workers who accomplished the facelift enjoyed a picnic supper afterward.

Dean and Diane Pearson and daughter Tricia of Hardisty have gone to Lloydminster for a short stay while Dean is employed in that area.

The committee examining Elections and its future has finished off their deliberations and the final report has been sent to the Synod Office.

Project Summer '79 appears to have suffered an early death, the result of an extreme lack of interest and enthusiasm from the public. Perhaps someone else will undertake to revive it. Surely our young people are worth the effort.

Sorry to report that last week's promised message from the rector is not yet available. (That means he hasn't written it yet.) It should be ready soon, however, as soup watching.

Mrs. Brana Hotilleau of Drayton Valley has been visiting with her sister, Carol Farquharson, of Sedgewick. It is nice to see Carol back at work at the bank after a short holiday.

The Tanton family is enjoying more than its share of visitors this week, including Tom Tanton of Vancouver, Kate Tanton of Edmonton, Mrs. Margaret Rose Yakimchuk of Edmonton, and Bill and Marilyn Tuthaluk and daughters Yvonne and Sheila of Climax, Saskatchewan.

The Tantons are bidding farewell to Thelma and to daughter Marilyn, who will be leaving this week for a vacation in Norway. While there another is away, Yvonne and Sheila Tuthaluk will be staying at the Ron Tanton, Sheila Tanton and Joyce Bradley house. Have a good trip, Thelma and Marilyn.

Had so much news last week that I didn't put in that Mr. and Mrs. Dana Chappell and children of Two Hills were Father's Day weekend guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. Chappell.

At the Bob McBride home for Father's Day were "all of the kids," and their kids.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. James Pulyk (nee Rena Gascoyne), who were married by the Rev. R. Chappell at 3 p.m. at the United Church on Saturday, May 26. A large crowd attended the open house and dance held in the community hall following the reception.

Many friends and relatives enjoyed the hospitality of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gascoyne, on Sunday afternoon and viewed the newlyweds many gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Pulyk will be living in the Manyville district.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller of Edmonton enjoyed our golf course while spending a couple days with the George Jessops last week. Mrs. Miller is George's cousin.

There were eight tables of whist players at the Wednesday afternoon card party at the senior citizens' drop-in centre. Prizes for the highest scores were awarded to Mrs. Vera Hopkins and Mr. George Hotz. Receiving consolation awards were Mrs. J. Reynolds, who was tied with Mrs. Elsie Cookson but won on a cut of the cards, and Mr. Charlie Lane.

SECOND SECTION WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27, 1979

Looking for a new home?

Some of the same basic principles apply whether you are looking at a newly built home or an older home. However, when contemplating the purchase of a brand new home there are some special considerations to take into account.

It is particularly important that you determine the level of services that are or will be provided for this new neighborhood. Be sure and check with town planning authorities and school boards. Don't just take a salesman's word for it. There have been many complaints lately of sales people telling prospective buyers that schools or other facilities will be built nearby when, in fact there are no plans for such.

Zoning is equally important in terms of future recreation areas, location of highways, access to public transportation etc. Be sure and check these things out with city or town planners.

Should you build your own new home - or buy a builder offered home. Most families opt for the convenience and savings of the builder offered home. Be careful though. Such homes may be offered as is or come with options (which often changes the price dramatically). Find out what the extras involve and what the final price will be.

It is a good idea to have a lawyer look at any purchase contract you are thinking of signing. Do not under any circumstances accept verbal promises. Insist that all plans and specifications be made part of the contract before you sign it, and attach them to the contract.

Building your own new home from scratch - or hiring a contractor to build from your plans is a difficult and often frustrating experience.

If you are willing to put the time and energy into building your own though - it may well be worth it. If you are dealing with a contractor, it is imperative that you understand the terms of your contract before you sign it. Have a lawyer check the contract to ensure that you are adequately protected with respect to the following: the full price; the term of payment; completion date; quality of materials; penalties in the event of a breach of contract; title and liens, if any; also, you may want to have a structural engineer check the plans before building.

Accident kills six

Six people are dead and two seriously injured as a result of a two-vehicle collision Sunday, June 24 at 9 p.m. on a county road southeast of Lougheed.

Verona Johnson, 18; Kim Chubey, 19; Kathy Hisner, 15; and William Cookson, 17; all of Lougheed, died in the accident when the two vehicles collided at the crest of a hill. An Edmonton woman, Linda Proud, 28, and her four-year-old son, Reno, died as a result of their injuries.

Two others were rushed to Edmonton's University Hospital. They are Ashley McNalley, 15, and Toni Chubey, 11, both of Lougheed.

Mrs. Proud's car, with her son and William Cookson as passengers, was travelling north on the road. Both cars were in the middle of the road when they collided, according to the RCMP.

Mrs. Proud was engaged to local resident Art Collier and was down for the weekend to finalize wedding plans with him.

Friends of the dead youths have begun raising funds for flowers and a memorial trophy is planned, also.

Killam residents barely missed the wrath of a passing hurricane two weeks ago on Friday, June 15.

Mrs. Rose Marie Bos of Killam captured the funnel-shaped storm on film as it hung over the Killam grain elevators in the early afternoon. A heavy hail storm was reported that day in the Daysland to Bawlf area as well.

COME ALIVE . . .

-Curtis Johnson

"Let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another." Gal. 6:4

No one can serve God by proxy. There are so many in this world who seem to think there is someone in this world stronger than Christ upon whom they can lean. And instead of coming right to Christ, just as they are, giving themselves unreservedly to Him, they reach out for human help. God wants us to have an individual experience. I cannot work out a character for you, and you cannot work out a character for me.

The gospel deals with individuals. Every human being is a soul to be saved or lost. Each has an individuality separate and distinct from all others. Each must be convicted for himself, converted for himself. He must receive the truth, repent, believe, and obey for himself. He must exercise his will for himself. Each must surrender to God by his own act.

The Lord does not desire that our individuality shall be destroyed; it is not His purpose that any two persons shall be exactly alike in tastes and dispositions. All have characteristics peculiar to themselves, and these are not to be destroyed but to be trained, molded, fashioned, after the similitude of Christ. The Lord turns the natural aptitudes and capabilities into profitable channels. In the improvement of the faculties God has given, talent and ability are developed if the human agent will recognize the fact that all his powers are an endowment from God to be used, not for selfish purposes, but for the glory of God and the good of our fellow men.

To every man, God, not man, has given his work. This is an individual work, the formation of a character after the divine similitude. The lily is not to strive to be the rose. There are distinctions in the formation of the flowers and the fruits, but all derive their peculiar variance from God. So it is God's design that even the best of men shall not all be of the same character. A life consecrated to the service of God will be developed and beautified in its individuality.

Shower held for Lougheed bride to be

A lovely spring shower was held Thursday, June 22 in the Lougheed Legion Hut for Wendy Griffiths. Forty-two ladies were present.

Deb Quast started off the evening by asking Wendy to come to the front of the hut. There she was presented with a corsage, which was pinned on by Olive Grieve.

Deb then proceeded to ask Wendy's bridesmaids to come up and be seated with her. They are Sheila Smith, Karen Wold, Brenda Costall, and Pamela Griffiths. Alvin's aunt, Helen Sutherland, was then asked to join them.

Helen O'Rielly started the program by reading a very funny essay, "On Husbands," that Wendy was supposed to have written.

Helen White gave an interesting reading of a "Recipe for Life." Both ladies then joined together and sang and played two songs.

Douglas, Denise and Edward Griffiths, and Carrie Smith, nephew and nieces of Wendy, then carried the gifts to the head table where the bride-to-be and her ladies opened them.

Helen Sutherland and Brenda Costall made a hat for Wendy out of the ribbons and bows, and Shiela Smith tied it on.

Wendy thanked Debbie for putting on the shower and all the ladies who made the lunch. She then thanked everyone for the lovely gifts and invited them all to come and eat. We all enjoyed the delicious lunch.

Nazarene News

Gordon and Lynnette Graff attended the funeral of Lynnette's grandmother in Saskatchewan. Our sympathy to the Edgington family.

The annual Sunday School picnic is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. July 2 at Hardisty Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter are presently visiting at the Cliff Potter home.

The Tim Kirbys attended an Amway convention in Calgary last week.

Remember, the trio from the Canadian Nazarene College will be visiting Sedgewick at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 28. Come for an evening of fine music.

We extend our congratulations to all the junior high graduates, and especially to those of our congregation.

Monday night's league fastball action at Lougheed saw the locals win by a 3-1 score over Forestburg. The win gave the Barons first place in league play and the right to play the fourth-place winner in the semi-finals on July 5. All indications are that the Galahad Blues will win over Killam to take the fourth and final play-off spot.

A neck-and-neck race between Forestburg and Alliance for second place will be decided this week and then semi-finals will be held on July 9.

The top photo shows Forestburg as team members started an enthusiastic rally in the final inning to almost upset Lougheed. A conference at the mound between pitcher Brian Tweedy and team members cut their opponent's momentum short.

Heisler couple celebrates 50 years together

Herman and Letty Reth of Heisler celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 9 with all their six children and their husbands present: Dory and Jack Aitken of Shawnigan Lake, B.C., Kassy and Ken Deol of Hinton, Mabel and Ed Martz of Heisler, Marg and Paul Mortensen of Calgary, Linda and Dennis Christianson of Calgary, and Pat and Bob Zimmer of Heisler.

The couple has 14 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. The celebration was put on by the couple's children to honour them.

A large crowd of friends and relatives attended the open house and dance with music supplied by Sparky's Orchestra.

O.O.R.P. to cater

There were 17 ladies present at the June 11 meeting of the Killam O.O.R.P.

Business discussed included catering for four weddings and a school banquet, as well as bridal showers, so we have a very busy summer ahead.

Together with the Elks Lodge, a float was entered in the rodeo parade on which four ladies and two brother Elks enjoyed the ride through town.

Two ladies attended the Ladies Auxiliary meeting June 6 and reported that volunteer visitors are needed for some elderly patients in the Auxiliary Hospital.

Nine ladies and two brother Elks went to Sedgewick Lodge June 6, Purple Cross Day, and played bingo with the residents, after which strawberry shortcake was enjoyed by all.

R.R. Lady Olive Grant presented her list of new committees for the coming year and thanked all the ladies for their support and co-operation during the past year.

The attendance prize was won by Lady Carol Clausen, and a delicious lunch was served afterwards by Ladies Anita McGowan and Adelpha Young.

Our next meeting will be on Monday, September 10. Until then, happy summer to everyone.

Swim into summer at agriplex!

Lessons for the final spring session are drawing to an end and now it's time to plan for the summer.

The Killam swimming pool staff hopes to be very busy this summer with two sets of lessons, one in July, one in August.

Lessons will include Parents and Tots, Pre-school program, Pre-Beginners, Beginners, Survival, Life-saving I and II, Intermediate, Senior, Bronze Medallion, Syncronized Special Skills and Fitness, Diving, Ladies' and Adult Evening and Swimnastics.

Please phone the agriplex at 385-3617 to inquire about the times and rates of these classes.

Presently, the pool has been fairly busy with regular classes, pool rentals for schools and clubs, swim club and public swimming.

Saturday, June 16, the Aqua Aces Swim Club hosted a dual meet with Camrose. The fun meet gave both clubs a chance to get back into the competitive spirit.

The summer public swimming schedule remains the same as present, plus there is public swimming every afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. The family swim is on Sunday from 4 to 5 p.m.

Swimnastic enthusiasts will have to wait until fall for their exercise classes. The participation for this class was overwhelming in the spring and we are hoping for the same type of enthusiasm again in the fall.

If you have any ideas or suggestions pertaining to the pool, please don't hesitate to come down and see me or phone.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

PROPYLENE GLYCOL ANYONE?

Since the birth of mold, the spores of rot and staleness were cast upon the breads, cheeses, and milk, spreading misery from the kitchens of the most distinguished culinary delights to the lowly greasy spoons of the most repulsive hamburgers. Whoever dreamed that tasty foods like turkey with stuffing, potato salad, cream pies or puddings could do such revolting things on the cupboard while sweating in the midday heat?

During the pre-Roiaids era, Louis Pasteur, patriach of pasteurization and soon to be crusader of cleanliness, noticed one morning after pouring three-day old unrefridgerated milk on his Rice Krispies that they not only snapped, crackled, and popped, but also jumped out of the bowl onto the table and did the can-can. Since then, some success was achieved by the development of good health practices.

Grubby little fingers were now scrubbed white before they were laid upon unsuspecting food. Flies orbitting around uncovered dishes were now spirited away with the help of Raid. And finally, milk was discovered to react violently when exposed to the sun, while bread and cheese petitioned from their cupboard space. "We don't want to be seen green!" Although aside from this, the greatest success was achieved by the invention of preservatives.

Food was never the same since monosodium glutamate, and as a result, the public hailed the manufacturers as geniuses for their proficiency in the field of food salvation . . . buts something went wrong. Somehow during the excitement of discovering that processed food now lasted longer than the can it was packed in, they forgot about the nutritive value of their product. Soon canned vegetables supplied about as much nutrition as would consuming coloured styrofoam.

This sparked conversations like the following in households throughout the country.

"What's for supper, mom?"

"Dear, I made your favourite tonight."

"Mono and diglyceride goulash?"

"Nope. I made potassium nitrate noodles with calcium acetate balls."

"Oh boy, mom, you're too much! I can't wait to eat."

"That's not all. Guess what's for dessert."

"Wait a minute!", he sniffs the air. "It smells like . . . It is! You made baked deep dish carcinogen pie."

"With red dye no. 2 sauce," she interjects.

"Oh mom I love you!"

"I love you too, son."

Chemicals aren't the only things added to food to keep it interesting. Processors consider it exciting to throw a few other goodies into their canned products to keep their purchasing public on their toes. For example, in a tin of canned ham, a small lead pellet was once discovered. This makes one think, "Could this be the bullett used to execute the animal whose parts are stuffed into this can? . . . Nah, it's too small." Not if they used a sub-machine gun.

Canned goods were becoming like demented boxes of Cracker Jack. The more unusual the package, the more unusual the prize. For instance, a can of fruit cocktail was once opened and lo and behold, a six-ounce chunk of concrete was homesteading amongst the fruit bits. Well, maybe it's not so bad. With a little ketchup and a chisel . . . who knows?

Precisely, who does know? After all, if wolves can hide in sheepskins, just guess what's hiding in that can of Ravioli? If in doubt, check the label for in most cases things like Hamburger Helper don't need half the "helpers", and remember: "Those golden goodies create not a gourmet, but a gourmet with a gilded gizzard."

Flagstaff Band records for television

On Tuesday, June 19, the members of the Flagstaff Community Band travelled to the studios of CFRN TV in Edmonton where they videotaped a half-hour TV special.

The band was asked for its musical assistance to aid the Viking Stage Band, who was the featured group on the show entitled "A Salute to Viking." The program will be aired on Saturday, December 29.

The Flagstaff Community Band continues to a vital, active group, with upcoming live performances in Killam, Sedgewick, Wainwright, and Vermilion. Also in the planning stages is a tour of B.C. for the summer of 1980, as well as competing in a national music festival.

The band is still looking for established musicians in several sections of the band. Interested musicians are asked to contact any band member.

Unless you worked at least 20 weeks in the past year, these changes could apply to you.

In December 1978, Parliament changed the Unemployment Insurance program. Changes starting July 1 mean that some people will have to work longer before they can qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits.

Please remember, these UI changes affect only those claims which start on or after July 1, 1979. And, the changes may or may not apply to you. So please read on to see if you are affected.

(You'll find terms such as "Weeks of Work", "Qualifying Period", "Variable Entrance Requirement" (VER), and "Unemployment Rate" marked by an asterisk(*). For easier understanding, see the box "Explaining UI terms" at the end of this message.)

Here are the details of those changes.

Have you worked 20 weeks or more in your Qualifying Period*?

If so, this message does not apply to you. For you, the number of weeks you need to qualify for regular UI benefits and for UI illness and maternity benefits, or the one-time benefit at age 65 has not changed.

Are you working for the first time?

To get UI benefits, you will usually need 20 Weeks' Work*, no matter where you live.

An exception to this would be if you were on a training course approved by the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission for at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*. Then you would only need 10 to 14 weeks, depending on the Variable Entrance Requirement* where you live.

Are you starting to work again?

If you're coming back to work after being away a year or more, you'll usually need 20 Weeks of Work* in your Qualifying Period* before you can qualify for UI benefits.

This applies wherever you live.

This 20-week rule won't apply, however, if you were in any of the following situations for a total of at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*.

These are the situations that count:

1. You were getting temporary worker's disability compensation from a provincial program;
2. You were receiving sick or maternity leave payments;
3. You were out of work because of a labour dispute at your place of work;
4. You were on a Commission-approved training course;
5. You were on UI claim;
6. You were working in insurable employment.

So, for first-time workers and those coming back to work:

A. If you were in any of these six situations for a total of at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*, then you need only 10 to 14 Weeks' Work* in the Qualifying Period*, depending on the VER* where you live.

B. If none of the six situations fit your case, you will have to have worked at least 20 weeks to qualify for UI benefits.

NOTE: If you are returning to work after being away more than one year, the 20-week rule will normally apply to you.

Did you get UI benefits in the last year?

If you got UI benefits in your Qualifying Period*, there are new rules that may apply to you – unless the Unemployment Rate* in your area is over 11.5 per cent.

1. If a claim you had in the last year has not run out, you may be able to renew it.
2. If yours is classed as a new claim, you will need the usual 10 to 14 Weeks' Work* depending on your local VER*, plus up to six "extra" Weeks of Work*. The number of "extra" weeks you'll need depends on how many weeks you got on your previous UI claim. You need one "extra" week (up to a maximum of six) for every week you got over the VER* needed in your area.

Here's an example: You need 12 Weeks' Work* in your region (your local VER*) to qualify for benefits the first time. On your last claim, you drew 15 weeks' benefits before going back to work. Now, you would need the usual 12 weeks, plus three "extra" work weeks. (That's the difference between the 12 weeks you needed to work and the 15 weeks of benefits you drew. In total you would need 15 Weeks' Work* to qualify again within one year. The most anyone needs anywhere is 20 weeks of work to qualify.

Again, please remember, when the Unemployment Rate* in your area is over 11.5 per cent, this rule won't apply to you. You'll need only 10 Weeks' Work* to qualify for regular UI benefits.

Other changes have been in effect since January 1979:

- The weekly benefit rate was reduced to 60 per cent of your average insurable earnings (from 66⅔ per cent).
- Most people employed for less than 20 hours a week are no longer covered by UI.
- Higher-income claimants may have to repay part of UI benefits drawn in the 1979 tax year. This will only affect people whose income, including UI benefits, is over $20,670. This will be explained when you get your 1979 tax return.

These things haven't changed:

Just as a review, these points haven't changed:

- You may still get UI illness and maternity benefits and the special benefit paid at age 65 if you've worked 20 weeks in your Qualifying Period*.
- There's still a two-week waiting period before UI benefits start.
- To get regular benefits, you must still be available for and looking for work each day you are on claim.
- You must report any work and earnings while on claim.
- You can be disqualified from getting benefits for up to six weeks if you quit your job voluntarily, you were fired for misconduct, or if you turned down a suitable job offer.
- You can still appeal a decision by UI to deny you benefits.

Explaining UI terms:

Weeks of Work
This means weeks of work that are insurable for Unemployment Insurance. Most employment of 20 hours or more a week is insurable.

Qualifying Period
What UI calls your Qualifying Period is the 52 weeks before we start your claim. Or if you had a claim in the last year, it's the time since that claim started.

Variable Entrance Requirement (VER)
To qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits, you must have worked from 10 to 14 weeks in insurable employment during your Qualifying Period*. The exact number of weeks depends on the Unemployment Rate* in the economic region where you live. (See below.) If you don't have enough weeks to qualify when you file your claim, we keep your application in the computer file. If the Unemployment Rate* changes so you then have the weeks you need, we will send you a notice.

Unemployment Rate
For Unemployment Insurance, the Unemployment Rate used for each of the 48 economic regions of Canada is not the current monthly Statistics Canada unemployment rate in each region. It is a three-month average of seasonally-adjusted monthly unemployment rates.

Starting July 1, there will be some changes made to Unemployment Insurance.

Sedgewick TOPS weigh-in

The Sedgewick Chapter of TOPS weighs in every Monday night as usual, and will continue to do so through the summer. There will be no meetings unless something special comes up.

Our weight recorder weighs, on the average, 18 members, who for the month of May registered a net loss of 18.5 pounds and for the month of June a net loss of 23 pounds. Marion was our May queen and Verna our queen for June. Both ladies received a charm.

Five members from our club attended "Provincial Recognition Days" in Edmonton. We sent a donation to the Heart Foundation as we have received some helpful material from them. A 50th anniversary card was sent to our founder and her husband in Milwaukee. We have prepared our entry for the July 1 parade in Sedgewick and a ball game with the Hardisty Chapter is scheduled for June 25 at the school ball diamond.

We will sorely miss our secretary Thelma as she spends the next weeks in Norway, and we wish her God speed. We are proud to have one of our members chosen as our area captain, and wish Mary Ann success and congratulations.

We presently have three preteen members, three teen members, one goalie (10 pounds to go), and 17 regular Tops. Our pride and joy are the three Kops girls, who are a constant reminder that "it can be done!"

Our club is open to everyone over the age of seven. We strive to put in to practice the Tops philosophy of providing incentive and encouragement, group therapy, and rewards in our efforts to "Take Off Pounds Sensibly." Remember, weigh-in is on Tuesday, July 3 for this occasion only.

New rec man at Killam

There is a newcomer in town!

My name is Brian Bowles. The Town of Killam has just acquired my services to fill the position of Recreation Manager. My major responsibility will be to operate and program the Agriplex facility. I am very happy to be a part of your active community and I am looking forward to meeting and working with everyone.

At this time, I would like to inform the community about the summer programs planned for the Agriplex. There is considerable enthusiasm in the plan to convert the curling rink into a youth center. This will be great fun for all ages!

Entertainment will be of a wide variety, including: pin ball machines, floor hockey, ping pong, scoop ball, arts and crafts, special teen nights, foos ball, and other games. Plus, the headliner will be the building of an intricate skateboarding course.

There will also be a playground program for the younger children. A supervisor will be provided and she will promote a wide variety of activities at the playgrounds.

Above are only a few possibilities to ensure everyone has a summer of fun. I strongly encourage anyone with any further suggestions to come down to the Agriplex to discuss them, or phone 385-3617.

At a later date, specific programs and hours of operation will be advertised. Meanwhile, I am anxious to hear some of your suggestions!

Hardisty and District News

So many sad things are happening, it makes a person's head whirl.

First of all, Reiny and Mary Griebel's neighbour, Walter Streeno of Castor, had a plane crash near Reiny's granaries. He was first to be there.

Sympathy goes to Mrs. Jim Bedson of Brownfield, whose brother he was, and also to Ernie Ronald's family, being Ernie's brother-in-law, as well as his family.

A number of neighbours who had known Joe Flanagan when he first came to these parts from Ireland in about 1929 attended his funeral in St. Francis Xavier Church in Camrose on Tuesday, Later, a number gathered in the Hardisty Cemetery for the interment service.

Sympathy, too, to the Roy Dosdall family on the unexpected passing away of their little daughter Jacinda last Wednesday. Jacinda was 21 months old.

Seen at the bus depot in Camrose Tuesday evening were Art and Helen Wold seeing Jean Nicols on the bus bound for Stettler and Alix.

Time the Marklin bus comes in and there is Myrtle Baron returning to Killam after spending the weekend in Edmonton.

Rev. Jackson, accompanied by Bill Davies and Isabel Nelson, attended the funeral in Hughenden on Thursday of Kim Gilbertson. Kim was killed in a car accident, only 19 years old. He worked at the Alberta Sulphate Plant. Kim was a son of Raoul and Mary Gilbertson. Sympathy to their family from their many friends is extended to them.

Congratulations to the Battle River Light Horse Association for bringing back the trophy for the best appearing saddle club at the Wainwright Stampede parade. They brought back the trophy last year, too, for the same thing.

Dawn Sacko also received a very worthwhile award at Wainwright Stampede for being the best dressed cowgirl and Miss Congeniality. Dawn ran along with others for Stampede Queen.

Harold Alderdice is doing really well with his chuckwagon. He won the race at Marilla.

Well, more sad news and the mourners are partly in the Lougheed area. Sympathy to the Cliff Cookson and Verner Johnsons and all the others. This is a terrible thing.

Kinross auxiliary meets

The regular meeting of the Kinross Legion Auxiliary was held in the Hut June 21. There were 12 members and two visitors, Agnes Wright and Jean Lukens of Galahad.

President Olive Grieve presided over the meeting and opened with the colours marched on and with all repeating the Auxiliary Prayer led by Margaret Denham.

Minutes were read and adopted as corrected. Roll call was taken and then correspondence read.

Received was a letter of thanks and a receipt from the Polio Foundation, and an invitation to attend Women's Week in Olds.

The treasurer gave her financial report and moved adoption of same.

Edna Duffield reported on the adult education meeting she had attended in Sedgewick June 11. After some discussion, it was decided that any one interested could contact Jean Johnson.

Eunice Loanes reported for the kitchen cupboard committee. The dishes and cutlery had been counted and cupboards tidied.

The paint for the playground tables is available at the Hut, so if anyone is interested, here's your chance to do some painting for a good cause.

Hardisty man passes at 25

The Hardisty district was shocked and saddended by the untimely death of Glenn Oldfield, age 25, due to an out-of-control car accident on a rough road.

Although Glenn's stay in Hardisty was short, he had made a great name for himself in the building business, constructing the building between the drug store and Isabel Nelson's place, Brodie's Bakery in Killam, and several other construction projects.
